PREFACE.

As the Occasion of this Poem was real, not fictitious; so the method pursued in it, was rather imposed, by what spontaneously arose in the author's mind, on that occasion, than meditated, or designed. Which will appear very probable from the nature of it. For it differs from the common mode of Poetry, which is from long narrations to draw short morals. Here, on the contrary, the narrative is short, and the morality arising from it makes the bulk of the Poem. The reason of it is, That the facts mentioned did naturally pour these moral resections on the thought of the writer.

THE COMPLAINT.

NIGHT the FIRST.

ON

Life, Death, and Immortality.

To the RIGHT HONOURABLE

ARTHUR ONSLOW, Efq;

SPEAKER of the House of Commons.

He, like the World, his ready Vifit pays
Where Fortune smiles; the Wretched he forsakes:
Swift on his downy Pinions slies from Woe,
And lights on Lids unfully'd with a Tear.
From short (as usual) and disturb'd Repose,
I wake: How happy they, who wake no more!
Yet that were vain, if Dreams insest the Grave.
I wake, emerging from a Sea of Dreams
Tumultuous; where my wreck'd desponding Thought,
From Wave to Wave of fansy'd Misery,
At Random drove, her Helm of Reason lost:
Tho' now restored, 'tis only Change of Pain,

(A bitter Change!) feverer for fevere.
The Day too short for my Distres; and Night,
Ev'n in the Zenith of her dark Domain,
Is Sunshine, to the Colour of my Fate.

Night, fable Goddes! from her Ehon Throne, In rayles Majesty, now stretches forth Her leaden Sceptre o'er a slumb'ring World. Stlence, how dead! and Darkness, how profound! Nor Eye, nor list'ning Ear, an Object finds; Creation sleeps. 'Tis as the gen'ral Pulse Of Life stood still, and Nature made a Pause; An aweful Pause! prophetic of her End. And let her Prophecy be soon sulfill'd: Fate! drop the Curtain; I can lose no more.

Silence and Darkness! folemn Sisters! Twins
From antient Night, who nurse the tender Thought
To Reason, and on Reason build Resolve,
(That Column of true Majesty in Man)
Assist me: I will thank you in the Grave;
The Grave, your Kingdom: There this Frame shall fall
A Victim sacred to your dreary Shrine.
But what are Ye?—

THOU, who didst put to Flight
Primæval Silence, when the Morning Stars,
Exulting, shouted o'er the rising Ball;
O THOU, whose Word from solid Darkness struck
That Spark, the Sun, strike Wisdom from my Soul;
My Soul, which slies to Thee, her Trust, her Treasure,
As Misers to their Gold, while others rest.

Thro' this Opaque of Nature, and of Soul,
This double Night, transmit one pitying Ray,
'To lighten, and to chear. O lead my Mind,
(A Mind that fain would wander from its Woe)
Lead it thro' various Scenes of Life and Death;
And from each Scene, the noblest Truths inspire.

Nor less inspire my Conduct, than my Song; Teach my best Reason, Reason; my best Will Teach Rectitude; and fix my firm Resolve Wisdom to wed, and pay her long Arrear: Nor let the Phial of thy Vengeance, pour'd On this devoted Head, be pour'd in vain.

The Bell strikes One. We take no Note of Time, But from its Loss. To give it then a Tongue, Is wise in Man. As if an Angel spoke, I seel the solemn Sound. If heard aright, It is the Knell of my departed Hours:

Where are they? With the Years beyond the Flood. It is the Signal that demands Dispatch:
How much is to be done? My Hopes and Fears Start up alarm'd, and o'er Life's narrow Verge Look down—On what? A fathomless Abyss; A dread Eternity! how surely mine!

And can Eternity belong to me,
Poor Pensioner on the Bounties of an Hour?

How poor, how rich, how abject, how august. How complicate, how wonderful, is Man? How passing Wonder H E, who made him such? Who centred in our Make fuch strange Extremes? From diff rent Natures marvelously mixt, Connexion exquifite of distant Worlds! Diffinguisht Link in Being's endless Chain! Midway from Nothing to the Deity! A Beam ethereal, fully'd, and absorpt ! Tho' fully'd, and dishonour'd, still Divine! Dim Miniature of Greatness absolute! An Heir of Glory! A frail Child of Duft! Helpless Immortal! Insect infinite! A Worm! a God!-I tremble at myself, And in myself am lost! At home, a Stranger, Thought wanders up and down, furpriz'd, aghaft, And wond'ring at her own: How Reason reels!

O what a Miracle to Man is Man,

Triumphantly distress'd! what Joy, what Dread!

Alternately Transported, and Alarm'd!

What can preserve my Life? or what destroy?

An Angel's Arm can't snatch me from the Grave;

Legions of Angels can't confine me there.

'Tis past Conjecture; all things rife in Proof: While o'er my Limbs Sleep's fost Dominion spread, What tho' my Soul phantallic Measures trod O'er fairy Fields; or mourn'd along the Gloom Of pathlefs Woods; or down the craggy Steep Hurl'd headlong, fwam with Pain the mantled Pool; Or feal'd the Cliff; or danc'd on hollow Winds, With antic Shapes, wild Natives of the Brain? Her ceaseless Flight, tho' devious, speaks her Nature Of fubtler Essence than the trodden Clod; Active, aëreal, tow'ring, unconfin'd, Unfetter'd with her gross Companion's Fall. Ev'n filent Night proclaims my Soul immortal: Ev'n filent Night proclaims eternal Day. For human Weal, Heav'n husbands all Events: Dull Sleep instructs, nor sport vain Dreams in vain.

Why then their Loss deplore, that are not lost?
Why wanders wretched Thought their Tombs around,
In infidel Diffress? Are Angels there?
Slumbers, rak'd up in Dust, Ethereal Fire?

They live! they greatly live a Life on Earth Unkindled, unconceiv'd; and from an Eye Of Tenderness, let heav'nly Pity sall On me, more justly number'd with the Dead. This is the Desert, this the Solitude: How populous! how vital is the Grave! This is Creation's melancholy Vault, The Vale funereal, the sad Cypress Gloom;

The Land of Apparitions, empty Shades!
All, all on Earth is Shadow, all beyond
Is Substance: the Reverse is Folly's Creed:
How solid all, where Change shall be no more!

This is the Bud of Being, the dim Dawn,
The Twilight of our Day, the Vestibule;
Life's Theatre as yet is shut, and Death,
Strong Death, alone can heave the massy Bar,
This gross Impediment of Clay remove,
And make us Embryos of Existence free.
From real Life, but little more remote
Is He, not yet a Candidate for Light,
The future Embryo, slumb'ring in his Sire.
Embryos we must be, till we burst the Shell,
Yon ambient azure Shell, and spring to Life,
The Life of Gods, O Transport! and of Man.

Yet Man, fool Man! bere buries all his Thoughts; Interrs celestial Hopes without one Sigh. Fris'ner of Earth, and pent beneath the Moon, Here pinions all his Wishes; wing'd by Heav'n To fly at Infinite; and reach it there, Where Scraphs gather Immortality, On Life's fair Tree, fast by the Throne of God. What golden Joys ambrofial cluft'ring glow, In HIS full Beam, and ripen for the Juft, Where momentary Ages are no more! Where Time, and Pain, and Chance, and Death, expire! And is it in the Flight of threescore Years, To push Eternity from human Thought, And smother Souls immortal in the Duft? A Soul immortal, spending all her Fires, Wasting her Strength in strenuous Idieness, Thrown into Tumult, raptur'd, or alarm'd, At ought this Scene can threaten, or indulge, Resembles Ocean into Tempest wrought, To wast a Feather, or to drown a Fly.

Where falls this Censure? It o'erwhelms myself; How was my Heart incrusted by the World! O how self-setter'd was my grov'ling Soul! How, like a Worm, was I wrapt round and round In silken Thought, which reptile Fancy spun, Till darken'd Reason lay quite clouded o'er With soft Conceit of endless Comfort bore, Nor yet put forth her Wings to reach the Skies!

Night-visions may befriend (as fung above): Our waking Dreams are fatal. How I dreamt Of things impossible? (Could Sleep do more?) Of Joys perpetual in perpetual Change? Of stable Pleasures on the tosting Wave? Eternal Sunshine in the Storms of Life? How richly were my noon-tide Trances hung With gorgeous Tapestries of pictur'd Joys? Joy behind Joy, in endless Perspective! Till at Death's Toll, whose reftless Iron Tongue Calls daily for his Millions at a Meal, Starting I woke, and found myfelf undone. Where now my Phrenfy's pompous Furniture? The cobweb'd Cottage, with its ragged Wall Of mould'ring Mud, is Royalty to me! The Spider's most attenuated Thread Is Cord, is Cable, to Man's tender Tie On earthly Bliss; it breaks at ev'ry Breeze.

O ye blest Scenes of permanent Delight!
Full, above Measure! lasting, beyond Bound!
A Perpetuity of Bliss is Bliss.
Could you, so rich in Rapture, fear an End,
That ghastly Thought would drink up all your Joy,
And quite unparadise the Realms of Light.
Safe are you lodg'd above these rolling Spheres;

The

The baleful Influence of whose giddy Dance
Sheds sad Vicissitude on all beneath.

Here teems with Revolutions ev'ry Hour;
And rarely for the better; or the best,
More mortal than the common Births of Fate.

Each Moment has its Sickle, emulous
Of Time's enormous Scythe, whose ample Sweep
Strikes Empires from the Root; each Moment plays
His little Weapon in the narrower Sphere
Of sweet domestic Comfort, and cuts down
The fairest Bloom of sublunary Bliss.

Bliss! sublunary Bliss!—Proud Words, and vain!
Implicit Treason to divine Decree!
A bold Invasion of the Rights of Heav'n!
I clasp'd the Phantoms, and I found them Air.
O had I weigh'd it ere my fond Embrace!
What Darts of Agony had miss'd my Heart!

Death! Great Proprietor of All! 'tis thine To tread out Empire, and to quench the Stars. The Sun himself by thy Permission shines; And, one Day, thou shalt pluck him from his Sphere. Amid fuch mighty Plunder, why exhauft Thy partial Quiver on a Mark fo mean? Why thy peculiar Rancour wreak'd on me? Infatiate Archer! could not One suffice? Thy Shaft flew thrice; and thrice my Peace was flain; And thrice, ere thrice yon Moon had fill'd her Horn. O Cynthia! why so pale? Dost thou lament Thy wretched Neighbour? Grieve to fee thy Wheel Of ceaseless Change out-whirl'd in human Life? How wanes my borrow'd Blifs ! from Fortune's Smile, Precarious Courtefy! Not Virtue's sure, Self-given, folar, Ray of found Delight.

Thought, bufy Thought! too bufy for my Peace! Thro' the dark Postern of Time long elaps'd, Led softly, by the Stilness of the Night, Led, like a Murderer, (and such it proves!) Strays, (wretched Rover!) o'er the pleasing Pass; In quest of Wretchedness perversely strays; And sinds all desart now; and meets the Ghosts Of my departed Joys; a num'rous Train! I rue the Riches of my former Fate; Sweet Comfort's blasted Clusters I lament; I tremble at the Blessings once so dear; And ev'ry Pleasure pains me to the Heart.

Yet why complain? or why complain for One? Hangs out the Sun his Lustre but for me,
The fingle Man? Are Angels all beside?
I mourn for Millions: 'Tis the common Lot;
In this Shape, or in that, has Fate entail'd
The Mother's Throes on all of Woman born,
Not more the Children, than sure Heirs of Pain.

War, Famine, Pest, Volcano, Storm, and Fire, Intestine Broils, Oppression, with her Heart Wrapt up in triple Brass, besiege Mankind. God's Image difinherited of Day. Here, plung'd in Mines, forgets a Sun was made. There, Beings deathless as their haughty Lord, Are hammer'd to the galling Ore for Life; And plow the Winter's Wave, and reap Despair. Some, for hard Matters, broken under Arms, In Battle lopt away, with half their Limbs, Beg bitter Bread thro' Realms their Valour fav'd, If so the Tyrant, or his Minion, doom. Want, and incurable Difeafe, (fell Pair !) On hopeles Multitudes remorfeles seize At once; and make a Refuge of the Grave. How groaning Hospitals eject their Dead!

What Numbers groan for fad Admission there!
What Numbers, once in Fortune's Lap high-sed,
Solicit the cold Hand of Charity!
To shock us more, solicit it in vain!
Ye silken Sons of Pleasure! since in Pains
You rue more modish Visits, visit bere,
And breathe from your Debauch: Give, and reduce Surfeit's Dominion o'er you: But so great
Your Impudence, you blush at what is Right.

Happy! did Sorrow feize on fuch alone. Not Prudence can defend, or Virtue fave : Difease invades the chastest Temperance: And Punishment the Guiltless; and Alarm, Thro' thickest Shades, pursues the fond of Peace. Man's Caution often into Danger turns. And his Guard falling, crushes him to Death. Not Happiness itself makes good her Name; Our very Wishes give us not our Wish. How distant oft the Thing we doat on most. From that for which we doat, Felicity? The smoothest Course of Nature has its Pains; And trueft Friends, thro' Error, wound our Reft. Without Misfortune, what Calamities? And what Hostilities, without a Foe? Nor are Foes wanting to the best on Earth. But endless is the Lift of human Ills. And Sighs might sooner fail, than Cause to figh.

A Part how small of the terraqueous Globe
Is tenanted by Man! the rest a Waste,
Rocks, Defarts, frozen Seas, and burning Sands!
Wild Haunts of Monsters, Poisons, Stings, and Death.
Such is Earth's melancholy Map! But far
More sad! this Earth is a true Map of Man.
So bounded are its haughty Lord's Delights
To Woe's wide Empire; where deep Troubles toss,

Loud Serrows howl, invenom'd Passions bite, Rav'nous Calamities our Vitals seize, And threat'ning Fate wide opens to devour.

What then am I, who forrow for myfelf? In Age, in Infancy, from others Aid Is all our Hope; to teach us to be kind. That, Nature's firft, loft Leffon to Mankind; The felfish Heart deserves the Pain it feels. More gen'rous Sorrow, while it finks, exalts; And confcious Virtue mitigates the Pang. Nor Virtue, more than Prudence, bids me give Swoln Thought a fecond Channel; who divide, They weaken too, the Torrent of their Grief. Take then, O World! thy much-indebted Tear: How fad a Sight is human Happiness, To those whose Thought can pierce beyond an Hour? O thou, whate'er thou art, whose Heart exults! Wouldft thou I should congratulate thy Fate? I know thou wouldst; thy Pride demands it from me. Let thy Pride pardon, what thy Nature needs, The falutary Censure of a Friend. Thou happy Wretch! by Blindness thou art bleft; By Dotage dandled to perpetual Smiles. Know, Smiler! at thy Peril art thou pleas'd; Thy Pleasure is the Promise of thy Pain. Misfortune, like a Creditor fevere, But rifes in Demand for her Delay; She makes a Scourge of past Prosperity, To fling thee more, and double thy Diffress.

Loranzo, Fortune makes her Court to thee. Thy fond Heart dances, while the Syren fings. Dear is thy Welfare; think me not unkind; I would not damp, but to fecure thy Joys. Think not that Fear is facred to the Storm. Stand on thy Guard against the Smiles of Fate.

Is Heav'n tremendous in its Frowns? Most fure: And in its Favours formidable too: Its Favours here are Trials, not Rewards; A Call to Duty, not Discharge from Care; And should alarm us, full as much as Woes; Awake us to their Caufe, and Confequence; And make us tremble, weigh'd with our Defert; Awe Nature's Tumult, and chaftise her Joys, Lest while we clasp, we kill them; nay, invert To worfe than fimple Milery, their Charms. Revolted Joys, like Foes in civil War, Like bosom Friendships to Resentment sour'd, With Rage invenom'd rife against our Peace. Beware what Earth calls Happiness; beware All Joys, but Joys that never can expire. Who builds on less than an immortal Base, Fond as he feems, condemns his Joys to Death.

Mine dy'd with thee, Philander! thy last Sight Dissolv'd the Charm; the disinchanted Earth Lost all her Lustre. Where, her glitt'ring Towers? Her golden Mountains, where? all darken'd down To naked Waste; a dreary Vale of Tears:
The great Magician's dead! Thou poor, pale Piece Of out-cast Earth, in Darkness! what a Change From Yesterday! Thy darling Hope so near, (Long-labour'd Prize!) O how Ambition slussh'd Thy glowing Cheek! Ambition, truly great, Of virtuous Praise. Death's subtle Seed within, (Sly, treach'rous Miner!) working in the Dark, Smil'd at thy well-concerted Scheme, and beckon'd The Worm to riot on that Rose so red, Unfaded ere it fell; one Moment's Prey!

Man's Forefight is conditionally wife; LORENZO! Wisdom into Folly turns. Oft, the first Instant, its Idea fair Loud Serrows howl, invenom'd Passions bite, Rav'nous Calamities our Vitals seize, And threat'ning Fate wide opens to devour.

Mine dy'd with thee, PHILANDER! thy last Sight
Dissolv'd the Charm; the dissinchanted Earth
Lost all her Lustre. Where, her glitt'ring Towers?
Her golden Mountains, where? all darken'd down
To naked Waste; a dreary Vale of Tears:
The great Magician's dead! Thou poor, pale Piece
Of out-cast Earth, in Darkness! what a Change
From Yesterday! Thy darling Hope so near,
(Long-labour'd Prize!) O how Ambition slussh'd
Thy glowing Cheek! Ambition, truly great,
Of virtuous Praise. Death's subtle Seed within,
(Sly, treach'rous Miner!) working in the Dark,
Smil'd at thy well-concerted Scheme, and beckon'd
The Worm to riot on that Rose so red,
Unfaded ere it fell; one Moment's Prey!

Man's Forefight is conditionally wife; Lorenzo! Wisdom into Folly turns. Oft, the first Instant, its Idea fair To labouring Thought is born. How dim our Eye!
The present Moment terminates our Sight;
Clouds, thick as those on Doomsday, drown the next;
We penetrate, we prophely in vain.
Time is dealt out by Particles; and each,
Ere mingled with the streaming Sands of Life,
By Fate's inviolable Oath is sworn Deep Silence, "Where Eternity begins."

By Nature's Law, what may be, may be now; There's no Prerogative in human Hours. In human Hearts what bolder Thought can rife, Than Man's Prefumption on To-morrow's Dawn? Where is To-morrow? In another World. For Numbers this is certain; the Reverse Is sure to none; and yet on this Perbaps, This Peradventure, infamous for Lyes, As on a Rock of Adamant we build Our Mountain Hopes; spin our eternal Schemes, As we the fatal Sisters would out-spin, And, big with Life's Futurities, expire.

Not ev'n Philander had bespoke his Shroud.

Nor had he cause; a Warning was deny'd:

How many sall as sudden, not as safe!

As sudden, tho' for Years admonish home.

Of human Ills the last Extreme beware,

Beware, Lorenzo! a stow-sudden Death.

How dreadful that deliberate Surprize!

Be wise 'To-day; 'tis Madness to deser;

Next Day the satal Precedent will plead;

Thus on, till Wisdom is push'd out of Life.

Procrassination is the Thief of Time;

Year after Year it steals, till all are sted,

And to the Mercies of a Moment leaves

The vast Concerns of an eternal Scene.

If not fo frequent, would not This be frange? That 'tis fo frequent, This is franger fill.

Of Man's miraculous Mistakes, this bears The Palm, " That all Men are about to live," For ever on the Brink of being born. All pay themselves the Compliment to think They one Day shall not drivel; and their Pride On this Reversion takes up ready Praise; At least their own; their future Selves applaude; How excellent that Life they m'er will lead! Time lodg'd in their own Hands is Folly's Vails; That lodg'd in Fate's, to Wifdom they confign; The Thing they can't but purpofe, they postpone: 'Tis not in Folly, not to fcorn a Fool; And scarce in human Wisdom to do more. All Promise is poor dilatory Man, And that thro' ev'ry Stage: When young, indeed, In full Content we, fometimes, nobly reft, Un-anxious for ourfelves; and only wish, As duteous Sons, our Fathers were more wife. At Thirty Man suspetts himself a Fool; Knows it at Forty, and reforms his Plan; At Fifty chides his infamous Delay, Pushes his prudent Purpose to Resolve; In all the Magnanimity of Thought Resolves; and re-resolves; then dies the same.

And why? Because he thinks himself immortal.

All Men think all Men mortal, but Themselves;
Themselves, when some alarming Shock of Fate
Strikes through their wounded Hearts the sudden Dread;
But their Hearts wounded, like the wounded Air,
Soon close; where past the Shaft, no Trace is found.

As from the Wing no Scar the Sky retains;
The parted Wave no Furrow from the Keel:
So dies in human Hearts the Thought of Death.

Ev'n with the tender Tear which Nature sheds
O'er those we love, we drop it in their Grave.
Can I forget PHILANDER? That were strange;
O my full Heart!—But should I give it Vent,
The longest Night, tho' longer far, would fail,
And the Lark listen to my Midnight Song.

The spritely Lark's shrill Matin wakes the Morn: Grief's sharpest Thorn hard pressing on my Breast, I ftrive, with wakeful Melody, to chear The fullen Gloom, fweet Philomel! like Thee, And call the Stars to liften: Ev'ry Star Is deaf to mine, enamour'd of thy Lay. Yet be not vain; there are, who thine excel, And charm thro' distant Ages : Wrapt in Shade, Pris'ner of Darkness! to the filent Hours. How often I repeat their Rage divine, To lull my Griefs, and steal my Heart from Woe! I roll their Raptures, but not catch their Fire. Dark, tho' not blind, like thee, Maonides! Or, Milton ! thee; ah! could I reach your Strain! Or His, who made Maonides our Own. Man too He fung: Immortal Man I fing; Oft burfts my Song beyond the Bounds of Life; What, now, but Immortality can please? O had He press'd his Theme, pursu'd the Track, Which opens out of Darkness into Day! O had he mounted on his Wing of Fire, Soar'd, where I fink, and fung Immortal Man! How had it bleft Mankind, and rescu'd me!

NIGHT the SECOND.

ON

TIME, DEATH, FRIENDSHIP.

The Earl of WILMINGTON.

" INTHE N the Cock crew, be wept" - Smote by that Eye, Which looks on me, on All: That Pow'r, who bids This Midnight Centinel, with Clarion shrill, Emblem of that which shall awake the Dead, Rouse Souls from Slumber, into Thoughts of Heaven. Shall I too weep? Where then is Fortitude? And Fortitude abandon'd, where is Man? I know the Terms on which he fees the Light; He that is born is lifted; Life is War; Eternal War with Woe. Who bears it beft. Deferves it leaft .- On other Themes I'll dwell. LORENZO! let me turn my Thoughts on Thee, And Thine, on Themes may profit; profit there, Where most thy Need. Themes, too, the genuine Growth, Of dear PHILANDER's Dust. He, thus, tho' dead, May still befriend-What Themes? Time's wondrous Price, Death, Friendfbip, and PHILANDER's final Scene.

So could I touch these Themes, as might obtain Thine Ear, nor leave thy Heart quite disengag'd, The good Deed would delight me; half-impress On my dark Cloud an Iris; and from Grief Call Glory-Doft thou mourn PHILANDER's Fate ? I know thou fay'ft it : Says thy Life the fame ? He mourns the Dead, who lives as they defire. Where is that Thrift, that Avarice of TIME. (O glorious Avarice!) Thought of Death inspires. As rumour'd Robberies endear our Gold? O Time! than Gold more facred; more a Load Than Lead, to Fools; and Fools reputed Wife. What Moment granted Man without Account? What Years are squander'd, Wildom's Debt unpaid ! Our Wealth in Days all due to that Discharge. Hafte, hafte, He lies in wait, He's at the Door, Infidious Death! should his strong Hand arrest, No Composition sets the Pris'ner free. Eternity's inexorable Chain Fast binds; and Vengeance claims the full Arrear.

How late I shudder'd on the Brink! how late Life call'd for her last Resuge in Despair! That Time is mine, O MEAD, to Thee I owe; Fain would I pay thee with Eternity. But ill my Genius answers my Desire; My sickly Song is mortal, past thy Cure.

Accept the Will ;- That dies not with my Strain.

For what calls thy Disease, LORENZO? Not
For Esculapian, but for Moral Aid.
Thou think'st it Folly to be wise too soon.
Youth is not rich in Time; it may be, poor;
Part with it as with Money, sparing; pay
No Moment, but in Purchase of its Worth;
And what its Worth, ask Death-beds; they can tell.
Part with it as with Life, reluctant; big

With

With holy Hope of nobler Time to come;

Time higher-aim'd, still nearer the great Mark

Of Men and Angels; Virtue more divine.

Is this our Duty, Wisdom, Glory, Gain?
(These Heav'n benign in vital Union binds)
And sport we like the Natives of the Bough,
When vernal Suns inspire? Annotation reigns
Man's great Demand: To trifle is to live:
And is it then a Trifle, too, to die?

Thou fay'st I preach, Lorenzo! 'tis confest.

What, if, for once, I preach thee quite awake?

Who wants Amusement in the Flame of Battle?

Is it not Treason to the Soul immortal,

Her Foes in Arms, Eternity the Prize?

Will Toys amuse, when Med'cines cannot cure?

When Spirits ebb, when Life's enchanting Stends of the Confest of the poor shatter'd Bark, by sudden Storm

Thrown off to Sea, and soon to perish there;

Will Toys amuse? No: Thrones will then be Toys,

And Earth and Skies seem Dust upon the Scale.

Redeem we Time?—Its Loss we dearly buy.

What pleads Lorenzo for his high priz'd Sports?

He pleads Time's num'rous Blanks; he loudly pleads

The straw-like Trisses on Life's common Stream.

From whom those Blanks and Trisses, but from Thee?

No Blank, no Trisse, Nature made, or meant.

Virtue, or purpos'd Virtue, still be thine;

This cancels thy Complaint at once; This leaves

In Ast no Trisse, and no Blank in Time.

This greatens, fills, immortalizes All;

This, the blest Art of turning all to Gold;

This, the good Heart's Prerogative to raise

A royal Tribute, from the poorest Hours;

Immenfe

Immense Revenue! ev'ry Moment Pays.

If nothing more than Purpoje in thy Power;

Thy Purpose sirm, is equal to the Deed:

Who does the best his Circumstance allows,

Does well, acts nobly; Angels could no more.

Our outward Act, indeed, admits Restraint:

'Tis not in Things o'er Thought to domineer;

Guard well thy Thought; our Thoughts are heard in On all important Time, thro' ev'ry Age, [Heaven. Tho' much, and warm, the Wife have urg'd; the Man

Is yet unborn, who duly weighs an Hour.

" Price loft a Day"—The Prince who nobly cry'd,
Had been an Emperor without his Crown;
Of Rome? fay, rather, Lord of human Race:
He spoke, as if deputed by Mankind.
So should all speak: So Reason speaks in All;
From the soft Whispers of that God in Man,

Why fly to Folly, why to Frenzy fly,

For Rescue from the Blessings we posses?

Time, the Supreme I—Time is Eternity;

Pregnant with all Eternity can give;

Pregnant with all, that makes Archangels fmile. Who murders Time, He crushes in the Birth

A Pow'r ethereal, only not ador'd.

Ah! how unjust to Nature, and Himself, Is thoughtless, thankless, inconsistent Man! Like Children babbling Nonsense in their Sports, We censure Nature for a Span too short; That Span too short, we tax as tedious too; Torture Invention, all Expedients tire, To lash the ling'ring Moments into Speed, And whirl us (happy Riddance!) from ourselves. Art, brainless Art! our furious Charioteer, (For Nature's Voice unstifled would recall) Drives headlong tow'rds the Precipice of Death;

Death

Death, most our Dread; Death thus more dreadful made; O what a Riddle of Abfurdity! Leisure is Pain; takes off our Chariot-wheels; How heavily we drag the Load of Life! Bleft Leisure is our Curse; like that of Cain, It makes us wander; wander Earth around To fly that Tyrant, Thought. As Atlas groan'd The World beneath, we groan beneath an Hour. We cry for Mercy to the next Amusement; The next Amusement mortgages our Fields! Slight Inconvenience! Prisons hardly frown, From hateful Time if Prisons set us free. Yet when Death kindly tenders us Relief, We call him cruel; Years to Moments shrink, Ages to Years. The Telescope is turn'd. To Man's falle Optics (from his Folly falle) Time, in Advance, behind him hides hi. Wings, And feems to creep, decrepit with his Age: Behold him, when past by; what then is feen, But his broad Pinions swifter than the Winds? And all Mankind, in Contradiction strong, Rueful, aghaft! cry out on his Career.

Leave to thy Foes these Errors, and these Ills;
To Nature just, their Cause and Cure explore.
Not short Heav'n's Bounty, boundless our Expence;
No Niggard, Nature; Men are Prodigals.
We waste, not use our Time; we breathe, not live.
Time wasted is Existence, us'd is Life.
And bare Existence, Man, to live ordain'd,
Wrings, and oppresses with enormous Weight.
And why? since Time was giv'n for Use, not Waste,
Injoin'd to sly; with Tempest, Tide, and Stars,
To keep his Speed, nor ever wait for Man;
Time's Use was doom'd a Pleasure; Waste, a Pain;
That Man might feel his Error, if unseen:

And, feeling, fly to Labour for his Cure;
Not, blund'ring, split on Idleness for Ease.
Life's Cares are Comforts; such by Heav'n design'd;
He that has none, must make them, or be wretched.
Cares are Employments; and without Employ
The Soul is on a Rack; the Rack of Rest,
To Souls most adverse, Action all their Joy.

Here, then, the Riddle, mark'd above, unfolds;
Then Time turns Torment, when Man turns a Fool.
We rave, we wreftle with Great Nature's Plan;
We thwart the Deity; and 'tis decreed,
Who thwart His Will, shall contradict their own.
Hence our unnatural Quarrel with ourselves;
Our Thoughts at Enmity; our Bosom-broil;
We push Time from us, and we wish Him back;
Lavish of Lustrums, and yet fond of Life;
Life we think long, and short; Death seek, and shun;
Body and Soul, like peevish Man and Wise,
United jar, and yet are loth to part.

Oh the dark Days of Vanity! while Here,
How tasteless! and how Terrible, when gone!
Gone? they ne'er go; when past, they haunt us still;
The Spirit walks of ev'ry Day deceas'd;
And smiles an Angel, or a Fury frowns.
Nor Death, nor Life, delight us. If Time past,
And Time passes, both pain us, what can please?
That which the Deity to please ordain'd,
Time us'd. The Man who consecrates his Hours
By vig'rous Effort, and an honest Aim,
At once he draws the Sting of Life and Death;
He walks with Nature; and her Paths are Peace.

Our Error's Cause and Cure are seen: See next Time's Nature, Origin, Importance, Speed; And thy great Gain from urging his Career.— All-sensual Man, because untouch'd, unseen, He looks on Time as nothing. Nothing else
Is truly Man's; 'tis Fortune's.—Time's a God.
Hast Thou ne'er heard of Time's Omnipotence?
For, or against, what Wonders can he do!
And will: To stand blank Neuter he disdains.
Not on those Terms was Time (Heav'n's Stranger!) sent
On his important Embassy to Man.

LORENZO! no: On the long-destin'd Hour, From everlasting Ages growing ripe, That memorable Hour of wond'rous Birth, When the Dread Sire, on Emanation bent, And big with Nature, rifing in his Might, Call'd forth Creation (for then Time was born), By Godhead streaming thro' a thousand Worlds; Not on those Terms, from the great Days of Heaven. From old Eternity's mysterious Orb, Was Time cut off, and cast beneath the Skies; The Skies, which watch him in his new Abode. Measuring his Motions by revolving Spheres; That Horologe Machinery Divine. Hours, Days, and Months, and Years, his Children, play, Like num'rous Wings around him, as he flies: Or, rather, as unequal Plumes they shape His ample Pinions, fwift as darted Flame, To gain his Goal, to reach his antient Reft, And join anew Eternity his Sire; In his Immutability to nest, When Worlds, that count his Circles now, unhing'd. (Fate the loud Signal founding) headlong rush To timeless Night and Chaos, whence they rose.

Why fpur the speedy? Why with Levities
New-wing thy short, short Day's too rapid Flight?
Know'st thou, or what thou dost, or what is done?
Man slies from Time, and Time from Man; too soon
In sad Divorce this double Flight must end:

And

And then, where are we? where, LORENZO! then Thy Sports? thy Pomps?—I grant thee, in a State Not unambitious; in the ruffled Shroud, Thy Parian Tomb's triumphant Arch beneath. Has Death his Fopperies? Then well may Life Put on her Plume, and in her Rainbow shine.

Ye well-array'd! Ye Lilies of our Land! Ye Lilies Male! who neither toil, nor spin, (As Sifter Lilies might) if not so wise As Solomon, more sumptuous to the Sight! Ye Delicate! who nothing can support, Yourselves most insupportable! for whom The Winter Rose must blow, the Sun put on A brighter Beam in Lee; filky-foft Favonius breathe still foster, or be chid; And other Worlds fend Odours, Sawce, and Song, And Robes, and Notions, fram'd in foreign Looms! O ye LORENZOS of our Age! who deem One Moment unamus'd, a Misery Not made for feeble Man! who call aloud For ev'ry Bawble, drivell'd o'er by Sense; For Rattles, and Conceits of ev'ry Cast, For Change of Follies, and Relays of Joy, To drag your Patient through the tedious Length Of a fhort Winter's Day-fay, Sages! fay, Wit's Oracles! fay, Dreamers of gay Dreams! How will you weather an eternal Night, Where fuch Expedients fail?

O Treach'rous Conscience! while she seems to sleep
On Rose and Myrtle, sull'd with Syren Song;
While she seems, nodding o'er her Charge, to drop
On headlong Appetite the slacken'd Rein,
And give us up to Licence, unrecall'd,
Unmarkt;—See, from behind her secret Stand,
The sly Informer minutes ev'ry Fault,

And

And her dread Diary with Horror fills. Not the gross At alone employs her Pen; She reconnoitres Fancy's airy Band, A watchful Foe! The formidable Spy, Lift'ning, o'erhears the Whifpers of our Camp: Our dawning Purposes of Heart explores, And steals our Embryos of Iniquity. As all-rapacious Usurers conceal Their Doomsday-book from all-consuming Heirs: Thus, with Indulgence most severe, She treats Us Spendthrifts of inestimable Time; Unnoted, notes each Moment misapply'd; In Leaves more durable than Leaves of Brafs, Writes our whole History; which Death shall read In ev'ry pale Delinquent's private Ear; And Judgment publish; publish to more Worlds Than this; and endless Age in Groans resound. LORENZO, fuch that Sleeper in thy Breaft! Such is her Slumber; and her Vengeance such For flighted Counfel; fuch thy future Peace! And think'ft thou still thou canst be wife too foon?

But why on Time so lavish is my Song?
On this great Theme kind Nature keeps a School,
To teach her Sons Herself. Each Night we die,
Each Morn are born anew: Each Day, a Life!
And shall we kill each Day? If Trissing kills;
Sure Vice must butcher. O what Heaps of Slain
Cry out for Vengeance on us! Time destroy'd
Is Suicide, where more than Blood is spilt.
Time slies, Death urges, Knells call, Heaven invites,
Hell threatens: All exerts; in Effort, All;
More than Creation labours!—Labours more?
And is there in Creation, what, amidst
This Tumult Universal, wing'd Dispatch,
And ardent Energy, supinely yawns?——

Man fleeps; and Man alone; and Man, whose Fate,
Fate irreversable, intire, entreme,
Endless, hair-hung, breeze shaken, o'er the Gulph
A Moment trembles; drope and Man, for whom
All else is in Alarm; Man, the sole Cause
Of this surrounding Storm! And yet he sleeps,
As the Storm rock'd to Rest.—Throw Years away?
Throw Empires, and be blameless. Moments seize;
Heav'n's on their Wing: A Moment we may wish,
When Worlds want Wealth to buy. Bid Day stand still,
Bid him drive back his Car, and reimport
The Period past, regive the given Hour.
LORENZO, more than Miracles we want;
LORENZO—O for Yesterdays to come!

Such is the Language of the Man awake;
His Ardour fuch, for what oppresses Thee.
And is his Ardour vain, Lorenzo? No;
That more than Miracle the Gods indulge;
To-day is Yesterday return'd; return'd
Full-power'd to cancel, expiate, raise, adorn,
And reinstate us on the Rock of Peace.
Let it not share its Predecessor's Fate;
Nor, like its elder Sisters, die a Fool.
Shall it evaporate in Fume? Fly off
Fuliginous, and stain us deeper still?
Shall we be poorer for the Plenty pour'd?
More wretched for the Clemencies of Heaven?

Where shall I find Him? Angels! tell me where.
You know him: He is near you: Point him out:
Shall I see Glories beaming from his Brow?
Or trace his Footsteps by the rising Flowers?
Your golden Wings, now how ring o'er him, shed
Protection; now, are waving in Applause
To that blest Son of Foresight! Lord of Fate!

That

That aweful Independent on To-morrow! Whole Work is done; who triumphs in the Paft; Whose Tefferdays look backwards with a Smile; Nor, like the Parthian, wound him as they fly; That common, but opprobrious Lot! Past Hours, If not by Guilt, yet wound us by their Flight. If Folly bounds our Prospect by the Grave, All Feeling of Futurity benumb'd; All God-like Passion for Eternals quencht; All Relish of Realities expir'd; Renounc'd all Correspondence with the Skies; Our Freedom chain'd; quite wingless our Defire; In Sense dark-prison'd all that ought to foar; Prone to the Centre; crawling in the Duft; Dismounted ev'ry great and glorious Aim; Embruted ev'ry Faculty divine; Heart-bury'd in the Rubbish of the World. The World, that Gulph of Souls, immortal Souls, Souls elevate, Angelic, wing'd with Fire To reach the distant Skies, and triumph there On Thrones, which shall not mourn their Masters chang'd: Tho' we from Earth; Ethereal, They that fell. Such Veneration due, O Man, to Man.

Who venerate themselves, the World despise.
For what, gay Friend! is this escutcheon'd World,
Which hangs out DEATH in one eternal Night?
A Night, that glooms us in the Noon tide Ray,
And wraps our Thought, at Banquets, in the Shroud.
Life's little Stage is a small Eminence,
Inch-high the Grave above; that Home of Man,
Where dwells the Multitude: We gaze around;
We read their Monuments; we Sigh; and while
We sigh, we fink; and are what we deplor'd;
Lamenting, or Lamented, all our Lot!

Is Death at Distance ? No: He has been on thee;

MA

And giv'n fure Earnest of his final Blow. Those Hours, which lately smil'd, where are they now? Pallid to Thought, and ghaftly ! drown'd, all drown'd In that great Deep, which nothing difembogues! And, dying, they bequeath'd thee small Renown. The reft are on the Wing: How fleet their Flight! Already has the fatal Train took Fire; A Moment, and the World's blown up to thee; The Sun is Darkness, and the Stars are Duft.

'Tis greatly wife to talk with our patt Hours ; And ask them, what Report they bore to Heaven; And how they might have borne more welcome News. Their Answers form what Men Experience call; If Wildom's Friend, her best; if not, worft Foe. O reconcile them! Kind Experience cries.

" There's nothing here, but what as nothing weighs:

" The more our Joy, the more we know it vain;

" And by Success are tutor'd to Despair." Nor is it only thus, but muft be fo. Who knows not this, tho' Grey, is still a Child.

Loofe then from Earth the Grasp of fond Desire. Weigh Anchor, and some happier Clime explore.

Art thou fo moor'd thou can'ft not difengage, Nor give thy Thoughts a Ply to future Scenes ? Since, by Life's passing Breath, blown up from Earth. Light, as the Summer's Dust, we take in Air A Moment's giddy Flight, and fall again; Join the dull Mais, increase the trodden Soil, And fleep, till Earth herfelf shall be no more; Since Then (as Emmets, their finall World o'erthrown) We, fore amaz'd, from out Earth's Ruins crawl, And rife to Fate extreme of Foul or Fair, As Man's own Choice (Controuler of the Skies!) As Man's despotic Will, perhaps one Hour, (O how Omnipotent is Time !) decrees;

Should

Should not each Warning give a ftrong Alarm? Warning, far less than that of Bosom torn From Bosom, bleeding o'er the facred Dead ! Should not each Dial strike us as we pass, Portentous, as the written Wall, which ftruck. O'er midnight Bowls, the proud Affrian pale, Ere while high-flusht with Infolence, and Wine? Like That, the Dial speaks; and points to thee. LORENZO! loth to break thy Banquet up: " O Man, thy Kingdom is departing from thee; " And, while it lasts, is emprier than my Shade." Its filent Language fuch: Nor need'ft thou call Thy Magi, to decypher what it means. Know, like the Median, Fate is in thy Walls: Doft alk, How? Whence? Belfhazzar-like, amaz'd? Man's Make incloses the fure Seeds of Death : Life feeds the Murderer: Ingrate! he thrives On her own Meal, and then his Nurie devours.

But here, LORENZO, the Delufion lies : That Soiar-Sbudow, as it measures Life, It Life refembles too: Life speeds away From Point to Point, tho' feeming to fland fill. The cunning Fugitive is fwift by flealth: Too subtle is the Movement to be feen ; Yet foon Man's Hour is up, and we are gone. Warnings point our our Danger; Gnomons, Time; As thefe are useless when the Sun is fet; So those, but when more glorious Reason shines. Reason should judge in all; in Reason's Eye, That Sedentary Shadow travels hard. But fuch our Gravitation to the Wrong, So prone our Hearts to whisper what we wish, 'Tis later with the Wife, than he's aware : A Wilmington goes flower than the Sun: And all Mankind mistake their Time of Day :

Ev'n Age itself. Fresh Hopes are hourly sown In surrow'd Brows. So gentle Life's Descent, We shut our Eyes, and think it is a Plain. We take fair Days in Winter, for the Spring; And turn our Blessings into Bane. Since oft Man must compute that Age He cannot seel, He scarce believes he's older for his Years. Thus, at Life's latest Eve, we keep in Store One Disappointment sure, to crown the Rest; The Disappointment of a promis'd Hour.

On This, or Similar, Philander! Thou Whose Mind was moral, as the Preacher's Tongue; And strong, to wield all Science, worth the Name; How often we talk'd down the Summer's Sun, And cool'd our Passions by the breezy Stream! How often thaw'd and shorten'd Winter's Eve, By Conslict kind, that struck out latent Truth, Best found, so sought; to the Recluse more Coy! Thoughts disintangle, passing o'er the Lip; Clean runs the Thread; if not, 'tis thrown away, Or kept to tie up Nonsense for a Song; Song, fashionably fruitles: such as stains The Fancy, and unhallow'd Passion fires; Chiming her Saints to Cytherea's Fane, Know'st thou, Lorenzo! what a Friend contains?

As Bees mixt Nestar draw from fragrant Flow'rs,

So Men from FRIENDSHIP, Wisdom and Delight;

Twins ty'd by Nature, if they part, they die.

Hast thou no Friend to set thy Mind abroach?

Good Sense will stagnate. Thoughts shut up, want Air,

And spoil, like Bales unopen'd to the Sun.

Had Thought been All, sweet Speech had been deny'd;

Speech, Thought's Canal! Speech, Thought's Criterion

Thoughtin the Mine, may come forth Gold, or Dross; [too!

When coin'd in Word, we know its real Worth.

If

If sterling, store it for thy future Use; 'Twill buy thee Benefit; perhaps, Renown. Thought, too, deliver'd, is the more poffelt; Teaching, we learn; and, giving, we retain The Births of Intellect; when dumb, forgot. Speech ventilates our intellectual Fire; Speech burnishes our Mental Magazine; Brightens, for Ornament; and whets, for Ufe. What Numbers, fheath'd in Erudition, lie, Plung'd to the Hilts in venerable Tomes, And rufted in; who might have born an Edge, And play'd a fprightly Beam, if born to Speech; If born bleft Heirs of half their Mother's Tongue! 'Tis Thought's Exchange, which, like th' alternate Push Of Waves conflicting, breaks the learned Scum, And defecates the Students standing Pool.

In Contemplation is his proud Resource?

'Tis poor, as proud, by Converse unsultain'd.

Rude Thought runs wild in Contemplation's Field;

Converse, the Menage, breaks it to the Bit

Of due Restraint; and Emulation's Spur

Gives graceful Energy, by Rivals aw'd.

'Tis Converse qualifies for Solitude;

As Exercise, for salutary Rest.

By that untutor'd, Contemplation raves;

And Nature's Fool, by Wisdom's is outdone.

Wisdom, the richer than Peruvian Mines,
And sweeter than the sweet Ambrosial Hive,
What is she, but the Means of Happiness?
That unobtain'd, than Folly more a Fool;
A melancholy Fool, without her Bells.
Friendship, the Means of Wisdom, richly gives
The precious End, which makes our Wisdom wise.
Nature, in Zeal for human Amity,
Denies, or damps, an undivided Joy.

Joy is an Import; Joy is an Exchange;
Joy flies Monopolists: It calls for Two;
Rich Fruit! heav'n-planted! never pluck'd by One.
Needful Auxiliars are our Friends, to give
To focial Man true Relish of himself.
Full on ourselves descending in a Line
Pleasure's bright Beam, is feeble in Delight:
Delight intense, is taken by Rebound;
Reverberated Pleasures fire the Breast.

Celestial Happiness, whene'er she stoops To visit Earth, One Shrine the Goddels finds, And One Alone, to make her sweet Amends For absent Heav'n-the Bosom of a Friend: Where Heart meets Heart, reciprocally foft, Each other's Pillow to Repose divine. Beware the Counterfeit: In Passion's Flame Hearts melt; but melt like Ice, soon harder froze. True Love strikes Root in Reason; Passion's Foe; Virtue alone entenders us for Life: I wrong her much-entenders us for ever: Of Friendsbip's fairest Fruits, the Fruit most fair Is Virtue kindling at a rival Fire, And, emuloufly, rapid in her Race. O the foft Enmity! Endearing Strife! This carries Friendship to her noon-tide Point, And gives the Rivet of Eternity.

From Friendship, which outlives my former Themes.
Glorious Survivor of old Time, and Death!
From Friendship, thus, that Flow'r of Heav'nly Seed,
The Wise extract Farth's most Hyblean Bliss,
Superior Wisdom, crown'd with smiling Joy.

Abread they find, who cherish it at Home.

LORENZO! pardon what my Love extorts,

An honest Love, and not afraid to frown.

Tho' Choice of Follies fasten on the Great. None clings more obstinate, than Fancy fond That facred Friendship is their easy Prey : Caught by the Wasture of a golden Lure, Or Fascination of a high-born Smile. Their Smiles, the Great, and the Coquet, throw out For Others Hearts, tenacious of their Own; And we no less of ours, when fuch the Bait. Ye Fortune's Cofferers! Ye Pow'rs of Wealth! Can Gold gain Friendship? Impudence of Hope! As well mere Man an Angel might beget. Love, and Love only, is the Loan for Love. LORENZO! Pride repress; nor hope to find A Friend, but what has found a Friend in Thee. All like the Purchase; few the Price will pay; And this makes Priends fuch Miracles below.

What if (fince daring on fo nice a Theme)

I shew thee Friendship Delicate, as Dear,
Of tender Violations apt to die?

Reserve will wound it; and Distrust, destroy.
Deliberate on all Things with thy Friend.
But since Friends grow not thick on ev'ry Bough,
Nor ev'ry Friend unrotten at the Core;
First, on thy Friend, delib'rate with Thyself;
Pause, ponder, sist; not Eager in the Choice,
Nor Jealous of the Chosen: Fixing, Fix;
Judge before Friendship; then conside till Death.
Well, for thy Friend; but Nobler far for Thee;
How gallant Danger for Earth's Highest Prize!

A Friend is worth all Hazards we can run.

"Poor is the Friendless Master of a World:

CA

So fung He (Angels hear that Angel fing! Angels from Friendship gather Half their Joy) So fung PHILANDER, as his Friend went round In the rich leber, in the gen'rous Blood Of Bacchus, purple God of joyous Wit, A Brow folute, and ever-laughing Eye. He drank long Health, and Virtue, to his Friend; His Friend, who warm'd him more, who more inspir'd. Friendship's the Wine of Life; but Friendship new (Not fuch was His) is neither Strong, nor Pure. O! for the bright Complexion, cordial Warmth, And elevating Spirit, of a Friend, For Twenty Summers ripening by my Side; All Feculence of Falshood long thrown down : All focial Virtues rifing in his Soul; As Crystal clear; and smiling, as they rise ! Here Nectar flows; it sparkles in our Sight; Rich to the Taste, and genuine from the Heart. High-flavour'd Blifs for Gods! on Earth how rare! On Earth how loft !- PHILANDER is no more.

Think'st thou the Theme intoxicates my Song? Am I too warm ?-Too warm I cannot be. I lov'd him much ; but now I love him more. Like Birds, whose Beauties languish, half-conceal'd, Till, mounted on the Wing, their gloffy Plumes Expanded shine with Azure, Green, and Gold; How Bleffings brighten as they take their Flight! His Flight PHILANDER took; his Upward Flight, If ever Soul ascended. Had he dropt, (That Eagle Genius!) O had he let fall One Feather as he flew; I, then, had wrote, What Friends might flatter; prudent Foes forbear; Rivals scarce damn; and Zozzus reprieve. Yet what I can, I must: It were profane To quench a Glory lighted at the Skies,

And cast in Shadows his illustrious Close.

Strange! the Theme most affecting, most sublime, Momentous most to Man, should sleep unsung!

And yet it sleeps, by Genius unawak'd,
Painim or Christian; to the Blush of Wit.

Man's highest Triumph! Man's prosoundest Fall!

The Death-bed of the Just! Is yet undrawn

By mortal Hand; it merits a Divine:

Angels should paint it, Angels ever There;

There, on a Post of Honour, and of Joy.

Dare I presume, then? But Philander bids;
And Glory tempts, and Inclination calls
Yet am I struck; as struck the Soul, beneath
Aereal Groves impenetrable Gloom;
Or, in some mighty Ruin's solemn Shade;
Or, gazing by pale Lamps on bigh-born Dust,
In Vaults; thin Courts of poor Unstatter'd Kings;
Or, at the Midnight Altar's hallow'd Flame.
It is Religion to proceed: I pause—
And enter, aw'd, the Temple of my Theme.
Is it his Death-bed? No: It is his Shrine:
Behold him, there, just rising to a God.

The Chamber where the Good Man meets his Fate,
Is privileg'd beyond the common Walk
Of virtuous Life, quite in the Verge of Heav'n.
Fly, ye Profane! If not, draw near with Awe,
Receive the Bleffing, and adore the Chance,
That threw in this Betbefda your Disease;
If unrestor'd by This, despair your Cure.
For, Here, resistless Demonstration dwells;
A Death-bed's a Detector of the Heart.
Here tir'd Dissimulation drops her Masque,
Thro' Life's Grimace, that Mistress of the Scene!
Here Real, and Apparent, are the Same.
You see the Man; you see his Hold on Heav's;

If found his Virtue; as PRILANDER's, found, Heav'n waits not the last Moment; owns her Friends On this Side Death; and points them out to Men, A Lecture, filent, but of fov'reign Pow'r! To Vice, Confusion; and to Virtue, Peace.

Whatever Farce the boafful Hero plays, Virtue alone has Majefty in Death; And greater still, the more the Tyrant frowns. PHILANDER! he severely frown'd on Thee.

- " No Warning giv'n! Unceremonious Fate!
- " A fudden Rush from Life's meridian Joys!
- " A Wrench from all we love! from all we are!
- " A reftless Bed of Pain! a Plunge opaque
- " Beyond Conjecture! Feeble Nature's Dread!
- " Strong Reason's Shudder at the dark Unknown!
- " A Sun extinguisht! a just opening Grave!
- " And Oh! the last, last; what? (can Words express?
- "Thought reach it?) the last Silence of a Friend! Where are those Horrors, that Amazement, where, This hideous Group of Ills, which fingly shock, Demand from Man?—I thought him Man till now.

Thro' Nature's Wreck, thro' vanquisht Agonies, (Like the Stars struggling thro' this Midnight Gloom) What Gleams of Joy? what more than Human Peace? Where, the frail Mortal? the poor abject Worm? No, not in Death, the Mortal to be found. His Conduct is a Legacy for All.

Richer than Mammon's for his fingle Heir.

His Comforters he comforts; Great in Ruin, With unreluctant Grandeur, gives, not yields

His Soul fublime; and closes with his Fate.

How our Hearts burnt within us at the Scene!
Whence, This brave Bound o'er Limits fixt to Man!
His God fuffains him in his final Hour!
His final Hour brings Glory to his God!

Man's Glory Heav'n vouchfafes to call her own.

We gaze; we weep; mixt Tears of Grief and Joy!

Amazement strikes! Devotion bursts to Flame!

Christians Adore! and Instales Believe.

As fome tall Tow'r, or lofty Mountain's Brow,
Detains the Sun, Illustrious from its Height;
While rifing Vapours, and descending Shades,
With Damps, and Darkness, drown the spacious Vale;
Undampt by Doubt, Undarken'd by Despair,
Philander, thus, augustly rears his Head,
At that black Hour, which gen'ral Horror sheds
On the low Level of th' inglorious Throng:
Sweet Peace, and Heav'nly Hope, and Humble Joy,
Divinely beam on his exalted Soul;
Destruction gild, and crown him for the Skies,
With incommunicable Lustre, Bright.

NIGHT the THIRD.

NARCISSA.

To Her GRACE

The DUCHESS of P----

Ignoscenda quidem, scirent si ignoscere Manes. VIRG.

TROM Dreams, where Thought in Fancy's Maze runs To Reason, that Heav'n-lighted Lamp in Man, [mad, Once more I wake; and at the deftin'd Hour. Punctual as Lovers to the Moment fworn. I keep my Affignation with my Woe. O Loft to Virtue, Loft to manly Thought. Loft to the noble Sallies of the Soul! Who think it Solitude, to be Alone. Communion fweet! Communion large, and high! Our Reason, Guardian Angel, and our God! Then nearest These, when Others most remote: And all, ere long, shall be remote, but These. How dreadful, Then, to meet them all alone, A Stranger! Unacknowledg'd! Unapprov'd! Now woo them; wed them; bind them to thy Breaft; To win thy Wish, Creation has no more. Or if we wish a Fourth, it is a Friend-But Friends, how mortal! Dang'rous the Defire.

Take

Take PHOEBUS to yourselves, ye basking Bards!
Inebriate at fair Fortune's Fountain-head;
And reeling thro' the Wilderness of Joy;
Where Sense runs savage, broke from Reason's Chain,
And sings false Peace, till smother'd by the Pall.
My Fortune is unlike; unlike my Song;
Unlike the Deity my Song invokes.
I to Day's soft-ey'd Sister pay my Court,
(ENDYMION'S Rival!) and her Aid implore;
Now first implor'd in Succour to the Muse.

Thou, who didft lately borrow * CYNTHIA'S Form,
And modestly forego thine Own! O Thou,
Who didft thyself, at Midnight Hours, inspire!
Say, why not CYNTHIA Patroness of Song?
As Thou her Crescent, she thy Character
Assumes; still more a Goddess by the Change.

Are there demurring Wits, who dare dispute This Revolution in the World inspir'd? Ye Train Pierian! to the Lunar Sphere, In filent Hour, address your ardent Call For Aid immortal : less her Brother's Right. She, with the Spheres harmonious, nightly leads The mazy Dance, and hears their matchless Strain. A Strain for Gods, deny'd to mortal Ear. Transmit it heard, Thou Silver Queen of Heav'n! What Title, or what Name, endears thee most ! CYNTHIA! CYLLENE! PHOEBE!-or doft hear With higher Guft, fair P-D of the Skies? Is that the foft Inchantment calls thee down. More pow'rful than of old Circean Charm? Come; but from Heav'nly Banquets with thee bring The Soul of Song, and whifper in mine Ear The Theft divine; or in propitious Dreams (For Dreams are Thine) transfuse it thro' the Breast

Of thy first Votary-But not thy last; If, like thy Namefake, Thou art ever kind. And kind Thou wilt be; Kind on such a Theme; A Theme fo like thee, a quite Lunar Theme, Soft, modelt, melancholy, female, fair ! A Theme that rose all pale, and told my Soul, Twas Night; on her fond hopes perpetual Night; A Night which struck a Damp, a deadlier Damp, Than that which smote me from PHILANDER'S Tomb. NARCISSA follows, ere his Tomb is clos'd. Woes cluster; rare are folitary Woes; They love a Train; they tread each other's Heel; Her Death invades His mournful Right, and claims The Grief that started from my Lids for Him; Seizes the faithless, alienated Tear. Or shares it, ere it falls. So frequent Death, Sorrow, He more than causes. He confounds: For human Sighs his rival Strokes contend, And make Distress, Distraction. Oh PHILANDER! What was thy Fate? A double Fate to me; Portent, and Pain! a Menace, and a Blow! Like the black Raven hov'ring o'er my Peace, Not less a Bird of Omen, than of Prey. It call'd NARCISSA long before her Hour; It call'd her tender Soul, by Break of Blifs, From the first Blossom, from the Buds of Joy; Those few our noxious Fate unblasted leaves In this inclement Clime of human Life.

And Young as beautiful! and Soft as young!
And Gay as foft! and Innocent as gay!
And Happy (if aught Happy bere) as good!
For Fortune fond had built her Nest on high.
Like Birds quite exquisite of Note and Plume,
Transfixt by Fate (who loves a losty Mark)

How from the Summit of the Grove she fell, And left it unharmonious! All its Charm Extinguisht in the Wonders of her Song! Her Song still vibrates in my ravisht Ear, Still melting there, and with voluptuous Pain (O to forget her!) thrilling thro' my Heart!

Song, Beauty, Youth, Love, Virtue, Joy! this Group Of bright Ideas, Flow'rs of Paradife, As yet unforfeit! in one Blaze we bind. Kneel, and prefent it to the Skies; as All We guess of Heav'n: And these were all her own. And she was mine; and I was was most blest-Gay Title of the deepest Misery! As Bodies grow more pond'rous, robb'd of Life; Good loft weighs more in Grief, than gain'd, in Joy. Like bloffom'd Trees o'erturn'd by vernal Storm, Lovely in Death the beauteous Ruin lay; And if in Death still lovely, lovelier There; Far lovelier! Pity swells the Tide of Love. And will not the Severe excuse a Sigh? Scorn the proud Man that is asham'd to weep; Our Tears indulg'd indeed deserve our Shame. Ye that e'er lost an Angel! pity me.

Soon as the Lustre languisht in her Eye,
Dawning a dimmer Day on human Sight;
And on her Cheek, the Residence of Spring,
Pale Omen sat; and scatter'd Fears around
On all that saw (and who would cease to gaze,
That once had seen?) with Haste, parental Haste,
I slew, I snatch'd her from the rigid North,
Her native Bed, on which bleak Boreas blew,
And bore her nearer to the Sun; the Sun
(As if the Sun could envy) checkt his Beam,
Deny'd his wonted Succour; nor with more

Regret beheld her drooping, than the Bells Of Lilies; Fairest Lilies, not so fair!

Queen Lilies! and ye painted Populace!

Who dwell in Fields, and load ambrofiel Lives;
In Morn and Evining Dew, your Beauties bathe,
And drink the Sun; which gives your Cheeks to glow,
And out-blush (mine excepted) eviry Fair;
You gladlier grew, ambitious of her Hand,
Which often cropt your Odours, Incense meet
To Thought so pure! Ye lovely Fugitives!
Coæval Race with Man! for Man you smile;
Why not smile at him too? You share indeed
His sudden Pass; but not his constant Pain.

So Man is made, nought ministers Delight,
But what his glowing Passions can engage;
And glowing Passions, bent on aught Below,
Must, soon or late, with Anguish turn the Scale;
And Anguish, after Rapture, how severe!
Rapture? Bold Man! who tempts the Wrath divine,
By plucking Fruit deny'd to mortal Tasse,
Whilst Here, presuming on the Rights of Heav'n.
For Transport do'st Thou call on ev'ry Hour,
Lorenzo? At thy Friend's Expence be wise;
Lean not on Earth; 'twill pierce thee to the Heart;
A broken Reed, at best; but, oft, a Spear;
On its sharp Point Peace bleeds, and Hope expires.

Turn, hopeless Thought! turn from Her:—Thought
Resenting rallies, and wakes ev'ry Woe. [repell'd,
Snatch'd ere thy Prime! and in thy bridal Hour!
And when kind Fortune, with thy Lover, smil'd!
And when high-slavour'd thy fresh-op'ning Joys!
And when blind Man pronounc'd thy Bliss complete!
And on a Foreign Shore; where Strangers wept!
Strangers to Thee; and, more surprising still,

Strangers

Strangers to Kindness wept: Their Eyes let fall
Inhuman Tears; strange Tears! that trickled down
From marble Hearts! obdurate Tenderness!
A Tenderness that call'd them more severe;
In spite of Nature's soft Persunson, steel'd;
While Nature melted, Superstition rav'd;
That mourn'd the Dead; and This deny'd a Grave.

Their Sighs incenft; Sighs foreign to the Will! Their Will the Tyger fuck'd, outrag'd the Storm. For Oh! the curft Ungodliness of Zeal! While finful Fleft relepted, Spirit nurft In blind Infallibility's Embrace, The Sainted Spirit petrify'd the Breaft; Deny'd the Charity of Duft, to fpread O'er Dust! a Charity their Dogs enjoy. What could I do? What Succour? What Refource? With pious Sacrilege a Grave I stole; With impious Piety that Grave I wrong'd; Short in my Duty; Coward in my Grief! More like her Murderer, than Friend, I crept, With foft suspended Step; and mussed deep In midnight Darknefs, whifper'd my Laft Sigh. I whi/per'd what should scho theo' their Realms: Nor writ her Name, whose Tomb should pierce the Skies. Prefumptuous Fear! how durft I dread her Foes, While Nature's loudest Dictates I obey'd? Pardon Necessity, Bleft Shade! Of Grief And Indignation rival Burfts I pour'd; Half-execration mingled with my Pray's; Kindled at Man, while I his God ador'd; Sore-grudg'd the Savage Land her Sacred Duft; Stampt the curft Soil; and with Humanity (Deny'd NARCISSA) wish'd them all a Grave.

Glows my Refentment into Guilt? What Guilt Can equal Violations of the Dead?

Night 3.

The Dead how Sacred! Sacred is the Dust Of this Heav'n-labour'd Form, erect, divine! This Heav'n-assum'd majestic Robe of Earth, He deign'd to wear, who hung the vast Expanse With Azure bright, and cloath'd the Sun in Gold. When every Passion sleeps that can offend; When strikes us ev'ry Motive that can melt; When Man can wreak his Rancour uncontrous d, That strongest Curb on Insult and Ill will; Then, Spleen to Dust? the Dust of Innocence? An Angel's Dust!—This Lucifer transcends; When he contended for the Patriarch's Bones, 'Twas not the Strife of Malice, but of Pride; The Strife of Pontiff Pride, not Pontiff Gall.

Far less than This is shocking in a Race Most wretched, but from Streams of mutual Love; And uncreated, but for Love Divine; And, but for Love Divine, this Moment, loft, By Fate reforb'd, and funk in endless Night. Man hard of Heart to Man! Of horrid Things Most horrid! 'Midst stupendous, highly strange! Yet oft his Courtefies are fmoother Wrongs; Pride brandishes the Favours he confers, And contumelious his Humanity: What then his Vengeance? Hear it not, ye Stars! And thou, pale Moon! turn paler at the Sound; Man is to Man the forest, furest, Ill. A previous Blaft foretells the rifing Storm; O'erwhelming Turrets threaten ere they fall; Volcano's bellow ere they difembogue; Earth trembles ere her yawning Jaws devour; And Smoke betrays the wide-confuming Fire: Ruin from Man is most conceal'd when near, And fends the dreadful Tidings in the Blow. Is this the Flight of Fancy? Would it were!

Heav'n's Sov'reign faves all Beings but Himfelf, That hideous Sight, a naked human Heart.

Fir'd is the Muse? And let the Muse be fir'd: Who not inflam'd, when what He fpeaks, He feels, And in the Nerve most tender, in his Friends ? Shame to Mankind! PHILANDER had his Foes: He felt the Truths I fing, and I in Him. But He, nor I, feel more : Past Ills, NARCISSA! Are funk in Thee, Thou recent Wound of Heart! Which bleeds with other Cares, with other Pangs: Pangs num'rous, as the num'rous Ills that fwarm'd O'er thy distinguisht Fate, and, cluff'ring There Thick as the Locust on the Land of Nile. Made Death more deadly, and more dark the Grave. Reflect (if not forgot my touching Tale) How was each Circumstance with Aspics arm'd? An Afpic, Each; and All, an Hydra-Woe: What firong Herculean Virtue could fuffice? Or is it Virtue to be conquer'd Here? This hoary Cheek a Train of Tears bedews; And each Tear mourns its own diftina Diftres; And each Diffress, diffinctly mourn'd, demands Of Grief still more, as heighten'd by the Whole. A Grief like this Proprietors excludes: Not Friends alone such Obsequies deplore; They make Mankind the Mourner; carry Sighs Far as the fatal Fame can wing her Way; And turn the gayest Thought of gayest Age, Down their right Channel, thro' the Vale of Death.

The Vale of Death! that husht Cimmerian Vale, Where Darkness, brooding o'er unfinisht Fates, With Raven Wing incumbent, waits the Day (Dread Day!) that interdicts all future Change! That Subterranean World, that Land of Ruin! Fit Walk, Lorenzo, for proud human Thought!

There let my Thought expatiate; and explore
Balfamic Truths, and healing Sentiments,
Of all most wanted, and most welcome, Here.
For gay Longnzo's fake, and for thy own,
My Soul! "The Fruits of Dying Friends survey;

" Expose the Vais of Life; weigh Life and Death :

" Give Death his Eulogy; Thy Fear subdue; " And labour that first Palm of noble Minds,

" A manly Scorn of Terror from the Tomb."
This Harvest reap from thy NARCISSA'S Grave.

As Poets seign'd from Ajax' streaming Blood Arose, with Grief inscrib'd, a mournful Flow'r; Let Wisdom blossom from my mortal Wound. And soft, of Dying Friends; what Fruit from These? It beings as more than Triple Aid; an Aid To chase our Thoughtlessies, Fear, Pride, and Guilt.

Our dying Priends come o'er us like a Cloud, To damp our brainless Ardors; and abate That Glare of Life, which often blinds the Wife. Our dying Friends are Pioneers, to fmooth Our rugged Pais to Death; to break those Bars Of Terror, and Abhorrence, Nature throws Cross our obstructed Way; and, thus, to make Welcome, as fafe, our Port from ev'ry Storm. Each Friend by Fate fnatch'd from us, is a Plume Pluckt from the Wing of Human Vanity. Which makes us floop from our aereal Heights, And, dampt with Omen of our own Decease, On drooping Pinions of Ambition lower'd, Just skim Earth's Surface, ere we break it up, O'er putrid Earth to fcratch a little Duft, And fave the World a Nuifance. Smitten Friends Are Angels fent on Errands full of Love; For us they languish, and for us they die: And shall they languish, shall they die, in vain? Ungrateful, Ungrateful, shall we grieve their hov'ring Shades, Which wait the Revolution in our Hearts? Shall we disdain their filent, soft Address; Their posthumous Advice, and pious Pray'r? Senseless, as Herds that graze their hallow'd Graves, Tread under-soot their Agonies and Groans; Frustrate their Anguish, and destroy their Deaths?

LORENZO! no; the Thought of Death indalge; Give it its wholfome Empire! let it reign, That kind Chastifer of thy Soul in Joy! Its Reign will fpread thy glorious Conquests far, And fill the Tumults of thy ruffled Breaft: Auspicious Æra! Golden Days, begin! The Thought of Death, shall, like a God, inspire. And why not think on Death? Is Life the Theme Of ev'ry Thought? and Wish of ev'ry Hour? And Song of ev'ry Joy? Surprising Truth! The beaten Spaniel's Fondness not so strange. To wave the num'rous Ills that feize on Life As their own Property, their lawful Prey; Ere Man has measur'd half his weary Stage. His Luxuries have left him no Referve. . No maiden Relishes, unbroacht Delights; On cold ferv'd Repetitions He subuits, And in the tafteless Present chews the Past; Difgufted chews, and scarce can swallow down. Like lavish Ancestors, his earlier Years Have difinherited his future I ours, Which starve on Orts, and glean their former Field.

Live ever Here, LORENZO!—Shocking Thought!
So shocking, they who wish, disown it too;
Disown from Shame, what they from Folly crave.
Live ever in the Womb, nor see the Light?
For what live ever Here?—With lab'ring Step
To tread our former Footsteps,? Pace the Round

Eternal ?

Eternal? To climb Life's worn, heavy Wheel. Which draws up nothing new? To beat, and beat, The beaten Track? To bid each wretched Day The former mock? To furfeit on the Same, And yawn our Joys? or thank a Mifery For Change, tho' fad ? To fee what we have feen ? Hear, till unheard, the fame old flabber'd Tale? To tafte the tafted, and at each Return Less tasteful? O'er our Palates to decant Another Vintage? Strain a flatter Year, Thro' loaded Veffels, and a laxer Tone? Crazy Machines to grind Earth's wasted Fruits! Ill-ground, and worfe-concocted! Load, not Life! The Rational foul Kennels of Excess? Still-streaming Thorough-fares of dull Debauch ! Trembling each Gulp, left Death should snatch the Bowt.

Such of our Fine ones is the Wish refin'd! So would they have it: Elegant Defire! Why not invite the bellowing Stalls, and Wilds? But fuch Examples might their Riot awe. Thro' Want of Virtue, that is, Want of Thought, (Tho' on bright Thought they father all their Flights) To what are they reduc'd ? To love, and hate, The same vain World; To censure, and espouse, This painted Shrew of Life, who calls them Fool Each Moment of each Day; To flatter Bad Thro' Dread of Worfe; To cling to this rude Rock, Barren, to them, of Good, and sharp with Ills, And hourly blacken'd with impending Storms, And infamous for Wrecks of human Hope-Scar'd at the gloomy Gulph, that yawns beneath. Such are their Triumphs! fuch their Pangs of Joy!

'Tis Time, high Time, to shift this dismal Scene. This bugg'd, this bideous State, what Art can cure? One only; but that One, what all may reach;

VIRTUE—She, wonder working Goddes! charms
That Rock to bloom; and tames the painted Shrew;
And what will more furprife, LORENZO! gives
To Life's fick, nauseous Iteration, Change;
And straitens Nature's Circle to a Line.
Believ'st thou this, LORENZO! Lend an Ear,
A patient Ear, Thou'lt blush to disbelieve.

A languid, leaden Iteration reigns, And ever muft, o'er those, whose Joys are Joys Of Sight, Smell, Tafte: The Cuckow-featons fing The fame dull Note to fuch as nothing prize, But what those Seasons, from the teeming Earth, To doating Sense indulge. But nobler Minds, Which relish Fruits unripen'd by the Sun, Make their Days various; various as the Dyes On the Dove's Neck, which wanton in bis Rays. On Minds of Dove like Innocence posicit, On lighten'd Minds, that bask in Virtue's Beams, Nothing hangs tedious, nothing old revolves In That, for which they long; for which they live. Their glorious Efforts, wing'd with Heav'nly Hope, Each rifing Morning still sees higher rife; Each bounteous Dawn its Novelty prefents To Worth maturing, new Strength, Luftre, Fame; While Nature's Circle, like a Chariot wheel Rolling beneath their elevated Aims, Makes their fair Prospect fairer ev'ry Hour; Advancing Virtue, in a Line to Blifs; Virtue, which Christian Motives best inspire! And Blift, which Christian Schemes alone enfure!

And shall we then, for Virtue's Sake, commence Apostates? and turn Insidels for Joy?

A Truth it is, few doubt, but fewer trust,

"He sins against this Life, who slights the next."

What is this Life? How few their Fav'rite know?

Fond

Fond in the Dark, and blind in our Embrace, By paffionately loving Life, we make Lov'd Life unlovely; hugging her to Death. We give to Time Eternity's Regard; And, dreaming, taking our Paffage for our Port. Life has no Value, as an End, but Means; An End deplorable! a Means divine! When 'tis our All, 'tis Nothing; worfe than Nought; A Nest of Pains; when held as Nothing, Much: Like fome fair Hum'rifts, Life is most enjoy'd, When courted leaft; most worth, when disesteemed; Then 'tis the Seat of Comfort, rich in Peace: In Prospect richer far; Important! Aweful! No to be mention'd but with Shouts of Praise! Not to be thought on, but with Tides of Joy! The mighty Basis of eternal Bliss!

Where now the barren Rock? the painted Shrew? Where, now, LORENZO! Life's eternal Round? Have I not made my triple Promise good? Vain is the World; but only to the Vain. To what compare we then this varying Scene, Whose Worth ambiguous tises, and declines? Waxes, and wanes? (In all propitious, Night Assists me Here) Compare it to the Moon; Dark in herself, and indigent; but rich In borrow'd Lustre from a higher Sphere. When gross Guilt interposes, Lab'ring Earth, O'ershadow'd, mourns a deep Eclipse of Joy; Her Joys, at brightest, pallid to that Font Of full essugent Glory, whence they slow.

Nor is that Glory distant: Oh LORENZO!

A good Man, and an Angel! These between

How thin the Barrier? What divides their Fate?

Perhaps a Moment, or perhaps a Year;

Or, if an Age, it is a Moment still;

A Moment,

A Moment, or Eternity's forgot.

Then be, what once they were, who now are Gods;

Be what Philander was, and claim the Skies.

Starts timid Nature at the gloomy Pass?

The fost Transition call it; and be chear'd:

Such it is often, and why not to Thee?

To hope the best is pious, brave, and wise;

And may itself procure, what it presumes.

Life is much flatter'd, Death is much traduc'd;

Compare the Rivals, and the kinder crown.

"Strange Competition!"—True, Lorenzol Strange!

So little Life can cast into the Scale.

Life makes the Soul dependent on the Duft;
Death gives her Wings to mount above the Spheres.
Thro' Chinks, styl'd Organs, dim Life peeps at Light;
Death bursts th'involving Cloud, and all is Day;
All Eye, all Ear, the disembody'd Power.
Death has seign'd Evils, Nature shall not seel;
Life, Ills substantial, Wisdom cannot shan.
Is not the mighty Mind, that Son of Heav'n!
By Tyrant Life dethron'd, imprison'd, pain'd?
By Death inlarg'd ennobled, deify'd?
Death but intombs the Body; Life the Soul.

- " Is Death then guiltless? How he marks his Way
- " With dreadful Waste of what deserves to shine!
- " Art, Genius, Fortune, elevated Pow'r!
- " With various Luftres These light up the World,
- Which Death puts out, and darkens human Race."
 I grant, Lorenzo! this Indictment just:
 The Sage, Peer, Potentate, King, Conquerer!
 Death humbles These; more barb'rous Life, the Man.

Life is the Triumph of our mould'ring Clay; Death, of the Spirit infinite! divine!

Death has no Dread, but what frail Life imparts; Nor Life true Joy, but what kind Death improves. No Blis has Life to boast, till Death can give Far greater; Life's a Debtor to the Grave, Dark Lattice! letting in eternal Day.

LORENZO! blush at Fondness for a Life,
Which sends celestial Souls on Errands vile,
To cater for the Sense; and serve at Boards,
Where ev'ry Ranger of the Wilds, perhaps
Each Reptile, justly claims our upper Hand.
Luxurious Feast! a Soul! a Soul immortal,
In all the Dainties of a Brute bemir'd!
LORENZO! blush at Terror for a Death,
Which gives thee to repose in sessive Bowers,
Where Nectars sparkle, Angels minister,
And more than Angels share, and raise, and crown,
And eternize, the Birth, Bloom, Bursts of Bliss.
What need I more? O Death, the Palm is thine.

Then welcome, Death! thy dreaded Harbingers, Age, and Difease; Disease, tho' long my Guest; That plucks my Nerves, those tender Strings of Life; Which, pluckt a little more, will toll the Bell, That calls my few Friends to my Funeral; Where feeble Nature drops, perhaps, a Tear, While Reason and Religion, better taught, Congratulate the Dead, and crown his Tomb With Wreath triumphant. Death is Victory, It binds in Chains the raging Ills of Life: Luft and Ambition, Wroth, and Avarice, Dragg'd at his Chariot-wheel, applaud his Power. That Ills corrolive, Cares importunate, Are not immortal too, O Death! is Thine. Our Day of Diffolution !- Name it right; 'Ti our great Pay-day; 'tis our Harveit, rich And ripe: What tho' the Sickle, fometimes keen, Just scars us as we reap the gold Grain? More than thy Balm, O Gile Beals the Wound.

Birthis

Birth's feeble Cry, and Death's deep dismal Groan, Are slender Tributes low-taxt Nature pays For mighty Gain: The Gain of each a Life! But O! the last the former so transcends, Life dies, compar'd; Life lives beyond the Grave.

And feel I, Death! no Joy from Thought of Thee? Death, the great Counsellor, who Man inspires With ev'ry nobler Thought, and fairer Deed! Death, the Deliverer, who refcues Man! Death, the Rewarder, who the Rescu'd crowns! Death, that absolves my Birth; a Curse without it! Rich Death, that realizes all my Cares, Toils, Virtues, Hopes; without it a Chimera! Death, of all Pain the Period, not of Joy; Joy's Source, and Subject, ftill fubfift unhurt; One, in my Soul; and One, in her great Sire; Tho' the four Winds were warring for my Duft. Yes, and from Winds, and Waves, and central Night, Tho' prison'd there, my Dust too I reclaim, (To Duft when drop proud Nature's proudeft Spheres) And live intire. Death is the Crown of Life: Were Death deny'd, poor Man would live in vain: Were Death deny'd, to live would not be Life : Were Death deny'd, ev'n Fools would wish to die. Death wounds to cure : We fall; we rife; we reign! Spring from our Fetters; fasten in the Skies; Where blooming Eden withers in our Sight: Death gives us more than was in Eden loft. This King of Terrors is the Prince of Peace. When shall I die to Vanity, Pain, Death? When shall I die?-When shall I live for ever?

NIGHT the FOURTH.

THE

CHRISTIAN TRIUMPH.

Containing

Our only CURE for the FEAR of DEATH.

And Proper SENTIMENTS of HEART on that Inestimable Blessing.

To the Honble Mr. YORKE.

A Much-indebted Muse, O YORKE! intrudes.

Amid the Smiles of Fortune, and of Youth,
Thine Ear is patient of a serious Song.

How deep implanted in the Breast of Man
The Dread of Death? I sing its sov'reign Cure.

Why start at Death? Where is he? Death arriv'd,
Is past; not come, or gone, He's never bere.

Ere Hope, Sensation sails; Black-boding Man
Receives, not suffers, Death's tremendous Blow.
The Knell, the Shroud, the Mattock, and the Grave;
The deep damp Vault, the Darkness, and the Worm;

Thefe are the Bugbears of a Winter's Eve,
The Terrors of the Living, not the Dead.
Imagination's Fool, and Error's Wretch,
Man makes a Death, which Nature never made;
Then on the Point of his own Fancy falls;
And feels a thousand Deaths, in fearing one.

But were Death frightful, what has Age to fear ? If prudent, Age should meet the friendly Foe, And shelter in his hospitable Gloom. I scarce can meet a Monument, but holds My Younger; ev'ry Date cries-" Come away." And what recalls me ? Look the World around, And tell me what: The Wifeft cannot tell. Should any born of Woman give his Thought Full Range, on just Dislike's unbounded Field; Of Things, the Vanity; of Men, the Flaws; Flaws in the Beft; the Many, Flaw all o'er; As Leopards, spotted, or, as Ethiops, dark; Vivacious III; Good dying immature; (How immature, NARCISSA'S Marble tells) And at its Death bequeathing endless Pain; His Heart, tho' bold, would ficken at the Sight, And spend itself in Sighs, for future Scenes.

But grant to Life (and just it is to grant
To lucky Life) some Perquisites of Joy;
A Time there is, when, like a thrice-told Tale,
Long-risted Life of Sweet can yield no more,
But from our Comment on the Comedy,
Pleasing Resections on Parts well-sustain'd,
Or purpos'd Emendations where we fail'd,
Or Hopes of Plaudits from our candid Judge,
When, on their Exit, Souls are bid unrobe,
Toss Fortune back her Tinsel, and her Plume,
And drop this Mask of Flesh behind the Scene.

With me, that Time is come; My World is dead;
A new World rifes, and new Manners reign:
Foreign Comedians, a spruce Band! arrive,
To push me from the Scene, or his me there.
What a pert Race starts up! the Strangers gaze,
And I at them; My Neighbour is unknown;
Nor that the worst: Ah me! the dire Effect
Of loit'ring here, of Death defrauded long;
Of old so gracious (and let that suffice),
My very Master knows me not.———

Shall I dare fay, Peculiar is the Fate?
I've been so long remember'd, I'm forgot.
An Object ever pressing dims the Sight,
And hides behind its Ardor to be seen.
When in his Courtiers Ears I pour my Plaint,
They drink it as the Nectar of the Great;
And squeeze my Hand, and beg me come To-morrow;
Refusal! canst thou wear a smoother Form?

Indulge me, nor conceive I drop my Theme: Who cheapens Life, abates the Fear of Death : Twice-told the Period spent on stubborn Troy, Court-Favour, yet untaken, I besiege; Ambition's ill judg'd Effort to be rich. Alas! Ambition makes my Little, Less; Embitt'ring the Poffes'd: Why wish for more? Wishing, of all Employments, is the worst; Philosophy's Reverse; and Health's Decay! Were I as plump, as flall'd Theology, Wishing would waste me to this Shade again. Were I as wealthy as a South-Sea Dream, Wishing is an Expedient to be poor. Wishing, that constant Hedic of a Fool; Caught at a Court; purg'd off by purer Air, And simpler Diet; Gifts of rural Life!

Bleft be that Hand divine, which gently laid My Heart at Reft, beneath this humble Shed. The World's a stately Bark, on dang'rous Seas. With Pleasure seen, but boarded at our Peril. Here, on a fingle Plank, thrown fafe ashore, I hear the Tumult of the diffant Throng, As that of Seas remote, or dying Storms; And meditate on Scenes, more filent still; Pursue my Theme, and fight the Fear of Death. Here, like a Shepherd gazing from his Hut. Touching his Reed, or leaning on his Staff, Eager Ambition's fiery Chace I fee; I fee the circling Hunt, of noify Men, Burft Law's Inclosures, leap the Mounds of Right, Pursuing, and pursu'd, each other's Prey; As Wolves, for Rapine; as the Fox, for Wiles; Till Death, that mighty Hunter, earths them all.

Why all this Toil for Triumphs of an Hour?
What, tho' we wade in Wealth, or foar in Fame?
Earth's highest Station ends in, "Here he lies:"
And "Dust to Dust" concludes her noblest Song.
If this Song lives, Posterity shall know
One, tho' in Britain born, with Courtiers bred,
Who thought ev'n Gold might come a Day too late;
Nor on his subtle Death-bed plann'd his Scheme
For suture Vacancies in Church or State;
Some Avocation deeming it—to die;
Unbit by Rage canine of dying rich;
Guilt's Blunder! and the loudest Laugh of Hell.

O my Coëvals! Remnants of yourselves!
Poor human Ruins, tott'ring o'er the Grave!
Shall we, shall aged Men, like aged Trees,
Strike deeper their vile Root, and closer cling,
Still more enamour'd of this wretched Soil?
Shall our pale, wither'd Hands, be still stretch'd out.

D 4

Trembling,

Trembling, at once, with Eagerness and Age? With Av'rice, and Convulsions, grasping hard? Grasping at Air! for what has Earth beside? Man wants but Little; nor that Little, long; How foon must he refign his very Dust, Which frugal Nature lent him for an Hour! Years unexperienc'd rush on num'rous Ills ; And foon as Man, expert from Time, has found The Key of Life, it opes the Gates of Death.

When in this Vale of Years I backward look. And miss such Numbers, Numbers too of such. Firmer in Health, and greener in their Age. And ftricter on their Guard, and fitter far To play Life's fubtle Game, I scarce believe I flill furvive : And am I fond of Life, Who scarce can think it possible, I live? Alive by Miracle! or, what is next, Alive by MEAD! If I am fill alive, Who long have bury'd what gives Life to live, Firmness of Nerve, and Energy of Thought. Life's Lee is not more shallow, than impure, And vapid; Sense and Reason shew the Door, Call for my Bier, and point me to the Duft.

O Thou great Arbiter of Life and Death! Nature's immortal, immaterial Sun! Whose all prolific Beam late call'd me forth From Darkness, teeming Darkness, where I lay The Worm's Inferior, and, in Rank, beneath The Duft I tread on, high to bear my Brow, To drink the Spirit of the golden Day, And triumph in Existence; and couldst know No Motive but my Blifs; and haft ordain'd A Rife in Bleffing! with the Patriarch's Joy, Thy Call I follow to the Land unknown; I trust in Thee, and know in whom I trust.

Or Life, or Death, is equal; neither weighs; All Weight in this—O let me live to Thee!

Tho' Nature's Terrors, thus, may be represt! Still frowns grim Death; Guilt points the Tyrant's Spear, And whence all human Guilt? From Death forgot. Ah me! too long I fet at nought the Swarm Of friendly Warnings, which around me flew; And fmil'd, unsmitten: Small my Cause to smile! Death's Admonitions, like Shafts upwards shot, More dreadful by Delay, the longer ere They strike our Hearts, the deeper is their Wound; O think how deep, LORENZO! bere it flings : Who can appeale its Anguish? How it burns! What Hand the barb'd, invenom'd, Thought can draw? What healing Hand can pour the Balm of Peace; And turn my Sight undaunted on the Tomb? With Joy, -with Grief, that bealing Hand I fee; Ah! too confpicuous! It is fix'd on high. On high f-What means my Phrenzy? I blafpheme; Alas! how low? how far beneath the Skies? The Skies it form'd; and now it bleeds for me-But bleeds the Balm I want-yet ftill it bleeds ; Draw the dire Steel-Ah no !- the dreadful Bleffing What Heart or can fuffain, or dares forego? There hangs all human Hope; That Nail supports The falling Universe: That gone, we drop; Horror receives us, and the difmal Wish Creation had been fmother'd in her Birth-Darkness His Curtain, and His Bed the Duft; When Stars and Sun are Duft beneath his Throne? In Heav'n itself can such indulgence dwell? O what a Groan was there! A Groan not His. He feiz'd our dreadful Right; the Load fullain'd; And heav'd the Mountain from a guilty World. A thousand Worlds, so bought, were bought too dear:

Sensations new in Angels Eosoms rise; Suspend their Song; and make a Pause in Blis.

O for their Song to reach my lofty Theme!

Inspire me, Night! with all thy tuneful Spheres;
Whilst I with Seraphs share seraphic Themes,
And shew to Men the Dignity of Man;
Lest I blaspheme my Subject with my Song.
Shall Pagan Pages glow celestial Flaine,
And Christian languish? On our Hearts, not Heads,
Falls the foul Insamy: My Heart! awake.
What can awake thee, unawalled by this,
"Expended Deity on human Weal?"
Feel the great Truths, which burst the tenfold Night
Of Heathen Error, with a golden Flood
Of endless Day: To feel, is to be fir'd;
And to believe, Lorenzo! is to feel.

Thou most indulgent, most tremendous Pow'r!

Still more tremendous, for thy wond'rous Love!

That arms, with Awe more aweful, thy Commands;

And foul Transgression dips in sev'nfold Guilt,

How our Hearts tremble at thy Love immense!

In Love immense, inviolably Just!

Thou, rather than thy Justice should be stain'd,

Didst stain the Cross: and, Work of Wonders far

The greatest, that thy Dearest far might bleed.

Bold Thought! Shall I dare speak it, or repress?

Should Man more execuate, or boast, the Guilt

Which rous'd such Vengeance? which such Love instam'd?

O'er Guilt (how mountainous!) with out-stretcht Arms,

Stern Justice, and soft-smiling Love, embrace,

Supporting, in full Majesty, thy Throne,

When seem'd its Majesty to need Support,

Or That, or Man, inevitably lost:

What, but the Fathonsless of Thought divine,

Could labour such Expedient from Despair,

And rescue both? Both rescue! Both exalt!

O how are both exalted by the Deed!

The wond'rous Deed! or shall I call it more?

A Wonder in Omnipotence itself!

A Mystery, no less to Gods than Men!

Not, thus, our Insidels th' Eternal draw,

A God all o'er, consummate, absolute,

Full-orb'd, in his whole Round of Rays complete:

They set at Odds Heav'n's jarring Attributes;

And, with one Excellence, another wound;

Maim Heav'n's Perfection, break its equal Beams,

Bid Mercy triumph over—God himself,

Undeify'd by their opprobrious Praise:

A God All Mercy, is a God unjust.

Ye brainless Wits! ye baptiz'd Infidels!
Ye worse for mending! wash'd to souler Stains!
The Ransom was paid down; the Fund of Heav'n.
Heav'n's inexhaustible, exhausted Fund,
Amazing, and amaz'd, pour'd forth the Price.
All Price beyond: Tho' curious to compute.
Archangels fail'd to cast the mighty Sum:
Its Value vast ungraspt by Minds Create,
For ever hides, and glows, in the Supreme.

And was the Ransom paid? It was: And paid
(What can exalt the Bounty more?) for You.

The Sun beheld it—No, the shocking Scene
Drove back his Chariot: Midnight veil'd his Face;
Not such as This; not such as Nature makes;
A Midnight, Nature shudder'd to behold;
A Midnight new! a dread Sclipse (without Opposing Spheres) from her Creator's Frown!
Sun! didst thou sty thy Maker's Pain? Or start
At that enormous Load of human Guilt,
Which bow'd his blessed Head; o'erwhelm'd his Cross;
Made groan the Centre; burst Earth's marble Womb,

With Pangs, strange Pangs! deliver'd of her Dead?
Hell howl'd; and Heav'n that Hour let fall a Tear;
Heav'n wept, that Men might smile! Heav'n bled, that Might never die!——
[Man

And is Devotion Virtue? 'Tis compell'd: What Heart of Stone, but glows at Thoughts like These? Such Contemplations mount us; and should mount The Mind still higher; nor ever glance on Man, Unraptur'd, uninflam'd.-Where roll my Thoughts To rest from Wonders? Other Wonders rife: And strike where e'er they roll: My Soul is caught: Heav'n's fov'reign Bleffings, cluft'ring from the Crofs, Rush on her, in a Throng, and close her round, The Pris'ner of Amaze! - In His bleft Life, I fee the Path, and in his Death, the Price, And in His great Ascent, the Proof Supreme Of Immortality .- And did He rife? Hear, O ye Nations! hear it, O ye Dead! He rose! He rose! He burft the Bars of Death. Lift up your Heads, ye everlasting Gates ! And give the King of Glory to come in. Who is the King of Glory? He who left His Throne of Glory, for the Pang of Death: Lift up your Heads, ye everlasting Gates ! And give the King of Glory to come in. Who is the King of Glory? He who flew The ray nous Foe, that gorg'd all human Race! The King of Glory, He, whose Glory fill'd Heav'n with Amazement at his Love to Man; And with Divine Complacency beheld Pow'rs most illumin'd, wilder'd in the Theme.

The Theme, the Joy, how then shall Man sustain? Oh the burst Gates! crush'd Sting! demolish'd Throne! Last Gasp! of vanquish'd Death. Shout Earth and Heav'n! This Sum of Good to Man. Whose Nature, then,

Took

Took Wing, and mounted with Him from the Tomb?
Then, then, I rose; then first Humanity
Triumphant past the Crystal Ports of Light,
(Stupendous Guest!) and seiz'd eternal Youth,
Seiz'd in our Name. E'er since, 'tis blasphemous
To call Man mortal. Man's Mortality
Was, then, transferr'd to Death; and Heav'n's Duration
Unalienably seal'd to this frail Frame,
This Child of Dust,—Man, all-immortal! Hail;
Hail, Heav'n! all-lavish of strange Gifts to Man!
Thine all the Glory; Man's the boundless Bliss.

Where am I rapt by this triumphant Theme, On Christian Joy's exulting Wing, above Th' Aonian Mount ?- Alas, small Cause for Joy! What if to Pain immortal? If Extent Of Being, to preclude a Close of Woe? Where, then, my Boast of Immortality? I boaft it still, tho' cover'd o'er with Guilt; For Guilt, not Innocence, His Life he pour'd; 'Tis Guilt alone can justify his Death; Nor That, unless His Death can justify Relenting Guilt in Heav'n's indulgent Sight. If, fick of Folly, I relent; He writes My Name in Heav'n, with that inverted Spear (A Spear deep dipt in Blood!) which pierc'd his Side. And open'd there a Font for all Mankind Who strive, who combat Crimes, to drink, and live: This, only this, subdues the Fear of Death.

And what is This?—Survey the wond'rous Cure:
And at each Step, let higher Wonder rife!

- " Pardon for infinite Offence! and Pardon
- " Thro' Means, that speak its Value infinite!
- " A Pardon bought with Blood! with Blood Divine!
- " With Blood Divine of Him, I made my Foe!
- " Perfifted to provoke! tho' woo'd, and aw'd,

" Bleft, and chaftis'd, a flagrant Rebel fill!

" A Rebel, 'midft the Thunders of his Throne!

" Nor I alone! a Rebel Universe!

" My Species up in Arms! not One exempt!

" Yet for the Foulest of the Foul, He dies,

" Most joy'd, for the Redeem'd from deepest Guilt!

" As if our Race were held of highest Rank;

"And Godhead dearer, as more kind to Man!"
Bound, ev'ry Heart! and ev'ry Bosom, burn!
Oh what a Scale of Miracles is here!
Its lowest Round, high-planted on the Skies;
Its tow'ring Summit lost beyond the Thought
Of Man or Angel! Oh that I could climb

The wonderful Ascent, with equal Praise!

Praise! flow for ever, (if Astonishment

Will give thee Leave) my Praise! for ever flow; Praise Ardent, Cordial, Constant, to High Heav'n More fragrant, than Arabia sacrific'd,

And all her spicy Mountains in a Flame.

So dear, fo due to Heav'n, shall Praise descend, With her foft Plume (from plausive Angels Wing First pluck'd by Man) to tickle mortal Ears, Thus diving in the Pockets of the Great? Is Praise the Perquisite of ev'ry Paw, Tho' black as Hell, that grapples well for gold? Oh Love of Gold! thou meanest of Amours! Shall Praise her Odours waste on VIRTUE's Dead. Embalm the Base, perfume the Stench of Guilt, Earn dirty Bread by washing Ethiops fair, Removing Filth, or finking it from Sight, A Scavenger in Scenes, where vacant Pofts, Like Gibbets yet untenanted, expect Their future Ornaments? From Courts and Thrones, Return, apottate Praise! thou Vagabond! Thou Thou Profitute! to thy first Love return, Thy first, thy greatest, once unrivall'd Theme.

There flow redundant ; like Meander flow, Back to thy Fountain; to that Parent Pow'r, Who gives the Tongue to found, the Thought to foar, The Soul to be. Men Homage pay to Men, Thoughtless beneath whose dreadful Eye they bow In mutual Awe profound, of Clay to Clay, Of Guilt to Guilt; and turn their Backs on Thee, Great Sire! whom Thrones celeftial ceaseless sing; To proftrate Angels, an amazing Scene! O the Presumption of Man's Awe for Man!-Man's Author! End! Restorer! Law! and Judge! Thine, All; Day thine, and thine this Gloom of Night, With all her Wealth, with all her radiant Worlds: What, Night eternal, but a Frown from Thee? What, Heav'n's meridian Glory, but thy Smile? And shall not Praise be Thine? Not Human Praise? While Heav'n's high Hoft on Hallelujabs live?

O may I breathe no longer, than I breathe My Soul in Praise to Him, who gave my Soul, And all her Infinite of Prospect fair, Cut thro' the Shades of Hell, great Love! by Thee. O most Adorable! most Unador'd! Where shall that Praise begin, which ne'er should end? Where-e'er I turn, what Claim on all Applause! How is Night's fable Mantle labour'd o'er, How richly wrought with Attributes divine! What Wildom thines! what Love! This Midnight Pomp, This gorgeous Arch, with golden Worlds inlay'd! Built with divine Ambition! nought to Thee; For Others this Profusion: Thou, Apart, Above! Beyond! Oh tell me, mighty Mind! Where art thou? Shall I dive into the Deep? Call to the Sun, or ask the roaring Winds,

For their Creator? Shall I question loud The Thunder, if in that th' Almighty dwells? Or holds HE surious Storms in streighten'd Reins; And bids sierce Whirlwinds wheel his rapid Car?

What mean these Questions?—Trembling I retract;
My prostrate Soul adores the present God:
Praise I a distant Deity? He tunes
My Voice (if tun'd); the Nerve, that writes, sustains:
Wrapt in his Being, I resound his Praise:
But tho' past All dissus'd, without a Shore,
His Essence; local is His Throne (as meet),
To gather the Disperst (as Standards call
The Listed from asar); to fix a Point,
A central Point, collective of his Sons,
Since sinite ev'ry Nature, but his own.

The nameless He, whose Nod is Nature's Birth;
And Nature's Shield, the Shadow of his Hand;
Her Dissolution, his suspended Smile!
The great First-Last 1 pavilion'd high he sits
In Darkness, from excessive Splendor, born,
By Gods unseen, unless thro' Lustre lost.
His Glory, to created Glory, bright,
As that to central Horrors; he looks down
On all that soars; and spans Immensity.

Tho' Night unnumber'd Worlds unfolds to View, Boundless Creation! what art thou? A Beam, A mere Effluvium of his Majesty:
And shall an Atom of this Atom-World
Mutter, in Dust and Sin, the Theme of Heav'n?
Down to the Centre should I send my Thought
Thro' Beds of glitt'ring Ore, and glowing Gems,
Their beggar'd Blaze wants Lustre for my Lay;
Goes out in Darkness: If, on tow'ring Wing,
I send it thro' the boundless Vault of Stars;
The Stars, tho' rich, what Dross their Gold to Thee.

Great

Great! Good! Wise! Wonderful! Eternal King!

If to those conscious Stars thy Throne around,

Praise ever-pouring, and imbibing Bliss;

And ask their Strain; They want it, more they want,

Poor their Abundance, humble their Sublime,

Languid their Energy, their Ardor cold,

Indebted still, their highest Rapture burns:

Short of its Mark, defective, tho' divine.

Still more-This Theme is Man's, and Man's alone; Their vast Appointments reach it not: They see On Earth a Bounty not indulg'd on high; And dozumward look for Heav'n's superior Praise! First born of Ether! high in Fields of Light! View Man, to see the Glory of your God! Could Angels envy, they had envy'd here; And some did envy; and the rest, tho' Gods, Yet still Gods unredeem'd (there triumphs Man, Tempted to weigh the Dust against the Skies) They less would feel, tho' more adorn, my Theme. They fung Creation (for in that they fhar'd); How role in Melody, that Child of Love! Creation's great Superior, Man! is Thine; Thine is Redemption; They just gave the Key; 'Tis Thine to raife, and eternize, the Song; Tho' human, yet divine; far should not this Raife Man o'er Man, and kindle Seraphs kere? Redemption! 'twas Creation more fublime; Redemption! 'twas the Labour of the Skies; Far more than Labour-It was Death in Heav'n. A Truth fo strange! 'twere bold to think it true; If not far bolder still, to disbelieve.

Here pause, and ponder: Was there Death in Heav'n? What then on Earth? On Earth, which struck the Blow? Who struck it? Who?—O how is Man inlarg'd, Seen thro' this Medium! How the Pygmy tow'rs!

How counterpois'd his Origin from Duft! How counterpois'd, to Dust his sad Return! How voided his vast Distance from the Skies? How near he presses on the Seraph's Wing! Which is the Seraph? Which the Born of Clay? How This demonstrates, through the thickest Cloud Of Guilt, and Clay condenst, the Son of Heav'n ! The double Son, the Made, and the Re-made! And shall Heav'n's double Property be lost? Man's double Madness only can destroy. To Man the bleeding Cross has promis'd All; The bleeding Crofs has fworn eternal Grace; Who gave his Life, what Grace shall he deny? O ye! who, from this Rock of Ages, leap, Apostates, plunging headlong in the Deep! What cordial Joy, what Confolation strong, Whatever Winds arife, or Billows roll, Our Int'rest in the Master of the Storm? Cling there, and in wreck'd Nature's Ruins Smile; While vile Apostates tremble in a Calm.

Man! Know thyfelf. All Wisdom centres there;
To none Man seems ignoble, but to Man;
Angels that Grandeur, Men o'erlook, admire:
How long shall Human Nature be Their Book,
Degen'rate Mortal! and unread by Thee?
'The Beam dim Reason sheds shews Wonders there;
What high Contents! Illustrious Faculties!
But the grand Comment, which displays at Full
Our human Height, scarce sever'd from Divine,
By Heav'n compos'd, was publish'd on the Cross.

Who looks on That, and sees not in himself An aweful Stranger, a Terrestrial God? A glorious Partner with the Deity In that high Attribute, immortal Life? If a God bleeds, he bleeds not for a Worm:

I gaze,

I gaze, and, as I gaze, my mounting Soul Catches strange Fire, Eternity! at Thee; And drops the World-or rather, more enjoys: How chang'd the Face of Nature! how improv'd! What feem'd a Chaos, shines a glorious World, Or, what a World, an Eden; heighten'd all ! It is another Scene! another Self! And fill another, as Time rolls along: And that a Self far more illustrious still. Beyond long Ages, yet roll'd up in Shades Unpierc'd by bold Conjecture's keenest Ray, What Evolutions of surprising Fate! How Nature opens, and receives my Soul In boundless Walks of raptur'd Thought! Where Gods Encounter, and embrace me! What new Births Of strange Adventure, foreign to the Sun, Where, what now charms, perhaps, whate'er exists, Old Time, and fair Creation, are forgot!

Is this extravagant? Of Man we form

Extravagant Conception, to be just:

Conception unconfin d wants Wings to reach him;

Beyond its Reach, the Godhead only, more.

He, the great Father! kindled at one Flame

The World of Rationals; one Spirit pour'd

From Spirit's aweful Fountain; pour'd Himself

Thro' all their Souls; but not in equal Stream,

Profuse, or frugal, of th' inspiring God,

As his wise Plan demanded; and when past

Their various Trials, in their various Spheres,

If they continue rational, as made,

Resorbs them all into Himself again;

His Throne their Centre, and his Smile their Crown.

Why doubt we, then, the glorious Truth to fing, Tho' yet unfung, as deem'd, perhaps, too bold?

Angels are Men of a superior Kind;

Angels are Men in lighter Habit clad, High o'er celeftial Mountains wing'd in Flight: And Men are Angels, loaded for an Hour. Who wade this miry Vale, and climb with Pain, And flipp'ry Step, the Bottom of the Steep. Angels their Failings, Mortals have their Praise; While Here, of Corps ethereal, such enroll'd, And fummon'd to the glorious Standard foon, Which flames eternal Crimson thro' the Skies. Nor are our Brothers thoughtless of their Kin, Yet absent; but not absent from their Love. MICHAEL has fought our Battles ; RAPHAEL fung Our Triumphs; GABRIEL on our Errands flown, Sent by the SOV'REIGN: And are thefe, O Man! Thy Friends, thy warm Allies? And Thou (Shame burn The Cheek to Cinder!) Rival to the Brute?

Religion's All. Descending from the Skies
To wretched Man, the Goddess in her Lest
Holds out this World, and, in her Right, the next;
Religion! the sole Voucher Man is Man;
Supporter sole of Man above himsels;
Ev'n in this Night of Frailty, Change, and Death,
She gives the Soul a Soul that acts a God.
Religion! Providence! an After-State!
Here is firm Footing; here is solid Rock;
This can support us; all is Sea besides;
Sinks under us; bestorms, and then devours.
His Hand the good Man sastens on the Skies,
And bids Earth roll, nor feels her idle Whirl.

As when a Wretch, from thick, polluted Air, Darkness, and Stench, and suffocating Damps, And Dungeon-Horrors, by kind Fate, discharg'd, Climbs some fair Eminence, where Ether pure Surrounds him, and Elysian Prospects rise, His Heart exults, his Spirits cast their Load;

As if new born, he triumphs in the Change; So joys the Soul, when from inglorious Aims, And fordid Sweets, from Feculence and Froth Of Ties Terrestrial, set at large, she mounts To Reason's Region, her own Element, Breathes Hopes immortal, and affects the Skies.

Religion! thou the Soul of Happiness; And, groaning Calvary, of thee! There thine The noblest Truths; there strongest Motives sting; There facred Violence affaults the Soul; There, nothing but Compulsion is forborn. Can Love allure us? or can Terror awe? He weeps !- the falling Drop puts out the Sun; He fighs-the Sigh Earth's deep Foundation shakes. If, in his Love, fo terrible, what then His Wrath inflam'd? his Tenderness on Fire? Like foft, fmooth Oil, outblazing other Fires? Can Pray'r, can Praise avert it ?- Thou, my All! My Theme! my Inspiration! and my Crown! My Strength in Age! my Rife in low Effate! My Soul's Ambition, Pleasure, Wealth !- My World ! My Light in Darkness! and my Life in Death! My Boast thro' Time! Blis thro' Eternity! Eternity, too short to speak thy Praise! Or fathom thy Profound of Love to Man! To Man of Men the meanest, ev'n to me; My Sacrifice! my God!-what Things are thefe!

What then art THOU? by what Name shall I call
Knew I the Name devout Archangels use, [Thee?
Devout Archangels should the Name enjoy,
By me unrivall'd; Thousands more sublime,
None half so dear, as that, which, tho' unspoke,
Still glows at Heart: O how Omnipotence
Is lost in Love! Thou great PHILAN THROPIST!
Father of Angels! but the Friend of Man!

Like JACOB, fondest of the younger born ! Thou, who didft fave him, fnatch the fmoking Brand From out the Flames, and quench it in thy Blood! How art thou pleas'd, by Bounty to distress! To make us groan beneath our Gratitude, Too big for Birth! to favour, and confound; To challenge, and to distance all Return ! Of lavish Love stupendous Heights to soar. And leave Praise panting in the distant Vale! Thy Right too great defrauds thee of thy Due; And facrilegious our fublimest Song. But fince the naked Will obtains thy Smile. Beneath this Monument of Praise unpaid, And future Life fymphonious to my Strain. (That noblest Hymn to Heav'n!) for ever lie Intomb'd my Fear of Death! and ev'ry Fear, The Dread of ev'ry Evil, but Thy Frown.

Whom fee I yonder, fo demurely fmile? Laughter a Labour, and might break their Rest. Ye Quietists, in Homage to the Skies! Serene! of foft Address! who mildly make An unobtrufive Tender of your Hearts, Abhorring Violence! who balt indeed; But, for the Bleffing, wrefile not with Heav'n! Think you my Song too turbulent? too warm? Are Passions, then, the Pagans of the Soul? Reason alone baptiz'd? alone ordain'd To touch Things facred? Oh for warmer still! Guilt chills my Zeal, and Age benumbs my Pow'rs; Oh for an humbler Heart, and prouder Song! THOU, my much injur'd Theme! with that foit Eye, Which melted o'er doom'd Salem, deign to look Compassion to the Coldness of my Breast: And pardon to the Winter in my Strain.

Oh ye cold-hearted, frozen Formalists!
On such a Theme, 'tis impious to be calm;
Passion is Reason, Transport Temper, bere.
Shall Heav'n, which gave us Ardour, and has shewn
Her own for Man so strongly, not distain
What smooth Emollients in Theology,
Recumbent Virtue's downy Doctors preach,
That Prose of Piety, a lukewarm Praise?
Rise Odours sweet from Incense uninstan'd?
Devotion, when lukewarm, is undevout;
But when it glows, its Heat is struck to Heav'n;
To human Hearts her golden Harps are strung;
High Heav'n's Orchestra chaunts Amen to Man.

Hear I, or dream I hear, their distant Strain. Sweet to the Soul, and tasting strong of Heav'n. Soft-wafted on celestial Pity's Plume, Thro' the vast Spaces of the Universe, To chear me in this melancholy Gloom? Oh when will Death (now stingles), like a Friend. Admit me of their Choir? Oh when will Death. This mould'ring, old, Partition-Wall throw down? Give Beings, one in Nature, one Abode? Ob Death Divine! that giv'st us to the Skies! Great Future! glorious Patron of the Paft, And Prefent! when shall I thy Shrine adore? From Nature's Continent, immensely wide, Immensely bleft, this little Isle of Life, This dark, incarcerating Colony, Divides us. Happy Day! that breaks our Chain; That manumits; that calls from Exile home; That leads to Nature's great Metropolis, And re-admits us, thro' the guardian Hand Of elder Brothers, to our Futher's Throne; Who hears our Advocate, and, thro' his Wounds Beholding Man, allows that tender Name.

'Tis this makes Christian-Triumph a Command;
'Tis this makes Joy a Duty to the Wife;
'Tis impious, in a good Man, to be sad.

Seeft thou, Lorenzo! where hangs all our Hope? Touch'd by the Cross, we live; or, more than die; That Touch which touch'd not Angels; more divine Than that, which touch'd Confusion into Form, And Darkness into Gloty; partial Touch! Inestably pre-eminent Regard! Sacred to Man, and Sov'reign thro' the whole Long golden Chain of Miracles, which hangs From Heav'n thro' all Duration, and supports In one illustrious and amazing Plan, Thy Welfare, Nature! and thy God's Renown; That Touch, with Charm celestial, heals the Soul Diseas'd, drives Pain from Guilt, lights Life in Death, Turns Earth to Heav'n, to heav'nly Thrones transforms The ghastly Ruins of the mould'ring Tomb.

Dost ask me when?—When HE who dy'd returns;
Returns, how chang'd! Where then the Man of Woe?
In Glory's Terrors all the Godhead burns;
And all his Courts, exhausted by the Tide
Of Deities triumphant in his Train,
Leave a stupendous Solitude in Heaven;
Replenisht soon, replenisht with Increase
Of Pomp and Multitude; a radiant Band
Of Angels new; of Angels from the Tomb.

Is this by Fancy thrown remote? and rife
Dark Doubts between the Promise, and Event?
I send thee not to Volumes for thy Cure;
Read Nature; Nature is a Friend to Truth;
Nature is Christian; preaches to Mankind;
And bids dead Matter aid us in our Creed.
Hast thou ne'er seen the Comet's staming Flight?
Th' illustrious Stranger passing, Terror sheds

On gazing Nations, from his fiery Train
Of Length enormous, takes his ample Round
Thro' Depths of Ether; coasts unnumber'd Worlds,
Of more than solar Glory; doubles wide
Heav'n's mighty Cape; and then revisits Earth,
From the long Travel of a thousand Years.
Thus, at the destin'd Period, shall return
HE, once on Earth, who bids the Comet blaze:
And, with Him, all our Triumph o'er the Tomb.

Nature is dumb on this important Point;
Or Hope precarious in low Whisper breathes;
Faith speaks aloud, distinct; ev'n Adders hear;
But turn, and dart into the Dark again.
Faith builds a Bridge across the Gulph of Death,
To break the Shock blind Nature cannot shun,
And lands Thought smoothly on the farther Shore.
Death's Terror is the Mountain Faith removes;
That Mountain Barrier between Man and Peace.
'Tis Faith disarms Destruction; and absolves
From ev'ry clam'rous Charge, the guiltless Tomb.

Why disbelieve? LORENZO!—" Reason bids,

"All sacred Reason"—Hold her sacred still;
Nor shall thou want a Rival in thy Flame:
All-sacred Reason! Source, and Soul, of all
Demanding Praise, on Earth, or Earth above!
My Heart is thine: Deep in its inmost Folds,
Live thou with Life; live dearer of the Two.
Wear I a blessed Cross, by Fortune stampt
On passive Nature, before Thought was born?
My Birth's blind Bigot! fir'd with local Zeal!
No; Reason rebaptiz'd me when adult;
Weigh'd true, and salse, in her impartial Scale;
My Heart became the Convert of my Head;
And made that Choice, which once was but my Fate.

"On Argument alone my Faith is built:"

E

Reason pursu'd is Faith; and, unpursu'd Where Proof invites, 'tis Reason, then, no more: And such our Proof, That, or our Faith is right, Or Reason lyes, and Heav'n design'd it awrong: Absolve we This? What, then, is Blasphemy?

Fond as we are, and juftly fond of Faith, Reason, we grant, demands our first Regard; The Mother honour'd, as the Daughter dear. Reason the Root; fair Faith is but the Flower; The fading Flow'r shall die; but Reason lives Immortal, as her Father in the Skies. When Faith is Virtue, Reason makes it so. Wrong not the Christian; think not Reason yours "Tis Reason our great Master holds so dear; 'Tis Reason's injur'd Rights His Wrath refents; "I'is Reason's Voice obey'd His Glories crown; To give loft Reason Life, He pour'd his own : Believe, and shew the Reason of a Man; Believe, and tafte the Pleasure of a God; Believe, and look with Triumph on the Tomb : Thro' Reason's Wounds alone thy Faith can die; Which dying, tenfold Terror gives to Death, And dips in Venom his twice-mortal Sting.

Learn hence what Honours, what loud Paans, due To those, who push our Antidote aside; Those boatled Friends to Reason, and to Man, Whose stall Love stabs ev'ry Joy, and leaves Death's Terror heighten'd, gnawing on his Heart. These pompous Sons of Reason idoliz'd, And vilify d at once; of Reason dead, Then deify'd, as Monarchs were of old; What Conduct plants proud Laurels on their Brow? While Love of Iruth thro' all their Camp resounds, They draw Pride's Curtain o'er the Noon tide Ray, Spike up their Inch of Reason, on the Point

Of philosophic Wit, call'd Argument:
And then, exulting in their Taper, cry,
Behold the Sun: And, Indian-like, adore.
Talk they of Morals? O thou bleeding Love!
Thou Maker of new Morals to Mankind!
The grand Morality is Love of Thee.
As wife as Socrates, if such they were,
(Nor will they bate of that sublime Renown)
As wife as Socrates, might justly stand
The Definition of a modern Fool.

A CHRISTIAN is the highest Stile of Man. And is there, who the blessed Cross wipes off, As a foul Blot, from his dishonour'd Brow? If Angels tremble, 'tis at such a Sight: The Wretch they quit, desponding of their Charge, More struck with Grief or Wonder, who can tell?

Ye fold to Sense! ye Citizens of Earth!
(For such alone the Christian Banner sty)
Know ye how wife your Choice, how great your Gain?
Behold the Picture of Earth's happiest Man:

- " He calls his Wish, it comes; he sends it back,
- " And fays, he call'd another; that arrives,
- " Meets the fame Welcome ; yet he fill calls on ;
- 4 Till One calls him, who varies not his Call,
- " But holds him fast, in Chains of Darkness bound,
- " Till Nature dies, and Judgment fets him free;
- But grant Man happy; grant him happy long;
 Add to Life's highest Prize her latest Hour;
 That Hour, so late, is nimble in Approach,
 That, like a Post, comes on in full Career:
 How swift the Shuttle slies, that weaves thy Shroud!
 Where is the Fable of thy former Years?
 Thrown down the Gulph of Time; as far from Thee
 As they had ne'er been thine; the Day in Hand,

)f

Like a Bird struggling to get loose, is going;
Scarce now posses'd, so suddenly 'tis gone;
And each swift Moment sled, is Death advanc'd
By Strides as swift: Eternity is All;
And whose Eternity? Who triumphs there?
Bathing for ever in the Font of Bliss!
For ever basking in the Deity!
LORENZO! who?—Thy Conscience shall reply.

O give it Leave to speak; 'twill speak ere long, Thy Leave unafkt: LORENZO! hear it now. While useful its Advice, its Accent mild. By the great Edict, the Divine Decree. Truth is deposited with Man's last Hour; An honest Hour, and faithful to her Trust: Truth, eldeft Daughter of the Deity; Truth, of his Council, when he made the Worlds; Nor less, when he shall judge the Worlds he made; Tho' filent long, and fleeping ne'er fo found, Smother'd with Errors, and opprest with Toys, That Heav'n-commission'd Hour no sooner calls. But from her Cavern in the Soul's Abyss, Like him they fable under Ætna whelm'd, The Goddess burfts in Thunder, and in Flame; Loudly convinces, and feverely pains, Dark Damons I discharge, and Hydra-stings; The keen Vibration of bright Truth-is Hell: Just Definition! tho' by Schools untaught. Ye deaf to Truth! peruse this Parson'd Page, And truft, for once, a Prophet, and a Prieft; " Men may live Fools, but Fools they cannot die."

NIGHT the FIFTH.

THE

RELAPSE.

To the RIGHT HONOURABLE

The Earl of LITCHFIELD.

CRENZO! to recriminate is just.

Fondness for Fame is Avarice of Air.

I grant the Man is vain who writes for Praise.

Praise no Man e'er deserv'd, who sought no more.

As just thy Second Charge. I grant the Muse Has often blusht at her degendrate Sons, Retain'd by Sense to plead her filthy Cause; To raise the Low, to magnify the Mean, And subtilize the Gross into Refin'd:
As if to magic Numbers' pow'rful Charm' Twas giv'n, to make a Civet of their Song Obscene, and sweeten Ordure to Persume.

Wit, a true Pagan, deisies the Brute,
And lists our Swine Enjoyments from the Mire.

The Fact notorious, nor obscure the Cause. We wear the Chains of Pleasure, and of Pride.

These share the Man; and these distract him too;

Draw diff'rent Ways, and class in their Commands.

Pride,

Pride, like an Eagle, builds among the Stars;
But Pleasure, Lark-like, nests upon the Ground.
Joys shar'd by Brute-Creation, Pride resents;
Pleasure embraces: Man would both enjoy,
And both at once: A Point how hard to gain!
But, what can't Wit, when stung by strong Desire?

Wit dases attempt this arduous enterprize. Since Joys of Senje can't rife to Reason's Tafte, In fubtle Sophistry's laborious Forge, Wit hammers out a Reason new, that stoops To fordid Scenes, and meets them with Applaufe. Wit calls the Graces the chafte Zone to loofe : Nor less than a plump God to fill the Bowl: A thousand Phantoms, and a thousand Spells, A thousand Opiates scatters, to delude, To fascinate, inebriate, lay afleep, And the fooi'd Mind of Man delightfully confound. Thus that which thock'd the Judgment, thocks no more; That which gave Fride Offence, no more offends. Fleature and Pride, by Nature mortal Foes, At War eternal, which in Mian shall reign, By Wit's Address, patch up a fatal Peace, And Hand in Hand lead on the rank Debauch, From rank, refin'd to delicate and gay. Art, curfed Art! wipes off th' indebted Blush From Nature's Cheek, and bronzes ev'ry Shame. Man smiles in Ruin, glories in his Guilt, And Infamy stands Candidate for Praise.

All writ by Man in favour of the Soul, These fensual Ethics, far, in Bulk, transcend. The Flow'rs of Eloquence, profusely pour'd O'er spotted Vice, fill half the letter'd World. Cap Pow'rs of Genius exorcise their Page, And consecrate Enormities with Song? But let not these inexpiable Strains

Condemn the Muse that knows her Dignity;

Nor meanly stops at Time, but holds the World

As 'tis, in Nature's ample Field, a Point,

A Point in her Esteem; from whence to start,

And run the Round of universal Space,

To visit Being universal there,

And Being's Source, that utmost Flight of Mind!

Yet, spice of this so vast Circumference,

Well knows, but what is Moral, nought is Great:

Sing Syrens only? Do not Angels sing?

There is in Poely a decent Pride,

Which well becomes her when she speaks to Prose,

Her younger Sister; haply, not more wise.

Think'st thou, Lorenzo! to find Pastimes here? No guilty Passion blown into a Flame, No Foible flatter'd, Dignity disgrac'd, No Fairy Field of Fiction, all on Flow'r, No Rainbow Colours, bere, or filken Tale; But solenin Councils, Images of Awe, Truths, which Elernity lets tall on Man With double Weight, thro' these revolving Spheres, This Death-deep Silence, and incumbent Shade: Iboughts, such as shall revisit your last Hour; Visit uncall'd, and live when Life expires; And thy dark Pencil, Midnight! darker still In Melancholy dipt, embrowns the Whole.

Yet this, ev'n This, my Laughter-loving Friends!
LORENZO! and thy Brothers of the Smile!
If, what imports you most, can most engage,
Shall steal your Ear, and chain you to my Song.
Or if you fail me, know, the Wife shall taste
The I ruths I sing; the Truths I sing shall feel;
And feeling, give Assent; and their Assent
Is ample Recompence; is more than Praise.

But chiefly Thine, O LITCHFIELD! nor mistake;
Think not un-introduc'd I forc'd my Way;
NARCISSA, not unknown, not unally'd,
By Virtue, or by Blood, illustrious Youth!
To thee, from blooming Amaranthine Bow'rs,
Where all the Language Harmony, descends
Uncall'd, and asks Admittance for the Muse:
A Muse that will not pain thee with thy Praise;
Thy Praise she drops, by nobler still inspir'd.

O Thou! Bleft Spirit! whether the Supreme, Great antemundane Father! in whose Breaft Embryo Creation, unborn Being, dwelt, And all its various Revolutions roll'd Prefent, tho' future; prior to themselves; Whose Breath can blow it into Nought again; Or, from his Throne fome delegated Pow'r, Who, studious of our Peace, dost turn the Thought From Vain and Vile, to Solid and Sublime! Unseen thou lead'st me to delicious Draughts Of Inspiration, from a purer Stream, And fuller of the God, than that which burft From fam'd Castalia: Nor is yet allay'd My facred Thirst; tho' long my Soul has rang'd Thro' pleafing Paths of Moral, and Divine, By Thee fustain'd, and lighted by the STARS.

By Them best lighted are the Paths of Thought;
Nights are their Days, their most illumin'd Hours.
By Day, the Soul o'erborne by Life's Career,
Stunn'd by the Din, and giddy with the Glare,
Reels far from Reason, jostled by the Throng.
By Day the Soul is passive, all her Thoughts
Impos'd, precarious, broken, ere mature.
By Night from Objects free, from Passion cool,
Thoughts uncontroul'd, and unimpress'd, the Births
Of pure Election, arbitrary range,

Not

Not to the Limits of one World confin'd; But from Ethereal Travels light on Earth, As Voyagers drop Anchor, for Repose.

Let Indians, and the Gay, like Indians, fond
Of feather'd Fopperies, the Sun adore:
Darkness has more Divinity for me;
It strikes Thought inward; it drives back the Soul
To fettle on Herself, our Point supreme!
There lies our Theatre; there sits our Judge.
Darkness the Curtain drops o'er Life's dull Scene;
'Tis the kind Hand of Providence stretcht out
'Twixt Man and Vanity; 'tis Reason's Reign,
And Virtue's too; these Tutelary Shades
Are Man's Assum from the tainted Throng.
Night is the good Man's Friend, and Guardian too;
It no less rescues Virtue, than inspires.

Virtue for ever Frail, as Fair, below,
Her tender Nature suffers in the Croud,
Nor touches on the World, without a Stain:
The World's infectious; few bring back at Eve,
Immaculate, the Manners of the Morn.
Something we thought, is blotted; we resolved,
Is shaken; we renounc'd, returns again.
Each Salutation may slide in a Sin
Unthought before, or fix a former Flaw.
Nor is it strange: Light, Motion, Concourse, Noise,
All, scatter us abroad; Thought outward bound,
Neglectful of our Home-affairs, slies off
In Fume and Dissipation, quits her Charge,
And leaves the Breast unguarded to the Foe.

Present Example gets within our Guard,
And acts with double Force, by few repell'd.

Ambition fires Ambition; Love of Gain

Strikes, like a Pestilence, from Breast to Breast;

Riot, Pride, Persidy, blue Vapours breathe;

And Inhumanity is caught from Man,
From smiling Man. A slight, a single Glance,
And shot at random, often has brought home
A sudden Fever, to the throbbing Heart,
Of Envy, Rancour, or impure Desire.
We see, we hear, with Peril; Sasety dwells
Remote from Multitude; the World's a School
Of Wrong, and what Proficients swarm around!
We must, or imitate, or disapprove;
Must list, as their Accomplices, or Foes;
That stains our Innocence; This wounds our Peace.
From Nature's Birth, hence, Wisdom has been smit
With sweet Recess, and languisht for the Shade.

This facred Shade, and Solitude, what is it?
'Tis the felt Presence of the Deity.

Few are the Faults we flatter, when alone.

Vice finks in her Allurements, is ungilt,

And looks, like other Chiects, black by Night.

By Night an Atheist half-believes a God.

Night is fair Virtue's immemorial Friend; The conscious Moon, thro' ev'ry distant Age, Has held a Lamp to Wisdom, and let fall, On Contemplation's Eye, her purging Ray. The fam'd Athenian, he who woo'd from Heav'n Philosophy the fair, to dwell with Men, And form their Manners, not inflame their Pride, While o'er his Head, as fearful to molest His lab'ring Mind, the Stars in Silence flide, And feem all gazing on their future Gueft, See him foliciting his ardent Suit In private Audience: All the live-long Night, Rigid in Thought, and motionless, he stands; Nor quits his Theme, or Polture, till the Sun (Rude Drunkard, rinng rofy from the Main!) Diffurbs his nobler intellectual Beam,

And gives him to the Tumult of the World.

Hail, precious Moments! stol'n from the black Waste
Of murder'd Time! Auspicious Midnight! Hail!

The World excluded, ev'ry Passion hush'd,
And open'd a calm Intercourse with Heav'n,
Here the Soul sits in Council; ponders past,
Predestines future Action; sees, not feels,
Tumultuous Life, and reasons with the Storm;
All her Lyes answers, and thinks down her Charms.

What aweful Joy! What mental Liberty!

I am not pent in Darkness; rather say
(If not too bold) in Darkness I'm embower'd.

Delightful Gloom! the clust'ring Thoughts around
Spontaneous rise, and blossom in the Shade;
But droop by Day, and ficken in the Sun.

Thought borrows Light elsewhere; from that first Fire,
Fountain of Animation! whence descends
URANIA, my celestial Guest! who deigns
Nightly to visit me, so mean; and now
Conscious how needful Discipline to Man,
From pleasing Dalliance with the Charms of Night
My wand'ring Thought recalls, to what excites
Far other Beat of Heart; NARCISSA's Tomb!

Or is it feeble Nature calls me back,
And breaks my Spirit into Grief again?
Is it a Stygian Vapour in my Blood?
A cold, flow Puddle, creeping thro' my Veins?
Or is it thus with all Men?—Thus with all.
What are we? How unequal! Now we foar,
And now we fink; to be the fame, transcends
Our prefent Prowefs. Dearly pays the Soul
For lodging ill; too dearly rents her Clay.
Reason, a baffled Counsellor! but adds
The Blush of Weakness, to the Bane of Woe.
The noblest Spirit fighting her hard Fase,

In this damp, dusky Region, charg'd with Storms, But feebly flutters, yet untaught to fly; Or, flying, short her Flight, and sure her Fall. Our utmost Strength, when down, to rise again; And not to yield, tho' beaten, all our Praise.

'Tis vain to feek in Men for more than Man. Tho' proud in Promise, big in previous Thought, Experience damps our Triumph. I, who late, Emerging from the Shadows of the Grave, Where Grief detain'd me Pris'ner, mounting high, Threw wide the Gates of everlasting Day. And call'd Mankind to Glory, shook off Pain, Mortality shook off, in Æther pure, And struck the Stars; now feel my Spirits fail; They drop me from the Zenith; down I rush, Like him whom Fable fledg'd with waxen Wings, In Sorrow drown'd-but not, in Sorrow, loft. How wretched is the Man, who never mourn'd! I dive for precious Pearl, in Sorrow's Stream: Not fo the thoughtless Man that only grieves; Takes all the Torment, and rejects the Gain (Ineftimable Gain!); and gives Heav'n Leave To make him but more Wretched, not more Wife.

If Wisdom is our Lesson (and what else Ennobles Man? What else have Angels learnt?) Grief! more Proficients in thy School are made, Than Genius, or proud Learning, e'er could boast. Voracious Learning, often over-fed, Digests not into Sense her motley Meal. This Book-case, with dark Booty almost burst, This Forager on others Wisdom, leaves Her native Farm, her Reason, quite untill'd. With mix'd Manure she surfeits the rank Soil, Dung'd, but not drest; and rich to Beggary.

A Pomp

A Pomp untameable of Weeds prevails.

Her Servant's Wealth, incumber'd Wisdom mourns.

And what fays Genius? "Let the Dull be Wife."
Genius, too hard for Right, can prove it Wrong;
And loves to boaft, where blush Men less inspir'd.
It pleads Exemption from the Laws of Sense;
Considers Reason as a Leveller;
And scorns to share a Blessing with the Croud.
That Wife it could be, thinks an ample Claim

To Glory, and to Pleasure gives the rest. CRASSUS but sleeps, ARDELIO is undone.

Wildom less shudders at a Fool, than Wit.

But Wildom smiles, when humbled Mortals weep: When Sorrow wounds the Breaft, as Ploughs the Glebe. And Hearts obdurate feel her foft'ning Shower : Her Seed Celeftial, then, glad Wifdom fows; Her golden Harvest triumphs in the Soil. If fo, NARCISSA! welcome my Relapse; I'll raise a Tax on my Calamity, And reap rich Compensation from my Pain. I'll range the plenteous Intellectual Field; And gather ev'ry Thought of fov'reign Pow'r To chase the moral Maladies of Man; I boughts, which may bear transplanting to the Skies, Tho' Natives of this coarse penurious Soil; Nor wholly wither there, where Seraphs fing, Refin'd, exalted, not annull'd, in Heav'n. Reason, the Sun that gives them Birth, the same In either Clime, tho' more illustrious There. These choicely cull'd, and elegently rang'd, Shall form a Garland for NARCISSA's Tomb; And, peradventure, of no fading Flow'rs.

Say, On what Themes shall puzzled Choice descend?

" Th' Importance of Contemplating the Tomb;

" Wby Men decline it ; Suicide's foul Birth ;

" The various Kinds of Grief; the Faults of Age;

" And Death's dread Character-invite my Song."

And, first, th' Importance of our End survey'd.

Friends countel quick Dismission of our Grief:

Mistaken Kindness! our Hearts heal ton soon.

Are They more kind than He, who struck the Blow?

Who bid it do his Errand in our Hearts,

And banish Peace, till nobler Guests arrive,

And bring it back, a true, and endless Peace?

Calamities are Friends: As glaring Day

Of these unnumber'd Lustres robs our Sight;

Prosperity puts out unnumber'd Thoughts
Of Import high, and Light Divine, to Man.

The Man how bleft, who, fick of gaudy Scenes, (Scenes apt to thrust between Us and Ourselves!) Is led by Choice to take his fav'rite Walk, Beneath Death's gloomy, filent, Cypress Shades, Unpierc'd by Vanity's fantastic Ray; To read his Monuments, to weigh his Duft, Vifit his Vaults, and dwell among the Tombs! LORENZO! read with me NARCISSA's Stone: (NARCISSA was thy Fav'rite) let us read Her moral Stone; few Doctors preach fo well; Few O: ators fo tenderly can touch The feeling Heart. What Pathos in the Date! Apt Words can firike; and yet in them we fee Faint Images of what we, bere, enjoy. What Cause have we to build on Length of Life ? Temptations feize, when Fear is laid afleep; And Ill foreboded is our strongest Guard.

See from her Tomb, as from an humble Shrine, Truth, radiant Goddes! fallies on my Soul, And puts Delusion's dusky Train to Flight; Dispels the Mist our sultry Possions raise, From Objects low, terrestrial, and obscene;

And shews the Real Estimate of Things;
Which no Man, unafflicted, ever saw;
Pulls off the Veil from Virtue's rising Charms;
Detects Temptation in a thousand Lyes.
Truth bids me look on Men, as Autumn Leaves,
And all they bleed for, as the Summer's Dust,
Driv'n by the Whirlwind: Lighted by her Beams,
I widen my Horizon, gain new Powers,
See Things invisible, feel Things remote,
Am present with Futurities; think nought
To Man so foreign, as the Joys posses;
Nought so much his, as those beyond the Grave.

No Folly keeps its Colour in ber Sight; Pale worldly Wifdom lofes all her Charms: In pompous Promise from her Schemes profound, If future Fate the plans, 'tis all in Leaves, Like Sybil, unsubstantial, fleeting Blifs! At the first Blatt it vanishes in Air. Not to, Celefial: Wouldst thou know, LORENZO! How differ avorldly Wisdom, and Divine ? Just as the waning, and the waxing Moon. More empty worldly Wisdom ev'ry Day; And ev'ry Day more fair her Rival shines. When Later, there's less Time to play the Fool. Soon our whole Term for Wisdom is expir'd (Thou know'ft the calls no Council in the Grave): And everlasting Fool is writ in Fire, Or real Wisdom wasts us to the Skies.

As worldly Schemes resemble Sybil's Leaves,
The good Man's Days to Sybil's Books compare,
(In antient Story read, thou know'st the Tale)
In Price still rising, as in Number less,
Inestimable quite his Final Hour.
For That who Thrones can offer, offer Thrones;
Insolvent Worlds the Purchase cannot pay.

" Oh let me die his Death !" all Nature cries.

" Then live his Life"-All Nature falters there.

Our great Physician daily to consult,

To commune with the Grave, our only Cure.

What Grave prescribes the best?—A Friend's; and yet, From a Friend's Grave, how soon we disengage! Ev'n to the dearest, as his Marble, cold.

Why are Friends ravisht from us? 'Tis to bind, By soft Affection's Tyes, on human Hearts, The Thoughts of Death, which Reason, too supine, Or misemploy'd, so rarely fastens There.

Nor Reason, nor Affection, no, nor both Combin'd, can break the Witchcrasts of the World. Behold th' inexorable Hour at hand!

Behold th' inexorable Hour forgot!

And to forget it, the chief Aim of Life, Tho' well to ponder it, is Life's chief End.

Is Death, that ever threat'ning, ne'er remote, That all-important, and that only fure, (Come when he will) an unexpected Guest? Nay, tho' invited by the loudest Calls Of blind Imprudence, unexpected still? Tho' num'rous Messengers are sent before, To warn his great Arrival. What the Cause, The wond'rous Cause, of this Mysterious Ill? All Heav'n looks down astonish'd at the Sight.

Is it that Life has fown her Joys fo thick,
We can't thrust in a single Care between?
Is it, that Life has such a Swarm of Cares,
The Thought of Death can't enter for the Throng?
Is it, that Time steals on with downy Feet,
Nor wakes Indulgence from her golden Dream!
To-day is so like Yesterday, it cheats;
We take the lying Sister for the same.
Life glides away, Lorenzo! like a Brook;

For ever changing, unperceiv'd the Change.
In the same Brook none ever bath'd him twice:
To the same Life none ever twice awoke.
We call the Brook the same; the same we think
Our Life, tho' still more rapid in its Flow;
Nor mark the Much irrevocably laps'd,
And mingled with the Sea. Or shall we say
(Retaining still the Brook to bear us on)
That Life is like a Vessel on the Stream?
In Life embark'd, we smoothly down the Tide
Of Time descend, but not on Time intent;
Amus'd, unconscious of the gliding Wave;
Till on a sudden we perceive a Shock;
We start, awake, look out; what see we there?
Our brittle Bark is burst on Charon's Shore.

Is this the Caufe Death flies all human Thought? Or is it Judgment by the Will struck blind, That domineering Mistress of the Soul! Like him so strong by Dalilah the fair ? Or is it Fear turns startled Reason back, From looking down a Precipice fo fleep? 'Tis dreadful; and the Dread is wifely plac'd, By Nature conscious of the Make of Man. A dreadful Friend it is, a Terror kind, A flaming Sword to guard the Tree of Life. By that unaw'd, in Life's most smiling Hour, The Good Man would repine; would suffer Joys, And burn impatient for his promis'd Skies. The Bad, on each punctilious Pique of Pride, Or Gloom of Humour, would give Rage the Rein, Bound o'er the Barrier, rush into the Dark, And mar the Scenes of Providence below.

What Groan was that, LORENZO?—Furies! rife; And drown, in your less execrable Yell, Britannia's Shame. There took her gloomy Flight, On Wing impetuous, a black fullen Soul, Blasted from Hell, with horrid Lust of Death. Thy Friend, the Brave, the gallant Altamont. So call'd, so thought—And then he fled the Field. Less base the Fear of Death, than Fear of Life. O Britain, infamous for Suicide! An Island in thy Manners! far disjoin'd From the whole World of Rationals beside! In ambient Waves plunge thy polluted Head, Wash the dire Stain, nor shock the Continent.

But thou be shock'd, while I detect the Cause Of Self-Assault, expose the Monster's Birth, And bid Abborrence hiss it round the World. Blame not thy Clime, nor chide the distant Sun; The Sun is innocent, thy Clime absolv'd: Immoral Climes kind Nature never made. The Cause I sing, in Eden might prevail, And proves, It is thy Folly, not thy Fate.

The Soul of Man (Let Man in Homage bow, Who names his Soul), a Native of the Skies! High-born, and free, her Freedom should maintain, Unfold, unmortgag'd for Earth's little Bribes. Th' illustrious Stranger, in this foreign Land, Like Strangers, jealous of her Dignity, Studious of Home, and ardent to return, Of Earth suspicious, Earth's inchanted Cup With cool Reserve light touching, should indulge, On Immortality, her godlike Taste;
There take large Draughts; make her chief Banquet there.

But some reject this Sustenance divine;
To beggarly vile Appetites descend;
Ask Alms of Earth, for Guests that came from Heav'n;
Sink into Slaves; and sell for present Hire,
Their rich Reversion, and (what shares its Fate)
Their native Freedom, to the Prince who sways

This nether World. And when his Payments fail, When his foul Basket gorges them no more, Or their pall'd Palates loath the Basket full; Are instantly, with wild demoniac Rage, For breaking all the Chains of Providence, And bursting their Confinement; tho' fast barr'd By Laws divine and human; guarded strong With Horrors doubled to defend the Pass, The blackest, Nature, or dire Guilt, can raise; And moated round, with fathomless Destruction, Sure to receive, and whelm them in their Fall.

Such, Britons! is the Caufe, to you unknown, Or worse, o'erlook'd; o'erlook'd by Magistrates, Thus Criminals themselves. I grant the Deed Is Madness; but the Madness of the Heart. And what is that? Our utmost Bound of Guilt. A sensual, unreflecting Life, is big With montrous Bieths, and Suicide, to crown The black infernal Brood. The Pold to break Heav'n's Law & preme, and desperately rush Thro' facred Nature's Murder, on their own, Because they never think of Death, they die. 'Tis equally Man's Duty, Glory, Gain, At once to fhun, and meditate, his End. When by the Bed of Languishment we fit, (The Seat of Wisdom! if our Choice, not Fate) Or, o'er our dying Friends, in Anguish hang, Wipe the cold Dew, or flay the finking Head, Number their Moments, and, in ev'ry Clock, Start at the Voice of an Eternity; See the dim Lamp of Life just feebly lift An agonizing Beam, at us to gaze, Then fink again, and quiver into Death, That most pathetic 1: erald of our own; How read we fuch fad Scenes? As fent to Man

In perfect Vengeance? No; in Pity sent,
To melt him down, like Wax, and then impress,
Indelible, Death's Image on his Heart;
Bleeding for others, trembling for himself.
We bleed, we tremble, we forget, we smile.
The Mind turns Fool, before the Cheek is dry.
Our quick-returning Folly cancels all;
As the Tide rushing rases what is writ
In yielding Sands, and smooths the letter'd Shore.

LORENZO! hast thou ever weigh'd a Sigh?

Or studied the Philosophy of Tears?

(A Science, yet, unlectur'd in our Schools!)

Hast thou descended deep into the Breast,

And seen their Source? If not, descend with me,

And trace these briny Riv'lets to their Springs.

Our Fun'ral Tears, from different Caufes, rife. As if from fep'rate Cifterns in the Soul, Of various Kinds, they flow. From tender Hearts, By foft Contagion call'd, fome burft at once, And stream obsequious to the leading Eye. Some ask more Time, by curious Art distill'd. Some Hearts in fecret hard, unapt to melt, Struck by the Magic of the public Eye, Like Moses' fmitten Rock gush out amain. Some weep to share the Fame of the Deceas'd, So high in Merit, and to them fo dear. They dwell on Praises, which they think they share; And thus, without a Blush, commend Themselves. Some mourn in Proof, that fomething they could love; They weep not to relieve their Grief, but thew. Some weep in perfect Justice to the Dead, As conscious all their Love is in Arrear. Some mischievously weep, not unappris'd, Tears, sometimes, aid the Conquest of an Eye. With what Address the fost Epbesians draw

Their

Their fabled Net-work o'er entangled Hearts?

As feen thro' Crystal, how their Roses glow,

While liquid Pearl runs trickling down their Cheek?

Of hers not prouder Egypt's wanton Queen,

Carousing Gems, herself dissolv'd in Love.

Some weep at Death, abstracted from the Dead,

And celebrate, like CHARLES, their own Decease.

By kind Construction some are deem'd to weep,

Because a decent Veil conceals their Joy.

Some weep in Earnest, and yet weep in Vain; As deep in Indifcretion, as in Woe. Passion, blind Passion! impotently pours Tears, that deserve more Tears; while Reason fleeps; Or gazes, like an Idiot, unconcern'd: Nor comprehends the Meaning of the Storm: Knows not it speaks to Her, and her alone. Irrational's all Sorrow are beneath. That noble Gift! that Privilege of Man! From Sorrow's Pang, the Birth of endless Joy. But Thefe are barren of that Birth divine : They weep impetuous, as the Summer-Storm, And full as short! The cruel Grief soon tam'd. They make a Pastime of the stingless Tale; Far as the deep refounding Knell, they fpread The dreadful News, and hardly feel it more. No Grain of Wijdom pays them for their Wee.

Half-round the Globe, the Tears pumpt up by Death Are spent in wat'ring Vanities of Life; In making Folly slourish still more fair.

When the sick Soul, her wonted Stay withdrawn, Reclines on Earth, and sorrows in the Dust; Instead of learning, there, her true Support, Tho' there thrown down her true Support to learn, Without Heav'n's Aid, impatient to be blest, She crawls to the next Shrub, or Bramble vile,

Tho'

Tho' from the flately Cedar's Arms the fell : With stale, forefworn Embraces, clings anew, The Stranger weds, and bloffoms, as before, In all the fruitless Fopperies of Life: Presents her Weed, well-fancy'd, at the Ball. And raffles for the Death's - Head on the Ring.

So wept AURELIA, till the defin'd Youth Stept in, with his Receipt for making Smiles, And blanching Sables into bridal Bloom. So wept LORENZO fair CLARISSA'S Fate; Who gave that Angel Boy, on whom he doats ; And dy'd to give him, orphan'd in his Birth! Not fuch, NARCISSA, my Distress for Thee. I'll make an Altar of thy facred Tomb, To facrif ce to Wisdom -What wast Thou? " Young, Gay, and Fortunate?" Each yields a Theme. I'll dwell on each, to fhun Thought more fevere: (Heav'n knows I labour with feverer ftill !) I'll dwell on each, and quite exhaust thy Death. A Soul without Reflection, like a Pile Without Inhabitant, to Ruin runs.

And, First, thy Youth. What fays it to Grey Hairs? NARCISSA, I'm become thy Pupil now-Early, Bright, Transient, Chaste, as Morning Dew. She sparkled, was exhal'd, and went to Heav'n. Time on this Head has fnow'd; yet fill 'tis borne Aloft: nor thinks but on another s Grave. Cover'd with Shame I speak it, dge severe Old worn-out Vice fets down for Virtue fair; With graceless Gravity, chastifing Youth, That Youth chaftis'd furpatting in a Fault. Father of All, Forgetfulness of Death : As if, like Objects preffing on the Sight, Death had advanc'd too near us to be feen : Or, that Life's Loan Time ripen'd into Right;

And Men might plead Prescription from the Grave;
Deathless, from Repetition of Reprieve.
Deathless? far from it! such are dead already;
Their Hearts are bury'd, and the World their Grave.

Tell me, some God! my guardian Angel! tell, What thus infatuates? what Inchantment plants The Phantom of an Age 'twixt us, and Death Already at the Door? He knocks, we hear him. And yet we will not hear. What Mail defends Our untouch'd Hearts? What Miracle turns off The pointed Thought, which from a thousand Quivers Is daily darted, and is daily fhunn'd? We fland, as in a Battle, Throngs on Throngs Around us falling; wounded oft ourfelves; Tho' bleeding with our Wounds, immortal flill ! We fee Time's Furrows on another's Brow. And Death intrench'd, preparing his Affault; How few themselves, in that just Mirror, see! Or, feeing, draw their Inference as flrong! There Death is certain; doubtful Here: He muft. And foon; We may, within an Age, expire. Tho' grey our Heads, our Thoughts and Aims are green; Like damag'd Clocks, whose Hand and Bell diffent: Folly fings Six, while Nature points out Twelve.

Abfurd Longewity! More, More, it cries:
More Life, more Wealth, more Trash of ev'ry Kind.
And wherefore mad for more, when Relish fails?
Object, and Appetite, must club for Joy;
Shall Folis labour hard to mend the Bow,
Baubles, I mean, that strike us from without,
While Nature is relaxing ev'ry String?
Ask Thought for Joy; grow rich, and hoard within.
Think you the Soul, when this Life's Rattles cease,
Has nothing of more Manly to succeed?
Contract the Taste immortal; learn ev'n Now

To relish what alone subsists hereafter.

Divine, or none, henceforth your Joys for ever.

Of Age the Glory is, to wish to die.

That Wish is Praise and Promise; it applauds

Past Life, and promises our future Bliss.

What Weakness see not Children in their Sires?

Grand-climacterical Absurdities!

Grey-hair'd Authority, to Faults of Youth,

How shocking! It makes Folly thrice a Fool;

And our first Childhood might our last despise.

Peace and Esteem is all that Age can hope.

Nothing but Wisdom gives the first; the last,

Nothing, but the Repute of being Wise.

Folly bars both; our Age is quite undone.

What Folly can be ranker? Like our Shadows,
Our Wishes lengthen, as our Sun declines.
No Wish should loiter, then, this Side the Grave.
Our Hearts should leave the World, before the Knell
Calls for our Carcases to mend the Soil.
Enough to live in Tempest, die in Port;
Age should sly Concourse, cover in Retreat
Defects of Judgment; and the Will's subdue;
Walk thoughtful on the silent, solemn Shore
Of that vast Ocean it must sail so soon;
And put Good-works on board; and wait the Wind
That shortly blows us into Worlds unknown.
If unconsider'd too, a dreadful Scene!

All should be Prophets to themselves; foresee Their suture Fate; their suture Fate foretaste; This Art would waste the Bitterness of Death. The Thought of Death alone, the Fear destroys. A Disaffection to that precious Thought Is more than Midnight Darkness on the Soul, Which sleeps beneath it, on a Precipice, Puff'd off by the first Blast, and lost for ever.

Dost ask, Lorenzo, why so warmly prest,
By Repetition hammer'd on thine Ear,
The Thought of Death? That Thought is the Machine,
The grand Machine! that heaves us from the Dust,
And rears us into Men. That Thought ply'd home
Will soon reduce the ghastly Precipice
O'er hanging Hell, will soften the Descent,
And gently slope our Passage to the Grave;
How warmly to be wisht! What Heart of Flesh
Would trisse with Tremendous? dare Extremes?
Yawn o'er the Fate of Infinite? What Hand,
Beyond the blackest Brand of Censure bold,
(To speak a Language too well known to Thee)
Would at a Moment give its All to Chance,
And stamp the Die for an Eternity?

Aid me, Narcissa! aid me to keep Pace With Destiny; and ere her Sciffars cut
My Thread of Life, to break this tougher Thread
Of Moral Death, that ties me to the World.
Sting thou my flumb'ring Reason to send forth
A Thought of Observation on the Foe;
To fally; and survey the rapid March
Of his ten thousand Messengers to Man;
Who, Jehu-like, behind him turns them all.
All Accident apart, by Nature sign'd,
My Warrant is gone out, tho' dormant yet;
Perhaps behind one Moment lurks my Fate.

Must I then forward only look for Death?

Backward I turn mine Eye, and find him there.

Man is a Self-survivor ev'ry Year.

Man, like a Stream, is in perpetual Flow.

Death's a Destroyer of Quotidian Prey.

My Youth, my Noon-tide, His; my Yesterday;

The bold Invader shares the present Hour.

Each Moment on the Former shuts the Grave.

While Man is growing, Life is in Decrease; And Cradles rock us nearer to the Tomb. Our Birth is nothing but our Death begun; As Tapers waste, that Instant they take Fire.

Shall we then fear, left that should come to pass,
Which comes to pass each Moment of our Lives?
If fear we must, let that Death turn us pale,
Which murders Strength and Ardor; what remains
Should rather call on Death, than dread his Call.
Ye Partners of my Fault, and my Decline!
Thoughtless of Death, but when your Neighbour's Knell
(Rude Visitant!) knocks hard at your dull Sense,
And with its Thunder scarce obtains your Ear!
Be Death your Theme, in ev'ry Place and Hour;
Nor longer want, ye Monumental Sires!
A Brother Tomb to tell you, you shall die.
That Death you dread (so great is Nature's Skill!)
Know, you shall court, before you shall enjoy.

But you are learn'd! in Volumes deep you fit; In Wildom, shallow: Pompous Ignorance! Would you be still more learned, than the Learn'd? Learn well to know how much need not be known, And what that Knowledge, which impairs your Senfe. Our needful Knowledge, like our needful Food, Unhedg'd, lies open in Life's common Field; And bids all welcome to the Vital Feaft. You fcorn what lies before you in the Page Of Nature, and Experience, Moral Truth; Of indispensable, eternal Fruit; Fruit, on which Mortals feeding, turn to Gods: And dive in Science for diftinguisht Names, Dishonest Fomentation of your Pride; Sinking in Virtue, as you rife in Fame. Your Learning, like the Lunar Beam, affords Light, but not Heat; it leaves you undevout,

Frozen

Frozen at Heart, while Speculation shines.

Awake, ye curious Indagators! fond

Of knowing All, but what avails you, known.

If you would learn Death's Character, attend.

All Casts of Conduct, all Degrees of Health,

All Dies of Fortune, and all Dates of Age,

Together shook in his impartial Urn,

Come forth at random: Or if Choice is made,

The Choice is quite farcastic, and insults

All bold Conjecture, and fond Hopes of Man.

What countless Multitudes, not only leave,

But deeply disappoint us, by their Deaths!

Tho' great our Sorrow, greater our Surprize.

Like other Tyrants, Death delights to smite,
What, smitten, most proclaims the Pride of Pow'r,
And arbitrary Nod. His Joy supreme,
To bid the Wretch survive the Fortunate;
The Feeble wrap th' Athletic in his Shroud;
And weeping Fathers build their Childrens Tomb:
Me thine, Narcissa!—What tho' short thy Date?
Virtue, not rolling Suns, the Mind matures.
That Life is long, which answers Life's great End.
The Time that bears no Fruit, deserves no Name;
The Man of Wisdom is the Man of Years.
In hoary Youth Methusalems may die;
O how misdated on their flatt'ring Tombs!

NARCISSA'S Youth has lectur'd me thus far,
And can her Gaiety give Counsel too?
That, like the Jews fam'd Oracle of Gems,
Sparkles Instruction; such as throws new Light,
And opens more the Character of Death,
Ill known to thee, Lorenzo! This thy Vaunt:

- " Give Death his Due, the Wretched, and the Old;
- " Ev'n let him fweep his Rubbish to the Grave;
- " Let him not violate kind Nature's Laws,

"But own Man born to Live, as well as Die."
Wretched and Old Thou giv'st Him; Young and Gay
He takes; and Plunder is a Tyrant's Joy.
What if I prove, "The farthest from the Fear,
"Are often nearest to the Stroke of Fate?"

All, more than common, menaces an End.

A Blaze betokens Brevity of Life:
As if bright Embers should emit a Flame,
Glad Spirits sparkled from Nancissa's Eye,
And made Youth younger, and taught Life to live.

As Nature's Opposites wage endless War, For this Offence, as Treason to the deep Inviolable Stupor of his Reign,

Where Luft, and turbulent Ambition, sleep,

Death took swift Vengeance. As he Life detests,

More Life is still more odious; and, reduc'd

By Conquest, aggrandizes more his Pow'r.

But auberefore aggrandiz'd? By Heav'n's Decree,

To plant the Soul on her eternal Guard,

In aweful Expedion of our End.

Thus runs Death's dread Commission: "Strike, but so, "As most alarms the Living by the Dead." Hence Stratugem delights him, and Surprize, And cruel Sport with Man's Securities.

Not simple Conquest, Triumph is his Aim:
And, where least fear'd, there Conquest triumphs most.

What are His Arts to lay our Fears afleep?

Tiberian Arts his Purposes wrap up
In deep Dissimulation's darkest Night.

Like Princes unconfest in foreign Courts,
Who travel under Cover, Death assumes
The Name and Look of Life, and dwells among us.
He takes all Shapes that serve his black Designs:
Tho' Master of a wider Empire for

This proves my bold Affertion not too bold.

Than

Than that, o'er which the Roman Eagle flew; Like Nero, he's a Fidler, Charioteer, Or drives his Phaeton, in Female Guise; Quite unsuspected, till, the Wheel beneath, His disarray'd Oblation he devours.

He most affects the Forms least like himself,
His stender Self. Hence burly Corpulence
Is his familiar Wear, and steek Disguise.
Behind the rosy Bloom he loves to lurk,
Or ambush in a Smile; or wanton dive
In Dimples deep; Love's Eddies, which draw in Unwary Hearts, and sink them in Despair.
Such, on Narcissa's Couch, he loiter'd long
Unknown; and, when detected, still was seen
To smile; such Peace has Innocence in Death!

Most happy they! whom least his Arts deceive.

One Eye on Death, and one full fix'd on Heav'n,
Becomes a Mortal, and Immortal Man.

Long on his Wiles a piqu'd and jealous Spy,
I've seen, or dreamt I saw, the Tyrant dress;

Lay by his Horrors, and put on his Smiles.

Say, Muse, for thou remember'st, call it back,
And shew Lorenzo the surprising Scene;
If 'twas a Dream, his Genius can explain.

'I was in a Circle of the Gay I stood.

Death would have enter'd; Nature pusht him back; Supported by a Doctor of Renown,

His Point he gain'd. Then artfully dismist
The Sage; for Death design'd to be conceal'd.

He gave an old vivacious Usurer

His meagre Aspect, and his naked Bones;
In Gratitude for plumping up his Prey,
A pamper'd Spendthrist; whose fantastic Air,

Well-fashion'd Figure, and cockaded Brow,

He took in Change, and underneath the Pride Of costly Linen, tuck'd his filthy Shroud. His crooked Bow he straiten'd to a Cane; And hid his deadly Shafts in MYRA's Eye.

The dreadful Mafquerader, thus equipt, Out-fallies on Adventures. Afk you where? Where is he not? For his peculiar Haunts, Let this suffice; sure as Night follows Day, Death treads in Pleasure's Footsteps round the World, When Pleasure treads the Paths, which Reason shuns. When, against Reason, Riot shuts the Door, And Gaiety supplies the Place of Senfe, Then, foremost at the Banquet, and the Ball, Death leads the Dance, or stamps the deadly Die; Nor ever fails the midnight Bowl to crown. Gaily caroufing to his gay Compeers, Inly he laughs, to fee them laugh at him, As absent far: And when the Revel burns. When Fear is banisht, and triumphant Thought, Calling for all the Joys beneath the Moon, Against him turns the Key; and bids him fup With their Progenitors-He drops his Mask: Frowns out at full: they flart, despair, expire. Scarce with more fudden Terror, and Surprize, Brom his black Mask of Nitre, touch'd by Fire, He burfts, expands, roars, blazes, and devours. And is not this triumphant Treachery, And more than simple Conquest, in the Piend?

And now, LORENZO, dost thou wrap thy Soul In fost Security, because unknown Which Moment is commission'd to destroy? In Death's Uncertainty thy Danger lies. Is Death uncertain? Therefore Thou be fixt; Fixt as a Centinel, all Eye, all Ear,

All Expectation of the coming Foe.
Rouse, stand in Arms, nor lean against thy Spear;
Lest Slumber steal one Moment o'er thy Soul,
And Fate surprise thee nodding. Watch, be strong!
Thus give each Day the Merit, and Renown,
Of dying well; tho' doom'd but once to die.
Nor let Life's Period hidden (as from most)
Hide too from Thee the precious Use of Life.

Early, not sudden, was NARCISSA'S Fate.

Soon, not surprising, Death his Visit paid.

Her Thought went forth to meet him on his Way,

Nor Gaiety forgot it was to die.

Tho' Fortune too (our third and final Theme),

As an Accomplice, play'd her gaudy Plumes,

And ev'ry glitt'ring Gewgaw, on her Sight,

To dazzle, and debauch it from its Mark.

Death's dreadful Advent is the Mark of Man;

And ev'ry Thought that misses it, is blind.

Fortune, with Youth and Gaiety, conspir'd

To weave a triple Wreath of Happiness

(If Happiness on Earth) to crown her Brow.

That shining Shield invites the Tyrant's Spear.

As if to damp our elevated Aims,
And strongly preach Humility to Man.

O how portentous is Prosperity!

How, Comet-like, it threatens, while it shines!

Few Years but yield us Proof of Death's Ambition,
To cull his Victims from the fairest Fold,
And sheath his Shafts in all the Pride of Life.

When slooded with Abundance, purpled o'er

With recent Honours, bloom'd with ev'ry Blifs,
Set up in Ostentation, made the Gaze,
The gaudy Centre, of the public Eye,

And could Death charge thro' fuch a shining Shield?

When Fortune thus has tols'd her Child in Air, Snatcht from the Covert of an humble State, How often have I feen him dropt at once, Our Morning's Envy! and our Ev'ning's Sigh! As if her Bounties were the Signal giv'n, The flow'ry Wreath to mark the Sacrifice, And call Death's Arrows on the defin'd Prey.

High Fortune feems in cruel League with Fate. Ask you for what? To give his War on Man The deeper Dread, and more illustrious Spoil; Thus to keep daring Mortals more in Awe. And burns LORENZO fill for the Sublime Of Life? to hang his airy Nest on high, On the flight Timber of the topmost Bough, Rockt at each Breeze, and menacing a Fall? Granting grim Death at equal Distance there; Yet Peace begins just where Ambition ends. What makes Man wretched? Happiness deny'd? LORENZO! no: 'Tis Happines distain'd. She comes too meanly dreft to win our Smile; And calls herfelf Content, a homely Name! Our Flame is Transport, and Content our Scorn. Ambition turns, and thuts the Door against her, And weds a Toil, a Tempeft, in her flead; A Tempest to warm Transport near of kin. Unknowing what our mortal State admits, Life's modest Joys we ruin, while we raise : And all our Ecstafies are Wounds to Peace : Peace, the full Portion of Mankind below.

And fince thy Peace is dear, ambitious Youth!

Of Fortune fond! as thoughtless of thy Fate!

As late I drew Death's Picture, to stir up

Thy wholesome Fears; now, drawn in Contrast, see

Gay Fortune's, thy vain Hopes to reprimand.

See, high in Air, the sportive Goddes hangs, Unlocks her Casket, spreads her glitt'ring Ware, And calls the giddy Winds to puss abroad Her random Bounties o'er the gaping Throng. All rush rapacious; Friends o'er trodden Friends; Sons o'er their Fathers, Subjects o'er their Kings, Priests o'er their Gods, and Lovers o'er the Fair, (Still more ador'd) to snatch the golden Show'r.

Gold glitters molt, where Virtue fhines no more; As Stars from absent Suns have Leave to shine. O what a precious Pack of Votaries Unkennell'd from the Prisons, and the Stews, Pour in, all op'ning in their Idol's Praise! All, ardent, eye each Wasture of her Hand, And, wide-expanding their voracious Jaws, Morfel on Morfel fwallow down unchew'd, Untafted, thro' mad Appetite for more; Gorg'd to the Throat, yet lean and rav'nous still. Sagacious All, to trace the smallest Game, And bold to feize the greateft. If (bleft Chance !) Court-Zephyrs sweetly breathe, they launch, they fly, O'er Juft, o'er Sacred, all forbidden Ground. Drunk with the burning Scent of Place or Pow'r, Staunch to the Foot of Lucre, till they die.

Or, if for Men you take them, as I mark
Their Manners, Thou their various Fates survey.
With Aim mis-measur'd, and impetuous Speed,
Some darting, strike their ardent Wish far off,
Thro' Fury to possess it: Some succeed,
But stumble, and let fall the taken Prize.
From some, by sudden Blasts, 'tis whirl'd away,
And lodg'd in Bosoms that ne'er dream'd of Gain.
To some it sticks so close, that, when torn off,
Torn is the Man, and mortal is the Wound.

Some, o'er-enamour'd of their Bags, run mad, Groan under Gold, yet weep for want of Bread. Together fome (unhappy Rivals!) feize, And rend Abundance into Poverty;
Loud croaks the Raven of the Law, and smiles: Smiles too the Goddes; but smiles most at those, (Just Victims of exorbitant Desire!)
Who perish at their own Request, and, whelm'd Beneath her Load of lavish Grants, expire.
Fortune is famous for her Numbers slain.
The Number small, which Happiness can bear.
Tho' warious for a while their Fates; at last One Curse involves them All: At Death's Approach, All read their Riches backward into Loss,
And mourn, in just Proportion to their Store.

And Death's Approach (if orthodox my Song)
Is haften'd by the Lure of Fortune's Smiles.
And art thou still a Glutton of bright Gold?
And art thou still rapacious of thy Ruin?
Death loves a shining Mark, a signal Blow;
A Blow, which, while it executes, alarms!
And startles Thousands with a single Fall.
As when some stately Growth of Oak, or Pine,
Which nods alost, and proudly spreads her Shade,
The Sun's Desiance, and the Flock's Desence;
By the strong Strokes of lab'ring Hinds subdu'd,
Loud groans her last, and, sushing from her Height,
In cumb'rous Ruin, thunders to the Ground:
The conscious Forest trembles at the Shock,
And Hill, and Stream, and distant Dale, resound.

These high-aim'd Darts of Death, and these alone, Should I collect, my Quiver would be full. A Quiver, which, suspended in mid Air, Or near Heav'n's Archer, in the Zodiac, hung, (So could it be) fould draw the public Eye,
The Gaze and Contemplation of Mankind!
A Constellation aweful, yet benign,
To guide the Gay thro' Life's tempestuous Wave;
Nor suffer them to strike the common Rock,
"From greater Danger to grow more secure,
"And, wrapt in Happiness, forget their Fate."

LYSANDER, happy past the common Lot, Was warn'd of Danger, but too gay to fear. He woo'd the fair ASPASIA: She was kind: In Youth, Form, Fortune, Fame, they both were bleft: All who knew envy'd; yet in Envy lov'd: Can Fancy form more finisht Happiness? Fixt was the Nuptial Hour. Her stately Dome Rose on the sounding Beach. The glitt'ring Spires Float in the Wave, and break against the Shore: So break those glitt'ring Shadows, Human Joys. The faithless Morning smil'd: He takes his Leave. To re-embrace in Ecstasies, at Eve. The rifing Storm forbids. The News arrives: Untold, she saw it in her Servant's Eye. She felt it feen (her Heart was apt to feel ;) And, drown'd, without the furious Ocean's Aid, In suffocating Sorrows, shares his Tomb. Now, round the sumptuous Bridal Monument, The guilty Billows innocently roar; And the rough Sailor paffing drops a Tear. A Tear?-Can Tears suffice?-But not for me. How vain our Efforts! and our Arts, how vain! The distant Train of Thought I took, to shun. Has thrown me on my Fate-Thefe dy'd together; Happy in Ruin! undiwore'd by Death! Or ne'er to meet, or ne'er to part, is Peace-NARCISSA! Pity bleeds at Thought of Thee.

Wet Thou wast only mear me; not myfelf.
Survive myfelf?—That cures all other Woe.
NARCISSA lives; PHILANDER is forgot.
O the fost Commerce! O the tender Ties,
Close-twisted with the Fibres of the Heart!
Which, broken, break them; and drain off the Soul
Of Human Joy; and make it Pain to live—
And is it then to live? When such Friends part,
'Tis the Survivor dies—My Heart! no more.

NIGHT the SIXTH.

THE

INFIDEL Reclaimed.

IN TWO PARTS.

Containing,

The NATURE, PROOF, and IMPORTANCE, of IMMORTALITY.

PART THE FIRST.

Where, among other Things, GLORY and RICHES are particularly confidered.

To the Right Honourable

HENRY PELHAM,

First LORD COMMISSIONER of the TREASURY, and CHANCELLOR of the Exchequer.

PREFACE.

FEW Ages have been deeper in Dispute about Religion, than this. The Dispute about Religion, and the Practice if it, seldom go together. The shorter, therefore, the Dispute, the better. I think it may be reduced to this single Question, Is Man Immortal, or is he not? If he is not, all our Disputes are more Amusements, or Trials of Skill. In this Case, Truth, Reason, Religion, which give our Discourses courses such Pomp and Solemnity are (as will be skewn) mere empty Sounds, without any Meaning in them. But if Man is Immortal, it will behave him to be very serious about eternal Consequences; or, in other Words, to be truly religious. And this great fundamental Truth, unestablished, or unawaken'd in the Minds of Men, is, I conceive, the real Source and Support of all our Insidelity; how remote soever the particular Objections advanced may seem to be from it.

Senfible Appearances affect most Men much more than abstract Reasonings: and we daily see Bodies drop around us, but the Soul is invisible. The Power which Inclination bas over the Judgment, is greater than can be well conceived by those that have not had an Experience of it; and of what Numbers is it the fad Interest, that Souls should not furvive! The Heathen World confessed, that they rather hoped, than firmly believed Immortality! and how many Heathers have we fill among ft us! The facred Page affures us, that Life and Immortality is brought to Light by the Gofpel: But by bow many is the Gofpel rejected, or overlooked! From these Considerations, and from my being, accidentally, privy to the Sentiments of some particular Persons, I have been long perfuaded, that most, if not all, our Infidels (whatever Name they take, and whatever Scheme, for Argument's fake, and to keep themselves in Countenance, they patronize) are supported in their deplorable Error, by some Doubt of their Immortality, at the Bottom. And I am fatisfied, that Men once thoroughly convinced of their Immortality, are not far from being Christians. For it is hard to conceive, that a Man fully conscious eternal Pain or Happin s will certainly be his Lot, should not earnestly, and impartially, inquire after the surest Means of escaping One, and Securing the Other. And of fuch an earnest and impartial Inquiry, I quell know the Confequence.

Here, sherefore, in Proof of this most fundamental Truth, fome plain Arguments are offered; Arguments derived from Principles

Principles which Infidels admit in common with Believers; Arguments, awhich appear to me altogether irrefistible; and such as, I am satisfied, will have great Weight with all, who give themselves the small Trouble of looking seriously into their own Bosoms, and of observing, with any tolerable Degree of Attention, what daily paffes round about them in the If Some Arguments Shall, Here, occur, which Others have declined, they are submitted, with all Deference, to better Judgments in this, of all Points, the most important. For, as to the Being of a God, that is no longer diffuted; but it is undisputed for this Reason only; viz. Because where the least Pretence to Reason is admitted, it must for ever be indisputable. And of consequence no Man can be betrayed into a Dispute of that Nature by Vanity; which has a principal Share in animating our modern Combatants against other Articles of our Belief.

SHE * (for I know not yet her Name in Heaven)
Not early, like NARCISSA, left the Scene;
Nor fudden, like PHILANDER. What Avail?
This feeming Mitigation but inflames;
This fancy'd Med'cine heightens the Difeafe.
The longer known, the closer still she grew;
And gradual Parting is a gradual Death.
'Tis the grim Tyrant's Engine, which extorts
By tardy Pressure's still-increasing Weight,
From hardest Hearts, Confession of Distress.

O the long, dark Approach thro' Years of Pain,
Death's Gall'ry! (might I dare to call it fo)
With dismal Doubt, and sable Terror, hung;
Sick Hope's pale Lamp, its only glimm'ring Ray:

[·] Referring to Night the Fifth.

There, Fate my melancholy Walk ordain'd, Forbid Self-love itself to flatter, There. How oft I gaz'd, prophetically fad ! How oft I faw her dead, while yet in Smiles ! In Smiles she funk ber Grief, to lessen mine. She spoke me Comfort, and increas'd my Pain. Like pow'rful Armies trenching at a Town, By flow, and filent, but refiftless Sap, In his pale Progress gently gaining Ground, Death urg'd his deadly Siege; in spite of Art, Of all the balmy Bleffings Nature lends To Succour frail Humanity. Ye Stars! (Not now first made familiar to my Sight) And thou, O Moon! bear Witness; many a Night He tore the Pillow from beneath my Head, Ty'd down my fore Attention to the Shock, By ceaseless Depredations on a Life Dearer than that he left me. Dreadful Post Of Observation! darker ev'ry Hour! Less dread the Day that drove me to the Brink, And pointed at Eternity below; When my Soul shudder'd at Futurity; When, on a Moment's Point, th' important Dye Of Life and Death spun doubtful, ere it fell, And turn'd up Life; my Title to more Woe.

But why more Woe? more Comfort let it be.

Nothing is dead, but that which wish'd to die;

Nothing is dead, but Wretchedness and Pain;

Nothing is dead, but what incumber'd, gall'd,

Block'd up the Pass, and barr'd from real Life.

Where dwells that Wish most ardent of the Wise?

Too dark the Sun to see it; highest Stars

Too low to reach it; Death, great Death alone,

O'er Stars and Sun, triumphant, lands us There.

Nor dreadful our Transition; tho' the Mind,
An Artist at creating Self-alarms,
Rich in Expedients for Inquietude,
Is prone to paint it dreadful. Who can take Death's Portrait true? The Tyrant never sat.
Our Sketch all random Strokes, Conjecture all;
Close shuts the Grave, nor tells one single Tale.
Death, and his Image rising in the Brain,
Bear faint Resemblance; never are alike;
Fear shakes the Pencil; Fancy loves Excess,
Dark Ignorance is lavish of her Shades;

But grant the Worst; 'tis past; new Prospects rise; And drop a Veil eternal o'er her Tomb.

Far other Views our Contemplation claim, Views that o'erpay the Rigours of our Lise; Views that suspend our Agonies in Death.

Wrapt in the Thought of Immortality,

Wrapt in the fingle, the triumphant Thought!

Long Life might lapse, Age unperceiv'd come on; And find the Soul unsated with her Theme.

Its Nature, Proof, Importance, fire my Song.

O that my Song could emulate my Soul!

Like her, Immortal. No!—the Soul disdains

A Mark so mean; far nobler Hope instance; If endless Ages can outweigh an Hour,

Let not the Laurel, but the Palm, inspire.

Thy Nature, Immortality! who knows?
And yet who knows it not? It is but Life
In stronger Thread of brighter Colour spun,
And spun for ever; dipt by cruel Fate
In Stygian Dye, how black, how brittle bere!
How short our Correspondence with the Sun!
And while it lasts, inglorious! Our best Deeds,
How wanting in their Weight! Our highest Joys

Small Cordials to support us in our Pain, And give us Strength to fuffer. But how Great To mingle Int'refts, Converse, Amities, With all the Sons of Reason, scatter'd wide Thro' habitable Space, where-ever born. Howe'er endow'd! To live free Citizens Of univerfal Nature: To lay hold By more than feeble Fuith on the Supreme! To call Heav'n's rich unfathomable Mines (Mines, which support Archangels in their State) Our own! To rife in Science, as in Blifs, Initiate in the Secrets of the Skies! To read Creation; read its mighty Plan In the bare Bosom of the Deity! The Plan, and Execution, to collate! To fee, before each Glance of piercing Thought, All Cloud, all Shadow, blown remote; and leave No Mystery -- but that of Love Divine, Which lifts us on the Seraph's flaming Wing, From Earth's Aceldama, this Field of Blood, Of inward Anguish, and of outward Ill, From Darkness, and from Dust, to such a Scene! Love's Element! true Joy's illustrious Home! From Earth's fad Contrast (now deplor'd) more fair! What exquifite Viciffitude of Fate! Blest Absolution of our blackest Hour!

LORENZO, these are Thoughts that make Man Man, The Wise illumine, aggrandize the Great.

How Great (while yet we tread the Kindred Clod, And ev'ry Moment sear to sink beneath

The Clod we tread; soon trodden by our Sons)

How Great, in the wild Whirl of Time's Pursuits,

To stop, and pause, involv'd in high Presage,

Thro' the long Visto of a thousand Years,

To stand contemplating our distant Selves,

As in a magnifying Mirror feen,
Enlarg'd, Ennobled, Elevate, Divine!
To prophefy our own Futurities!
To gaze in Thought on what all Thought transcends!
To talk, with Fellow-Candidates, of Joys
As far beyond Conception, as Defert,
Ourselves th' astonish'd Talkers, and the Tale!

LORENZO, swells thy Bosom at the Thought!
The Sweil becomes Thee: 'Tis an honest Pride.
Revere thyself;—and yet thyself despise.
His Nature no Man can o'er-rate; and none
Can under-rate his Merit. Take good heed,
Nor there be modest, where thou shouldst be proud;
That almost universal Error shun.
How in the our Pride when we heald these Weights t

How just our Pride, when we behold those Heights!

Not those Ambition paints in Air, but those

Reason points out, and ardent Virtue gains;

And Angels emulate; our Pride how just!

When mount we? when these Shackles cast? when quit

This Cell of the Creation? This small Nest,

Stuck in a Corner of the Universe,

Wrapt up in sleecy Cloud, and sine spun Air?

Fine spun to Sense; but gross and seculent

To Souls celestial; Souls ordain'd to breathe

Ambrosial Gales, and drink a purer Sky;

Greatly triumphant on Time's farther Shore,

Where Virtue reigns, enrich'd with full Arrears;

While Pomp Imperial begs an Alms of Peace.

In Empire high, or in proud Science deep, Ye born of Earth! on what can you confer, With half the Dignity, with half the Gain, The Gust, the Glow of rational Delight, As on this Theme, which Angels praise and share! Man's Fates and Favours are a Theme in Heaven.

What

What wretched Repetition cloys us bere!
What periodic Potions for the Sick!
Diftemper'd Bodies! and diftemper'd Minds!
In an Eternity, what Scenes shall strike!
Adventures thicken! Novelties surprize!
What Webs of Wonder shall unravel, there!
What full Day pour on all the Paths of Heaven,
And light the Almighty's Footsteps in the Deep!
How shall the blessed Day of our Discharge
Unwind, at once, the Labyrinths of Fate,
And straiten its inextricable Maze!

If inextinguishable Thirst in Man To know; how rich, how full, our Banquet There! There, not the Moral World alone unfolds; The World Material, lately feen in Shades, And, in those Shades, by Fragments only seen, And feen those Fragments by the lab'ring Eye, Unbroken, then, illustrious, and intire, Its ample Sphere, its universal Frame, In full Dimensions, swells to the Survey; And enters, at one Glance, the ravisht Sight. From some superior Point (where, who can tell? Suffice it, 'tis a Point where Gods refide) How shall the Stranger Man's illumin'd Eye, In the vast Ocean of unbounded Space, Behold an Infinite of floating Worlds Divide the Crystal Waves of Ether pure, In endless Voyage, without Port? The least Of these diffeminated Orbs, how great! Great as they are, what Numbers These surpass, Huge, as Leviatban, to that small Race, Those twinkling Multitudes of little Life, He swallows unperceiv'd! Stupendous These! Yet what are these stupendous to the Whole? As Particles, as Atoms ill-perceiv'd;

As circulating Globules in our Veins : So vaft the Plan : Fecundity Divine! Exub'rant Source! perhaps, I wrong thee still. If Admiration is a Source of Joy, What Transport hence! Yet this the least in Heaven. What This to that illustrious Robe He wears, Who toft this Mass of Wonders from his Hand. A Specimen, an Earnest, of his Pow'r? 'Tis, to that Glory, whence all Glory flows, As the Mead's meanest Flow'ret to the Sun. Which gave it Birth. But what, this Sun of Heaven? This Blifs fupreme of the fupremely Bleft? Death, only Death, the Question can resolve. By Death, cheap-bought th' Ideas of our Joy; The bare Ideas! Solid Happiness So diffant from its Shadow chas'd below.

And chase we still the Phantom thro' the Fire?
O'er Bog, and Brake, and Precipice, till Death?
And toil we still for sublunary Pay?
Defy the Dangers of the Field and Flood,
Or, Spider like, spin out our precious All,
Our more than Vitals spin (if no Regard
To great Futurity) in curious Webs
Of subtle Thought, and exquisite Design:
(Fine Net-work of the Brain!) to catch a Fly!
The momentary Buz of vain Renown!
A Name! a mortal Immortality!

Or (meaner still!) instead of grasping Air,
For sordid Lucre plunge we in the Mire?
Drudge, sweat, thro'ev'ry Shame, for ev'ry Gain,
For vile contaminating Trash; throw up
Our Hope in Heaven, our Dignity with Man?
And deify the Dirt, matur'd to Gold?
Ambition, Av'rice; the two Damons these,
Which goad thro'ev'ry Slough our human Herd,

Hard-travell'd from the Cradle to the Grave.

How low the Wretches stoop! How steep they climb!

These Dæmons burn Mankind; but most possess

Lorenzo's Bosom, and turn out the Skies.

Is it in Time to hide Eternity?

And why not in an Atom on the Shore,
To cover Ocean? or a Mote, the Sun?

Glory and Wealth! have They this blinding Pow'r?

What if to them I prove Lorenzo blind?

Would it surprise Thee? Be thou then surpris'd;
Thou neither know'st: Their Nature learn from me.

Mark well, as foreign as Thefe Subjects feem, What close Connexion ties them to my Theme. First, what is True Ambition? The Pursuit Of Glory, nothing less than Man can share. Were they as vain, as gaudy-minded Man, As flatulent with Fumes of Self-applaufe, Their Arts and Conquests Animals might boast, And claim their Laurel Crowns, as well as We; But not Celestial. Here we stand alone : As in our Form, distinct, pre-eminent; If prone in Thought, our Stature is our Shame; And Man should blush, his Forehead meets the Skies. The Vifible and Prefent are for Brutes, A flender Portion! and a narrow Bound! These Reason, with an Energy divine, O'erleaps; and claims the Future and Unfeen; The vast Unseen! the Future fathomless! When the great Soul buoys up to this high Point, Leaving gross Nature's Sediments below. Then, and then only, Adam's Offspring quits The Sage and Hero of the Fields and Woods, Afferts his Rank, and rifes into Man. This is Ambition: This is Human Fire.

I

Can Parts or Place (two bold Pretenders!) make LORENZO great, and pluck him from the Throng? Genius and Art, Ambition's boafted Wings, Our Boaft but ill deserve. A feeble Aid! Dedalian Engin'ry! If these alone Affift our Flight, Fame's Flight is Glory's Fall. Heart-merit wanting, mount we ne'er so high, Our Height is but the Gibbet of our Name. A celebrated Wretch when I behold, When I behold a Genius bright, and base, Of tow'ring Talents, and terrestrial Aims; Methinks I fee, as thrown from her high Sphere, The glorious Fragments of a Soul immortal, With Rubbish mixt, and glitt'ring in the Dust. Struck at the splendid, melancholy Sight, At once Compassion foft, and Envy, rife-But wherefore Envy? Talents Angel bright, If wanting Worth, are shining Instruments In false Ambition's Hand, to finish Faults Illustrious, and give Infamy Renown.

Great III is an Atchievement of great Pow'rs.

Plain Sense but rarely leads us far aftray.

Reason the Means, Affections chuse our End;

Means have no Merit, if our End amiss.

If wrong our Hearts, our Heads are right in vain;

What is a Pelham's Head to Pelham's Heart?

Hearts are Proprietors of all Applause.

Right Ends, and Means, make Wisdom: Worldly-wise Is but balf-witted, at its highest Praise.

Let Genius then despair to make thee great; Nor flatter Station: What is Station high? 'Tis a proud Mendicant; it boasts, and begs; It begs an Alms of Homage from the Throng, And oft the Throng denies its Charity. Monarchs and Ministers are aweful Names;

Night 6.

Whoever wear them, challenge our Devoir. Religion, public Order, Both exact External Homage, and a supple Knee, To Beings pompoully fet up, to ferve The meanest Slave; all more is Merit's Due. Her facred and inviolable Right; Nor ever paid the Monarch, but the Man. Our Hearts ne'er bow but to superior Worth; Nor ever fail of their Allegiance there. Fools, indeed, drop the Man in their Account. And vote the Manth into Majesty. Let the small Savage boaft his Silver Fur ; His royal Robe unborrow'd, and unbought, His own, descending fairly from his Sires. Shall Man be proud to wear his Livery. And Souls in Ermin (corn a Soul without? Can Place or lessen us, or aggrandize ? Pygmies are Pygmies fill, tho' percht on Ales; And Pyramids are Pyramids in Vales. Each Man makes his own Stature, builds himseif : Virtue alone out-builds the Pyramids; Her Monuments shall last, when Egypt's fall.

Of these sure Truths dost Thou demand the Cause? The Cause is lodg'd in Immortality.

Hear, and assent. Thy Bosom burns for Pow'r; What Station charms thee? I'll install thee there; 'Tis thine. And art thou greater than before? Then thou before wast something less than Man. Has thy new Post betray'd thee into Pride? That treach'rous Pride betrays thy Dignity; That Pride desames Humanity, and calls The Being mean, which Stass or Strings can raise. That Pride, like hooded Hawks, in Darkness soars, From Blindness bold, and tow'ring to the Skies. 'Tis born of Ignorance, which knows not Man:

An Angel's Second; nor his Second, long.

A Nero quitting his Imperial Throne,

And courting Glory from the tinkling String,

But faintly shadows an immortal Soul,

With Empire's Self, to Pride, or Rapture, fir'd.

If nobler Motives minister no Cure,

Ev'n Vanity forbids thee to be vain.

High Worth is elevated Place; 'Tis more;
It makes the Post stand Candidate for Thee;
Makes more than Monarchs, makes an honest Man;
Tho' no Exchequer it commands, 'tis Wealth;
And tho' it wears no Ribband, 'tis Renown;
Renown, that would not quit thee, tho' disgrac'd,
Nor leave thee pendent on a Master's Smile.
Other Ambition Nature interdicts;
Nature proclaims it most absurd in Man,
By pointing at his Origin, and End;
Milk, and a Swathe, at first, his whole Demand;
His whole Domain, at last, a Turf, or Stone;
To whom, between, a World may seem too small.
Souls truly great dart forward on the Wing

Of just Ambition, to the grand Result,
The Curtain's Fall; there, see the buskin'd Chief
Unshod behind this momentary Scene;
Reduc'd to his own Stature, low or high,
As Vice, or Virtue, finks him, or sublimes;
And laugh at this fantastic Mummery,
This antic Prelude of grotesque Events,
Where Dwarfs are often stilted, and betray
A Littleness of Soul by Worlds o'er-run,
And Nations laid in Blood. Dread Sacrifice
To Christian Pride! which had with Horror shocks
The darkest Pagans, offer'd to their Gods.

O Thou most Christian Enemy to Peace!
Again in Arms? Again provoking Fate?

That Prince, and that alone, is truly Great, Who draws the Sword reluctant, gladly sheaths; On Empire builds what Empire far outweighs, And makes his Throne a Scaffold to the Skies.

122

Why this so rare? Because forgot of all
The Day of Death; that venerable Day,
Which sits as Judges; that Day, which shall pronounce
On all our Days, absolve them, or condemn.
Lorenzo, never shut thy Thought against it;
Be Leves ne'er so full, afford it Room,
And give it Audience in the Cabinet.
That Friend consulted, Flatteries apart,
Will tell thee fair, if Thou art Great, or Mean.

To doat on aught may leave us, or be left. Is That Ambition? Then let Flames descend, Point to the Centre their inverted Spires, And learn Humiliation from a Soul, Which boalts her Lineage from celeftial Fire. Yet Thefe are they, the World pronounces Wife; The World, which cancels Nature's Right and Wrong, And casts new Wisdom: Ev'n the grave Man lends His folemn Face, to countenance the Coin. Wildom for Parts is Madness for the Whole. This stamps the Paradox, and gives us leave To call the Wifest weak, the Richest poor, The most Ambitious, Unambitious, Mean; In Triumph, mean; and abject, on a Throne. Nothing can make it less than mad in Man, To put forth all his Ardour, all his Art, And give his Soul her full unbounded Flight, But reaching Him, who gave her Wings to fly. When blind Ambition quite mistakes her Road, And downward pores, for that which shines above, Substantial Happiness, and true Renown; Then, like an Idios, gazing on the Brook,

We leap at Stars, and faften in the Mod; At Glory grafp, and fink in Infamy.

Ambition! pow'rful Source of Good and Ill! Thy Strength in Man, like Length of Wing in Birds, When difengag'd from Earth, with greater Bafe. And fwifter Flight, transports as to the Skies : By Toys entangled, or in Guilt bemir'd. It turns a Curfe; it is dur Chain, and Scourge, In this Dark Dungeon, where confin'd we lie. Close-grated by the fordid Bars of Sense: All Profpect of Eternity thut out;

And, but for Execution, ne'er fet free.

Ve

With Error in Ambition juffly charg'd. Find we Lorenzo wifer in his Wealth? What if thy Rental I reform? and draw An Inventory new to fet thee Right? Where, thy true Treasure? Gold fays, " Not in me:" And, " Not in me," the Di'mond. Gold is poor: India's infolvent : Seek it in Thyself, Seek in thy naked Self, and find it There: In Being fo descended, form'd, endow'd: Sky-born, fky-guided, fky-returning Race! Erect, Immortal, Rational, Divine! In Senses, which inherit Earth, and Heav'ns : Enjoy the various Riches Nature yields ; Far nobler! give the Riches they enjoy; Give Tafte to Fruits; and Harmony to Groves : Their radiant Beams to Gold, and Gold's bright Sire: Take in, at once, the Laudschape of the World, At a fmall Inlet, which a Grain might close. And half-create the wond'rous World they fee. Our Senfes, as our Reafon, are divine. But for the magic Organ's pow'rful Charm, Earth were a rude, uncolour'd Chaos, Mill. Objects are but th' Occasion; ours th' Exploit;

Ours is the Cloth, the Pencil, and the Paint,
Which Nature's admirable Picture draws;
And beautifies Creation's ample Dome.
Like Milton's Eve, when gazing on the Lake,
Man makes the matchless Image, Man admires.
Say then, Shall Man, his Thoughts all sent abroad,
Superior Wonders in Himself forgot,
His Admiration waste on Objects round,
When Heav'n makes Him the Soul of all he sees?
Absurd! not rare! so Great, so Mean, is Man.

What Wealth in Senses such as these! What Wealth In Fancy, fir'd to form a fairer Scene Than Senje furveys !. In Mem'ry's firm Record, Which, should it perish, could this World recall From the dark Shadows of o'erwhelming Years! In Colours fresh, originally bright, Preserve its Portrait, and report its Fate! What Wealth in Intellett, that fov'reign Pow'r! Which Senfe, and Fancy, fummons to the Bar; Interrogates, approves, or reprehends; And from the Mass those Underlings import, From their Materials fifted, and refin'd, And in Truth's Balance accurately weigh'd, Forms Art, and Science, Government, and Law; The folid Bafis, and the beauteous Frame, The Vitals, and the Grace of Civil Life! And Manners (fad Exception!) fet afide, Strikes out, with Master hand, a Copy fair Of His Idea, whose indulgent Thought Long, long, ere Chaos teem'd, plann'd buman Blifs.

What Wealib in Souls that foar, dive, range around, Disdaining Limit, or from Place, or Time; And hear at once, in Thought extensive, hear Th' Almighty Fiat, and the Trumpet's Sound! Bold, on Creation's Outside walk, and view

What was, and is, and more than ere shall be; Commanding, with Omnipotence of Thought, Creations new in Fancy's Field to rife! Souls, that can grasp whate'er th' Almighty made, And wander wild thro' Things impossible; What Wealth, in Faculties of endless Growth, In quenchless Passions violent to crave, In Liberty to chuse, in Pow'r to reach, And in Duration (how thy Riches rise!) Duration to perpetuate—boundless Bliss!

Ask you, what Pow'r resides in seeble Man
That Bliss to gain? Is Virtue's, then, unknown!
Virtue, our present Peace, our future Prize.
Man's unprecarious, natural Estate,
Improveable at Will, in Virtue lies;
Its Tenure sure; its Income is divine.

High-built Abundance, Heap on Heap! for what? To breed new Wants, and beggar us the more; Then, make a richer Scramble for the Throng? Soon as this feeble Pulfe, which leaps fo long Almost by Miracle, is tir'd with Play, Like Rubbish from disploding Engines throwa, Our Magazines of hoarded Trisses sty; Fly diverse; sly to Foreigners, to Foes; New Masters court, and call the former Fool (How justly!) for Dependence on their Stay. Wide scatter, first, our Play-things; then, our Dust.

Dost court Abundance for the sake of Peace?

Learn, and lament thy self-deseated Scheme:

Riches enable to be richer still;

And Richer still, what Mortal can resist?

Thus Wealth (a cruel Task-master!) injoins

New Toils, succeeding Toils, an endless Train!

And murders Peace, which taught it first to shine.

The Poor are balf as wretched as the Rich;

Whose proud and painful Privilege it is, At once, to bear a double Load of Woe; To feel the Stings of Envy, and of Want, Outrageous Want! both Indies cannot cure.

A Competence is vital to Content.

Much Wealth is Corpulence, if not Disease;
Sick, or incumber'd, is our Happiness.

A Competence is all we can enjoy.

O be content, where Heav'n can give no more!

More, like a Flash of Water from a Lock,
Quickens our Spirit's Movement for an Hour;
But soon its Force is spent, nor rise our Joys
Above our native Temper's common Stream.

Hence Disappointment lurks in ev'ry Prize,
As Bees in Flow'rs; and stings us with Success.

The rich Man, who denies it, proudly feigns; Nor knows the Wife are privy to the Lye. Much Learning shews how little Mortals know; Much Wealth, how little Worldlings can enjoy: At best, it babies us with endless Toys, And keeps us Children till we drop to Dust. As Monkeys at a Mirror stand amaz'd, They fail to find what they so plainly see; Thus Men, in shining Riches, see the Face Of Happiness, nor know it is a Shade; But gaze, and touch, and peep, and peep again, And wish, and wonder it is absent still.

How Few can rescue Opulence from Want! Who lives to Nature, rarely can be poor; Who lives to Fancy, never can be rich. Poor is the Man in Debt; the Man of Gold, In Debt to Fortune, trembles at her Power. The Man of Reason smiles at Her, and Death. O what a Patrimony this! A Being Of such inherent Strength and Majesty,

Not Worlds possest can raise it; Worlds destroy'd Can't injure; which holds on its glorious Course, When thine, O Nature! ends; too bless to mourn Creation's Obsequies. What Treasure, this! The Monarch is a Beggar to the Man.

Immortal! Ages past, yet nothing gone!

Morn without Eve! a Race without a Goal;

Unshorten'd by Progression infinite!

Futurity for ever future! Life

Beginning still, where Computation ends!

'Tis the Description of a Deity!

'Tis the Description of the meanest Slave:

The meanest Slave dares then Lorenzo scorn?

The meanest Slave thy sov'reign Glory shares.

Proud Youth! fastidious of the lower World!

Man's lawful Pride includes Humility;

Stoops to the Lowest; is too great to find

Inferiors: all Immortal! Brothers all!

Proprietors eternal of thy Love!

IMMORTAL! What can strike the Sense so strongs
As this the Soul? It thunders to the Thought;
Reason amazes; Gratitude o'eswhelms;
No more we slumber on the Brink of Fate;
Rous'd at the Sound, th' exulting Soul ascende,
And breathes her native Air; an Air that seeds
Ambitions high, and fans ethereal Fires;
Quick kindles all that is divine within us;
Nor leaves one loit'ring Thought beneath the Stars.

Has not LORENZO'S Bosom caught the Flame?

Immortal! Were but one Immortal, how

Would others envy! How would Thrones adore?

Because 'tis common, is the Blessing lost?

How this ties up the bounteous Hand of Heav'n!

O vain, vain, vain! all else! Eternity!

A glorious, and a needful Resuge, that,

From

TOT!

From vile Imprisonment in abject Views. 'Tis Immortality, 'tis that alone, Amid Life's Pains, Abasements, Emptinefs, The Soul can comfort, elevate, and fill. That only, and That amply, this performs; Lifts us above Life's Pains, her Joys above ; Their Terror those; and these their Luftre lose; Eternity depending covers all; Eternity depending all atchieves; Sets Earth at Distance; casts her into Shades; Blends her Distinctions; abrogates her Pow'rs; The Low, the Lofty, Joyous, and Severe, Fortune's dread Frowns, and fascinating Smiles, Make one promiscuous and neglected Heap, The Man beneath; if I may call him Man, Whom Immortality's full Force inspires. Nothing terrestrial touches his high Thought; Suns shine unseen, and Thunders roll unheard, By Minds quite conscious of their high Descent, Their present Province, and their future Prize; Divinely darting upward ev'ry Wish, Warm on the Wing, in glorious Absence loft!

Doubt you this Truth? Why labour your Belief? If Earth's whole Orb, by some due-distanc'd Eye Were seen at once, her tow'ring Alps would sink, And levell'd Atlas leave an even Sphere.

Thus Earth, and all that earthly Minds admire, Is swallow'd in Eternity's vast Round.

To that stupendous View, when Souls awake, So large of late, so mountainous to Man, Time's Toys subside; and equal All below.

Enthusiastic, This? Then all are weak, But rank Enthusiasts. To this godlike Height Some Souls have foar'd; or Martyrs ne er had bled. And all may do, what has by Man been done.

Who,

Who, beaten by these sublunary Storms,
Boundless, interminable Joys can weigh,
Unraptur'd, unexalted, uninstam'd?
What Slave unblest, who from To-morrow's Dawn
Expects an Empire? He forgets his Chain,
And, thron'd in Thought, his absent Sceptre waves.

And what a Sceptre waits us! what a Throne!

Her own immense Appointments to compute,

Or comprehend her high Prerogatives,

In this her dark Minority, how toils,

How vainly pants, the human Soul divine!

Too great the Bounty seems for earthly Joy;

What Heart but trembles at so strange a Bliss?

In spite of all the Truths the Muse has sung,
Ne'er to be priz'd enough! enough revolv'd!
Are there who wrap the world so close about them,
They see no farther than the Clouds; and dance
On heedless Vanity's phantastic Toe,
Till, stumbling at a Straw, in their Career,
Headlong they plunge, where end both Dance and Song?
Are there, Lorenzo? Is it possible?
Are there on Earth (let me not call them Men)
Who lodge a Soul immortal in their Breass;
Unconscious as the Mountain of its Ore;
Or Rock, of its inestimable Gem?
When Rocks shall melt, and Mountains vanish, These Shall know their Treasure; Treasure, then, no more.

Are there (still more amazing!) who resist
The rising Thought? Who smother, in its Birth,
The glorious Truth? Who struggle to be Brutes?
Who thro' this Bosom-barrier burst their Way?
And, with reverst Ambition, strive to sink?
Who labour downwards thro' th' opposing Powers
Of Instinct, Reason, and the World against them,

To dismal Hopes, and shelter in the Shock
Of endless Night? Night darker than the Grave's?
Who sight the Proofs of Immortality?
With horrid Zeal, and execrable Arts,
Work all their Engines, level their black Fires,
To blot from Man this Attribute divine,
(Than vital Blood far dearer to the Wise)
Blasphemers, and rank Atheists to Themselves?

To contradict them, see all Nature rise!

What Object, what Event, the Moon beneath,
But argues, or endears, an After-scene?

To Reason proves, or weds it to Desire?

All things proclaim it needful; some advance
One precious Step beyond, and prove it sure.

A thousand Arguments swarm round my Pen,
From Heav'n, and Earth, and Man. Indulge a few,
By Nature, as her common Habit, worn;
So pressing Providence a Truth to teach,
Which Truth untaught, all other Truths were vain.

THOU! whose all-providential Eye surveys,
Whose Hands directs, whose Spirit fills and warms
Creation, and holds Empire far beyond!
Eternity's Inhabitant august!
Of two Eternities amazing Lord!
One past, ere Man's or Angel's, had begun;
Aid! while I rescue from the Foe's Affault
Thy glorious Immortality in Man.

A Theme for ever, and for all, of Weight,

Of Moment infinite! but relisht most

By those, who love Thee most, who most adore.

Nature, thy Daughter, ever-changing Birth
Of Thee the Great Immutable, to Man
Speaks Wildom; is his Oracle supreme;
And he who most consults her, is most Wife.

Lorenzo;

Lorenzo, to this heav'nly Delphos haste;
And come back All-immortal; All-divine:
Look Nature thro', 'tis Revolution All;
All Change; no Death. Day follows Night; and Night
The dying Day; Stars rife, and set, and rife;
Earth takes th' Example. See, the Summer gay,
With her green Chaplet, and ambrosial Flow'rs,
Droops into pallid Autumn: Winter grey,
Horrid with Frost, and turbulent with Storm,
Blows Autumn, and his golden Fruits, away:
Then melts into the Spring: Soft Spring, with Breath
Favonian, from warm Chambers of the South,
Recalls the First. All, to ressourish, fades.
As in a Wheel, All finks, to reascend.
Emblems of Man, who passes, not expires.

With this minute Distinction, Emblems just,

Nature revolves, but Man advances; both

Eternal; that a Circle, this a Line.

That gravitates, this soars. Th' aspiring Soul,

Ardent, and tremulous, like Flame, ascends;

Zeal, and Humility, her Wings to Heav'n.

The World of Matter, with its various Forms,

All dies into new Life. Life born from Death

Rolls the vast Mass, and shall for ever roll.

No single Atom, once in Being, lost,

With Change of Counsel, charges the Most High.

What hence infers LORENZO? Can it be?

Matter immortal? And shall Spirit die?

Above the nobler, shall less noble rise?

Shall Man alone, for whom all else revives,

No Resurrection know? Shall Man alone,

Imperial Man? be sown in barren Ground,

Less privileg'd than Grain, on which he seeds?

Is Man, in whom alone is Pow'r to prize

The Blifs of Being, or with previous Pain Deplore its Period, by the Spleen of Fate, Severely doom'd Death's fingle Unredeem'd? If Nature's Revolution speaks aloud, In her Gradation, hear her louder still. Look Nature through, 'tis neat Gradation all. By what minute Degrees her Scale ascends! Each middle Nature join'd at each Extreme, To that above it join'd, to that beneath, Parts into Parts reciprocally shot, Abhor Divorce: What Love of Union reigns! Here, dormant Matter waits a Call to Life; Half-life, half-death, join There; Here, Life and Sense; There, Sense from Reason steals a glimm'ring Ray; Reason shines out in Man. But how preserv'd The Chain unbroken upward, to the Realms Of incorporeal Life? those Realms of Blifs, Where Death hath no Dominion? Grant a Make Half-mortal, half-immortal; earthy, Part. And Part ethereal; grant the Soul of Man Eternal; or in Man the Series ends. Wide yawns the Gap; Connexion is no more; Checkt Reason halts; her next Step wants Support; Striving to climb, the tumbles from her Scheme ; A Scheme, Analogy pronounc'd fo true;

Thus far, all Nature calls on thy Belief.
And will LORENZO, careless of the Call,
False Attestation on all Nature charge,
Rather than violate his League with Death?
Renounce his Reason, rather than renounce
The Dust belov'd, and run the Risque of Heaven?
O what Indignity to deathless Souls!
What Treason to the Majesty of Man!

Analogy, Man's fureft Guide below.

Of Man immertal! Hear the lofty Stile:

" If so decreed, th' Almighty Will be done.

4 Let Earth dissolve, yon pond'rous Orbs descend,

" And grind us into Duft: The Saul is fafe;

" The Man emerges; mounts above the Wreck,

" As tow'ring Flame from Nature's funeral Pyre;

" O'er Devattation, as a Gainer, smiles;

" His Charter, his inviolable Right,

" Well-pleas'd to learn from Thunder's Impotence,

"Death's pointless Darts, and Hell's defeated Storms."
But these Chimzers touch not thee, LORENZO!
The Glories of the World, thy sev'nfold Shield.
Other Ambition than of Crowns in Air,
And superlunary Felicities,
The Bosom warm. 1'll cool it, if I can;
And turn those Glories that inchant, against thee.

What ties thee to this Life, proclaims the next.

If wise, the Cause that wounds thee is thy Cure.

Come, my Ambitious! let us mount together. (To mount Lor enzo never can refuse); And from the Clouds, where Pride delights to dwell. Look down on Earth .- What feelt thou? Wond'rous Terrestrial Wonders, that eclipse the Skies. [Things! What Lengths of labour'd Lands! What loaded Seas! Loaded by Man for Pleasure, Wealth, or War! Seas, Winds, and Planets, into Service brought, His Art acknowledge, and promote his Ends. Nor can th' eternal Rocks his Will withstand : What levell'd Mountains! And what lifted Vales! O'er Vales and Mountains sumptuous Cities swell, And gild our Landschape with their glitt'ring Spires. Some 'mid the wond'ring Waves majestic rise; And Neptune holds a Mirror to their Charms. Far greater fill! (what cannot mortal Might?)

See, wide Dominions ravish from the Deep! The narrow'd Deep with Indignation foams. Or Southward turn; to Delicate, and Grand, The finer Arts there ripen in the Sun. How the tall Temples, as to meet their Gods, Ascend the Skies! the proud triumphal Arch Shews us half Heav'n beneath its ample Bend. High thro' mid Air, bere, Streams are taught to flow; Whole Rivers, there, laid by in Basons, sleep. Here, Plains turn Oceans; there, vast Oceans join Thro' Kingdoms chanel'd deep from Shore to Shore; And chang'd Creation takes its Face from Man. Beats thy brave Breaft for formidable Scenes, Where Fame and Empire wait upon the Sword? See Fields in Blood : hear naval Thunders rife : BRITANNIA's Voice! that awes the World to Peace. How you enormous Mole projecting breaks The mid-fea, furious Waves! Their Roar amidft, Out-speaks the Deity, and says, "O Main! " Thus far, nor farther; New Restraints obey." Earth's disembowel'd! measur'd are the Skies! Stars are detected in their deep Recess! Creation widens! Vanquish'd Nature yields! Her Secrets are extorted! Art prevails! What Monument of Genius, Spirit, Power!

And now, LORENZO! raptur'd at this Scene,
Whose Glories render Heav'n superfluous! say,
Whose Footsteps These?—Immortals have been Here.
Could less than Souls Immortal this have done?
Earth's cover'd o'er with Proofs of Souls immortal;
And Proofs of Immortality forgot.

To flatter thy grand Foible, I confess,
These are Ambition's Works: And These are Great:
But this, the least immortal Souls can do;

Transcend

Transcend them all—But what can these transcend?

Dost ask me, What?—One Sigh for the Distress.

What then for Insidels? A deeper Sigh.

Tis moral Grandeur makes the mighty Man:

How Little they, who think aught Great below?

All our Ambitions Death deseats, but One;

And that it crowns.—Here cease we: But, ere long,

More pow'rful Proof shall take the Field against thee,

Stronger than Death, and smiling at the Tomb.

NIGHT the SEVENTH.

BEING THE

SECOND PART

OF THE

INFIDEL Reclaimed.

Containing

The NATURE, PROOF, and IMPORTANCE, of IMMORTALITY.

PREFACE.

A'S we are at War with the Power, it were well if we were at War with the Manners, of France. A Land of Levity, is a Land of Guilt. A Serious Mind is the native Soil of every Virtue; and the fingle Character that does true Honour to Mankind. The Soul's Immortality has been the favourite Theme with the Serious of all Ages. Nor is it strange; it is a Subject by far the most Interesting, and Important, that can enter the Mind of Man. Of highest Moment this Subject abways was, and always will be. Yet this its highest Moment seems to admit of Increase, at this Day; a Sort of occasional Importance is superadded to the natural Weight of it; if that Opinion which is advanced in the Presace to the preceding Night, be just. It is there supposed, that all our Infidels, whatever Scheme, for Argument's gument's Sake, and to keep themfelves in Countenance; they patronize, are betray'd into their deplerable Error, by fome Doubt of their Immortality, at the Bottom. And the more I consider this Point, the more I am persuaded of the Truth of that Opinion. The' the Distrust of a Futurity is a strange Error; yet it is an Error into which Bad Men may naturally be distressed. For it is impossible to bid Desiance to final Ruin, without some Refuge in Imagination, some Presumption of Escape. And what Presumption is there? There are but Two in Nature; but Two, within the Compass of Human Thought. And thefe are, -That either GOD will not, or can not punifo. Considering the Divine Attributes, the First is too gross to be digested by our strongest Wishes. And fince Omnipotence is as much a Divine Attribute as Holinefs, that GOD cannot tunish, is as absurd a Supposition, as the Former. GOD certainly can punish, as long as the wicked Man exists. In Non-existence, therefore, is their only Refuge; and, consequently, Non-existence is their strongest Wift. And strong Wishes have a strange Instuence on our Opinions; they bias the Judgment in a Manner, almost, incredible. And fince on this Member of their Alternative, there are some very small Appearances in their Favour, and none at all on the other, they eated at this Reed, they lay hold on this Chimara, to fave themselves from the Shock, and Horror, of an immediate, and absolute, Despair.

On reviewing my Subject, by the Light which this Argument, and others of like Tendency, threw upon it, I was more inclin'd, than ever, to purfue it, as it appeared to me to strike directly at the main Root of all our Insidelity. In the following Pages, it is, accordingly, pursued at large; and some Arguments for Immortality, new (at least, to me), are ventured on in them. There also the Writer has made an Attempt to set the gross Absurdities and Horrors of Annihilation in a fuller and more affecting View, than is (I think) to be met with elsewhere.

The Centiemen, for whose Sake this Attempt was chiefly made, profess great Admiration for the Wisdom of Heathen Antiquity : What Pity 'tis, they are not fincere! If they were fincere, how would it mortify them to consider, with what Contempt and Abborrence, their Notions would have been received, by Thole whom they fo much admire? What Degree of Contempt, and Abberrence, would fall to their Share, may be conjectured by the following Matter of Fact (in my Opinion) extremely memorable. Of all their Heathen Worthies, Socrates ('tis well known) was the most Guarded, Dispassionate, and Compos'd: Yet this great Master of Temper was angry; and angry at his Last Hour; and angry with bis Friend; and angry for what deferv'd Acknowlegement; angry, for a right and tender bestance of true Friendship towards Him. Is not this surprising? What could be the Cause? The Cause was for his Honour; it was a truly noble, tho', perhaps, a too puncilious, Regard for Immortality: For his Friend asking him, with such an affectionate Concern as became a Friend, " Where he should deposit his Remains?" it was referred by Socrates, as implying a dishonourable Supposition, that He could be so mean, as to have Regard for any abing, even in Himself, that was not IMMORTAL.

This Fast well consider'd, would make our Insidels withdraw their Admiration from Socrates; or make them endeavour, by their Imitation of this illustrious Example, to share his Glory: 'And, consequently, It would incline them to peruse the following Pages with Candor and Impartiality: Which is all I desire; and that, for their Sakes: For I am persuaded, that an Unprejudiced Insidel must, necessarily, receive some advantageous Impressions from them.

HEAV'N gives the needful, but neglected, Call.
What Day, what Hour, but knocks at human
To wake the Soul to Sense of future Scenes? [Hearts,
Deaths stand, like Mercurys, in ev'ry Way;
And kindly point us to our Journey's End.
Pope, who couldst make Immortals! art Thou dead!
I give thee Joy: Nor will I take my Leave;
So soon to follow. Man but dives in Death;
Dives from the Sun, in fairer Day to rise;
The Grave, his subterranean Road to Bliss.
Yes, infinite Indulgence plann'd it so;
Thro' various Parts our glorious Story runs;
Time gives the Preface, endless Age unrolls
The Volume (ne'er unroll'd!) of human Fate.

This, Earth and Shies already have proclaim'd. The World's a Prophecy of Worlds to come; And who, what God foretels (who fpeaks in Things, Still louder than in Words) shall dare deny? If Nature's Arguments appear too weak, Turn a new Leaf, and stronger read in Man. If Man sleeps on, untaught by what he fees, Can he prove Insidel to what he feels? He, whose blind Thought Futurity denies, Unconscious, hears, Bellerophon! like thee, His own Indictment; he condemns himself; Who reads his Bosom, reads immortal Life; Or, Nature, there, imposing on her Sons, Has written Fables; Man was made a Lye.

Night the Sixth.

Why Discontent for ever harbour'd there?
Incurable Consumption of our Peace!
Resolve me, why, the Cottager, and King,
He whom Sea-sever'd Realms obey, and he
Who steals his whole Dominion from the Waste,
Repelling Winter Blasts with Mud and Straw,
Disquieted alike, draw Sigh for Sigh,
In Fate so distant, in Complaint so near?

Is it, that Things Terrestrial can't content? Deep in rich Pasture, will thy Flocks complain? Not so; but to their Master is deny'd To share their sweet Serene. Man, ill at Ease. In this, not bis own Place, this foreign Field. Where Nature fodders him with other Food. Than was ordain'd his Cravings to fuffice, Poor in Abundance, famith'd at a Feaft, Sighs on for fomething more, when most enjoy'd. Is Heav'n then kinder to thy Flocks, than Thee? Not fo; thy Pasture richer, but remote; In part, remote; for that remoter Part Man bleats from Inflinet, tho', perhaps, debauch'd By Sense his Reason sleeps, nor dreams the Cause. The Cause how obvious, when his Reason wakes! His Grief is but his Grandeur in Disguise; And Discontent is Immortality.

Shall Sons of Æther, shall the Blood of Heaven,
Set up their Hopes on Earth, and stable bere,
With brutal Acquiescence in the Mire?
LORENZO! no! they shall be nobly pain'd;
The glorious Foreigners, distrest, shall sigh
On Thrones; and Thou congratulate the Sigh:
Man's Misery declares him born for Bliss;
His anxious Heart afferts the Truth I sing,
And give the Sceptic in his Head the Lye.

Our Heads, our Heasts, our Paffions, and our Powers. Speak the fame Language; call us to the Skies: Unripen'd Thefe in this inclement Clime. Scarce rife above Conjecture, and Mistake : And for this Land of Trifles Thefe too firong Tumultuous rife, and tempest human Life : What Prize on Earth can pay us for the Storm? Meet Objects for our Paffions Heav'n ordain'd. Objects that challenge all their Fire, and leave No Fault, but in Defect : Bleft Heav'n ! avert A bounded Ardor for unbounded Blife ! O for a Blifs unbounded! Far beneath A Soul immortal, is a mortal Joy. Nor are our Pow'rs to perish immature : But, after feeble Effort bere, beneath A brighter Sun, and in a nobler Soil. Transplanted from this sublunary Bed, Shall flourish fair, and put forth all their Bloom.

Reason progressive, Instinct is complete: Swift Inflinet leaps; flow Reafon feebly climbs. Brutes foon their Zenith reach ; their little All Flows in at once; in Ages they no more Could know, or do, or covet, or enjoy. Were Man to live coëval with the Sun. The Patriarch-Pupil would be learning still: Yet, dying, leave his Lesson half-unlearnt. Men perish in Advance, as if the Sun Should fet ere Noon, in Eastern Oceans drown'd: If fit, with Dim, Illustrious to compare. The Sun's Meridian, with the Soul of Man. To Man, why, Step-dame Nature! fo fevere? Why thrown afide thy Mafter-piece half-wrought, While meaner Efforts thy last Hand enjoy? Or, if abortively poor Man must die, Not reach, what reach he might, why die in Dread?

Why

F

Why curst with Foresight? Wise to Misery? Why of his proud Prerogative the Prey? Why less pre-eminent in Rank, than Pain? His Immortality alone can tell; Full ample Fund to balance all amis, And turn the Scale in Favour of the Just!

His Immortality alone can folve
That darkest of Ænigmas, human Hope;
Of all the darkest, if at Death we die.
Hope, eager Hope, th' Assassin of our Joy,
All present Blessings treading under-foot,
Is scarce a milder Tyrant than Despair.
With no past Toils content, still planning new,
Hope turns us o'er to Death alone for Ease.
Possession, why more tasteless than Pursuit?
Why is a Wish far dearer than a Crown?
That Wish accomplished, why, the Grave of Bliss?
Because, in the great Future bury'd deep,
Beyond our Plans of Empire, and Renown,
Lies all that Man with Ardor should pursue;
And HE who made him, bent him to the Right.

Man's Heart th' Almighty to the Future lets,
By secret and inviolable Springs;
And makes his Hope his sublunary Joy.
Man's Heart eats all Things, and is hungry still;
"More, more!" the Glutton cries: For something New
So rages Appetite, if Man can't Mount,
He will Descend. He starves on the Posses,
Hence, the World's Master, from Ambition's Spire,
In Caprea plung'd; and div'd beneath the Brute.
In that rank Sty why wallow'd Empire's Son
Supreme? Because he could no higher sty;
His Riot was Ambition in Despair.

Old Rome consulted Birds; LORENZO! thou With more Success, the Flight of Hope survey;

Of reftless Hope, for ever on the Wing. High-perch'd o'er ev'ry Thought that Falcon fits. To fly at all that rifes in her Sight; And, never flooping, but to mount again Next Moment, she betrays her Aim's Mistake, And owns her Quarry lodg'd beyond the Grave.

There should it fail us (It must fail us there, If Being fails), more mournful Riddles rife, And Virtue vies with Hope in Mystery. Why Virtue? Where its Praise, its Being, fled? Virtue is true Self-intereft pursu'd: What true Self-interest of quite-mortal Man? To close with all that makes him happy bere, If Vice (as sometimes) is our Friend on Earth, Then Vice is Virtue; 'tis our fow'reign Good. In Self-applause is Virtue's golden Prize; No Self-applause attends it on thy Scheme: Whence Self-applause? From Conscience of the Right. And what is Right, but Means of Happiness? No Means of Happiness when Virtue yields; That Basis failing, falls the Building too, And lays in Ruin ev'ry wirtuous Toy.

The rigid Guardian of a blameles Heart, So long rever'd, fo long reputed wife, Is weak; with rank Knight-errantries o'er-run. Why beats thy Bosom with illustrious Dreams Of Self-exposure, laudable, and great? Of gallant Enterprize, and glorious Death? Die for thy Country ?-Thou Romantic Fool! Seize, seize the Plank thyself, and let her fink : Thy Country !- what to Thee ?- The Godbead, what ? (I fpeak with Awe!) tho' He should bid thee bleed; If, with thy Blood, thy final Hope is fpilt, Nor can Omnipotence reward the Blow, Be deaf; preserve thy Being; disobey.

Nor is it Disobedience: Know, Lournzo!

Whate'er th' Almight y's subsequent Command,

His first Command is this: Man, love thyself."

In this alone, Free Agents are nor free.

Existence is the Bass, Blis the Prize;

If Virtue costs Existence, 'tis a Crime;

Bold Violation of our Law supreme,

Black Suicide; tho' Nations, which consult

Their Gain, at thy Expence, resound Applause.

Since Virtue's Recompence is doubtful, Hire, If Man dies wholly, well may we demand, Why is Man fuffer'd to be Good in vain? Why to be Good in vain, is Man injoin'd? Why to be Good in vain, is Man-betray'd? Betray'd by Traitors lodg'd in his own Breaft. By fweet Complacencies from Virtue felz? Why whifpers Nature Lyes on Virtue's Part? Or if blind Inflina (which affumes the Name Of facred Confcience) plays the Fool in Man. Why Reason made Accomplice in the Cheat? Why are the Wifeft loudest in her Praise? Can Man by Reason's Beam be led aftray? Or, at his Peril, imitate bis God? Since Virtue fometimes ruins us on Earth. Or Both are true; or, Man furvives the Grave.

Or Man survives the Grave, or own, Lorenzo,
Thy Boast supreme, a wild Absurdity.
Dauntless thy Spirit; Cowards are thy Scorn.
Grant Man immortal, and thy Scorn is just.
The Man immortal, rationally brave,
Dares rush on Death—because he cannot die.
But if Man loses All, when Life is lost,
He lives a Coward, or a Fool expires.
A daring Insidel (and such there are,
From Pride, Example, Lucre, Rage, Revenge,

Or pure besoical Defect of Thought),

Of all Earth's Madmen, most deserves a Chain.

When to the Grave we follow the Renown'd For Valour, Virtue, Science, all we love, And all we praise; for Worth, whose Noon-tide Beam, Enabling us to think in higher Style, Mends our Ideas of Ethereal Powers; Dream we, that Lustre of the moral World Goes out in Stench, and Rottenness the Close? Why was he wise to know, and warm to praise, And strenuous to transcribe, in human Life, The Mind Almighty? Could it be, that Fate, Just when the Lineaments began to shine, And dawn the Drity, should snatch the Draught, With Night eternal blot it out, and give The Skies Alarm, lest Angels too might die?

If Human Souls, why not Angelic too Extinguisht? and a folitary God, O'er ghaftly Ruin, frowning from his Throne? Shall we this Moment gaze on Gop in Man? The next, lofe Man for ever in the Duft? From Dust we disengage, or Man mistakes; And There, where least his Judgment fears a Flaw. Wisdom and Worth, how boldly he commends! Wildom and Worth, are facred Names; Rever'd Where not Embrac'd; Applauded! Deify'd! Why not Compossion'd too? If Spirits die, Both are Calamities, inflicted both, To make us but more wretched : Wildom's Eye, Acute, for what ? To fpy more Miferies; And Worth, fo recompens'd, new-points their Stings. Or Man furmounts the Grave, or Gain is Loss, And Worth exalted bumbles us the more. Thou wilt not patronize a Scheme that makes Weakn is, and Vice, the Refuge of Mankind.

" Has Virtue, then, no Joys ?"-Yes, Joys dear-beught. Talk ne'er fo long, in this imperfect State, Virtue, and Vice, are at eternal War. Virtue's a Combat; and who fights for Nought? Or for precarious, or for small Reward? Who Virtue's Self-reward fo loud refound, Would take Degrees Angelic here below, And Virtue, while they compliment, betray, By feeble Motives, and unfaithful Guards. The Crown, th' unfading Crown, her Soul inspires: "Tis That, and That alone, can countervail The Body's Treach'ries, and the World's Affaults: On Earth's poor Pay our famisht Virtue dies. Truth incontestable ! In spite of all A BAYLE has Preach'd, or a V-E Believ'd.

In Man the more we dive, the more we fee Heav'n's Signet stamping an immortal Make. Dive to the Bottom of his Soul, the Base Sustaining all; what find we? Knowlege, Love. As Light, and Heat, effential to the Sun, These to the Soul. And why, if Souls expire? How little Lovely bere? How little Known? Small Knowlege we dig up with endless Toil; And Love unfeign'd may purchase perfect Hate. Why flarv'd, on Earth, our Angel-Appetites; While Brutal are indulg'd their fulfome Fill? Were then Capacities divine conferr'd, As a Mock-Diadem, in favage Sport, Rank Infult of our pompous Powerty, Which reaps but Pain, from feeming Claims to fair ? In future Age lies no Redress? And shuts Eternity the Door on our Complaint? If fo, for what ftrange Ends were Mortals made ! The Worft to avallow, and the Beft to weep; The Man who Merits most, must most Complain : Can we conceive a Difregard in Heav'n, What the Work perpervase, or Best endure?

This cannot be. To Love, and Know, in Man Is boundless Appetite, and boundless Pow'r; And these demonstrate boundless Objects too. Objects, Pow'rs, Appetites, Heav'n suits in All; Nor, Nature thro', e'er violates this sweet, Eternal Concord, on her tuneful String. Is Man the sole Exception from her Laws? Eternity struck off from human Hope, (I speak with Truth, but Veneration too) Man is a Monster, the Reproach of Heav'n, A Stain, a dark impenetrable Cloud On Nature's beauteous Aspect; and deforms, (Amazing Blot!) deforms her with her Lord. If such is Man's Allotment, what is Heav'n?

Or own the Soul Immortal, or Blafoheme. Or own the Soul immortal, or invert All Order. Go, Mock-Majesty! go, Man! And bow to thy Superiors of the Stall; Thro' every Scene of Sense Superior far : They graze the Turf untill'd; they drink the Stream Unbrew'd, and ever full, and un-embitter'd With Doubts, Fears, fruitless Hopes, Regrets, Despairs; Mankind's Peculiar! Renfon's precious Dower! No foreign Clime They ranfack for their Robes ; Nor Brothers cite to the litigious Bar; Their Good is Good intire, unmixt, unmarr'd; They find a Paradife in ev'ry Field, On Boughs forbidden where no Curfes hang: Their Ill, no more than Arikes the Senfe; unftretcht By previous Dread, or Murmor in the Rear: When the work comes, it tomes unfear'd; one Stroke Begins, and ends, their Woe: They die but once; Bleft, incommunicable Privilege! for which Proud Proud Man, who rules the Globe, and reads the Stars, Philosopher, or Hero, fighs in vain.

Account for this Prerogative in Brutes. No Day, no Glimple of Day, to solve the Knot, But what beams on it from Eternity. O fole, and fweet Solution! That unties The Difficult, and foftens the Severe : The Cloud on Nature's beauteous Face dispels; Restores bright Order; casts the Brute beneath; And re inthrones us in Supremacy Of Joy, ev'n Here: Admit immortal Life. And Virtue is Knight-errantry no more; Each Virtue brings in Hand a golden Dower, Far richer in Reversion: Hope exults: And tho' much Bitter in our Cup is thrown, Predominates, and gives the Tafte of Heaven. O wherefore is the DRITY fo kind? Aftonishing beyond Astonishment!

Heav'n our Reward—for Heav'n enjoy'd below.

Still unsubdu'd thy stubborn Heart?—For there

The Traitor lurks, who doubts the Truth I fing.

Reason is guiltless; Will alone rebels.

What, in that stubborn Heart, if I should find

New, unexpected Witnesses against thee?

Ambition, Pleasure, and the Love of Gain!

Canst thou suspect, that These, which make the Soul

The Slave of Earth, should own her Heir of Heav'n? Canst thou suspect what makes us distelleve

Our Immortality, should prove it fure?

First, then, Ambition summon to the Bar.

Ambition's Shame, Extravagance, Difguft,
And inextinguishable Nature, speak.

Each much deposes: hear them in their Turn.

Thy Soul, how passionately fond of Fame!
How anxious, that fond Passion to conceal

We blush, detected in Designs on Praise,
Tho' for best Deeds, and from the best of Men;
And why? Because Immortal. Art divine
Has made the Body Tutor to the Soul;
Heav'n kindly gives our Blood a moral Flow;
Bids it ascend the glowing Cheek, and there
Upbraid that little Heart's inglorious Aim,
Which stoops to court a Character from Man;
While o'er us in tremendous Judgment sit
Far more than Man, with endless Praise, and Blame.

Ambition's boundless Appetite outspeaks
The Verdict of its Shame. When Souls take Fire
At high Presumption of their own Desert,
One Age is poor Applause; the mighty Shout,
The Thunder by the living Few begun,
Late Time must echo; Worlds unborn, resound.
We wish our Names eternally to live:
Wild Dream! which ne'er had haunted human Thought,
Had not our Natures been eternal too.
Instinct points out an Int'rest in Hereafter;
But our blind Reason sees not where it lies;
Or, seeing, gives the Substance for the Shade.
Fame is the Shade of Immortality,

And in itself a Shadow. Soon as caught,
Contemn'd; it shrinks to nothing in the Grasp.
Consult th' Ambitious; 'tis Ambition's Cure.
"And is This all?" cry'd Cæsar at his Height,
Disgusted. This Third Proof Ambition brings
Of Immortality. The first in Fame,
Observe him near, your Envy will abate:
Sham'd at the Disproportion vast, between
The Passion, and the Purchase, he will sigh
At Success, and blush at his Renown.
And why? Because far richer Prize invites

His Heart; far more illustrious Glory calls; It calls in Whispers, yet the Deafest hear.

And can Ambition a Fourth Proof Supply ? It can, and fironger than the former Three; Yet quite o'er-look'd by some reputed Wise. Tho' Disappointments in Ambition pain, And the Success difgufts; yet still, 'Lorenzo! In vain we strive to pluck it from our Hearts; By Nature planted for the nobleft Ends. Abfurd the fam'd Advice to PYRRHUS giv'n, More prais'd, than ponder'd; specious, but unfound: Sooner that Hero's Sword the World had quell'd. Than Reason his Ambition. Man must foar. An obstinate Activity within, An insuppressive Spring, will tofs him up In spite of Fortune's Load. Not Kings alone, Each Villager has his Ambition too; No Sultan prouder than his fetter'd Slave: Slaves build their little Babylons of Straw, Echo the proud Affyrian, in their Hearts, And cry,-" Behold the Wonders of my Might!" And why? Because immortal as their Lord; And Souls immortal must for ever heave At fomething Great; the Glitter, or the Gold; The Praise of Mortals, or the Praise of Heaven.

Nor absolutely vain is Human Praise,
When Human is supported by Divine.
I'll introduce Lorenzo to Himself;
Pleasure and Pride (bad Masters!) share our Hearts.
As Love of Pleasure is ordain'd to guard
And feed our Bodies, and extend our Race;
The Love of Praise is planted to protect;
And propagate the Glories of the Mind.
What is it, but the Love of Praise, inspires,
Matures, refines, embellishes, exalts.

Earth's Happines? From that, the Delicate. The Grand, the Marvellous, of Civil Life. Want and Convenience, Under-workers, lay The Bafis, on which Love of Glory builds. Nor is thy Life, O Virtue ! less in Debt To Praise, thy secret stimulating Friend. Were Men not proud, what Merit should we miss! Pride made the Virtues of the Pagan World. Praise is the Salt that seasons Right to Man, And whets his Appetite for moral Good. Thirst of Applause is Virtue's Second Guard ; Reason, her First : but Reason wants an Aid ; Our private Reason is a Flatterer; Thirst of Applause calls public Judgment in, To poife our own, to keep an even Scale, And give endanger'd Virtue fairer Play.

Here a Fifth Proof arises, stronger still : Why this fo nice Construction of our Hearts? Thefe delicate Moralities of Senfe; This constitutional Reserve of Aid To fuccour Virtue, when our Reafon fails; If Virtue, kept alive by Care and Toil, And, oft, the Mark of Injuries on Earth, When labour'd to Maturity (its Bill Of Disciplines, and Pains, unpaid) must die? Why freighted rich, to dash against a Rock? Were Man to periff when most fit to live, O how mif-fpent were all thefe Stratagems, By Skill Divine inwoven in our Frame? Where are Heav'n's Holiness and Mercy fled? Laughs Heav'n, at once, at Virtue, and at Man? If not, why That discourag'd, This destroy'd?

Thus far Ambition. What fays Avarice?
This ber chief Maxim, which has long been Thine:
The Wife and Wealthy are the fame."—I grant it.

To

To store up Treasure, with incessant Toil,
This is Man's Province, This his highest Praise.
To this great End keen Instinct stings him on.
To guide that Instinct, Reason! is thy Charge;
Tis thine to tell us where true Treasure lies:
But, Reason failing to discharge her Trust,
Or to the Deaf discharging it in vain,
A Blunder sollows; and blind Industry,
Gall'd by the Spur, but Stranger to the Course,
(The Course where Stakes of more than Gold are won)
O'erloading, with the Cares of distant Age,
The jaded Spirits of the present Hour,
Provides for an Eternity below.

" Thou fhalt not covet," is a wife Command ; But bounded to the Wealth the Sun furveys: Look farther, the Command stands quite revers'd, And Av'rice is a Virtue most divine. Is Faith a Refuge for our Happines? Most fure: And is it not for Reason too? Nothing this World unsiddles, but the next. Whence inextinguishable Thirst of Gain? From inextinguishable Life in Man: Man, if not meant, by Worth, to reach the Shies. Had wanted Wing to fly fo far in Guilt. Sour Grapes, I grant, Ambition, Avarice: Yet fill their Root is Immertality. These its wild Growths so bitter, and so base, (Pain and Reproach!) Religion can reclaim, Refine, exalt, throw down their pois nous Lee, And make them sparkle in the Bowl of Blifs. See, the Third Witness laughs at Bhis remote,

And faltely promises an Eden here:

Truth she shall speak for once, the prone to lye,

A common Cheat, and Pleasure is her Name.

To Pleasure never was Lorenzo deaf;

Then hear her now, now first thy real Friend.

Since Nature made us not more fond than proud

Of Happines (whence Hypocrites in Joy! Makers of Mirth! Artificers of Smiles!)

Why should the Joy most poignant Sense affords,

Burn us with Blufhes, and rebuke our Pride?

Thole Heav'n-born Blushes tell us Man descends,

Ev'n in the Zenith of his eartbly Blifs :

Should Reason take her Infidel Repose,

This honest Instinct speaks our Lineage high;

This Inftinct calls on Darkness to conceal

Our rapturous Relation to the Stalls.

Our Glory covers us with noble Shame.

And he that's unconfounded, is unmann'd.

The Man that blushes is not quite a Brute.

Thus far with Thee, LORENZO! will I close,

Pleasure is good, and Man for Pleasure made;

But Pleasure full of Glory, as of Joy;

Pleasure, which neither blusbes, nor expires.

The Witnesses are heard; the Cause is o'er; Let Conscience file the Sentence in her Court, Dearer than Deeds that half a Realm convey; Thus, seal'd by Truth, th' authentic Record runs.

" Know, All; Know, Infidels,-unapt to know!

- "Tis Immortality your Nature folves;
- "Tis Immortality decyphers Man,
- " And opens all the Myft'ries of his Make.
- " Without it, half his Inflinets are a Riddle;
- " Without it, all his Virtues are a Dream.
- " His very Crimes attest his Dignity;
- " His fatelefs Thirft of Pleasure, Gold, and Fame,
- " Declares him born for Bleffings infinite:
- What lefs.than infinite, makes un-absurd
- " Passions, which all on Earth but more inflames?

- " Fierce Passions, fo mis-measur'd to this Scene,
- " Stretch'd out, like Eagles Wings, beyond our Neft,
- " Far, far beyond the Worth of all below,
- " For Earth too large, prefage a nobler flight,

Ye gentle Theologues, of calmer Kind! Whose Constitution dictates to your Pen. Who, cold yourselves, think Ardor comes from Hell! Think not our Passions from Corruption sprung, Tho' to Corruption now they lend their Wings; That is their Mistress, not their Mother. All (And jutly) Reason deem Divine : I fee. I feel a Grandeur in the Passions too, Which speaks their high Descent, and glorious End : Which speaks them Rays of an Eternal Fire. In Paradife itself they burnt as strong, Ere ADAM fell; tho' wifer in their Aim. Like the proud Eastern, struck by Providence, What tho' our Possions are run mad, and stoop With low, terrestrial Appetite, to graze On Trash, on Toys, dethron'd from high Defire? Yet still, thro' their Disgrace, no feeble Ray Of Greatness shines, and tells us whence they fell: But These (like that fall'n Monarch when reclaim'd). When Reason moderates the Rein aright, Shall re-ascend, remount their former Sphere, Where once they foar'd illustrious; ere feduc'd By wanton Eve's Debauch, to firoll on Earth. And fet the fublunary World on Fire.

But grant their Phrensy lasts; their Phrensy fails
To disappoint one providential End,
For which Heav'n blew up Ardor in our Hearts:
Were Reason silent, boundless Posson speaks
A suture Scene of boundless Objects too,
And brings glad Tidings of eternal Day.

And All, by that enlighten'd, proves it fure.

Confider Man as an immortal Being,
Intelligible All; and All is Great;
A chrystalline Transparency prevails,
And strikes full Lustre thro' the Human Sphere;
Consider Man as mortal, all is dark,
And wretched; Reason weeps at the Survey.

The learn'd Lorenzo cries, "And let her weep,

" Weak, madern Reason: Antient Times were Wife.

" Authority, that venerable Guide,

" Stands on my Part; the fam'd Arbenian Porch

" (And who for Wifdom fo renown'd as They ?)

" Deny'd this Immortality to Man."

I grant it; but affirm, they prov'd it too.

A Riddle This!—Have Patience; I'll explain.
What noble Vanities, what moral Flights,
Glitt'ring thro' their romantic Wisdom's Page,
Make us, at once, despife them, and admire?
Fable is flat to these high-season'd Sires;
They leave th' Extravagance of Song below.

Flesh shall not feel; or, feeling, shall enjoy

" The Dagger, or the Rack; to them, alike

In Men exploding all beyond the Grave,
Strange Doctrine, This! As Doctrine, it was strange!
But not, as Prophecy; for such it prov'd.
And, to their own Amazement, was fulfill'd:
They seign'd a Firmness Christians need not seign.
The Christian truly triumph'd in the Flame;
The Stoic saw, in double Wonder lost,
Wonder at Them, and Wonder at Himself,
To find the bold Adventures of his Thought
Not bold, and that he strove to lye in vain,

Such monstrous Heights !- From Infine, and from Pride. The glorious Inflinet of a deathless Soul, Confus'dly conicious of her Digniey, Suggested Truths they could not understand. As Light in Chaos, glimm'ring thro' the Gloom: Smit with the Pomp of lofty Seatiments, Pleas'd Pride proclaim'd, what Reafon difbeliev'd. Pride, like the Delphie Priestes, with a Swell, Rav'd Nonsense, destin'd to be Future Sense, When Life immortal, in full Day, should shine: And Death's dark Shadows fly the Gospel Sun. They spoke, what nothing but Immortal Souls Could speak; and thus the Truth they question'd, prov'd. Can then Abfurdities, as well as Crimes, Speak Man Immortal? All Things speak him fo. " Death of that Death I fearleft once furvey'd!

" When Horror Universal shall descend,

" And Heav'n's dark Concave urn all Human Race,

" On that enormous, unrefunding Tomb,

" How just this Verse! this monumental Sigh!"

Beneath the Lumber of demolisht Worlds,
Deep in the Rubbish of the general Wreck,
Swept Ignominious to the common Mass
Of Matter, never dignify'd with Life,
Here lie proud Rationals; The Sons of Heaven!
The Lords of Earth! The Property of Worms!
Beings of Yesterday, and no To-morrow!
Who liv'd in Terror, and in Pangs expir'd!
All gone to rot in Chaos; or, to make
Their happ Frankt into Blacks or Brutes,
Nor langer sally their Casaron's Name.

LOBENZO! hear, pause, ponder, and pronounce.
Just is this History? If sach is Man,
Mankind's Historian, tho' Divine, might weep.
And dares Lobenzo smile!—I know thee Proud;
For once let Pride befriend thee; Pride looks pale.
At such a Scene, and sighs for something more.
Amid thy Boasts, Presumptions, and Displays,
And art Thou then a Shadow? Less than Shade?
A Nothing? Less than Nothing? To have been,
And not to be, is lower than Unborn.
Art thou ambitious? Why then make the Worm
Thing Equal? Runs thy Taste of Pleasure high?
Why patronize sure Death of ev'ry Joy?
Charin Riches? Why chuse Begg'ry in the Grave,

Of ev'ry Hope a Bankrupt! and for ever?

Ambition, Pleasure, Avarice, persuade Thee

To make that World of Glory, Rapture, Wealth,

They

They Istely prov'd, thy Soul's supreme Defire. What art thou made of ? Rather, how Unmade? Great Nature's Malter-appetite deftroy'd ! Is endless Life, and Happiness, despis'd? Or Both wisht, Here, where Neither can be found? Such Man's perverse, eternal War with Heav'n! Dar'ft Thou perfift? And is there nought on Earth. But a long Train of transitory Forms, Rifing, and breaking, Millions in an Hour? Bubbles of a fantastic Deity, blown up In Sport, and then in Cruelty deftroy'd? Oh! for what Crime, unmerciful LORENZO! Destroys thy Scheme the Whole of human Race ? Kind is fell Lucifer, compar'd to thee: Oh! spare this Waste of Being half-divine; And vindicate th' Oeconomy of Heaven.

Heav'n is all Love; all Joy in giving Joy; It never had created, but to bles; And shall It, then, strike off the List of Life, A Being blest, or Worthy so to be? Heav'n starts at an annihilating God.

Is That, all Nature starts at, thy Desire?
Art such a Clod to wish thyself all Clay?
What is that dreadful Wish?—The dying Groan
Of Nature, murder'd by the blackest Guilt.
What deadly Poison has thy Nature drank?
To Nature undebaucht no Shock so great;
Nature's First Wish is endless Happiness;
Annibilation is an After-thought,
A monstrous Wish, unborn till Virtue dies.
And oh! what Depth of Horror lies inclos'd!
For Non-existence no Man ever wisht,
But, first, he wisht the Delty destroy'd.

If so; what Words are dark enough to draw
Thy Picture true? The darkest are too fair.
Beneath what baleful Planet, in what Hour
Of Desperation, by what Fury's Aid,
In what infernal Posture of the Soul,
All Hell invited, and all Hell in Joy
At such a Birth, a Birth so near of Kin,
Did thy soul Fancy whelp so black a Scheme
Of Hopes abortive, Faculties half-blown,
And Deities begun, reduc'd to Dust?

There's nought (thou fay'ft) but one eternal Flux Of feeble Effences, tumultuous driven Thro' Time's rough Billows into Night's Abyls. Say, in this rapid Tide of human Ruin, Is there no Rock on which Man's toffing Thought Can rest from Terror, dare his Fate survey. And boldly think it Something to be Born ? Amid fuch hourly Wrecks of Being fair. Is there no central, all-fustaining Base, All-realizing, all-connecting Power. Which, as it call'd forth all Things, can recall, And force Destruction to refund her Spoil? Command the Grave restore her taken Prey? Bid Death's dark Vale its Human Harvest yield, And Earth, and Ocean, pay their Debt of Man, True to the grand Deposit trusted There? Is there no Potentate, whose out-firetcht Arm, When rip'ning Time calls forth th' appointed Hour, Pluckt from foul Devoftation's familht Maw, Binds Prefent, Paft, and Future, to his Throne ! His Throne, how glorious, thus divinely grac'd, By germinating Beings cluft'ring round ! A Garland worthy the Divinity! A Throne, by Heav'n's Omnipotence in Smiles, Built (like a Pharos tow'ring in the Waves)

Amidft

Amids immense Essusions of his Love!

An Ocean of communicated Bliss!

An all-prolific, all-preferving Goo! This were a God indeed .- And fuch is Man. As here prefum'd: He rifes from his Fall. Think'ft thou Omnipotence a naked Root, Each Bloffom fair of DEITY deftroy'd? Nothing is dead; nay, Nothing fleeps; each Soul. That ever animated human Clay, Now wakes; is on the Wing: And where, O where, Will the Swarm fettle ?- When the Trumpet's Call. As founding Brass, collects us, round Heav'n's Throne Conglob'd, we bask in everlasting Day, (Paternal Splendor!) and adhere for ever. Had not the Soul this Outlet to the Skies. In this vast Vessel of the Universe. How should we gasp, as in an empty Void! How in the Pangs of famisht Hope expire!

How bright My Prospect shines! How gloomy, Thine! A trembling World! and a devouring God! Earth, but the Shambles of Omnipotence! Heav'n's Face all stain'd with causeless Massacres Of countless Millions, born to feel the Pang Of Being loft. LORENZO! can it be? This bids us shudder at the Thoughts of Life. Who would be born to fuch a Phantom World. Where nought Substantial, but our Misery? Where Joy (if Joy) but heightens our Diffress, So foon to perifh, and revive no more? The greater such a Joy, the more It pains. A World, so far from Great (and yet how Great It shines to Thee!) there's nothing Real in it; Being, a Shadow! Consciousness, a Dream! A Dream, how dreadful! Universal Blank Before it, and Behind! Poor Man, a Spark

From Non-existence struck by Wrath divine, Glitt'ring a Moment, nor that Moment sure, 'Mid'st Upper, Nether, and Surrounding Night, His Sad, Sure, Sudden, and Eternal Tomb!

LORENZO! dost thou feel these Arguments?

Or is there nought but Vingeance can be felt?

How hast Thou dar'd the DETTY dethrone?

How dar'd indict him of a World like This?

If fuch the World, Creation was a Crime;

For what is Crime, but Cause of Misery?

Retract, Blasphemer! and unriddle This,

Of endless Arguments, above, below,

Without us, and within, the short Result—

" If Man's immortal, there's a God in Heaven."

But wherefore such Redundancy? Such Waste Of Argument? One sets my Soul at Rest; One obvious, and at Hand, and, Oh!—at Heart. So just the Skies, Philander's Life so pain'd, His Heart so pure; that, or succeeding Scenes Have Palms so give, or ne'er had He been born.

"What an old Tale is This!" LORENZO cries—
I grant this Argument is old; but Truth
No Years impair; and had not This been True,
Thou never hadft defpis'd it for its Age.
Truth is Immortal as thy Soul; and Fable
As fleeting as thy Joys: Be wife, nor make Heav'n's highest Bleffing, Vengeance; O be wife!
Nor make a Curse of Immortality.

Say, know'st Thou what It is? Or what Thou art?
Know'st Thou th' Importance of a Soul Immortal?
Behold this Midnight Glory: Worlds on Worlds!
Amazing Pomp! Redouble this Amaze;
Ten thousand add; add twice Ten thousand more;
Then weigh the Whole; One Soul outweighs them All;

And

And calls th' aftonishing Magnificence Of unintelligent Creation poor.

For This, believe not me; no Man believe;
Trust not in Words, but Deeds; and Deeds no less
Than those of the Supreme; nor His, a Few;
Consult them All; consulted, All proclaim
Thy Soul's Importance: Tremble at Thyself;
For whom Omnipotence has wak'd so long:
Has wak'd, and work'd, for Ages; from the Birth
Of Nature to this Unbelieving Hour.

In this fmall Province of His vaft Domain (All Nature bow, while I pronounce his Name!) What has Gop done, and not for this fole End. To rescue Souls from Death? The Soul's bigb Price Is writ in all the Conduct of the Skies. The Soul's bigb Price is the Creation's Key. Unlocks its Mysteries, and naked lays The genuine Cause of ev'ry Deed divine : That, is the Chain of Ages, which maintains Their obvious Correspondence, and unites Most distant Periods in One blest Design: That, is the mighty Hinge, on which have turn'd All Revolutions, whether we regard The Nat'ral, Civil, or Religious, World; The former Two but Servants to the Third: To That their Duty done, they Both expire, Their Mass new-cast, forgot their Deeds renown'd; And Angels afk, "Where once they flone fo fair ?"

To lift us from this Abject, to Sublime;
This Flux, to Permanent: this Dark, to Day;
This Foul, to Pure; this Turbid, to Serene;
This Mean, to Mighty!—for this glorious End
Th' Almighty, riung, his long Sabbath broke:
The World was Made; was Ruin'd; was Restor'd;
Laws from the Skies were Publish'd; were Repeal'd;

All;

The COMPLAINT. 170 Night 7. On Earth Kings, Kingdoms, rofe; Kings, Kingdoms, Fam'd Sages lighted up the Pagan World; ffell: Prophets from Sion darted a keen Glance Thro' diffant Age; Saints travell'd; Martyrs bled; By Wonders facred Nature flood controul'd: The Living were translated; Dead were rais'd: Angels, and more than Angels, came from Heaven: And, oh! for This, descended lower still: Gilt was Hell's Gloom; aftonisht at his Guest. For one fort Moment Luciper ador'd: LORENZO! and wilt Thou do less?-For This. That Hallow'd Page, Fools fcoff at, was infpir'd. Of all these Truths thrice-venerable Code! Deifts! perform your Quarentine; and then Fall proftrate, ere you touch it, lest you die.

Nor less intensely bent Infernal Powers To mar, than those of Light, this End to gain. O what a Scene is Here !- LORENZO! wake; Rife to the Thought; exert, expand, thy Soul To take the vast Idea: It denies All else the Name of Great. Two warring Worlds! Not Europe against Afric; Warring Worlds, Of more than Mortal! mounted on the Wing! On ardent Wings of Energy, and Zeal, High-hov'ring o'er this little Brand of Strife! This fublunary Ball-But Strife, for what? In their own Cause conflicting? No; In Thine, In Man's. His fingle Int'rest blows the Flame; His the fole Stake; His Fate the Trumpet founds, Which kindles War Immortal. How it burns ! Tumultuous Swarms of Deities in Arms! Force, Force opposing, till the Waves run high, And tempest Nature's universal Sphere. Such Opposites Eternal, Stedfaft, Stern,

Such Foes implacable, are Good, and Ill;

Yet Man, vain Man, would mediate Peace between them.

Think not this Fiction, " There was War in Heaven." From Heav'n's high crystal Mountain, where It hung, "! Th' ALMIGHTY's outstretcht Arm took down his Bow.

And thot his Indignation at the Deep :

Re-thunder'd Hell, and darted all her Fires .-And feems the Stake of little Moment fill? And flumbers Man, who fingly caus'd the Storm ? He fleeps .- And art Thou shockt at Myfleries? The Greatest, Thou, How dreadful to restect. What Ardor, Care, and Counfel, Mortals cause

In Breafts Divine! How little in their own!

Where-e'er I turn, how new Proofs pour upon me! How happily This wond'rous View supports My Former Argument! How strongly firikes Immortal Life's full Demonstration, Here! Why this Exertion? Why this strange Regard From Heav'n's Omnipotent indulg'd to Man ?-Because, in Man, the glorious, dreadful Power, Extremely to be Pain'd, or Bleft, for Ever. Duration gives Importance; fwells the Price. An Angel, if a Creature of a Day, What would He be? A Trifle of no Weight; Or Stand, or Fall; no Matter which; He's gone. Because IMMORTAL, therefore is indulg'd This strange Regard of Deities to Dust. Hence, Heav'n looks down on Earth with all her Eyes: Hence, the Soul's mighty Moment in her Sight: Hence, every Soul has Partisans Above, And every Thought a Critic in the Skies: Hence, Clay, vile Clay! has Angels for its Guard, And ev'ry Guard a Passion for his Charge: Hence, from all Age, the Cabinet divine Has held high Counsel o'er the Fate of Man. 0/1

Nor have the Clouds those gracious Counsels hid. Angels andrew the Curtain of the Throne, "18" And Provipence came forth to meet Mankind : In various Modes of Emphasis and Awe, He spoke his Will, and trembling Nature heard : He spoke it loud, in Thunder and in Storm. Witness, Thou Sinai! whose Cloud-cover'd Height. And fhaken Bafis, own'd the prefent Goo : Witnest, we Billows ! whose returning Tide. Breaking the Chain that faften'd it in Air, Swept Egype, and her Menaces, to Hell : Witness, ye Flames I th' Affrian Tyrant blew To fev'nfold Rage, as Impotent, as Strong: And Thou, Earsh! witness, whose expanding Jaws Clos'd o'er * Profumption's facrilegious Sons. Has not each Element, in Turn, fubicrib'd The Soul's bigh Price, and fworn it to the Wife? Has not Flame, Ocean, Æther, Earthquake, ftrove To firike this Truth, thro' adamantine Man? If not All-adamant, Lorenzo! hear; All is Delufion; Nature is wrapt up, In tenfold Night, from Reafon's keeneft Eve; There's no Confishence, Meaning, Plan, or End, In all beneath the Sun, in all above, (As far as Man can penetrate) or Heaven Is an Immense, Inestimable Prize; Or All is Nothing, or that Prize is All .-And thall each Toy be fill a Match for Heav'n? And full Equivalent for Groans Below? Who would not give a Trifle to prevent What he would give a Thousand Worlds to cure? LONENZO! Thou haft feen (if Thine, to fee) All Nature, and her God (by Nature's Courfe, And Nature's Course controul'd) declare for me:

The Skies Above proclaim "Immortal Man!"
And, "Man Immortal!" all Below refounds.
The World's a System of Theology,
Read, by the greatest Strangers to the Schools;
If Honest, Learn'd; and Sages o'er a Plough.
Is not, Lorenzo! then, impos'd on Thee
This hard Alternative; or, to renounce
Thy Reason, and thy Sense; or, to Believe?
What then is Unbeliest? "Tis an Exploit;
A strenuous Enterprize: To gain it, Man
Must burst thro' ev'ry Bar of common Sense,
Of common Shame, magnanimously wrong;
And what rewards the sturdy Combatant?
His Prize, Repentance; Insany, his Crown.

But wherefore, Infamy?-For want of Faith, Down the steep Precipice of Wrong He slides; There's nothing to support him in the Right. Faith in the Future wanting, is, at least In Embryo, ev'ry Weakness, ev'ry Guilt; And strong Temptation ripens it to Birth. If this Life's Gain invites him to the Deed, Why not his Country fold, his Father flain? 'Tis Virtue to purfue our Good Supreme: And his Supreme, his Only Good is Here. Ambition, Av'rice, by the Wife difdain'd, Is perfect Wifdom, while Mankind are Fools, And think a Turf, or Tomb-stone, covers All: Thefe find Employment, and provide for Senfe A richer Pasture, and a larger Range; And Sense by Right divine ascends the Throne, When Virtue's Prize and Profect are no more; Virtue no more we think the Will of Heaven. Would Heav'n quite beggar Virtue, if belov'd?

" Has Virtue Charms ?"-I grant her heavinly Fair; But if unportion'd, all will let'rest wed:

of I

The Virtues grow on Immertality;
That Root destroy'd, they wither and expire.
A Destry believ'd, will nought avail;
Rewards and Punishments make God ador'd;
And Hopes and Fears give Conscience all her Power.
As in the dying Parent dies the Child,
Virtue, with Immortality, expires.
Who tells me He denies his Soul Immortal,
Whate'er his Boast, has told me, He's a Knave.
His Duty 'tis, to love Himself alone;
Nor care tho' Mankind perish, if He smiles.
Who thinks ere-long the Man shall wholly die,
Is dead already; nought but Brute survives.

And are there such?—Such Candidates there are

For more than Death; for utter Loss of Being,

Being, the Basis of the Drivy!

Ask you the Cause?—The Cause they will not tell;

Nor need they: Oh the Sorceries of Sense!

They work this Transformation on the Soul,

Dismount her like the Serpent at the Fall,

Dismount her from her native Wing (which soar'd

Ere-while ethereal Heights), and throw her down,

To lick the Dust, and crawl, in such a Thought.

Is it in Words to paint you? O ye Fall'n!
Fall'n from the Wings of Reason, and of Hope!
Erect in Stature, Prone in Appetite!
Patrons of Pleasure, posting into Pain!
Lovers of Argument, averse to Sense!
Boasters of Liberty, fast bound in Chains!
Lords of the wide Creation, and the Shame!
More Senseless, than th' Irrationals you scorn!
More Base than those you rule! Than those you pity,
Far more Undone! O ye most infamous
Of Beings, from Superior Dignity!

Deepest

Deepest in Woe from Means of boundless Bliss!
Ye curst by Blessings infinite! Because
Most highly favour'd, most prosoundly lost!
Ye motly Mass of Contradictions strong!
And are you, too, convinc'd, your Souls sly off
In Exhalation soft, and die in Air,
From the sull Flood of Evidence against you?
In the coarse Drudgeries, and Sinks of Sense,
Your Souls have quite worn out the Make of Heaven,
By Vice new-cast, and Creatures of your own:
But tho' you can desorm, you can't destroy;
To curse, not uncreate, is all your Power.

LORENZO! this black Brotherhood renounce; Renounce St. Evremont, and read St. Paul. Ere rapt by Miracle, by Reason wing'd, His mounting Mind made long Abode in Heaven. This is Free thinking, unconfin'd to Parts, To fend the Soul, on curious Travel bent, Thro' all the Frovinces of Human Thought; Todart her Flight, thro' the whole Sphere of Man; Of this vast Universe to make the Tour; In each Recess of Space and Time, at Home; Familiar with their Wonders; diving deep; And, like a Prince of boundless Int'rests, There, Still most ambitious of the mott Remote; To look on Truth unbroken, and intire; Truth in the Syftem, the full Orb; where Truths By Truths enlighten'd, and sustain'd, afford An arch-like, throng Foundation, to support Th' incumbent Weight of absolute, complete Conviction; Here, the more we press, we stand More Firm ; Who most Examine most Believe. Parts, like Half-sentences, confound; the Whole Conveys the Sense, and Gop is understood;

Who not in Fragments writes to Human Race: Read his evibole Volume, Sceptic! then Reply.

This, This, is Thinking-free, a Thought that grafps Beyond a Grain, and looks beyond an Hour. Turn up thine Eye, survey this Midnight Scene; What are Earth's Kingdoms, to yon boundless Orbs, Of human Souls, one Day, the destin'd Range? And what you boundless Orbs, to Godlike Man? Those num'rous Worlds that throng the Firmament, And ask more Space in Heav'n, can roll at large In Man's capacious Thought, and still leave Room For ampler Orbs; for new Creations, There. Can such a Soul contract itself, to gripe A Point of no Dimension, of no Weight? It can; it does: The World is such a Point: And, of that Point, how small a Part enslaves!

How small a Part—of Nothing, shall I say?
Why not?—Friends, our chief Treasure! How they drop!

Lucia, Narcissa fair, Philander, gone! The Grave, like fabled Cerberus, has op'd

A triple Mouth; and, in an awful Voice, Loud calls my Soul, and utters All I fing. How the World falls to pieces round about us

How the World falls to pieces round about us, And leaves us in a Ruin of our loy!

What fays This Transportation of my Friends?
It bids me love the Place where now they dwell,

And fcorn this wretched Spot, they leave fo Poor.

Eternity's vast Ocean lies before thee;

There, There, LORENZO! thy CLARISSA fails.

Give thy Mind Sea-room; keep it wide of Earth, That Rock of Souls immertal; cut thy Cord;

Weigh Anchor; spread thy Sails; call ev'ry Wind;

Eye thy Great Pole-star; make the Land of Life.

Two Kinds of Life has double-natur'd Man,

And Two of Death; the Last far more severe.

Life animal is nurtur'd by the Sun;
Thrives on his Bounties, triumphs in his Beams.
Life rational subsists on higher Food,
Triumphane in His Beams, who made the Day.
When we leave that Sun, and are left by this,
(The Fate of all who die in stubborn Guilt)
'Tis utter Darkness; strictly Double Death.
We fink by no Judicial Stroke of Heaven,
But Nature's Course; as sure as Plumbets fall.
Since God, or Man, must alter, ere they meet,
(Since Light and Darkness blend not in one Sphere)
'Tis manifest, Lorenzo! who must change.

If, then, that Double Death should prove thy Lot, Blame not the Bowels of the DEITY: Man shall be bleft, as far as Man permits. Not Man alone, all Rationals, Heav'n arms With an Illustrious, but Tremendous Power To counter-act Its own most gracious Ends; And this, of first Necessity, not Choice: That Pow'r deny'd, Men, Angels, were no more, But passive Engines, void of Praise, or Blame. A Nature Rational implies the Power Of being bleft, or wretched, as we please; Else idle Reason would have nought to do: And he that would be barr'd Capacity Of Pain, courts Incapacity of Blifs. Heav'n wills our Happiness, allows our Doom; brvites us ardently, but not compels; Heav'n but perfuades, Almighty Man decrees; Man is the Maker of Immortal Fates. Man falls by Man, if finally He falls; And fall He must, who learns from Death alone, The dreadful Secret, - That he lives for Ever.

Why This to thee? Thee yet, perhaps, in Doubt Of Second Life? But wherefore doubtful ftill?

Eternal Life is Nature's ardent Wish:

What ardently we wish, we foon believe:

Thy tardy Faith declares that Wish destroy'd:

What has destroy'd it?—Shall I tell thee, What?

When fear'd the Future, 'tis no longer wisht?

And, when Unwisht, we frive to Disbelieve.

"Thus Insidelity our Guilt betrays."

Nor that the fole Detection! Blush, LORENZO!
Blush for Hypocristy, if not for Guilt.
The Future fear'd?—An Insidel, and fear?

Fear what? a Dream? a Fable?—How thy Dread,
Unwilling Evidence, and therefore Strong,
Affords my Cause an undefign'd Support?

Surprising! Infidelity turns out A Creed, and a Confession of our Sins:

Apostates, thus, are Orthodox Divines.

LORENZO! with LORENZO class no more;
Nor longer a Transparent Vizor wear.
Think'st Thou, Religion only has her Mask?
Our Insidels are Satan's Hypocrites,
Pretend the Worst, and, at the Bottom, fail.
When visited by Thought (Thought will intrude),
Like Him they serve, They tremble, and believe.
Is there Hypocrify so foul as This?
So fatal to the Welfare of the World?
What Detestation, what Contempt, their Due!
And, if unpaid, be thank'd for their Escape

That Christian Candor they strive hard to scorn. If not for that Asylum, they might find A Hell on Earth; nor 'scape a worse Below.

With Insolence, and Impotence of Thought, Instead of racking Fancy, to refute, Reform thy Manners, and the Truth enjoy.—

But shall I dare confess the dire Result? Can thy proud Reason brook so black a Brand? From purer Manners, to fublimer Faith. Is Nature's unavoidable Ascent; An boneft Deift, where the Gospel shines, Matur'd to nobler, in the Christian ends. When that bleft Change arrives, e'en cast afide This Song superfluous; Life immortal strikes Conviction, in a Flood of Light Divine. A Christian dwells, like " URIEL, in the Sun : Meridian Evidence puts Doubt to Flight; And ardent Hope anticipates the Skies. Of that bright Sun, LORENZO! fcale the Sphere; 'Tis easy : It invites thee; It descends From Heav'n to wooe, and waft thee whence It came a Read and revere the Sacred Page; a Page Where triumphs Immortality; a Page Which not the whole Creation could produce; Which not the Conflagration shall destroy; In Nature's Ruins not one Letter loft: Tis printed in the Mind of Gods for ever.

In proud Disdain of what e'en Gods adore,
Dost smile?—Poor Wretch! thy Guardian Angel weeps.

Angels, and Men, assent to what I sing;
Wits smile, and thank me for my Midnight Dream.
How vicious Hearts sume Phrensy to the Brain!
Parts push us on to Pride, and Pride to Shame;
Pert Insidelity is Wit's Cockade,
To grace the brazen Brow that braves the Skies,
By Loss of Being, dreadfully secure.
Lorenzo! if thy Dostrine wins the Day,
And drives my Dreams, deseated, from the Field;
If This is All, if Earth a small Scene,

Take heed; fland faft; be fure to be a Knave;

A Knave in Grain! ne'er deviate to the Right:
Shouldst Thou be Good—How infinite thy Los!
Guilt only makes Amibilation Gain.
Blest Scheme! which Life deprives of Comfort, Death
Of Hope; and which Vica only recommends.
If so; where, Insidels! your Bait thrown out
To catch weak Converts? Where your losty Boast
Of Zeal for Virtue, and of Love to Man?
Annihilation! I confese, in These.

What can Reclaim you? Dare I hope profound Philosophers the Converts of a Song? Yet know, Its " Tiele flatters you, not me ; Yours be the Praise to make my Title good; Mine, to bless Heav'n, and triumph in your Praise. But fince fo Pestilential your Disease, Tho' fov'reign is the Med'cine I prescribe, As yet, I'll neither Triumph, nor Despair : But hope, ere long, my Midnight Dream will wake Your Hearts, and teach your Wifdom-to be wife : For why should Souls Immortal, made for Blifs, E'er wish (and wish in vain!) that Souls could die ? What ne'er can die, Oh! grant to live; and crown The Wish, and Aim, and Labour of the Skies; Increase, and enter on the Joys of Heaven : Thus shall my Title pass a facred Seal, Receive an Imprimatur from Above, While Angels flout-An Infidel Reclaim'd!

To close, Lorenzo! Spite of all my Pains,
Still seems it strange, that Thou shouldst live for ever?
Is it less strange, that Thou shouldst live at all?
This is a Miracle; and That no more.
Who gave Beginning, can exclude an End.
Deny Thou art: Then, doubt if Thou shalt be.
A Miracle with Miracles inclosed.

^{*} The Infidel Reclaimed,

Is Man: And farts his Faith at what is Strange? What less than Wonders, from the Wonderful; What less than Miracles, from Gon, can flow? Admit a GOD-that Myflery Supreme! That Caufe uncaus'd! All other Wonders ceafe; Nothing is Marvellous for Him to do: Deny Him-all is Myftery befides; Millions of Mysteries! Each darker far, Than That thy Wisdom would, unwisely, shun. If weak thy Faith, why chuse the Harder Side? We nothing know, but what is Marvellous; Yet what is Marvellous, we can't believe. So weak our Reafon, and fo Great our Gop. What most furprises in the Sacred Page, Or full as Strange, or Stranger, muft be True. Faith is not Reason's Labour, but Repose.

To Faith, and Virtue, why so backward Man?

From Hence:—The Present strongly strikes us All;

The Future, faintly: Can we, then, be Men?

If Men, Lorenzo! the Reverse is Right.

Reason is Man's Peculiar: Sense, the Brute's.

The Present is the Scanty Realm of Sense;

The Future, Reason's Empire unconfin'd:

On That expending all her Godlike Power,

She Plans, Provides, expatiates, Triumphs, there;

There, builds her Blessings; There, expects her Praise;

And nothing asks of Fortune, or of Men.

And what is Reason? Be she, thus, defin'd;

Reason is Upright Stature in the Soul.

Oh! be a Man;—and strive to be a God.

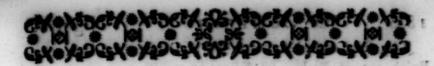

"For what? (Thou fayst): To damp the Joys of Life?"
No; to give Heart and Substance to thy Joys.
That Tyrant, Hope, mark how she domineers;
She bids us quit Realities, for Dreams;
Safety, and Peace, for Hazard, and Alarm;

That Tyrant o'er the Tyrants of the Soul, She bids Ambition quit its taken Prize, Spurn the luxuriant Branch on which It fits, Tho' bearing Crowns, to spring at distant Game; And plunge in Toils and Dangers-for Repofe. If Hope precarious, and of Things, when gain'd, Of Little Moment, and as little Stay, Can fweeten Toils and Dangers into Joys; What then, That Hope, which nothing can defeat, Our Leave unask'd? Rich Hope of boundless Bliss! Blifs, past Man's Power to paint it; Time's to close!

This Hope is Earth's most estimable Prize: This is Man's Portion, while no more than Man: Hope, of all Passions, most befriends us Here; Passions of Prouder Name befriend us less. Joy has her Tears ; and Transport has her Death ; Hope, like a Cordial, innocent, tho' ftrong, Man's Heart, at once, inspirits, and serenes; Nor makes him pay his Wildom for his Joys; 'Tis All, our present State can fafely bear, Health to the Frame! and Vigour to the Mind! A loy attemper'd! a chaftis'd Delight! Like the fair Summer-Ev'ning, mild, and fweet ! 'Tis Man's full Cup; his Paradife Below!

A bleft Hereafter, then, or Hop'd, or Gain'd, Is All !- our Whole of Happiness: Full Proof, I chose no trivial or inglorious Theme. And know, ye Foes to Song! (well-meaning Men. Tho' quite forgotten * Half your Bible's Praife!) Important Touths, in Spite of Verfe, may please : Grave Minds you praise; nor can you praise too much : If there is Weight in an ETERNITY, Let the Grave liften ;- and be graver fill.

NIGHT the EIGHTH. VIRTUE'S APOLOGY.

OR,

The MAN of the WORLD Answered.

In which are Confidered,

The Love of This LIFE;

The AMBITION and PLEASURE, with the WIT and WISDOM of the WORLD.

ND has all Nature then espous'd my Part? Have I brib'd Heav'n, and Earth, to plead against And is thy Soul Immortal ?- What remains? Tthee ? All, All, LORENZO !- Make Immortal, Bleft. Unbleft Immortals! What can shock us more? And yet LORENZO ftill affects the World; There, flows his Treasure; Thence, his Title draws, Man of the World! (for fuch wouldst thou be call'd) And art thou proud of that inglorious Style? Proud of Reproach? For a Reproach it was. In antient Days; and CHRISTIAN, -in an Age, When Men were Men, and not asham'd of Heaven. Fir'd their Ambition, as it crown'd their loy. Sprinkled with Dews from the Castalian Font, Fain would I re-baptize thee, and confer A purer Spirit, and a nobler Name.

Thy fond Attachments fatal, and inflam'd. Point out my Path, and dictate to my Song: To thee, the World bow fair ! How frongly frikes Ambition ! and gay Pleafare Stronger Still ! Thy triple Bane! the triple Bolt, that lays Thy Vietue dead! Be Thefe my triple Theme; Nor shall thy Wit or Wildom be forgot.

Common the Theme; not fo the Song; if She My Song invokes, URANIA, deigns to fmile. The Charm that chains us to the World, her Foe. If the diffolves, the Man of Earth, at once, Starts from his Trance, and fighs for other Scenes; Scenes where these Sparks of Night, these Stars, shall Unnumber'd Suns (for all Things, as they are, The Bleff behold); and, in one Glory, pour Their blended Blaze on Man's aftonisht Sight; A Blaze,-the least illustrious Object, There.

LORENZO! fince Eternal is at Hand, To fwallow Time's Ambitions; as the vaft Leviathan, the Bubbles vain, that ride High on the foaming Billow; what avail High Titles, high Descent, Attainments high. If unattain'd our Highest ? O LORENZO! What lofty Thoughts, these Elements above! What tow'ring Hopes, what Sallies from the Sun, What grand Surveys of Deftiny divine, And pompous Presage of unfathom'd Fate, Should roll in Bosoms, where a Spirit burns, Bound for Eternity! In Bosoms read By Him, who Foibles in Archangels fees! On human Hearts He bends a jealous Eye, And marks, and in Heav'n's Register inrolls, The Rife, and Progress, of each Option, there; Sacred to Doomsday! That the Page unfolds, And foreads us to the Gaze of Gods and Men.

And what an Option, O LORENZO! thine? This World ! and This, unrivall'd by the Skies ! A World, where Luft of Pleafure, Grandeur, Gold, Three Damons that divide its Realms between them, With Strokes alternate buffet to and fro Man's reftles Heart, their Sport, their flying Ball; Till, with the giddy Circle, fick, and tir'd, It pants for Peace, and drops into Defpair. Such is the World LORENZO fets above That glorious Promise Angels were esteem'd Too mean to bring; a Promife, their Ador'd Descended to communicate, and press, By Counsel, Miracle, Life, Death, on Man. Such is the World LORENZO's Wisdom wooes. And on its thorny Pillow feeks Repofe : A Pillow, which, like Opiates ill-prepar'd, Intoxicates, but not composes; fills The visionary Mind with gay Chimeras. All the wild Trash of Sleep, without the Rest; What unfeign'd Travel, and what Dreams of Joy!

How frail, Men, Things! How momentary, Both! Fantastic Chace. of Shadows hunting Shades! The Gay, the Busy, equal, tho' unlike; Equal in Wisdom, differently wise! Thro' slow'ry Meadows, and thro' dreary Wastes, One Bustling, and One Dancing, into Death. There's not a Day, but, to the Man of Thought, Betrays some Secret, that throws new Reproach On Life, and makes him sick of seeing more. The Scenes of Bus'ness tell us—" What are Men;" The Scenes of Pleasure—" What is all beside;" There, Others we despise; and Here, Ourselves. Amid Disgust eternal, dwells Delight? Tis Approbation strikes the String of Joy.

What wond'rous Prize has kindled this Career,
Stuns with the Din, and choaks us with the Duft,
On Life's gay Stage, one Inch above the Grave?
The Prond run up and down in quest of Eyes;
The Sensual in pursuit of something worse;
The Grave, of Gold; the Politic, of Power;
And All, of other Butterslies, as vain!
As Eddies draw Things frivolous, and light,
How is Man's Heart by Vanity drawn in;
On the swift Circle of returning Toys,
Whirld, Straw-like, round and round, and then ingulph'd,
Where gay Delusion darkens to Despair!

" This is a beaten Track."-Is This a Track Should not be beaten? Never beat enough, Till enough learnt the Truths it would inspire. Shall Truth be filent, because Folly frowns? Turn the World's Hiftory ; what find we there, But Fortune's Sports, or Nature's cruel Claime, Or Woman's Artifice, or Man's Revenge, And endles Inhumanities on Man? Fame's Trumpet seldom sounds, but, like the Knell, It brings fad Tidings: How it hourly blows Man's Misadventures round the list'ning World! Man is the Tale of narrative old Time : Sad Tale! which high as Paradife begins; As if, the Toil of Travel to delude, From Stage to Stage, in his eternal Round, The Days his Daughters, as they spin our Hours On Fortune's Wheel, where Accident unthought Oft, in a Moment, snaps Life's strongest Thread, Each, in her Turn, some tragic story tells, With, now-and-then, a wretched Farce between; And fills his Chronicle with human Woes.

Not One, but puts some Cheat on all Mankind:

While

While in their Father's Bosom, not yet Ours,
They flatter our fond Hopes; and promise much
Of Amiable; but hold him not o'er-wise,
Who dares to trust them; and laugh round the Year,
At still-confiding, still-confounded Man,
Confiding, tho' confounded; hoping on,
Untaught by Trial, unconvinc'd by Proof,
And Ever-looking for the Never-seen.
Life to the last, like harden'd Felons, lyes;
Nor owns itself a Cheat, till It expires.
Its little Joys go out by One and One,
And leave poor Man, at length, in perfect Night;
Night darker, than what, now, involves the Pole.

O THO U, who dost permit these Ills to fall,
For gracious Ends, and would'st that Man should mourn!
O THO U, whose Hands this goodly Fabric fram'd,
Who know'st it best, and wouldst that Man should know!
What is this sublunary World? A Vapour;
A Vapour all it holds; itself a Vapour;
From the damp Bed of Chaos, by thy Beam
Exhal'd, ordain'd to swim its destin'd Hour
In ambient Air, then melt, and disappear.

Earth's Days are number'd, nor remote her Doom;
As Mortal, tho' less Transient, than her Sons;
Yet they doat on her, as the World and They Were both Eternal, Solid; THO U, a Dream.

They doat, on What? Immortal Views apart,
A Region of Outsides! a Land of Shadows!
A fruitful Field of flow'ry Promises!
A Wilderness for Joys! perplext with Doubts,
And sharp with Thorns! A troubled Ocean, spread
With bold Adventurers, their All on Board;
No second Hope, if here their Fortune frowns;
Frown soon it must. Of various Rates they sail,
Of Ensigns various; All alike in This,

ile

All restless, annious; too with Hopes, and Fears, In calmest Shies; obnoxious All to Storm; And stormy the most gen'ral Blast of Life:

All bound for Happiness; yet Few provide
The Chart of Knowledge, pointing where it lies;
Or Virtue's Helm, to shape the Course design'd:

All, more or less, capricious Fate lament,
Now lifted by the Tide, and now resorb'd,
And farther from their Wishes, than before:

All, more or less, against each other dash,
To mutual Hurt, by Gusts of Passion driven,
And suff'ring more from Folly, than from Fate.

Ocean! Then dreadful and tumuleuous Home
Of Dangers, at eternal War with Man!
Disti's Capital, where most he domineers,
With all his chosen Terrors frowning round,
(The lately feasted high at * Albien's Cost)
Wide-op'ning, and loud-roaring still for more!
Too faithful Mirror! how dost thou resect
The melancholy Face of human Life!
The strong Resemblance tempts me farther still:
And, haply, Britain may be deeper struck
By monal Traith, in such a Mirror seen,
Which Nature holds for ever at her Eye.

Self-flatter'd, unexperienc'd, high in Hope,
When Young, with fanguine Chear, and Streamers gay,
We cut our Cable, launch into the World,
And fondly dream each Wind and Star our Friend;
All, in fome darling Enterprize embarkt:
But where is he can fathom its Event?
Amid a Mukitude of artless Flands,
Ruin's sure Perquisite! her lawful Prize!
Some steer aright; but the black Blast blows hard,
And puss them wide of Hope: With Hearts of Proof,

Admiral Balchen, &cc.

Full against Wind, and Tide, fome win their Way; And when firong Effort has deferv'd the Port. And tugg'd it into View, 'tis won! 'tis loft! Tho' firong their Oar, fill fironger is their Fate: They firike; and, while they Triumph, they Expire. In Strefs of Weather, Most; Some fink outright; O'er them, and o'er their Names, the Billows close : To-morrow knows not they were ever Born. Others a short Memorial leave behind, Like a Flag floating, when the Bark's ingulph'd; It floats a Moment, and is feen no more: One CASAR lives; a Thousand are forgot. How Few, beneath auspicious Planets born, (Darlings of Providence! fond Fate's Elect!) With fwelling: Sails make good the promis'd Port, With all their Wishes freighted! Yet ev'n These, Freighted with all their Wishes, soon complain; Free from Misfortune, not from Nature free, They fill are Men; and when is Man fecure? As fatal Time, as Storm! the Rush of Years Beats down their Strength; their numberless Escapes In Ruin end : And, now, their proud Success But plants new Terrors on the Victor's Brow : What Pain to quit the World, just made their own, Their Neft fo deeply down'd, and built fo high! Too low they build, who build beneath the Stars.

Woe then apart (if Woe apart can be From mortal Man), and Fortune at our Nod, The Gay! Rich! Great! Triumphant! and August! What are they?—The most happy (strange to say!) Convince me most of human Misery:
What are they? Smiling Wretches of To-morrow!
More wretched, then, than e'er their Slave can be;
Their treach'rous Blessings, at the Day of Need,
Like other faithless Friends, unmask, and sing:

Then, what provoking Indigence in Wealth! What aggravated Impotence in Power! High Titles, then, what Infult of their Pain! If that fole Anchor, equal to the Waves, Immortal Hope! defies not the rude Storm. Takes Comfort from the foaming Billow's Rage. And makes a welcome Harbour of the Tomb.

" Is this a Sketch of what thy Soul admires?

" But here (thou fayft) the Miferies of Life

" Are huddled in a Group. A more diffinct

" Survey, perhaps, might bring thee better News." Look on Life's Stages: They speak plainer still; The plainer they, the deeper wilt thou figh. Look on thy lovely Boy; in him behold The Best that can befal the Best on Earth : The Boy has Virtue by his Mother's Side: Yes, on FLORELLO look: a Father's Heart Is tender, tho' the Man is made of Stone: The Truth, thro' fuch a Medium feen, may make Impression deep, and Fondness prove thy Friend.

FLORELLO lately cast on this rude Coast. A helples Infant; now a heedless Child; To poor CLARISSA's Throes, thy Care fucceeds; Care full of Love, and yet fevere as Hate! O'er thy Soul's Joy how oft the Fondness frowns! Needful Austerities his Will restrain : As Thorns fence in the tender Plant from Harm. As yet, his Reason cannot go alone; But asks a sterner Nurse to lead it on. His little Heart is often terrify'd; The Blush of Morning, in his Cheek, turns pale; Its pearly Dew-drop trembles in his Eye; His harmless Eye! and drowns an Angel there. Ah! what avails his Innocence? The Talk Injoin'd must discipline his early Powers;

He learns to figh, ere he has known to fin; Guiltless, and fad! A Wretch before the Fall! How cruel this! More cruel to forbear. Our Nature such, with necessary Pains, We purchase Prospects of precarious Peace: Tho' not a Father, this might steal a Sigh,

Suppose him disciplin'd aright (if not, 'Twill sink our poor Account to poorer still); Ripe from the Tutor, proud of Liberty, He leaps Inclosure, bounds into the World; The World is taken, after Ten Years Toil, Like antient Troy; and all its Joys his own. Alas! the World's a Tutor more severe; Its Lessons hard, and ill deserve his Pains; Unteaching All his virtuous Nature taught, Or Books (fair Virtue's Advocates!) inspir'd.

For who receives him into public Life?

Men of the World, the Terræ-filial Breed,

Welcome the modest Stranger to their Sphere,

(Which glitter'd long, at Distance, in his Sight)

And, in their hispotable Arms, inclose:

Men, who think nought so strong of the Romance,

So rank Knight-errant, as a Real Friend:

Men, that act up to Reason's Golden Rule,

All Weakness of Affection quite subdu'd:

Men, that would blush at being thought sincere,

And seign, for Glory, the sew Faults they want;

That love a Lye, where Truth would pay as well;

As if, to them, Vice shone her own Reward.

LORENZO! canst thou bear a shocking Sight? Such, for FLORELLO's Sake, 'twill now appear: See, the steel'd Files of season'd Veterans, Train'd to the World, in burnisht Falshood bright; Deep in the satal Stratagems of Peace; All soft Sensation, in the Throng, rubb'd off;

All their keen Purpole, in Politenels, sheath'd : His Friends eternal-during Intereft: His Foes implacable-when worth their while : At War with ev'ry Welfare, but their own; As wife as LUCIFER; and half as good; And by whom none, but LUCIFER, can gain-Naked, thro' These (so common Fate ordains). Naked of Heart, his cruel Course he runs. Stung out of All, most amiable in Life, Prompt Truth, and open Thought, and Smiles unfeign'd; Affection, as his Species, wide diffus'd; Noble Prefumptions to Mankind's Renown; Ingenuous Truft, and Confidence of Love.

These Claims to Joy (if Mortals Joy might claim) Will coft him many a Sigh, till Time, and Pains, From the flow Mistress of this School, Experience, And her Affistant, pauling, pale, Diftruft, Purchase a dear bought Clue to lead his Youth, Thro' ferpentine Obliquities of Life, And the dark Labyrinth of human Hearts. And happy! if the Clue shall come so cheap; For, while we learn to fence with Public Guilt, Full oft we feel its foul Contagion too, If less than heav'nly Virtue is our Guard. Thus, a strange Kind of curst Necessity Brings down the sterling Temper of his Soul, By base Alloy, to bear the current Stamp, Below call'd Wisdom; finks him into Safety; And brands him into Credit with the World; Where specious Titles dignify Disgrace, And Nature's Injuries are Arts of Life; Where brighter Reason prompts to bolder Crimes; And Heav'nly Talents make Infernal Hearts; That unfurmountable Extreme of Guilt!

Poor Machiavel! who labour'd hard his Pla Forgot, that Genius needs not go to School ; Forgot, that Man, without a Tutor wife, His Plan had practis'd, long before 'twas writ. The World's all Title-Page, there's no Contents ; The World's all Face; the Man who flews his Heart. Is whoosed for his Nudities, and fcorn'd. A Man I knew, who liv'd upon a Smile; And well it fed him; he look'd plump and fair; While rankest Venom foamed thro' every Vein, LORENZO! what I tell thee, take not ill! Living, he fawn'd on every Pool alive; And, dying, curs'd the Friend on whom he fiv'd. To fuch Proficients thou art half a Saint. In foreign Realms (for thou haft travell'd far) How curious to contemplate Two State-Rooks. Studious their Nests to feather in a Trice. With all the Necromantics of their Art, Playing the Game of Faces on each other, Making Court Sweet-meats of their latent Gall, In foolish Hope, to steal each other's Trust : Both cheating, both exulting, both deceiv'd; And, fometimes, both (let Earth rejoice) undone ! Their Parts we doubt not; but be that their Shame: Shall Men of Talents, fit to rule Mankind, Stoop to mean Wiles, that would difgrace a Fool? And lofe the Thanks of those few Friends they ferve? For who can thank the Men, he cannot fee?

Why so much Cover? It deseats itself.

Ye, that know all things! know ye not, Mens Hearts

Are therefore known, because they are concealed?

For why concealed?—The Cause they need not tell.

I give him Joy, that's aukward at a Lye;

Whose seeble Nature Trust keeps still in Awe;

His Incapacity is his Renown.

'Tis Great, 'tis Manly, to disdain Disguise;

It shews our Spirit, or it proves our Strength.

Thou say'st, 'Tis needful: Is it therefore right?

Howe'er, I grant it some small Sign of Grace,

To strain at an Excuse: And wouldst thou then

Escape that cruel Need? Thou may'st, with Ease;

Think no Post needful that demands a Knave.

When late our Civil Helm was shifting Hands,

So P—— thought: Think better, if you can.

But This, how rare! The public Path of Life
Is dirty:—Yet, allow that Dirt its Due,
It makes the Noble Mind more noble fill:
The World's no Neuter; it will wound, or fave;
Our Virtue quench, or Indignation fire.
You fay; the World, well known, will make a Man:
The World, well known, will give our Hearts to Heaven,
Or make us Damons, long before we Die,

To shew how fair the World, the Mistress, shines, Take either Part, fure Ills attend the Choice: Sure, tho' not equal, Detriment ensues. Not Virtue-felf is Deify'd on Earth; Virtue has her Relapses, Conflicts, Foes: Foes, that ne'er fail to make her feel their Hate. Virtue has her peculiar Set of Pains. True; Friends to Virtue, laft, and leaft, complain; But if They figh, can Others hope to Smile? If Wifdom has her Miferies to mourn, How can poor Folly lead a happy Life? And if Both fuffer, what has Earth to boaft, Where he most Happy, who the least Laments? Where much, much Patience, the most envy'd State, And fome Forgiveness, needs, the best of Friends? For Friends, or happy Life, who looks not higher, Of neither shall he find the Shadow bere.

The World's fworn Advocate, without a Fee, Market Los ENZO fmartly, with a Smile, replies;

- " Thus far thy Song is right; and All must own,

- " And Joys peculiar who to Fice denies ?.
- " If Vice it is, with Nature to comply:
- " If Pride, and Senfe, are fo predominant,
- " To check, not overcome, them, makes a Saint,
- " Can Nature in a plainer Voice proclaim
- " Pleasure, and Glory, the Chief Good of Man?"

 Can Pride, and Sensuality, rejoice?

From Purity of Thought, all Pleasure springs;
And, from an humble Spirit, all our Peace.

Ambition, Pleasure! let us talk of these:

Of These, the Porce, and Academy, talk'd;
Of These, each following Age had much to say;
Yet unexhausted, still, the needful Theme.

Who talks of Thefe, to Mankind all at once.
He talks; for where the Saint from either free?

Are these thy Resuge?—No; These rush upon thee: Thy Vitals seize, and Vulture-like, devour:

I'll try, if I can pluck thee from thy Rock,
PROMETHEUS! from this barren Ball of Earth:

If Reason can unchain thee, thou art free.

And, first, thy Caucasus, Ambition, calls;
Mountain of Torments! Eminence of Woes!
Of courted Woes! and courted thro' Mistake!
'Tis not Ambition charms thee; 'tis a Cheat
Will make thee start, as H—— at his Moor.
Dost grasp at Greatness! First, know what it is:
Think'st thou thy Greatness in Distinction lies?
Not in the Feather, wave it e'er to high,
By Fortune stuck, to mark us from the Throng,
Is Glory lodg'd: 'Tis lodg'd in the Reverse;
In that which joins, in that which equals, All,

The Monasch, and his Slave; A Deathless Soul, Unbounded Prospect, and Immortal Kin.

Elder, indeed, in Time; but less remote

In Excellence, perhaps; than thought by Man; Why greater What can Fall, than What can Rife?

If still delirious, now, Lorenzo! go;
And with thy full blown Brothers of the World,
Throw Scorn around thee; cast it on thy Slaves;
Thy Slaves, and Equals: How Scorn east on them

Art thou a God? If Fortune makes him so,
Beware the Consequence: A Maxim That,
Which draws a monstrous Pictore of Mankind,
Where, in the Drapery, the Man is lost;
Externals stuttering, and the Soul forgot.
Thy greatest Glory, when disposed to boust,

Boast That aloud, in which thy Servants share.

We wisely firip the Steed we mean to buy:

Judge we, in their Caparisons, of Men?

It nought avails thee, Where, but What, thou art;

All the Diffinctions of this little Life

Are quite Cutaneous, foreign to the Man, [creep, When thro' Death's Streights, Earth's subtle Serpents Which wriggle into Wealth, or climb Renown,

As crooked Setan the Forbidden Tree,

They leave their party-colour'd Robe behind,

All that now glitters, while they rear alost

Their brazen Cress, and his at us below.

Of Fortune's Fuens strip them, yet alive; Strip them of Body, too; nay, closer still, Away with all, but Moral, in their Minds; And let, what then remains, impose their Name, Pronounce them Weak, or Worthy; Great, or Mean; How mean that Snuff of Glory Fortune lights,

And Death puts out! Doft then demand a Tell, and A Tell, at ouce, infallible, and foort.

Of real Greatness? That Man Greatly lives,
Whate'er his Fate, or Fame, who Greatly dies;
High-flush'd with Hope, where Heroes shell despair.

How far above Louenzo's Glory sits

Th' illustrious Master of a Name unknown;

All Vice wants Hellebore; but of all Vice

Pride loudest calls, and for the largest Bowl;
Because, all other Vice unlike, it slies,
In Fad, the Point, in Fancy most pursu'd.

They gratify Man's Passon to result;
Superior Honour, when assumed, is lost;

Tho' various are the Tempers of Mankind, Pleasure's gay Family holds all in Chains: Some most affect the Black; and some, the Fair; Some honest Pleasure court; and some, obscene.

Pleasures obscene are various, as the Throng Of Passions, that can err in human Hearts; Mistake their Objects, or transgress their Bounds.

Think you there's but one Whoredom? Whoredom, All,

A rank Adulterer with others Gold:

Hatred, her Brothel has, as well as Love,

Where horrid Epicures debauch in Blood.

Whate'er the Motive, Pleasure is the Mark: For Her, the black Affaffin draws his Sword;

For Her, dark Statesmen trim their Midnight Lamp,

To which no fingle Sacrifice may fall;

The Stoic proud, for Pleasure, Pleasure scorn'd;

Plea-

Pleasure is nought but Virtue's gayer Name; I wrong her still; I rate her Worth too low: Virtue the Root, and Pleafore is the Flower: And honest Epicuaus' Foes were Fools.

But this founds harfh, and gives the Wife Offence; If o'er-ftrain'd Wifdom ftill retains the Name. How knits Aufterity her cloudy Brow, And blames, as bold, and hazardous, the Praise Of Pleasure to Mankind, unprais'd, too dear ! Ye modern Stoics! hear my foft Reply; Their Senses Men will truft : We can't impose; Or, if we could, is Imposition right? Own Honey fweet, but, owning, add this Sting ; " When mixt with Poison, it is deadly too." Truth never was indebted to a Lye. Is nought but Pirtue to be prais'd, as Good? Why then is Health preferr'd before Disease? What Nature loves is Good, without our Leave. And where no future Drawback cries, " Beware;" Pleasure, tho' not from Virtue, should prevail. Tis Balm to Life, and Gratitude to Heaven; How cold our Thanks for Bounties anenjoy'd ! The Louis of Pleafure is Man's Eldeft-born. Born in his Cradle, living to his Tomb; Wisdom, her younger Sifler, tho' more grave, Was meant to minifer, and not to mar, Imperial Phafore, Queen of human Hearts.

LORENZO! Thou, her Majefly's renown'd, Tho' uncoift, Counfel, learned in the World! Who think a thyfelf a Munaar, with Difdain May'ft look on me. Yet, my DEMOSTHENES! Canft thou plead Pleafure's Canfe as well as 1? Know'st thou her Nature, Purpose, Parentage? Attend my Song, and thou shalt know them all; And know thyfelf; and know thyfelf to be

(Strange

(Strange Truth !) the most abstenious Man alive. Tell not CALISTA; the will laugh thee dead; Or fend thee to her Hermitage with L-Abfurd Prefumption! Thou, who never knew's A ferious Thought! Malt thou date dream of foy? No Man e'er found a bappy Life by Chance; Or yawn'd it into Being, with a Wift; Or, with the Snout of grow ling Appetite, E'er fmelt it out, and grubb'd it from the Dirt. An Art it is, and must be learnt; and learnt With unremitting Effort, or be left; And leaves us perfect Blockheads, in our Blife. The Clouds may drop down Titles and Effates; Wealth may feek us; but Wifdon muft be Sought; Sought before All; but, (how, unlike all elfe We feek on Earth!) 'tis never fought in vain.

First, Pleasure's Birth, Rise, Strength, and Grandeur, see:
Brought forth by Wisdom, nurst by Discipline,
By Patience taught, by Personence crown'd,
She rears her Head majestic; round her Throne
Erected in the Bosom of the Just,
Each Virtue, listed, forms her manly Guard.
For what are Virtues? (Formidable Name!)
What, but the Fountain, or Desence, of Joy?
Why, then, commanded? Need Mankind Commands,
At once to merie, and to make, their Blifs?—
Great Legislator! Scarce so Great, as Kind!
If Men are rational, and love Desight,
Thy gracious Law but statters human Choice;
In the Transgression lies the Penalty;
And they the most indulge, who most obey.

Of Pleasure, next, the final Cause explore; Its mighty Purpose, its important End. Not to turn Human Brutal, but to build Divine on Human, Pleasure came from Heaven.

In

In Aid to Reason was the Goddess sent : To call up all its Strength by fuch a Charm. Pleasure, firft, succours Virtue; in Return, Virtue gives Pleasure an Eternal Reign. What, but the Pleasure of Food, Friendship, Faith. Supports Life Nat'hal, Civil, and Divine? Tis from the Pleasure of Repast, we live; 'Tis from the Pleasure of Applause, we please; 'Tis from the Pleasure of Belief, we pray (All Pray'r would cease, if unbeliev'd the Prize): It ferves ourselves, our Species, and our God; And to ferve more, 'tis past the Sphere of Man. Glide, then, for ever, Pleasure's facred Stream! Thro' Eden, as Eupbrates, ran, It runs, And fosters ev'ry Growth of Happy Life; Makes a new Bden where it flows ;-but fuch As muft be loft, LORENZO! by thy Fall.

" What mean I by thy Fall?"- I hou'lt shortly see, While Pleasure's Nature is at large display'd; Already lung her Origin, and Ends. Those glorious Ends, by Kind, or by Degree, When Pleasure violates, 'tis then a Vice, And Vengeance too; it haftens into Pain. From due Refreshment, Life, Health, Reason, Joy; From wild Excess, Pain, Grief, Diftraction, Death; Heaven's Justice this proclaims, and that her Love. What greater Evil can I wish my Foe, Than his full Draught of Pleasure, from a Cask Unbroach'd by just Authority, ungaug'd By Temperance, by Reason unrefin'd ? A thousand Dæmons lurk within the Lee: Heav'n, Others, and Ourselves! Uninjur'd These, Drink deep; the deeper, then, the more Divine; Angels are Angels from Indulgence there; 'Tis unrepenting Pleasure makes a God.

Doft think thyfelf a God from other Joys ? A Victim rather ! fhortly fure to bleed. The Wrong must mourn: Can Heaven's Appointments Can Man outwit Omnipotence ? ftrike out A Self-wrought Happiness unmeant by Him Who made us, and the World we would enjoy? Who forms an Instrument, ordains from whence Its Dissonance, or Harmony, shall rife. Heav'n bid the Soul this mortal Frame infpire; Bid Virtue's Ray divine inspire the Soul With unprecarious Flows of vital Joy: And, without Breathing, Man as well might hope . For Life, as, without Piety, for Peace.

Is Virtue, then, and Piety the fame ?-No; Piety is more; 'tis Virtue's Source; Mother of ev'ry Worth, as That of Joy. Men of the World this Doctrine ill digeft; They smile at Piety; yet boast aloud Multurke an Amil Good-will to Men; nor know they strive to part What Nature joins; and thus confute themselves. With Piety begins all Good on Earth; 'Tis the First-born of Rationality. Conscience, her first Law broken, wounded lies; Enfeebled, Lifeless, Impotent to Good; A feign'd Affection bounds her utmost Power. Some we can't love, but for th' Almighty's Sake; A Foe to God was ne'er true Friend to Man; Some finister Intent taints all he does ; And, in his kindest Actions, he's unkind.

On Piety, Humanity is built: And, on Humanity, much Happiness; And yet still more on Piety itself. A Soul in Commerce with her God, is Heaven; Feels not the Tumults and the Shocks of Life; The Whirls of Passions, and the Strokes of Heart. A Deity A Deity believ'd, is Joy begun;
A Deity ador'd, is Joy advanc'd;
A Deity belov'd, is Joy matur'd.

Buth Branch of Piery Delight inspires;
Faith builds a Bridge from this World to the Next,
O'er Death's dark Gulph, and all its Horror hides;
Praise, the sweet Exhalation of our Joy,
That Joy exalts, and makes it sweeter still;
Pray'r ardent opens Heav'n, lets down a Stream
Of Glory on the consecrated Hour
Of Man, in Audience with the Deity.
Who worships the Great God, that Instant joins
The First in Heav'n, and sets his Foot on Hell.

LORENZO! when wast thou at Church before?
Thou think'st the Service Long: But is it Just?
Tho' just, Unwelcome: Thou had'st rather tread
Unhallow'd Ground; the Muse, to win thine Ear,
Must take an Air less Solemn. She complies.

Good Constitute! at the Sound the World retires;
Verse disastes it, and Lorenzo smiles:
Yet has she her Seraglio full of Charms;
And such as Age shall Heighten, not Impair.

Art thou dejetted? Is thy Mind o'ercast?

Amid her Fair Ones, thou the Fairest chuse,
To chase thy Gloom,—"Go, six some weighty Truth;
"Chain down some Possion; do some gen'rous Good;

" Teach Ignorance to fee, or Grief to fmile;

" Correct thy Friend; befriend thy greateft For;

" Or, with warm Heart, and Confidence divine,

" Spring up, and lay strong Hold on Him who made Thy Gloom is scatter'd, sprightly Spirits slow; [" Thee." Tho' wither'd is thy Vine, and Harp unstrung.

Dost call the Bowl, the Viol, and the Dance, Loud Mirth, mad Laughter? Wretched Comforters? Physicians! more than Half of thy Difease.

Laughter,

Langbar, tho' never cenfur'd yet as Sin, (Pardon a Thought that only feems fevere) Is half-immoral: Is it much indulg'd? By venting Spleen, or difficating Thought, It flews a Soorner, or it makes a Fool; And fins, as hurting Others, or Ourfelves. Tis Pride, or Emptinefs, applies the Straw, That tickles Little Minds to Mirth effufe; Of Grief approaching, the portentous Sign ! The House of Laughter makes a House of Woe. A Man triumphant is a Monfrous Sight; A Man dejelled is a Sight as Mean. What Caufe for Triumph, where fuch Ills abound? What for Dejettion, where prefides a Power, Who call'd us into Being to be Bleft ? So grieve, as confcious, Grief may rife to loy: So joy, as conscious, Joy to Grief may fall. Most true, a wise Man never will be fad; But neither will fonorous, bubbling Mirth, A shallow Stream of Happiness betray: Too happy to be Sportive, He's Serene.

Yet wouldst thou laugh (but at thy own Expence),
This Counsel strange should I presume to give—
"Retire, and read thy Bible, to be Gay."
There Truths abound of sov'reign Aid to Peace;
Ah! do not prize them less, because Inspir'd,
As Thou, and Thine, are apt and proud to do.
If not inspir'd, that pregnant Page had stood,
Time's Treasure! and the Wonder of the Wise!
Thou think'st, perhaps, Thy Soul alone at Stake;
Alas!—Should Men mistake thee for a Fool;
What Man of Taste for Genius, Wisdom, Truth,
Tho' tender of thy Fame, could interpose?
Believe me, Sense, bere, acts a double Part,
And the true Critic is a Christian too.

But Thefe, thou think it, are gloomy Paths to loy .-True Joy in Sunshine ne'er was found at first; They, first, Themselves offend, who greatly please; And Travel only gives us found Repofe. Heav'n fells all Pleasure ; Effort is the Price ; The Joys of Conquest, are the Joys of Man; And Glory the victorious Laurel speads O'er Pleasure's pure, perpetual, placid Stream. There is a Time, when Toil must be preferr'd, Or Joy, by mif-tim'd Fondness, is undone. A Man of Pleasure is a Man of Pains. Thou wilt not take the Trouble to be Bleft. False Joys, indeed, are born from Want of Thought; From Thought's full Bent, and Energy, the True; And that demands a Mind in equal Poize. Remote from gloomy Grief, and glaring Joy. Much Joy not only speaks small Happiness, But Happiness that shortly must expire. Can Joy, unbottom'd in Reflection, fland? And, in a Tempest, can Reflection live? Can Joy, like Thine, secure itself an Hour? Can Joy, like Thine, meet Accident unshock'd? Or ope the Door to honest Poverty? Or talk with threat'ning Death, and not turn pale? In fuch a World, and fuch a Nature, Thefe Are needful Fundamentals of Delight: These Fundamentals give Delight indeed; Delight, pure, delicate, and durable; Delight, unshaken, masculine, divine; A constant, and a found, but ferious Joy. Is Joy the Daughter of Severity? It is :- Yet far my Doctrine from Severe. " Rejoice for ever;" It becomes a Man; Exalts, and fets him nearer to the Gods.

" Rejoice for ever," Nature cries, " Rejoice ;"

And drinks to Man, in her nectareous Cup, Mixt up of Delicates for ev'ry Senfe; To the great Founder of the bounteous Feaft, Drinks Glory, Gratitude, eternal Praise; And he that will not pledge ber, is a Churl, Ill firmly to support, Good fully tafte, but A hand Is the whole Science of Felicity: Yet sparing pledge: Her Bowl is not the Best Mankind can boaft .- " A rational Repaft; " Exertion, Vigilance, a Mind in Arms, " A military Discipline of Thought,

" To foil Temptation in the doubtful Field;

" And ever-waking Ardor for the Right." "Tis Thefe, first, give, then guard, a chearful Heart. Nought that is Right, think Little; well aware. What Reason bids, Gop bids; by His Command How aggrandiz'd, the Smalleft Thing we do! Thus, Nothing is infipid to the Wife; To Thee, Insipid All, but what is Mad; Joys feason'd high, and talling strong of Guilt."

" Mad! (thou reply'ft, with Indignation fir'd) " Of antient Sages proud to tread the Steps, " I follow Nature."-Follow Nature ftill. But look it be thine own: Is Confcience, then, No Part of Nature ? Is the not Supreme? Thou Regicide! O raise her from the Dead! Then follow Nature; and refemble Gop.

When, spite of Conscience, Pleasure is pursu'd. Man's Nature is unnaturally pleas'd: And what's Unnatural, is Painful too At Intervals, and must disgust ev'n Thee! The Fact thou know'st; but not, perhaps, the Caufe. Virtue's Foundations with the World's were laid: Heav'n mixt her with our Make, and twifted close Her facred Int'refts with the Strings of Life.

Who breaks her awful Mandate, shocks Himself,
His Better Self: And is it greater Pain,
Our Soul should murmur, or our Dust repine?
And One, in their eternal War, must bleed.

If One must suffer, which should least be spar'd?

The Pains of Mind surpass the Pains of Sense:

Ask, then, the Gout, What Torment is in Guilt.

The Joys of Sense to Mental Joys are mean:

Sense on the Present only seeds; the Soul

On Past, and Future, sorages for Joy.

Tis Hers, by Retrospect, thro Time to range;

And forward Time's great Sequel to survey.

Could human Courts take Vengeance on the Mind,

Axes might rust, and Racks, and Gibbers, fall:

Guard, then, thy Mind, and leave the sest to Fate.

LORENZO! wilt thou never be a Man? The Man is dead, who for the Body lives, Lur'd, by the Beating of his Pulle, to lift With ev'ry Luft, that wars against his Peace; And fets him quite at Variance with Himfelf. Thyfelf, first, Know; then Love: A Self there is Of Virtue fond, that kindles at her Charms. A Self there is, as fond of ev'ry Vice, While ev'ry Virtue wounds it to the Heart; Humility degrades it, Justice robs, Bleft Bounty beggars it, fair Touth betrays, And godlike Magnanimity destroys, This Self, when Rival to the Former, fcorn; When not in Competition, kindly treat, Defend it, feed it :- But when Virtue bids, Tofs it, or to the Fowls, or to the Flames. And why? "Tis Love of Pleafure bids thee bleed; Comply, or own Self-Love exting, or blind. For what is Vice? Self-Love in a Mistake:

A poor blind Merchant buying Joys too dear.

And Virtue, what? 'Tie Self-Love in her Wits,

Quite skilful in the Market of Delight.

Self-Love's good Sense is Love of that dread Power,

From whom Herself, and All she can enjoy.

Other Self-Love is but disguis'd Self-Hate;

More mortal than the Malice of our Foes;

A Self-Hate, now scarce selt; then selt full-sore,

When Being, curst; Extinction, loud-implored;

And every Thing preferred to what we are.

Yet this Self-Love Lorenzo makes his Choice;
And, in this Choice triumphant, boafts of Joy.
How is his Want of Happiness betray'd,
By Disaffection to the present Hour!
Imagination wanders far afield:
The Future pleases: Why? The Present pains.—

"But that's a Secret."—Yes, which all Men know;
And know from Thee, discover'd unawares.
Thy ceaseless Agitation, restless Roll
From Cheat to Cheat, impatient of a Pause;
What is it?—'Tis the Cradle of the Soul,
From Instinct sent, to rock her in Disease,
Which her Physician, Reason, will not cure.
A poor Expedient! yet thy Best; and while
It mitigates thy Pain, it owns it too.

Such are LORENZO's wretched Remedies!
The Weak have Remedies; the Wise have Joys.
Superior Wisdom is superior Bliss.
And what sure Mark distinguishes the Wise!
Consistent Wisdom ever wills the Same;
Thy sickle Wish is ever on the Wing.
Sick of Herself, is Folly's Character;
As Wisdom's is, a modest Self-Applause.
A Change of Evils is thy Good supreme;
Nor, but in Motion, canst thou find thy Rest.
Man's greatest Strength is shewn in standing still.

The first sure Symptom of a Mind in Health, Is Rest of Heart, and Pleasure selt at Home. False Pleasure from Abroad her Joys imports; Rich from within, and Self-sustain'd, the True. The True is fixt, and solid as a Rock; Slipp'ry the False, and tossing, as the Wave. This, a wild Wanderer on Earth, like CAIN; That, like the sabled, Self-enamour'd Boy, Home-Contemplation her supreme Delight; She dreads an Interruption from without, Smit with her own Condition; and the more Intense she gazes, still it charms the more.

No Man is happy, till he thinks, on Earth
There breathes not a more happy than himself:
Then Envy dies, and Love o'erslows on All;
And Love o'erslowing, makes an Angel Here.
Such Angels All, intitled to repose
On Him who governs Fate: Tho' Tempest frowns,
Tho' Nature shakes, how Soft to lean on Heav'n!
To lean on Him, on whom Archangels lean!
With inward Eyes, and silent as the Grave,
They stand collecting ev'ry Beam of Thought,
Till their Hearts kindle with Divine Delight;
For all their Thoughts, like Angels seen of old
In Israel's Dream, come from, and go to, Heaven:
Hence, are they studious of sequestred Scenes;
While Noise, and Dissipation, comfort Thee.

Were all Men happy, Revelling would ceafe,
That Opiate for Inquietude within.
LORENZO! never Man was truly Bleft,
But it compos'd, and gave him such a Cast,
As Folly might mistake for Want of Joy.
A Cast, unlike the Triumph of the Proud;
A modest Aspect, and a Smile at Heart.
O for a Joy from thy Philander's Spring!

A Spring

O

A Spring perennial, rifing in the Breaft, And Permanent, as Pure! no turbid Stream Of rapt'rous Exultation, fwelling high; Which, like Land-floods, impetuous pour awhile, Then fink at once, and leave us in the Mire. What does the Man, who transient Joy prefers? What, but prefer the Bubbles to the Stream?

Vain are all sudden Sallies of Delight; Convulsions of a weak distemper'd loy. Joy's a fixt State; a Tenure, not a Start. Blis there is none, but unprecarious Blis: That is the Gem: Sell All, and purchase That. Why go a begging to Contingencies, Not gain'd with Ease, nor fafely lov'd, if gain'd? At Good Fortuitous, draw back, and paufe; Suspect it; what thou canst ensure, enjoy; And nought but what thou giv'ft thyfelf, is Sure. Reason perpetuates Joy that Reason gives, And makes it as Immortal as herfelf: To Mortals, nought Immortal, but their Worth.

Worth, conscious Worth ! should absolutely reign; And other Joys ask Leave for their Approach; Nor, unexamin'd, ever Leave obtain. Thou art all Anarchy; a Mob of Joys Wage War, and perish in intestine Broils; Not the least Promise of internal Peace! No Bosom Comfort, or unborrow'd Blis! Thy Thoughts are Vagabonds; All Outward-bound, Mid Sands, and Rocks, and Storms, to cruife for Pleafure; If gain'd, dear-bought; and better mis'd than gain'd. Much Pain must expiate, what much Pain procur'd. Fancy and Sense, from an infected Shore, Thy Cargo bring; and Pestilence the Prize. Then, such thy Thirst (infatiable Thirst! By By H. Int. Ser. be Reven By fond Indulgence but inflam'd the more!)

Fancy fill cruifes, when poor Senfe is tir'd.

Imagination is the Paption Shop,
Where feeble Happiness, like Vulcan, Lame,
Bids foul Ideas, in their dark Recess.
And hot as Hell (which kindled the black Fires),
With wanton Art, those fatal Arrows form,
Which murder all thy Time, Health, Wealth, and Fame.
Wouldst thou receive them, Other Thoughts there are,
On Angel-Wing, descending from Above,
Which These, with Art divine, would counterwork,
And form celestial Armour for thy Peace.

In This is feen Imagination's Guilt; But who can count ber Follies? She betrays thee. To think in Grandeur there is fomething Great. For Works of carious Art, and antient Fame, Thy Genius hungers, elegantly pain'd; And foreign Climes must cater for thy Taste. Hence, What Difaster !- Tho' the Price was paid, That perfecuting Prieft, the Turk of Rome, Whose Foot (ye Gods!), tho' cloven, must be kis'd, Detain'd thy Dinner on the Latian Shore; (Such is the Fate of honest Protestants!) And poor Magnificence is flarv'd to Death. Hence just Resentment, Indignation, Ire!-Be pacify'd; if outward Things are Great. 'Tis Magnanimity Great Things to fcorn; Pompous Expences, and Parades august, And Courts; that infalubrious Soil to Peace. True Happiness ne'er enter'd at an Eye; True Happinels refides in Things unfeen. No Smiles of Fortune ever bleft the Bad. Nor can her Frowns rob Innocence of loys: That Jewel wanting, Triple Crowns are poor: So tell his Holinefs, and be Reveng'd.

Pleafure, we both agree, is Man's chief Good; Our only Contest, What deferves the Name. Give Pleasure's Name to nought, but what has pass'd' Th' authentic Seal of Reafon (which, like YORKE, Demurrs on what it passes), and defies The Tooth of Time; when past, a Pleasure fill; Dearer on Trial, Lovelier for its Age. And doubly to be priz'd, as it promotes Our Future, while it forms our Prefent, Joy. Some Joys the Future over-caft; and fome Throw all their Beams that Way, and gild the Tomb. Some Joys endear Eternity; some give Abhorr'd Annihilation dreadful Charms. Are rival lovs contending for thy Choice? Confult thy whole Existence, and be fafe; That Oracle will put all Doubt to Flight. Short is the Leffon, tho' my Lecture long, Be Good-and let Heav'n answer for the reft.

Yet, with a Sigh o'er all Mankind, I grant
In this our Day of Proof, our Land of Hope,
The Good Man has his Clouds that intervene;
Clouds, that obscure his sublunary Day,
But never conquer: Ev'n the Best must own,
Patience and Resignation, are the Pillars
Of human Peace on Earth. The Pillars, These:
But those of Seth not more remote from Thee,
Till this Heroic Lesson thou hast learnt;
To frown at Pleasure, and to smile in Pain.
Fir'd at the Prospect of unclouded Bliss,
Heav'n in Reversion, like the Sun, as yet
Beneath th' Horizon, chears us in this World;
It sheds, on Souls susceptible of Light,
The glorious Dawn of our eternal Day.

[&]quot; This (fays Lonenzo) is a fair Harangue:

[&]quot; But can Harangues blow back frong Nature's Stream;

" Or ftem the Tide Heav'n pushes thro' our Veins.

" Which sweeps away Man's impotent Resolves.

" And lavs his Labour level with the World?" Themselves Men make their Comment on Mankind : And think nought is, but what they find at Home :

Thus, Weakness to Chimera turns the Truth.

Nothing romantic has the Muse prescrib'd.

Above, LORENZO faw the Man of Earth.

The Mortal Man; and wretched was the Sight.

To balance that, to comfort, and exalt. Now fee the Man Immortal: Him, I mean,

Who lives as Such; whose Heart, full-bent on Heaven, Leans all that Way, his Byas to the Stars.

The World's dark Shades, in Contrast fet, shall raise

His Luftre more; tho' bright, without a Foil:

Observe his awful Portrait, and admire:

Nor ftop at Wonder; imitate, and live.

Some Angel guide my Pencil, while I draw. What nothing less than Angel can exceed. A Man on Earth devoted to the Skies:

Like Ships in Seas, while in, above the World.

With Afpect mild, and elevated Eye. Behold him feated on a Mount ferene. Above the Fogs of Senfe, and Paffion's Storm; All the black Cares, and Tumults, of This Life, Like harmless Thunders, breaking at his Feet, Excite his Pity, not impair his Peace. Earth's genuine Sons, the Sceptred, and the Slave, A mingled Mob! a wand'ring Herd! he fees, Bewilder'd in the Vale; in All unlike! His full Reverse in All ! What higher Praise?

The Present all Their Care; the Future, Ilia When Public Welfare calls, or Private Water

What stronger Demonstration of the Right?

They give to Fame; His Bounty He conceals.
Their Virtues varnish Nature; His exalt.
Mankind's Esteem They court; and He, his Own.
Theirs, the wild Chace of false Felicities;
His, the compos'd Possession of the true.
Alike throughout is His consistent Piece,
All of one Colour, and an even Thread;
While party-colour'd Shreds of Happiness,
With hideous Gaps between, patch up for Them
A Madman's Robe; each Pust of Fortune blows
The Tatters by, and shews their Nakedness.
He sees with other sives than Theires When The

He fees with other Eyes than Theirs : Where They Behold a Sun, He spies a Deity : What makes Them only Smile, makes him Adore. Where They fee Mountains, He but Atoms fees: An Empire, in bis Balance, weighs a Grain. They Things Terrestrial worship, as Divine: His Hopes Immortal blow them by, as Duft, That dims his Sight, and shortens his Survey. Which longs, in Infinite, to lofe all Bound. Titles and Honours, (if they prove his Fate) He lays afide to find his Dignity; No Dignity They find in aught besides. They triumph in Externals (which conceal Man's real Glory), proud of an Eclipse. Himself too much He prizes to be Proud, And nothing thinks so great in Man, as Man. Too dear He holds his Int'reft, to neglect Another's Welfare, or his Right invade; Their Int'rest, like a Lion, lives on Prey. They kindle at the Shadow of a Wrong; Wrong He fustains with Temper, looks on Heaven, Nor stoops to think his Injurer his Foe; Nought, but what wounds his Virtue, wounds his Peace. A cover'd Heart their Character defends;

A cover'd

A cover'd Heart denies Him half his Praife. With Nakedness His Innocence agrees; While Their broad Foliage tellifes their Fall. Their No-Joys end, where His full Feast begins; His Joys create, Theire murder, future Blifs. To triumph in Existence, His alone; And His alone, triumphantly to think His true Existence is not yet begun. His glorious Course was, Vesterday, complete: Death, then, was welcome; yet Life fill in Sweet.

But nothing charms Longuage, like the firm. Undaunted Breast-And whose is that high Praise? They yield to Pleasure, tho' they danger brave, And shew no Fortitude, but in the Field : If there they shew it, 'tis for Glory shewn: Nor will that Cordial always Man Their Hearts. A Cordial His fustains, that cannot fail; By Pleasure unsubdu'd, unbroke by Pain. He shares in that Omnipotence he trufts. All-bearing, All-attempting, till he falls; And when he falls, writes VICI on his Shield. From Magnanimity, all Fear above; From nobler Recompence, above Applause; Which owes to Man's fort Out-look all its Charms.

Backward to credit what he never felt, LORENZO cries,-" Where shines this Miracle? " From what Root rifes this Immortal Man?" A Root that grows not in LORENZO's Ground; That Root diffeel, nor wonder at the Flower.

He follows Nature (not like * Thee) and shews us An uninverted System of a Man. His Appetite wears Reason's golden Chain, And finds, in due Reftraint, its Luxury. His Paffion, like an Eagle well-reclaim'd,

Is taught to fly at nought, but Infinite. Patient his Hope, un-anxious is his Care, His Caution fearless, and his Grief (if Grief The Gods ordain) a Stranger to Despair. And why ?-Because Affection, more than meet. His Wisdom leaves not disengag'd from Heaven. Those secondary Goods that fmile on Earth. He, loving in Proportion, loves in Peace. They most the World enjoy, who least admire. His Understanding 'scapes the common Cloud Of Fumes, arifing from a boiling Breaft, His Head is clear, because his Heart is cool. By worldly Competitions uninflam'd. The mod'rate Movements of his Soul admit Distinct Ideas, and matur'd Debate. An Eye impartial, and an even Scale: Whence Judgment found, and unrepenting Choice. Thus, in a double Sense, the Good are wise: On its own Dunghil, wifer than the World. What, then, the World? It must be doubly weak; Strange Truth! as foon would they believe their Creed.

Yet thus it is; nor otherwise can be;
So far from aught Romantic, what I sing.
Bliss has no Being, Virtue has no Strength,
But from the Prospect of immortal Life.
Who thinks Earth all, or (what weighs just the same)
Who care no farther, must prize what it yields;
Fond of its Fancise, proud of its Parades.
Who thinks Earth nothing was 't its Charms admire;
He can't a Foe, tho' most malianant, hate,
Because that Hate would prove his greater Foe,
"Tis had for Them (yet who so loudly hold."
Good-will to Men?) to love their dearest Friend;
For may not he invade their Good Supreme,
Where the least Jealousy turns Love to Gall?

All shines to Them, that for a Season shines.

Each Act, each Thought, He questions, "What its Weight,
"Its Colour what, a Thousand Ages hence?"—

And what it there appears, he deems it now.

Hence, pure are the Recesses of his Soul.

The God-like Man has nothing to conceal.

His Virtue, constitutionally deep,

Has Habit's Firmness, and Affection's Flame;

Angels, ally'd, descend to feed their Fire;

And Death, which Others slays, makes him a God.

And now, Lorenzo! Bigot of this World!
Wont to disdain poor Bigots caught by Heaven!
Stand by thy Scorn, and be reduc'd to Nought:
For what art Thou?—Thou Boaster! While thy Glare,
Thy gaudy Grandeur, and mere worldly Worth,
Like a broad Mist, at Distance, strikes us most;
And, like a Mist, is Nothing when at Hand;
His Merit, like a Mountain, on Approach,
Swells more, and rifes nearer to the Skies,
By Promise, now, and, by Possession, soon,
(Too soon, too much, it cannot be) his Own.

From this thy just Annibilation rise,
LORENZO! rise to Something, by Reply.
The World, thy Client, I stens, and expects;
And longs to crown thee with immortal Praise.
Canst thou be filent? No; for Wit is Thine;
And Wit talks most, when least she has to say,
And Reason interrupts not her Career.
She'll say—That Mists above the Mountains rise;
And, with a thousand Pleasantries amuse;
She'll sparkle, puzzle, flutter, raise a Dust,
And sty Conviction, in the Dust she rais'd.

Wit, how delicious to Man's dainty Taste! Tis precious, as the Vehicle of Sense;
But, as its Substitute, a dire Disease.

Pernicious

Pernicious Talent! Flatter'd by the World, By the blind World, which thinks the Talent rare. Wildom is rare, LORENZO! Wit abounds; Pallion can give it; fometimes Wine infpires The lucky Flash; and Madness rarely fails. Whatever Cause the Spirit frongly flirs, Confers the Bays, and rivals thy Renown. For thy Renown, 'twere well, was This the worft; Chance often hits it; and, to pique thee more, See Dulness, blund'ring on Vivacities, Shakes her Sage Head at the Calamity, Which has expos'd, and let her down to Thee. But Wildom, awful Wildom! which inspects, Discerns, compares, weighs, separates, infers, Seizes the Right, and holds it to the laft; How rare! In Senates, Synods, fought in vain; Or if there found, 'tis facred to the Fequ; While a lewd Proflitute to Multitudes, Frequent, as Fatal, Wit: In Civil Life, Wit makes an Enterprifer ; Senfe, a Man. Wit hates Authority; Commotion loves, And thinks herfelf the Lightning of the Storm. In States, 'tis dangerous; in Religion, Death : Shall Wit turn Christian, when the Dull believe ? Sense is our Helmet, Wit is but the Plume; The Plume expoles, 'tis our Helmet faves. Sense is the Di'mond, weighty, folid, found; When cut by Wit, it casts a brighter Beam; Yet, Wit apart, it is a Di'mond still. Wit, widow'd of Good Sense, is worse than Nought: It hoists more Sail to run against a Rock. Thus, a Half-CHESTERFIELD is quite a Fool; Whom dull Fools fcorn, and bless their Want of Wit. How ruinous the Rock I warn thee shun. Where Sirens fit, to fing thee to thy Fate !

A Joy, in which our Reason bears no Part. Is but a Sorrow tickling, ere it flings. Let not the Cooings of the World allure thee : Which of her Lovers ever found her True? Happy! of this bad World who little know!-And yet, we much must know her, to be Safe. To know the World, not love her, is thy Point: She gives but Little, nor that Little, long. There is, I grant, a Triumph of the Pulle: A Dance of Spirits, a mere Froth of Joy, Our thoughtles Agitation's idle Child, That mantles high, that sparkles, and expires. Leaving the Soul more vapid than before. An animal Ovation! fuch as holds No Commerce with our Reafon, but fublifts On Juices, thro' the well ton'd Tubes, well-ffrain'd; A nice Machine! scarce ever tun'd aright; And when it jars-thy Sirens fing no more, Thy Dance is done; the Demi-god is thrown (Short Apotheofis) beneath the Man, In coward Gloom immers'd, or fell Despair.

Art thou yet Dull enough Despair to dread, And fartle at Deftruction? If thou art. Accept a Buckler, take it to the Field; (A Field of Battle is this mortal Life!) When Danger threatens, lay it on thy Heart; A fingle Sentence Proof against the World.

- " Soul, Body, Fortune! Ev'ry Good pertains
- " To One of these; but prize not All alike;
- " The Goods of Fortune to thy Body's Health,
- " Body to Soul, and Soul fubmit to God." Wouldst thou build lasting Happines? Do this; Th' inverted Pyramid can never fland.

Is this Truth doubtful? It outshines the Sun; Nay, the Sun shines not, but to shew us This,

The fingle Lesson of Mankind on Earth.

And yet—Yet, What? No News! Mankind is mad;
Such mighty Numbers list against the Right,
(And what can't Numbers, when bewitch'd, atchieve?).
They talk themselves to Something like Belief,
That all Earth's Joys are Theirs: As Athens' Fool
Grinn'd from the Port, on ev'ry Sail his Own.

They grin; but wherefore? And how long the Laugh? Half Ignorance, their Mirth; and Half, a Lye; To cheat the World, and cheat Themselves, they smile. Hard either Task! The most Abandon'd own, That Others, if Abandon'd, are undone:
Then, for Themselves, the moment Reason wakes, (And Providence denies it long Repose)
O how laborious is their Gaiety!
They scarce can swallow their ebullient Spleen, Scarce muster Patience to support the Farce, And pump sad Laughter till the Curtain salls.
Scarce, did I say? Some cannot sit it out;
Oft their own daring Hands the Curtain draw, And shew us what their Joy, by their Despair.

The clotted Hair! gor'd Breaft! blaspheming Eye!

Its impious Fury still alive in Death!

Shut, shut the shocking Scene.—But Heav'n denies

A Cover to such Guilt; and so should Man.

Look round, Lorenzo! see the reeking Blade,

Th'invenom'd Phial, and the fatal Ball;

The strangling Cord, and suffocating Stream;

The loathsome Rottenness, and soul Decays

From raging Riot (slower Suicides!)

And Pride in these, more execrable still!

How Horrid all to Thought!—But Horrors, these,

That youch the Truth; and aid my seeble Song.

From Vice, Sense, Fancy, no Man can be blest: Blis is too great, to lodge within an Hour:

When an immortal Being aims at Blifs. Duration is effential to the Name. O for a Joy from Reason! Joy from That, Which makes Man Man; and, exercis'd aright. Will give him more: A Bounteous Joy! that gives, And promises; that weaves, with Art divine. The richest Prospect into present Peace : A loy Ambitious! Joy in common held With Thrones ethereal, and their Greater far ; A Joy high-privileg'd from Chance, Time, Death! A Joy, which Death shall double, Judgment crown! Crown'd higher, and still higher, at each Stage, Thro' bleft Eternity's long Day; yet flill, Not more remote from Sorrow, than from Him. ·Whose lavish Hand, whose Love stupendous, pours So much of Deity on guilty Duft.

There, O my Lucia! may I meet thee There, Where not thy Presence can improve my Blis! Affects not This the Sages of the World?

Can nought offett them, but what fools them too? Eternity, depending on an Hour,

Makes ferious Thought Man's Wildom, Joy, and Praile. Nor need you blush (tho' fometimes your Designs May shun the Light) at your Designs on Heaven: Sole Point! where over bafbful is your Blame. Are you not wife? -You know you are: Yet hear. One Truth, amid your num'rous Schemes, mislaid,

Or overlook'd, or thrown afide, if Seen;

" Our Schemes to plan by This World, or the Next,

" Is the fole Diff'rence between Wife and Fool." All worthy Men will weigh you in this Scale;

What Wonder, then, if They pronounce you light?

Is their Efteem alone not worth your Care? Accept my fimple Scheme of Common Sense:

Thus, fave your Fame, and make Two Worlds your Own,

The

The World replies not;—but the World perfifts;
And puts the Cause off to the longest Day,
Planning Evasions for the Day of Doom.
So far, at that Re-bearing, from Redress,
They then turn Witnesses against Themselves.
Hear that, Lorenzo! Nor be wise To-morrow.
Haste, Haste! A Man, by Nature, is in Haste;
For who shall answer for another Hour?
'Tis highly prudent, to make One sure Friend;
And that Thou canst not do, this Side the Skies.

Ye Sons of Earth! (nor willing to be more!) Since Verfe you think from Priestcraft somewhat free. Thus, in an Age fo gay, the Muse plain Truths (Truths, which, at Church, you might have heard in Profe) Has ventur'd into Light; well-pleas'd the Verie Should be forgot, if you the Truths retain; And crown her with your Welfare, not your Praise. But Praise the need not fear: I fee my Fate; And headlong leap, like CURTIUS, down the Gulph .-Since many an ample Volume, mighty Tome, Must die, and die Unwept; O Thou minute, Devoted Page ! go forth among thy Foes; Go, nobly proud of Martyrdom for Truth, And die a double Death: Mankind, incens'd, Denies thee long to live: Nor shalt thou rest, When thou art dead; in Stygian Shades arraign'd By LUCIFER, as Traitor to his Throne; And bold Blasphemer of his Friend, -the WORLD; The WORLD, whose Legions cost him slender Pay, And Volunteers, around his Banner fwarm; Prudent, as PRUSSIA, in her Zeal for GAUL.

"Are all, then, Fools?" LORENZO cries.—Yes, All, But such as hold this Doctrine (new to Thee); "The Mother of true Wisdom is the Will;" The noblest Intellect, a Fool without it.

The COMPLAINT. Night 8.

World-Wischen much has done, and more may do,
In Arts and Sciences, in Wars, and Peace;
But Art and Science, like thy Wealth, will leave thee,
And make thee twice a Beggar at thy Death.
This is the most Indulgence can afford;—
"Thy Wisdom All can do, but—make thee Wise."
Nor think this Censure is severe on Thee;
Satan, thy Master, I dare call a Dunce.

NIGHT the NINTH and LAST.

THE

CONSOLATION.

Containing, among other Things,

I. A Moral Survey of Nocturnal Heavens.

II. A Night-Address to the DEITY.

Humbly Infcribed to His GRACE

The DUKE of NEWCASTLE,

One of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

-Fatis Contraria Fata rependens. VIRG.

As when a Traveller, a long Day past,
In painful Search of what he cannot find,
At Night's Approach, content with the next Cot,
There ruminates, awhile, his Labour lost;
Then chears his Heart with what his Fate affords,
And chants his Sonnet to deceive the Time,
Till the due Season calls him to Repose:
Thus I, long travell'd in the Ways of Men,
And dancing, with the rest, the giddy Maze,
Where Disappointment smiles at Hope's Career;
Warn'd by the Languor of Life's Evening Ray,
At length have hous'd me in an humble Shed;
Where, future Wand'ring banish'd from my Thought,
L 5

226 The CONSOLATION. Night 9.

And waiting, patient, the fweet Hour of Rest;
Lchase the Moments with a serious Song.
Song sooths our Pains; and Age has Pains to sooth.
When Age, Care, Crime, and Friends embrac'd as

When Age, Care, Crime, and Friends embrac'd at Heart,

Torn from my bleeding Breaft, and Death's dark Shade, Which hovers o'er me, quench th' ethereal Fire; Canst thou, O Night! indulge One Labour more? One Labour more indulge! Then sleep, my Strain! Till, haply, wak'd by RAPHAEL's golden Lyre, Where Night, Death, Age, Care, Crime, and Sorrow, To bear a Part in everlasting Lays; [cease; Tho' far, far higher set, in Aim, I trust, Symphonious to this humble Prelude, bere.

Has not the Muse afferted Pleasures pure. Like those Above; exploding other Joys? Weigh what was urg'd, LORENZO! Fairly weigh; And tell me, haft thou Cause to triumph still? I think, thou wilt forbear a Boast so bold. But if, beneath the Favour of Mistake, Thy Smile's fincere; not more fincere can be LORENZO's Smile, than my Compassion for him. The Sick in Body call for Aid; the Sick In Mind are covetous of more Disease: And when at worft, they dream themselves quite well. To know ourselves diseas'd, is Half our Cure. When Nature's Blush by Custom is wip'd off, And Conscience, deaden'd by repeated Strokes. Has into Manners naturaliz'd our Crimes : The Curfe of Curfes is, our Curfe to love; To triumph in the Blackness of our Guilt, (As Indians glory in the deepest |et); And throw afide our Senses with our Peace.

But, grant no Guilt, no Shame, no least Alloy; Grant Joy and Glory, quite unfully'd, shone; Yet, still, it ill deserves Lorenzo's Heart.

No Joy, no Glory, glitters in thy Sight,
But, thro' the thin Partition of an Hour,
I see its Sables wove by Destiny;
And that in Sorrow bury'd; this in Shame;
While howling Furies ring the doleful Knell;
And Conscience, now so soft thou scarce canst hear
Her Whisper, echoes her eternal Peal.

Where, the prime Actors of the last Year's Scene;
Their Port so proud, their Buskin, and their Plume?
How many sleep, who kept the World anvake
With Lustre, and with Noise! Has Death proclaim'd
A Truce, and hung his sated Lance on high?
'Tis brandisht still; nor shall the present Year
Be more tenacious of her human Leaf,
Or spread of seeble Life a thinner Fall.

But needless Monuments to wake the Thought:
Life's gayest Scenes speak Man's Mortality;
Tho' in a Style more florid, full as plain,
As Mausoleums, Pyramids, and Tombs.
What are our noblest Ornaments, but Deaths
Turn'd Flatterers of Life, in Paint, or Marble.
The well-stain'd Canvas, or the featur'd Stone?
Our Fathers grace, or rather haunt, the Scene.

Joy peoples her Pavilion from the Dead.

"Profest Diversions! cannot These escape?"

Far from it: These present us with a Shroud;

And talk of Death, like Garlands o'er a Grave.

As some bold Plunderer, for bury d Wealth,

We ransack Tombs for Passime; from the Dust

Call up the sleeping Hero; bid him tread

The Scene for our Amusement: How like Gods

We sit; and, wrapt in Immortality,

Shed gen'rous Tears on Wretches born to die;

Their Fate deploring, to forget our Osun!

228 The CONSOLATION. Night 9.

What, all the Pomps and Triumphs of our Lives. But Legacies in Bloffom ? Our lean Soil. Luxuriant grown, and rank in Vanities, From Friends interr'd beneath; a rich Manure! Like other Worms, we banquet on the Dead : Like other Worms, shall we crawl on, nor know Our prefent Frailties, nor approaching Fate? LORENZO! fuch the Glories of the World! What is the World itself? Thy World ?- A Grave. Where is the Duft that has not been alive? The Spade, the Plough, diffurb our Ancestors : From human Mould we reap our daily Bread. The Globe around Earth's hollow Surface shakes. And is the Cieling of her fleeping Sons, O'er Devastation we blind Revels keep; Whole bury'd Towns support the Dancer's Heel. The Moift of human Frame the Sun exhales ; Winds fcatter, thro' the mighty Void, the Dry: Earth repossesses Part of what she gave, And the freed Spirit mounts on Wings of Fire; Each Element partakes our scatter'd Spoils; As Nature, wide, our Ruins spread; Man's Death Inhabits all Things, but the Thought of Man.

Nor Man alone; his breathing Bust expires,
His Tomb is mortal; Empires die: Where, now,
The Roman? Greek? They stalk, an empty Name!
Yet sew regard them in this useful Light;
Tho' half our Learning is their Epitaph.
When down thy Vale, unlock'd by Midnight Thought,
That loves to wander in thy Sunless Realms,
O Death! I stretch my View; what Visions rise!
What Triumphs! Toils imperial! Arts divine!
In wither'd Laurels glide before my Sight!
What Lengths of far-fam'd Ages, billow'd high,
With human Agitation, roll along

In unfubstantial Images of Air!

The melancholy Ghosts of dead Renown,
Whisp'ring faint Echoes of the World's Applause,
With penitential Aspect, as they pass,
All point at Earth, and his at human Pride,
The Wisdom of the Wise, and Prancings of the Great.

But, O LORENZO! far the rest above,
Of ghastly Nature, and enormous Size,
One Form assaults my Sight, and chills my Blood,
And shakes my Frame. Of One departed World
I see the mighty Shadow: oozy Wreath
And dismal Sea-weed crown her; o'er her Urn
Reclin'd, she weeps her desolated Realms,
And bloated Sons; and, weeping, prophesies
Another's Dissolution, soon, in Flames.
But, like Cassandra, prophesies in vain;
In vain, to Many; not, I trust, to Thee.

For, know'ft thou not, or art thou leth to know. The great Decree, the Counfel of the Skies? Deluge and Conflagration, dreadful Powers ! Prime Ministers of Vengeance! Chain'd in Caves Diffinct, apart the Giant Furies roar; Apart; or fuch their horrid Rage for Ruin. In mutual Conflict would they rife, and wage Eternal War, till One was quite devour'd. But not for This, ordain'd their boundless Rage: When Heav'n's inferior Instruments of Wrath, War, Famine, Pestilence, are found too weak To scourge a World for her enormous Crimes, These are let loose, alternate: Down they rush. Swift and Tempestuous, from th' eternal Throne, With irrefiftible Commission arm'd. The World, in vain corrected, to destroy, And eafe Creation of the shocking Scene.

230 The CONSOLATION. Night 9.

Seeft thou, LORENZO! what depends on Man?
The Fate of Nature; as for Man, her Birth.
Earth's Actors change Earth's transitory Scenes,
And make Creation groan with human Guilt.
How must it groan, in a new Deluge whelm'd,
But not of Waters! At the destin'd Hour,
By the loud Trumpet summon'd to the Charge,
See, all the formidable Sons of Fire,
Eruptions, Earthquakes, Comets, Lightnings, play
Their various Engines; All at once disgorge
Their blazing Magazines; and take, by Storm,
This poor terrestrial Citadel of Man.

Amazing Period! when each Mountain-Height Out-burns Vefuvius; Rocks eternal pour Their melted Mass, as Rivers once they pour'd; Stars rufh ; and final Ruin fiercely drives Her Ploughshare o'er Creation! While aloft. More than Astonishment : if more can be ! Far other Firmament than e'er was feen. Than e'er was thought by Man! Far other Stars! Stars animate, that govern these of Fire; Far other Sun! - A Sun. O how unlike The Babe at Betble'm! How unlike the Man That groan'd on Calvary !- Yet He it is ; That Man of Sorrows! O how chang'd! What Pomp! In Grandeur terrible, All Heav'n descends! And Gods, ambitious, triumph in His Train. A fwift Archangel, with his golden Wing, As Blots and Clouds, that darken and difgrace The Scene divine, fweeps Stars and Suns afide. And now, all Dross remov'd, Heav'n's own pure Day, Full on the Confines of our Æther, flames. While, (dreadful Contrast!) far, how far beneath! Hell burfting, belches forth her blazing Seas, And And Storms fulphureous; her voracious Jaws Expanding wide, and roaring for her Prey.

LORENZO! welcome to this Scene; the Last
In Nature's Course; the First in Wisdom's Thought.
This strikes, if aught can strike thee; This awakes
The most Supine; This snatches Man from Death.
Rouse, rouse, Lorenzo, then, and follow me,
Where Truth, the most momentous Man can hear,
Loud calls my Soul, and Ardour wings her Flight.
I find my Inspiration in my Theme;
The Grandeur of my Subject is my Muse.

At Midnight, when Mankind is wrapt in Peace. And worldly Fancy feeds on golden Dreams; To give more Dread to Man's most dreadful Hour. At Midnight, 'tis prefum'd, this Pomp will burft From tenfold Darkness; sudden, as the Spark From smitten Steel; from nitrous Grain, the Blaze. Man, flarting from his Couch, shall sleep no more! The Day is broke, which never more shall close! Above, around, beneath, Amazement All! Terror and Glory join'd in their Extremes! Our GOD in Grandeur, and our World on Fire! All Nature struggling in the Pangs of Death ! Dost thou not hear her? Dost thou not deplore Her strong Convulsions, and her final Groan? Where are we now? Ah me! The Ground is gone, On which we flood, LORENZO! While thou may'ft. Provide more firm Support, or fink for Ever! Where? How? From whence? Vain Hope! It is too Where, where, for Shelter, shall the Guilty fly, When Consternation turns the Good Man pale?

Great Day! for which all other Days were made;
For which Earth role from Chaos, Man from Earth;
And an Eternity, the Date of Gods,
Descended on poor Earth-created Man!

232 The Consolation. Night 9.

Great Day of Dread, Decision, and Despair!
At Thought of Thee, each sublunary Wish
Lets go its eager Grasp, and drops the World;
And catches at each Reed of Hope in Heaven.
At Thought of Thee!—And art thou abjent then?
LORENZO! No; 'tis Here;—it is begun;—
Already is begun the Grand Assize,
In Thee, in All: Deputed Conscience scales
The dread Tribunal, and forestalls our Doom;
Forestalls; and, by forestalling, proves it Sure.
Why on Himself should Man word Judgment pass?
Is idle Nature laughing at her Sons?
Who Conscience sent, her Sentence will support,
And GOD Above affert That GoD in Man.

Thrice happy They! that enter now the Court
Heav'n opens in their Bosoms: But, how rare,
Ah me! That Magnanimity, how rare!
What Hero, like the Man who stands Mimself;
Who dares to meet his naked Heart alone;
Who hears, intrepid, the full Charge it brings,
Resolv'd to silence suture Murmurs There?
The Coward slies; and, slying, is undone.
(Art thou a Coward? No): The Coward slies;
Thinks, but thinks slightly; asks, but sears to know;
Asks, "What is Truth?" with PILATE; and retires;
Dissolves the Court, and mingles with the Throng;
Asylum sad! from Reason, Hope, and Heav'n!

Shall All, but Man, look with ardent Eye,
For that great Day, which was ordain'd for Man?
O Day of Consummation! Mark supreme
(If Men are wise) of human Thought! nor least,
Or in the Sight of Angels, or their KING!
Angels, whose radiant Circles, Height o'er Height,
Order o'er Order, rising, Blaze o'er Blaze,
As in a Theatre, surround This Scene,

Intent

Intent on Man, and anxious for his Fate.

Angels look out for Thee; for Thee, their LORD,
To vindicate his Glory; and for Thee,

Creation univerfal calls aloud,
To dif-involve the moral World, and give
To Nature's Renovation brighter Charms.

Shall Man alone, whose Fate, whose final Fate, Hangs on that Hour, exclude it from his Thought? I think of nothing else; I see! I see! it! All Nature, like an Earthquake, trembling round! All Deities, like Summer's Swarms, on Wing! All basking in the full Meridian Blaze! I see the Judge inthron'd! The staming Guard! The Volume open'd! Open'd ev'ry Heart! A Sun-beam pointing out each secret Thought! No Patron! Intercessor none! Now past The sweet, the clement, Mediatorial Hour! For Guilt no Plea! To Pain, no Pause! no Bound! Inexorable, All'! and All, Extreme!

Nor Man alone; the Foe of God and Man,
From his dark Den, blafpheming, drags his Chain,
And rears his brazen Front, with Thunder fearr'd;
Receives his Sentence, and begins his Hell.
All Vengeance past, now, seems abundant Grace:
Like Meteors in a stormy Sky, how roll
His baleful Eyes! He curses whom he dreads;
And deems it the first Moment of his Fall.

'Tis present to my Thought!—And yet where is it?

Angels can't tell me; Angels cannot guess
The Period; from created Beings lock'd
In Darkness. But the Process, and the Place,
Are less obscure; for These may Man inquire.
Say, Thou great Close of human Hopes and Fears!
Great Key of Hearts! Great Finisher of Fates!
Great End! and Great Beginning! Say, Where art Thou?

Art

Art thou in Time, or in Eternity?

Not in Eternity, nor Time, I find Thee.

These, as Two Monarchs, on their Borders meet,
(Monarchs of All elaps'd, or unarriv'd!)

As in Debate, how best their Pow'rs ally'd

May swell the Grandeur, or discharge the Wrath
Of HIM, whom both their Monarchies obey.

Time, this vast Fabrick for him built (and doom'd With him to fall) now bursting o'er his Head:
His Lamp, the Sun, extinguish'd; from beneath
The Frown of hideous Darkness, calls his Sons
From their long Slumber; from Earth's heaving Womb,
To second Birth; contemporary Throng!
Rous'd at One Call, upstarting from One Bed,
Prest in One Croud, appall'd with One Amaze,
He turns them o'er, Eternity! to thee.
Then (as a King depos'd disdains to live)
He falls on his own Scythe; nor falls alone;
His greatest Foe falls with him; Time, and He
Who murder'd all Time's Offspring, Death, expire.

Awful Eternity! offended Queen!

And her Resentment to Mankind, how just!

With kind Intent, solliciting Access,

How often has she knock'd at human Hearts!

Rich to repay their Hospitality,

How often call'd! and with the Voice of Gop!

Yet bore Repulse, excluded as a Cheat!

A Dream! while soulest Foes sound Welcome there!

A Dream, a Cheat, now, all Things, but her Smile.

For, lo! her twice ten thousand Gates thrown wide,

As thrice from Indus to the frozen Pole,

As thrice from Indus to the frozen Pole, With Banners, streaming as the Comet's Blaze, And Clarions, louder than the Deep in Storms, Sonorous as Immortal Breath can blow,

Pour forth their Myriads, Potentates, and Powers, Of Light, of Darkness; in a middle Field, Wide, as Creation! populous, as wide!

A neutral Region! there to mark th' Event Of that great Drama, whose preceding Scenes Detain'd them close Spectators, thro' a Length Of Ages, rip'ning to this grand Result;

Ages, as yet unnumber'd, but by God;

Who now, pronouncing Sentence, vindicates

The Rights of Virtue, and His own Renown.

ETERNITY, the various Sentence past,
Assigns the sever'd Throng distinct Abodes,
Sulphureous, or Ambrosial: What ensues?
The Deed predominant! the Deed of Deeds!
Which makes a Hell of Hell, a Heav'n of Heav'n.
The Goddess, with determin'd Aspect, turns
Her adamantine Key's enormous Size
Thro' Destiny's inextricable Wards,
Deep driving ev'ry Bolt, on both their Fates.
Then, from the Crystal Battlements of Heaven,
Down, down, she hurls it thro' the dark Prosound,
Ten thousand thousand Fathom; there to rust,
And ne'er unlock her Resolution more.
The Deep resounds, and Hell, thro' all her Glooms,
Returns, in Groans, the melancholy Roar.

O how unlike the Chorus of the Skies!

O how unlike those Shouts of Joy, that shake

The whole Ethereal! How the Concave rings!

Nor strange! when Deities their Voice exalt;

And louder far, than when Creation rose,

To see Creation's godlike Aim, and End,

So well accomplish'd! so divinely clos d!

To see the mighty Dramatist's last Act

(As meet) in Glory rising o'er the rest.

No fansy'd God, a GOD, indeed, descends,

To folve all Knots; to strike the Moral home;
To throw full Day on darkest Scenes of Time;
To clear, commend, exalt, and crown the Whole.
Hence, in one Peal of loud, eternal Praise,
The charm'd Spectators thunder their Applause;
And the vast Void beyond, Applause resounds.
What then am I?—

Amidst applauding Worlds.

And Worlds celeftial, is there found on Earth, A peevish, dissonant, rebellious String, Which jars in the grand Chorus, and complains? Censure on Thee, LORENZO! I suspend. And turn it on My/elf; how greatly due! All, All is Right; by Gop ordain'd or done; And who, but Gop, resum'd the Friends He gave? And have I been Complaining, then, fo long? Complaining of His Favours, Pain, and Death? Who, without Pain's Advice, would e'er be Good? Who, without Death, but would be Good in vain? Pain is to fave from Pain; All Punishment. To make for Peace; and Death to fave from Death; And Second Death, to guard immortal Life; To rouse the Careless, the Presumptuous awe, And turn the Tide of Souls another Way : By the same Tenderness Divine ordain'd, That planted Eden, and high-bloom'd for Man, A fairer Eden, endless, in the Skies.

Heav'n gives us Friends to bless the present Scene; Resumes them, to prepare us for the next.

All Evils Natural are Maral Goods;

All Discipline, Indulgence, on the Whole.

None are unhappy: All have Cause to smile,
But such as to Themselves That Cause deny.

Our Faults are at the Bottom of our Pains;

Error, in All, or Judgment, is the Source

Of endless Sighs: We fin, or we mistake: And Nature tax, when falle Opinion flings. Let impious Grief be banish'd, Joy indulg'd: But chiefly then, when Grief puts in her Claim. loy from the Joyous, frequently betrays, Oft lives in Vanity, and dies in Woe. loy, amidst Ills, corroborates, exalts; Tis loy, and Conqueft; Joy, and Virtue too. A noble Fortitude in Ills delights Heav'n, Earth, Ourselves; 'tis Duty, Glory, Peace. Affliction is the Good Man's shining Scene : Prosperity conceals his brightest Ray; As Night to Stars, Woe Luftre gives to Man. Heroes in Battle, Pilots in the Storm, And Virtue in Calamities, admire. The Crown of Manhood is a Winter-Joy: An Ever-green, that flands the Northern Blaft, And bloffoms in the Rigour of our Fate.

'Tis a prime Part of Happiness, to know How much Unhappiness must prove our Lot; A Part which sew posses! I'll pay Life's Tax, Without one rebel Murmur, from this Hour, Nor think it Misery to be a Man; Who thinks it is, shall never be a God: Some Ills we wish for, when we wish to live.

What spoke proud Passion? " Wish my Being lost!"
Presumptuous! Blasphemous! Absurd! and False!
The Triumph of my Soul is,—That I am;
And therefore that I may be—What? Lorenzo!
Look Inward, and look Deep; and deeper still;
Unfathomably deep our Treasure runs
In golden Veins, thro' all Eternity!
Ages, and Ages, and succeeding still
New Ages, where this Phantom of an Hour,

[·] Referring to the First Night.

The CONSOLATION. 238 Night 9. Which courts, each Night, dull Slumber, for Repair, Shall wake, and wonder, and exult, and praise. And fly thro' Infinite, and All, unlock; And (if deferv'd) by Heav'n's redundant Love, Made half-adorable itself, adore; And find, in Adoration, endless Joy! Where Thou, not Master of a Moment bere, Frail as the Flow'r, and fleeting as the Gale, May'ft boaft a aubole Eternity, enrich'd With All a kind Omnipotence can pour. Since ADAM fell, no Mortal, un-infpir'd, Has ever yet conceiv'd, or ever shall, How kind is GOD, how Great (if Good) is MAN. No Man too largely from Heav'n's Love can hope, If what is bop'd he labours to fecure.

Ills ?- There are none: All-gracious! none from Thee; From Man full Many! Numerous is the Race Of blackest Ills, and those Immortal too, Begot by Madness on fair Liberty; Heav'n's Daughter, Hell-debauch'd! Her Hand alone Unlocks Destruction to the Sons of Men. Fast barr'd by Thine; high-wall'd with Adamant, Guarded with Terrors reaching to this World, And cover'd with the Thunders of Thy Law; Whose Threats are Mercies, whose Injunctions, Guides, Affifting, not restraining, Reason's Choice; Whose Sanctions, unavoidable Results From Nature's Courfe, indulgently reveal'd; If unreveal'd, more Dang'rous, not less Sure. Thus, an indulgent Father warns his Sons, " Do This; Fly That"-nor always tells the Cause; Pleas'd to reward, as Duty to his Will, A Conduct needful to their own Repoie.

Great God of Wonders! (if, thy Love survey'd, Aught elie the Name of Wonderful retains)

What

What Rocks are Thele, on which to build our Truft? Thy Ways admit no Blemish; none I find; Or This alone-" That none is to be found." Not One, to foften Cenfure's hardy Crime : Not One, to palliate peetifh Grief's COMPLAINT. Who, like a Damon, murin'ring, from the Duft. Dares into Judgment call her Judge .- SUPREME! For All I bless Thee; Most, for the Severe: + Her Death-my own at Hand-the fiery Gulph. That flaming Bound of Wrath Omnipotent! It thunders :- but it thunders to preserve: It strengthens what it strikes; its wholesome Dread Averts the dreaded Pain; its hideous Groans loin Heav'n's fweet Hallelujahs in thy Praise, Great Source of Good alone! How Kind in All! In Vengeance Kind! Pain, Death, Gehenna, SAVE.

Thus, in thy World material, Mighty Mind!

Not that alone which folaces, and shines,

The Rough and Gloomy, challenges our Praise.

The Winter is as needful as the Spring;

The Thunder as the Sun; a stagnate Mass

Of Vapours breeds a pestilential Air:

Nor more propitious the Favonian Breeze

To Nature's Health, than purifying Storms;

The dread Volcano ministers to Good.

Its smother'd Flames might undermine the World.

Loud Ætnas sulminate in Love to Man;

Comets good Omens are, when duly scann'd;

And, in their Use, Eclipses learn to shine.

Man is responsible for Ills received;
Those we call scretched are a chosen Band,
Compelled to resuge in the Right, for Peace.
Amid my List of Blessings infinite,
Stand This the foremost, "That my Heart has bled."

The CONSOLATION cancels the COMPLAINT,

And makes a Convert of my guilty Song.

As when o'erlabour'd, and main'd to breathe, A panting Traveller, some rising Ground, Some fmall Ascent, has gain'd, he turns him round, And measures with his Eye the various Vale, The Fields, Woods, Meads, and Rivers, he has past; And, fatiate of his Journey, thinks of Home, Endear'd by Diftance, nor affects more Toil; Thus I, tho' fmall, indeed, is that Afcent The Muse has gain'd, review the Paths she trod; Various, extensive, beaten but by Few: And, conscious of her Prudence in Repose, Paule: and with Pleasure meditate an End. Tho' still remote; fo fruitful is my Theme. Thro' many a Field of Moral and Divine, The Muse has stray'd; and much of Sorrow seen In human Ways; and much of False and Vain; Which none, who travel this bad Road, can mifs. O'er Friends deceas'd full heartily the wept; Of Love Divine the Wonders she display'd; Prov'd Man immortal; shew'd the Source of Joy; The grand Tribunal rais'd; affign'd the Bounds

Of human Grief: In feau, to close the Whole. The moral Muse has shadow'd out a Sketch. Though not in Form, nor with a RAPHABL-Stroke. Of Moft our Weakness needs believe, or do. In this our Land of Travel, and of Hope. For Peace on Earth, or Prospect of the Skier.

What then remains ?- Much! much! a mighty Debt To be discharg'd : These Thoughts, O NIGHT! are From Thee they came, like Lovers fecret Sighs, [Thine ; While Others flept. So, CYNTHIA (Poets feign) In Shadows veil'd, foft fliding from her Sphere. Her Shepherd chear'd; of Her enamout'd lefs. Than I of thee .- And are thou fill unfung. Beneath whole Brow, and by whole Aid, I fing? Immortal Silence !--- Where shall I begin ? Where end? Or how feal Mufic from the Spheres. To footh their Goddefs ?

O majestic Night! Nature's great Ancestor! Day's Elder-born! And fated to survive the transient Sun! By Mortals, and Immortals, feen with Awe! A starry Crown thy Raven Brow adorns. An azure Zone thy Waift; Clouds, in Heav'n's Loon Wrought thro' Varieties of Shape and Shade. In ample Folds of Drapery divine, Thy flowing Mantle form; and, Heav'n throughout, Voluminously pour thy pompous Train. Thy gloomy Grandeurs (Nature's most august. Inspiring Aspect!) claim a grateful Verse; And, like a fable Curtain flarr'd with Gold, Drawn o'er my Labours paft, shall close the Scene. And what, O Man! fo worthy to be fung? What more prepares us for the Songs of Heaven? Creation of Archangels is the Theme!

What, to be lung, fo needful? What fo well

Celestial Joys prepares us to sustain?
The Soul of Man, HIS Face design'd to see,
Who gave these Wonders to be seen by Man,
Has bere a previous Scene of Objects great,
On which to dwell; to stretch to that Expanse
Of Thought, to rise to that exalted Height
Of Admiration, to contract that Awe,
And give her whole Capacities that Strength,
Which best may qualify for final Joy.
The more our Spirits are enlarg'd on Earth,
The deeper Draught shall they receive of Heav'n.

Heav'n's KING! whose Face unveil'd consummates Redundant Blifs! which fills that mighty Void, The whole Creation leaves in human Hearts! THOU, who didft touch the Lip of Jesse's Son, Wrapt in fweet Contemplation of these Fires. And fet his Harp in Concert with the Spheres! While of thy Works Material the Supreme I dare attempt, affift my daring Song. Loofe me from Earth's Inclosure, from the Sun's Contratted Circle fet my Heart at large; Eliminate my Spirit, give it Range Thro' Provinces of Thought yet unexplor'd; Teach me, by this stupendous Scaffolding, Creation's golden Steps, to climb to THEE. Teach me with Art great Nature to controul, And foread a Lustre o'er the Shades of Night. Feel I thy kind Affent? And shall the Sun Be feen at Midnight, rifing in my Song?

LORENZO! come, and warm thee: Thou, whose Heart, Whose little Heart, is moor'd within a Nook Of this obscure Terrestrial, Anchor weigh. Another Ocean calls, a nobler Port; I am thy Pilot, I thy prosp'rous Gale. Gainful thy Voyage thro' you azure Main;

Main,

Main, without Tempest, Pirate, Rock, or Shore: And whence thou may'ft import eternal Wealth : And leave to beggar'd Minds the Pearl and Gold. Thy Travels doft thou boaft o'er foreign Realms? Thou Stranger to the World! thy Tour begin : Thy Tour thro' Nature's univerfal Orb. Nature delineates her whole Chart at large, On foaring Souls, that fail among the Spheres: And Man how purblind, if unknown the Whole! Who circles spacious Earth, then travels bere. Shall own, He never was from Home before! Come, my * PROMETHEUS, from thy pointed Rock Of false Ambition, if unchain'd, we'll mount: We'll, innocently, steal celestial Fire. And kindle our Devotion at the Stars : A Theft, that shall not chain, but fet thee free. Above our Atmosphere's intestine Wars. Rain's Fountain-Head, the Magazine of Hail: Above the Northern Nefts of feather'd Snows. The Brew of Thunders, and the flaming Forge That forms the crooked Lightning; 'bove the Caves Where infant Tempests wait their growing Wings. And tune their tender Voices to that Roar. Which foon, perhaps, shall shake a Guilty World; Above miscontlru'd Omens of the Sky. Far travell'd Comets calculated Blaze, Elance thy Thought, and think of more than Man. Thy Soul, till now, contracted, wither'd, shrunk, Blighted by Blafts of Earth's unwholfome Air, Will bloffom bere; spread all her Faculties To these bright Ardors; ev'ry Pow'r unfold, And rife into Sublimities of Thought. Stars teach, as well as fine. At Nature's Birth, Thus, their Commission ran-" Be kind to Man."

Night the Eighth.

244 The Consolation. Night 9.

Where art thou, poor benighted Traveller!
The Starz will light thee; tho' the Moon should fail.
Where art thou, more benighted! more astray!
In Ways immoral? The Starz call thee back;
And, if obey'd their Counsel, set thee right.

This Prospect vast, What is it?—Weigh'd aright, 'Tis Nature's System of Divinity,
And ev'ry Student of the Night inspires.
'Tis elder Scripture, writ by G O D's own Hand;
Scripture authentic! uncorrupt by Man.
Lorenzo! with my Radius (the rich Gift
Of Thought nocturnal!) I'll point out to thee
Its various Lessons; some that may surprise
An Un-adept in Mysteries of Night;
Little, perhaps, expected in her School,
Nor thought to grow on Planet, or on Star.
Bulls, Lions, Scorpions, Monsters here we seign;
Ourselves more monstrous, not to see what here
Exists indeed;—A Lecture to Mankind.

What read we bee?—Th' Existence of a God?
Yes, and of other Beings, Man above;
Natives of Ether! Sons of higher Climes!
And, what may move Lorenzo's Wonder more,
ETERRITY is written in the Skies.
And whose Eternity? Lorenzo! Thine;
Mankind's Eternity. Not Patth alone,
Virtue grows here; bere springs the sov'reign Care
Of almost ev'ry Vice; but chiefly Thine;
Wrath, Pride, Ambition, and impure Diffre.

LORENZO! Thou can't wake at Midnight too,
Tho' not on Morah bent: Ambitton, Pleasure!
Those Tyrants I for thee so a lately fought,
Afford their harran'd Shares but stender Rest.
Thou, to whom Midnight is immeral Noon,

And the Sun's noon tide Blaze, prime Dawn of Day;
Not by thy Climate, but capricious Crime,
Commencing one of our Antipodes!
In thy nocturnal Rove, one Moment halt,
'Twixt Stage and Stage, of Riot, and Cabal;
And lift thine Eye (if bold an Eye to life,
If bold to meet the Face of injur'd Heav'n)
To yonder Stars; For other Ends they shine,
Than to light Revellers from Shame to Shame,
And, thus, be made Accomplices in Guilt.

Why from yon Arch, that Infinite of Space,
With Infinite of lucid Orbs replete,
Which fet the living Firmament on Fire,
At the first Glance in such an Overwhelm
Of Wonderful, on Man's assonisht Sight,
Rushes Omnipotence?—To curb our Pride;
Our Reason rouse, and lead it to that Power,
Whose Love lets down these Silver Chains of Light;
To draw up Man's Ambition to Himself,
And bind our chasse Affections to his Throne.
Thus the Three Virtues, least alive on Earth,
And welcom'd on Heav'n's Coast with most Applause,
An Humble, Pure, and Heav'ny minded Heart,
Are here inspir'd:—And can'th thou gaze too long?

Nor stands thy Wrath depriv'd of its Reproof,
Or un-upbraided by this radiant Choir.
The Planets of each System represent
Kind Neighbours; mutual Amity prevails;
Sweet Interchange of Rays, receiv'd, return'd;
Enlight'ning, and enlighten'd! All, at once,
Attracting, and attracted! Patriot-like,
None fins against the Welfare of the Whole;
But their reciprocal, unselfish Aid,
Affords an Emblem of Millennial Love.
Nothing in Nature, much less conscious Being,

Was e'er created folely for Itself:
Thus Man his fov'reign Duty learns in this Material Picture of Benevolence.

And know, of all our supercilious Race,
Thou most inflammable! Thou Wasp of Men!
Man's angry Heart, inspected, would be found
As rightly set, as are the starry Spheres;
'Tis Nature's Structure, broke by stubborn Will,
Breeds all that un-celestial Discord there.
Wilt thou not feel the Bias Nature gave?
Canst thou descend from Converse with the Skies,
And seize thy Brother's Throat?—For what—a Clod,
An Inch of Earth? The Planets cry, "Forbear,"
They chase our double Darkness; Nature's Gloom,
And (kinder still!) our intellectual Night,

And see, Day's amiable Sister sends
Her Invitation in the softest Rays
Of mitigated Lustre; courts thy Sight,
Which suffers from her Tyrant Brother's Blaze.
Night grants thee the full Freedom of the Skies,
Nor rudely reprimands thy listed Eye;
With Gain, and Joy, she bribes thee to be wife.
Night opes the noblest Scenes, and sheds an Awe,
Which gives those venerable Scenes full Weight,
And deep Reception in th' intender'd Heart;
While Light peeps thro' the Darkness, like a Spy;
And Darkness shews its Grandeur by the Light.
Nor is the Profit greater than the Joy,
If human Hearts at glorious Objects glow,
And Admiration can inspire Delight.

What speak I more, than I, this Moment, seel? With pleasing Stupor first the Soul is struck (Stupor ordain'd to make her truly Wise!);
Then into Transport starting from her Trance,
With Love and Admiration, how she glows!

Not so; That Thought alone thy State impairs,
Thy Lasty finks, and shallows thy Profound,
And streightens thy Disfusive; dwarfs the Whole,
And makes the Universe an Orreny.

But when I drop mine Eye, and look on Man. Thy Right regain'd, thy Grandeur is restor'd, O Nature! wide flies off th' expanding Round. As when whole Magazines, at once, are fir'd, The fmitten Air is hollow'd by the Blow; The vast Displosion distipates the Clouds; Shock'd Æther's Billows dash the distant Skies ; Thus (but far more) th' expanding Round flies off, And leaves a mighty Void, a spacious Womb, Might teem with new Creation; reinflam'd Thy Luminaries triumph, and affume Divinity themselves. Nor was it strange, Matter high-wrought to fuch furprifing Pomp, Such godlike Glery, stole the Style of Gods, From Ages dark, obtule, and steep'd in Sense; For, fure, to Sense, they truly are divine, And half-abfolv'd Idolatry from Guilt; Nay, turn'd it into Virtue. Such it was In those, who put forth all they had of Man Unlot, to lift their Thought; nor mounted higher; But, weak of Wing, on Planets perch'd; and thought What was their Highest, must be their Ador'd.

But

4677

But they how weak, who could no higher mount? And are there, then, Lor anzo! thofe, to whom Unfeen, and Unexistent, are the Same ? And, if Incomprehensible is join'd, Who dare pronounce it Madness, to believe? Why has the mighty Butener thrown ande it and all All Measure in his Work : ftretch'd out his Line So far, and spread Amazement o'er the Whole? Then (as he took Delight in wide Extremes). Deep in the Bolom of his Universe, and walk Dropt down that reas ning Mite; that Infect, Man, To crawl, and gaze, and wonder, at the Scene !-That Man might ne'er prefume to plead Amazement For Disbelief of Wonders in Himself. Shall Gop be less miraculous, than what His Hand has form'd ? Shall Myfteries descend From Un-myflerious ? Things more Elevate. Be more familiar? Uncreated lie sousis 8 sets sovie adject More obvious than Created, to the Grafe Of human Thought? The more of Wonderful Is heard in Him, the more we should affent. Could we conceive Him, GOD He could not be: Or He not GOD, or we could not be Men. A G O D alone can comprehend a G O D; Man's Distance how immense! On such a Theme. Know this, Lorenzo! (feem it ne'er fo ftrange) Nothing can fatisfy, but what confounds; Nothing, but what aftenifies, is true. The Scene thou feet, attells the Truth I fing. And ev'ry Star sheds Light upon thy Creed. Thefe Stars, this Furniture, this Cost of Heaven; If but reported, thou hadft ne'ar believ'd; But thine Eye tells thee, the Romance is true. The Grand of Nature is th' Almighty's Qath, In Reason's Court, to filence Undelief.

How my Mind, op'ning at this Scene, imbibes The moral Emanations of the Skies. While nought, perhaps, LORENZO less admires! Has the Great Sov'reign fent Ten thousand Worlds To tell us, He refides above them All. In Glory's unapproachable Recess? And dare Earth's bold Inhabitants denv The fumptuous, the magnific Embaffy A Moment's Audience ? Turn we, nor will hear From whom they come, or what they would impart For Man's Emolument; fole Caufe that floops Their Grandeur to Man's Eye? LORENZO! roufe: Let Thought, awaken'd, take the Lightning's Wing. And glance from East to West, from Pole to Pole. Who fees, but is confounded, or convinc'd? Renounces Reason, or a GOD adores? Mankind was fent into the World to fee: Sight gives the Science needful to their Peace : That obvious Science asks fmall Learning's Aid. Wouldst thou on Metaphysic Pinions foar? Or wound thy Patience amid Logic Thorns? Or travel Hiftory's enormous Round? Nature no such hard Task enjoins : She gave A Make to Man directive of his Thought; A Make fet upright, pointing to the Stars, As who should fay, " Read thy chief Lesson there." Too late to read this Manuscript of Heaven, When, like a Parchment-Scroll, fhrunk up by Flames, It folds LONENZO's Leffon from his Sight.

Lesson how various! Not the God alone,
I see His Ministers; I see, disfus'd
In radiant Orders, Essences sublime,
Of various Offices, of various Plume,
In heav'nly Liveries, distinctly clad,
Azure, Green, Purple, Pearl, or downy Gold,

Or all commix'd; they stand, with Wings outspread, Lift'ning to catch the Mafter's least Command. And fly thro' Nature, ere the Moment ends : Numbers innumerable !- Well conceiv'd By Pagan, and by Christian! O'er each Sphere Prefides an Angel, to direct its Course, And feed, or fan, its Flames; or to discharge Other high Trufts unknown. For who can fee Such Pomp of Matter, and imagine, Mind. For which alone Inanimate was made, More sparingly dispens'd? That nobler Son, Far liker the great SIRE!-'Tis thus the Skies Inform us of Superiors numberless, As much, in Excellence, above Mankind, As above Earth, in Magnitude, the Spheres. Thefe, as a Cloud of Witnesses, hang o'er us; In a throng'd Theatre are all our Deeds ; Perhaps, a Thousand Demigods descend On every Beam we fee, to walk with Men. Awful Reflection! Strong Restraint from Ill! Yet, bere, our Virtue finds still stronger Aid

From these ethereal Glories Sense surveys.

Something, like Magic, strikes from this blue Vault; With just Attention is it view'd? We feel

A sudden Succour, un-implor'd, unthought;

Nature herself does half the Work of Man.

Seas, Rivers, Mountains, Forests, Deserts, Rocks,
The Promontory's Height, the Depth prosound

Of subterranean, excavated Grots,

Black-brow'd, and vaulted high, and yawning wide

From Nature's Structure, or the Scoop of Time;

If ample of Dimension, vast of Size,

Ev'n These an aggrandizing Impulse give;

Of solemn Thought enthusiastic Heights

Ev'n These insuse.—But what of Vast in These?

Nothing ;-or we must own the Skies forgot. Much less in Art .- Vain Art ! Thou Pigmy-Power! How doft thou fwell, and firut, with human Pride. To flew thy Littleness! What childish Toys. Thy watry Columns iquirted to the Clouds! Thy bason'd Rivers, and imprison'd Seas! Thy Mountains moulded into Forms of Men! Thy Hundred-gated Capitals! Or those Where Three Days Travel left us much to ride : Gazing on Miracles by Mortals wrought. Arches Triumphal, Theatres immense, Or nodding Gurdens pendent in Mid Air! Or Temples proud to meet their Gods Half-way! Yet Thefe affect us in no common Kind. What then the Force of fuch superior Scenes? Enter a Temple, it will ftrike an Awe : What Awe from This the DEITY has built? A Good Man feen, tho' filent, Counfel gives : The touch'd Spectator wishes to be Wife: In a bright Mirror his own Hands have made, Here we fee Something like the Face of GOD. Seems it not then enough, to fay, LORENZO! To Man abandon'd, " Haft thou feen the Shies?"

And yet, so thwarted Nature's kind Design By daring Man, he makes her sacred Awe (That Guard from III) his Shelter, his Temptation To more than common Guilt, and quite inverts Celestial Art's Intent. The trembling Stars See Crimes gigantic, stalking thro' the Gloom With Front erect, that hide their Head by Day, And making Night still darker by their Deeds. Slumb'ring in Covert, till the Shades descend, Rapine and Murder, link'd, now prowl for Prey. The Miser earths his Treasures; and the Thief, Watching the Miole, helf-beggars him ere Morn.

Nothing:

Now Plots, and foul Conspiracies, awake; And, muffling up their Horrors from the Moon, Havock and Devastation they prepare, And Kingdoms tott'ring in the Field of Blood. Now Sons of Riot in Mid-Revel rage. What shall I do ?- Suppress it ? or proclaim ?-Why fleeps the Thunder? Now, LORENZO! now, His best Friend's Couch the rank Adulterer Ascends secure; and laughs at Gods and Men. Prepost'rous Madmen, void of Fear or Shame, Lav their Crimes bare to thefe chafte Eyes of Heaven: Yet shrink, and shudder, at a Mortal's Sight. Were Moon, and Stars, for Villains only made; To guide, yet fcreen them, with tenebrious Light? No; they were made to fashion the Sublime Of human Hearts, and wifer make the Wife.

Those Ends were answer'd once, when Mortala liv'd Of Stronger Wing, of Aquiline Ascent In Theory Sublime. O how unlike Those Vermin of the Night, this Moment fung. Who crawl on Earth, and on her Venom feed! Those antient Sages, Human Stars! They met Their Brothers of the Skies, at Midnight Hour; Their Counsel ask'd; and, what they ask'd, ober'd The Stagirito, and PLATO, He who drank The poison'd Bowl, and He of Tusculum, With Him of Corduba (immortal Names!) In these Unbounded, and Elysian, Walks, An Area fit for Gops, and Godlike Men, They took their nightly Round, thro' radiant Paths By Seraphs trod; instructed, chiefly, thus, To tread in Their bright Footsteps here Below ; To walk in Worth fill brighter than the Skies. There, they contracted their Contempt of Earth; Of Hopes eternal kindled, There, the Fire;

254 The Consolation. Night 9.

There, as in near Approach, they glow'd, and grew (Great Vifitants!) more intimate with GOD, More worth to Men, more joyous to Themselves.

Thro' various Virtues, they, with Ardor, ran
The Zediac of their learn'd, illustrious Lives.

In Christian Hearts, O for a Pagan Zeal!

A needful, but opprobrious Pray'r! As much
Our Ardor Less, as Greater is our Light.

How monstrous This in Morals! Scarce more strange
Would this Phanomenon in Nature strike,

A Sun, that froze us, or a Star, that warm'd.

What taught these Heroes of the Moral World? To These thou giv'st thy Praise, give Credit too. These Doctors ne'er were pension'd to deceive thee: And Pagan Tutors are thy Tafte .- They taught. That, Narrow Views betray to Mifery: That, Wife it is to comprehend the Whole: That, Virtue rose from Nature, ponder'd well, The fingle Base of Virtue built to Heaven : That, GOD, and Nature, our Attention claim: That, Nature is the Glass reflecting GOD, As, by the Sea, reflected is the Sun, Too glorious to be gaz'd on in his Sphere: That, Mind immortal loves immortal Aims: That, boundless Mind affects a boundless Space : That, Vast Surveys, and the Sublime of Things, The Soul affimilate, and make her Great: That, therefore, Heav'n her Glories, as a Fund Of Inspiration, thus spreads out to Man. Such are their Doctrines; Such the Night inspir'd.

And what more true? What Truth of greater Weight? The Soul of Man was made to walk the Skies; Delightful Outlet of her Prison Here! There, difincumber'd from her Chains, the Ties Of Toys terrestrial, she can rove at large;

There, freely can respire, dilate, extend,
In full Proportion let loose all her Powers;
And, undeluded, grasp at something Great.
Nor, as a Stranger, does she wander There;
But, wonderful Herself, thro' Wonder strays;
Contemplating their Grandeur, finds her own;
Dives deep in their Economy divine,
Sits high in Judgment on their various Laws,
And, like a Master, judges not amiss.
Hence greatly pleas'd, and justly proud, the Soul
Grows conscious of her Birth celestial; breathes
More Life, more Vigour, in her native Air;
And feels herself at home among the Stars;
And, feeling, emulates her Country's Praise.

What call we, then, the Firmament, LORENZO?—As Earth the Body, fince the Shies fustain
The Soul with Food, that gives immortal Life,
Call it, The noble Pasture of the Mind;
Which there expatiates, strengthens, and exults,
And riots thro' the Luxuries of Thought.
Call it, The Garden of the DEITY,
Blossom'd with Stars, redundant in the Growth
Of Fruit ambrosial; moral Fruit to Man.
Call it, The Breast-plate of the true High-Priest,
Ardent with Gems oracular, that give,
In Points of highest Moment, right Response;
And ill neglected, if we prize our Peace.

Thus have we found a true Astrology;
Thus, have we found a new, and noble Sense,
In which alone Stars govern human Fates.
O that the Stars (as some have seign'd) let fall
Bloodshed, and Havock, on embattled Realms,
And rescu'd Monarchs from so black a Guilt!
BOURBON! this Wish how gen'rous in a Foe!
Wouldst thou be Great, wouldst thou become a God,

And flick thy deathless Name among the Stars,

For mighty Conquests on a Needle's Point!

Instead of forging Chains for Foreigners,

Bastile thy Tator: Grandeur All thy Aim?

As yet thou know'st not what it is: How Great,

How Glorious, then, appears the Mind of Man,

When in it All the Stars, and Planets, roll!

And what it seems, it is: Great Objects make

Great Minds, enlarging as their Views enlarge;

Those still more Godlike, as These more Divine.

And more divine than These, thou canst not see.

Dazzled, o'erpower'd, with the delicious Draught
Of miscellaneous Splendors, how I reel
From Thought to Thought, inebriate, without End!
An Eden, This! a PARABISE unlost!
I meet the DEITY in ev'ry View,
And tremble at my Nakedness before him!
O that I could but reach the Free of Life!
For Here it grows, unguarded from our Taste;
No Flaming Sword denies our Entrance Here;
Would Man but gather, he might live for ever.

LORENZO! much of Moral haft thou feen.

Of curious Arts art thou more fond? Then mark
The Mashematic Glories of the Skies,
In Number, Weight; and Measure, All ordain'd.
LORENZO'S boasted Builders, Chance, and Fate,
Are left to finish his aereal Towers:
Wisdom, and Choice, their well-known Characters
Here deep-impress; and claim it for their Own.
Tho' Splendid All, no Splendor void of Use;
Use rivals Beauty: Art contends with Power;
No wanton Waste, smid effuse Expense;
The Great Chenomest adjusting All
To prudent Pomp, magnificently Wise.
How rich the Prospect 1 and for ever new!

And nerveft to the Man that views it most; For Newer still in Infinite succeeds; Then, These aereal Racers, O how swift! How the Shaft loiters from the grongest String! Spirit Alone can distance the Career. Orb above Orb afcending without End! Circle in Circle, without End, inclos'd! Wheel within Wheel ; EZEKIEL! like to Thine! Like Thine, it feems a Vision, or a Dream; Tho' feen, we labour to believe it true! What Involution! What Extent! What Swarms Of Worlds, that laugh at Earth! immensely Great! Immensely dillant from each other's Spheres! What, then, the wond'rous Space thro' which they roll? At once it quite ingulphs all human Thought; 'Tis Comprehension's absolute Defeat,

Nor think thou feeft a wild Diforder here; Thro' this illustrious Chaos to the Sight. Arrangement neat, and chastest Order, raign. The Path prescrib'd, inviolably kept, Upbraids the lawless Sallies of Mankind. Worlds, ever thwarting, never interfere; What Knots are ty'd! How foon are they diffoly'd, And fet the feeming marry'd Planets free! They rove for ever, without Error rove; Confusion unconfus'd! Nor less admire This Tumult untumultuous; All on Wing! In Motion, All! yet what profound Repose! What fervid Action, yet no Noise! as aw'd To Silence, by the Presence of their LORD; Or huth'd, by His Command, in Love to Man, And bid let fall foft Beams on human Reft, Restless themselves. On you corulean Plain, In Exultation to Their GOD, and Thine, They dance, they fing eternal Jubilee,

Eternal Celebration of His Praise.

But, fince their Song arrives not at our Ear,
Their Dance perplex'd exhibits to the Sight
Fair Hieroglyphic of His peerless Power.
Mark, how the Labyrinthian Turns they take,
The Circles intricate, and mystic Maze,
Weave the grand Cypher of Omnipotence;
To Gods, how Great! how Legible to Man!

Leaves fo much Wonder greater Wonder still?

Where are the Pillars that support the Skies?

What More than Atlantean Shoulder props

Th' incumbent Load? What Magic, what strange Art,
In suid Air these pond'rous Orbs sustains?

Who would not think them hung in golden Chains?

And so they are; in the high Will of Heaven,
Which sixes All; makes Adamant of Air,
Or Air of Adamant; makes All of Nought,
Or Nought of All; if such the dread Decree.

Imagine from their deep Foundations torn
The most gigantic Sons of Earth, the broad
And tow'ring Alps, all tost into the Sea;
And, light as Down, or volatile as Air,
Their Bulks enormous dancing on the Waves,
In Time, and Measure, exquisite; while all
The Winds, in Emulation of the Spheres,
Tune their sonorous Instruments alost;
The Concert swell, and animate the Ball.
Would this appear amazing? What, then, Worlds
In a far thinner Element sustain'd,
And acting the same Part, with greater Skill,
More rapid Movement, and for noblest Ends?

More obvious Ends to pass, are not these Stars The Seats Majestic, proud Imperial Thrones, On which angelic Delegates of Heaven, At certain Periods, as the Sov'REIGN nods,

Discharge

A

Discharge high Trusts of Vengeance, or of Love;
To cloathe, in outward Grandeur, Grand Design,
And Acts most Solemn still more solemnize?

Ye Citizens of Air! what ardent Thanks. What full Effusion of the grateful Heart, Is due from Man indulg'd in fuch a Sight! A Sight fo noble ! and a Sight fo kind ! It drops new Truths at ev'ry new Survey! Feels not LORENZO Something ftir within, That fweeps away all Period? As These Spheres Measure Duration, they no less inspire The Godlike Hope of Ages without End. The boundless Space, thro' which these Rovers take Their reftless Roam, suggests the Sister-Thought Of boundless Time. Thus, by kind Nature's Skill, To Man un-labour'd, that important Gueft, ETERNITY, finds Entrance at the Sight: And an Eternity, for Man ordain'd, Or These his destin'd Midnight Counsellors. The Stars, had never whisper'd it to Man. NATURE informs, but ne'er infults, her Sons. Could she then kindle the most ardent Wish To disappoint it ?- That is Blasphemy. Thus, of thy Creed a Second Article, Momentous, as th' Existence of a GOD, Is found (as I conceive) where rarely fought; And thou may'ft read thy Soul immortal, Here.

Here, then, LORENZO! on these Glories dwell;
Nor want the gilt, illuminated, Roof,
That calls the wretched Gay to dark Delights.

Assemblies?—This is one divinely bright;
Here, un-endanger'd in Health, Wealth, or Fame,
Range thro' the fairest, and the SULTAN scorn.

He, wise as Thou, no Grescent holds so fair,
As That, which on his Turbant awes a World;

The CONSOLATION. Night 9. And thinks the Moon is proud to copy Him. Look on her, and gain more than Worlds can give, A Mind Superior to the Charms of Power. Thou muffled in Delutions of this Life! Can vonder Moon turn Ocean in his Bed. From Side to Side, in conftant Ebb, and Flow. And purify from Stench his watry Realms ? And fails her moral Influence? Wants the Power To turn Lorenzo's flubborn Tide of Thought From fingnating on Earth's infected Shore. And purge from Nuisance his corrupted Heart? Fails her Attraction when it draws to Heaven? Nay, and to what thou valu'ft more, Earth's Joy? Minds elevate, and panting for Unfeen, And defecate from Senfe, alone obtain Full Relish of Existence undeflower'd, The Life of Life, the Zeft of worldly Blifs. All else on Earth amounts-to what? To This: " BAD to be Suffer'd; BLESSINGS to be Left:" Earth's richest Inventory boasts no more.

Of higher Scenes be, then, the Call obey'd.
Of let me gaze!—Of Gazing there's no End.
Of let me think!—Thought too is wilder'd bere;
In Mid-way Flight Imagination tires;
Yet foon re-prunes her Wing to foar anew,
Her Point unable to forbear, or gain;
So great the Pleafure, fo profound the Plan!
A Banquet, This, where Men, and Angels, meet,
Eat the fame Manna, mingle Earth, and Heaven.
How diftant fome of these nocturnal Suns!
So diffant (says the Sage *), 'twere not absurd
To doubt, if Beams, set out at Nature's Birth,
Are yet arrived at this so foreign World;
Tho' nothing half so rapid as their Flight.
An Eye of Awe and Wonder let me roll,

And roll for ever: Who can satisfie Sight
In such a Scene? In such an Ocean wide
Of deep Astonishment? Where Depth, Height, Breadth,
Are lost in their Extremes; and where to count
The thick-sown Glories in this Field of Fire,
Perhaps a Seraph's Computation fails.
Now, go, Ambition! boast thy boundless Might
In Conquest, o'er the Tenth Part of a Grain.

And yet LORENZO calls for Miracles. To give his tott'ring Faith a folid Bafe. Why call for Lefs than is already thine? Thou art no Novice in Theology; What is a Miracle ?- Tis a Reproach. 'Tis an implicit Satire, on Mankind; And while it fatisfies, it cenfures too. To Common-Sense, Great Nature's Course proclaims A DEITY: When Mankind falls affeen. A Miracle is fent, as an Alarm, To wake the World, and prove Him o'er again. By recent Argument, but not more frong. Say, Which imports more Plenitude of Power, Or Nature's Laws to fix, or to repeal? To make a Sun, or flop his Mid-Career? To countermand his Orders, and fend back The flaming Courier to the frighted Eaft; Warm'd, and aftonish'd, at his Ev'ning Ray ? Or bid the Moon, as with her Journey tir'd, In Ajalon's foft, flow'ry Vale repose? Great Things are Thefe; still Greater, to create. From ADAM's Bow'r look down thro' the whole Trans Of Miracles ;- Refiftles is their Power? They do not, can not, more amade the Mind, Than This, call'd un-miraculous Survey, If duly weigh'd, if rationally feerly If feen with buman Eyes. The Brute, indeed,

The CONSOLATION. 262 Night 9. Sees nought but Spangles here ; the Fool, no more. Say'ft thou, " The Course of Nature governs All ?" The Course of Nature is the Art of GOD. The Miracles thou call'ft for, This atteft : For fay, Could Nature Nature's Course controul? But, Miracles apart, who fees HIM not? Nature's CONTROULER, AUTHOR, GUIDE, and END? Who turns his Eye on Nature's Midnight Face. But must inquire-" What Hand behind the Scene. " What Arm Almighty, put these wheeling Globes " In Motion, and wound up the vaft Machine? " Who rounded in his Palm these spacious Orbs? " Who bowl'd them flaming thro' the dark Profound. " Num'rous as glitt'ring Gems of Morning-Dew. " Or Sparks from populous Cities in a Blaze, " And fet the Bosom of Old Night on Fire? " Peopled her Defart, and made Horror smile?" Or if the military Style delights thee, (For Stars have fought their Battles, leagu'd with Man) Who marshals this bright Host? Enrolls their Names? 44 Appoints their Post, their Marches, and Returns. " Punctual at flated Periods? Who disbands " These Vet'ran Troops, their final Duty done, " If e'er disbanded ?"-HE, whose potent Word, Like the loud Trumpet, levy'd first their Powers In Night's inglorious Empire, where they flept In Beds of Darkness; arm'd them with fierce Flames, Arrang'd, and disciplin'd, and cloath'd in Gold; And call'd them out of Chaos to the Field, Where now they war with Vice and Unbelief. O let us join This Army! Joining Thefe, Will give us Hearts intrepid, at That Hour, When brighter Flames shall cut a darker Night; When these strong Demonstrations of a GOD

Shall hide their Heads, or tumble from their Spheres, And one eternal Curtain cover All!

Struck at that Thought, as new-awak'd, I lift A more enlighten'd Eye, and read the Stars To Man ftill more propitious; and their Aid (Tho' guiltless of Idolatry) implore : Nor longer rob them of their noblest Name. O ve Dividers of my Time ! Ye bright Accomptants of my Days, and Months, and Years. In your fair Kalendar diftinctly mark'd! Since that authentic, radiant Register, Tho' Man inspects it not, stands good against him; Since You, and Years, roll on, tho' Man stands still : Teach me my Days to number, and apply My trembling Heart to Wisdom; now beyond All Shadows of Excuse for fooling on. Age smooths our Path to Prudence; sweeps afide The Snares, keen Appetite, and Paffion, spread To catch stray Souls; and Woe to that grey Head. Whose Folly would undo, what Age has done! Aid, then, aid, All ye Stars !- Much rather, THOU. Great ARTIST! THOU, whose Finger fet aright This exquisite Machine, with all its Wheels, The' intervolv'd, exact; and pointing out Life's rapid, and irrevocable Flight, With fuch an Index fair, as none can mis, Who lifts an Eye, nor fleeps till it is clos'd. Open mine Eye, Dread DEITY! to read The tacit Doctrine of thy Works; to fee Things as they are, unalter'd thro' the Glass Of worldly Wishes. Time, Eternity! ('Tis Thefe, mif-measur'd, ruin all Mankind) Set them before me; let me lay them Both In equal Scale, and learn their various Weight. Let Time appear a Moment, as it is;

264 The Consolation. Night 9.

And let Eternity's full Orb, at once,
Turn on my Soul, and strike it into Heaven.
When shall I see far more than charms me Now?
Gaze at Creation's Model in Thy Breast,
Unveil'd, nor wonder at the Transcript more?
When, This vile, foreign, Dust, which smothers Ass
That travel Earth's deep Vale, shall I shake off?
When shall my Soul her Incarnation quit,
And, re-adopted to Thy Blest Embrace,
Obtain her Apotheosis in THEE?

Doft think, Lorenzo! this is wand'ring wide? No. 'tis directly firiking at the Mark : To wake thy dead Devotion was my Point : And how I blefs Night's confecrating Shades. Which to a Temple turn an Univerle: Fill us with great Ideas, full of Heaven. And antidote the pestilential Earth! In ev'ry Storm, that either frowns, or falls. What an Afylam has the Soul in Pray'r! And what a Fane is This, in which to pray! And what a GOD must dwell in such a Fane! O what a Genius must inform the Skies! And is LORENZO's Salamander-Heart Cold, and untouch'd, amid thefe facred Fires? O ye nocturnal Sparks! Ye glowing Embers. On Heaven's broad Hearth! Who burn, or burn no more, Who blaze, or die, as Great JEHOVAH's Breath Or blows you, or forbears! affift my Song: Pour your whole Influence; exorcise his Heart, So long possest; and bring him back to Man.

And is LORENZO a Demurrer fill?

Pride in thy Parts provokes thee to contest

Truths, which, contested, put thy Parts to Shame.

Nor shame they more Lorenzo's Head, than Heart;

What Blafphemy to Reason, sets thee free? This Scene is Heav'n's indulgent Violence: Canft thou bear up against this Tide of Glory? What is Earth bosom'd in these ambient Orbs. But, Faith in GOD impos'd, and press'd on Man Dar'ft thou fill litigate thy desp'rate Cause. Spite of these num'rous, awful, Witneffes. And doubt the Deposition of the Skies? O how laborious is thy Way to Ruin! Laborious ? 'Tis imprasticable quite: To fink beyond a Doubt, in this Debate. With all his Weight of Wildom, and of Will. And Crime flagitious, I defy a Foo!. Some with they did; but no Man difbelieves. GOD is a Spirit; Spirit cannot firike These gross material Organs; GOD by Man As much is feen, as Man a GOD can fee, In these astonishing Exploits of Power.

What Order, Beauty, Motion, Diffance, Size!
Concertion of Defign, how exquifite!
How complicate, in their divine Police!

Apt Means! Great Ends! Confent to gen'ral Good!— Each Attribute of these material Gods, So long (and that with specious Pleas) ador'd,

A fep'sate Conquest gains o'er Rebel Thought; And leads in Triumph the whole Mind of Man.

Lorenzo! This may feem Harangue to Thee; Such All is apt to feem, that thwarts our Will. And dost thou, then, demand a fimple Proof Of this great Master-Moral of the Skies, Unskill'd, or dis-inclin'd, to read it there? Since 'tis the Basis, and All drops without it, Take it, in One compact, unbroken Chain. Such Proof insists on an attentive Ear; 'Twill not make One amid a Mob of Thoughts.

And, for thy Notice, struggle with the World.

Retire; — The World shut out; — Thy Thoughts call Imagination's airy Wing repress; — [Home; — Lock up thy Senses; — Let no Passion stir; — Wake all to Reason; — Let her reign alone; — Then, in thy Soul's deep Silence, and the Depth Of Nature's Silence, Midnight, thus inquire, As I have done; and shall inquire no more.

In Nature's Channel, thus the Questions run.

"What am 1? and from Whince? -- I nothing know,

" But that I am; and, fince I am, conclude

" Something Eternal: Had there e'er been Nougle,

" Nought fill had been : Eternal there muft be .-

" But What Eternal ? - Why not Human Race ? --

" And ADAM's Ancellors without an End?-

"That's hard to be conceiv'd; fince ev'ry Link

" Of that long chain'd Succession is so frail;

" Can ev'ry Part depend, and not the Whole?

" Yet grant it True ; mav Difficulties rife ;

" I'm fill quite out at Sea; nor fee the Shore.

"Whence Earth, and these bright Orbs?-Eternal too-

" Grant Matter was Eternal; fill thefe Orbs

" Would want fome Other Father ;- Much Defign

" Is feen in all their Motions, all their Makes ;

" Defign implies Intelligence, and Art:

" That can't be from Themselves-or Man; That Art

" Man scarce can comprehend, could Man bestow?

" And nothing greater, yet allow'd, than Man .-

"Who, Motion, foreign to the smallest Grain,

" Shot thro' vast Masses of enormous Weight ?

" Who bid brute Matter's reftive Lump stume

" Such various Forms, and gave it Wings to fly?

" Has Matter innate Motion ? Then each Atom,

" Afferting its indifputable Right

nd.

" To dance, would form an Universe of Duft :

- " Has Matter none? Then whence these glorious Forms,
- " And boundless Flights, from Shapeless, and Repos'd?
- " Has Matter more than Motion? Has it Thought,
- " Judgment, and Genius? Is it deeply learn'd
- " In Mathematics ? Has it fram'd fuch Laws,
- " Which, but to guess, a NEWTON made immortal !-
- " If fo, how each fage Atom laughs at me,
- " Who think a Clod inferior to a Man!
- " If Art, to form; and Counfel, to conduct;
- " And That with greater far, than Human Skill;
- " Refides not in each Block, -a GODHEAD reigns.-
- " Grant, then, Invisible, Eternal, MIND;
- " That granted, All is folv'd .- But, granting That,
- " Draw I not o'er me a ftill darker Cloud ?
- " Grant I not That which I can ne'er conceive ?
- " A Being without Origin, or End !-
- " Hail, Human Liberty! There is no GOD-
- " Yet, Why? On either Scheme that Knot subfifts;
- " Subfift it muft, in GOD, or Human Race;
- " If in the Laft, how many Knots befide,
- " Indiffoluble All ?- Why chuse it There,
- " Where, chosen, still subsist Ten thousand more?
- " Reject it, where, That chofen, all the Reft
- " Difpers'd, leave Reafon's whole Horizon clear?
- .. This is not Reason's Dictate; Reason fays,
- " Close with the Side where One Grain turns the Scale;
- " What vast Preponderance is Here! Can Reason
- " With louder Voice exclaim-Believe a GOD?
- 44 And Reofen heard, is the fole Mark of Man.
- " What Things Impossible must Man think True,
- " On any other System! And how strange"
- " To diftelieve, thro' mere Credulity !"

If, in this Chain, Lorenzo finds no Flaw,

Let it for ever bind him to Belief.

And where the Link, in which a Flaw he finds?

And, if a GOD there is, that GOD how Great! How Great that Pow'r, whose Providential Care Thro' these bright Orbs dark Centres darts a Ray! Of Nature universal threads the Whole! And hangs Creation, like a precious Gem, Tho' little, on the Footstool of His Throne!

That Little Gem, how Large! A Weight let fall
From a fixt Star, in Ages can it reach
This diffant Earth? Say, then, Lorenzo! where,
Where ends this mighty Building? Where, begin
The Suburbs of Creation? Where, the Wall
Whose Battlements look o'er into the Vale
Of Non-Existence? Nothing's strange Abode!
Say, at what Point of Space JE HOVAH dropp'd
His slacken'd Line, and laid His Balance by;
Weigh'd Worlds, and measur'd Infinite, no more?
Where, rears His terminating Pillar high
Its extra-mundane Head? and says, to Gods,
In Characters illustrious as the Sun,

I stand, the Plan's proud Period; I pronounce
The Work accomplish'd, the Creation clos'd:
Shout, all ye Gods! nor shout, ye Gods alone;
Of all that lives, or, if devoid of Life,
That rests, or rolls, ye Heights, and Depths, resound!
Resound! resound! ye Depths, and Heights, resound!
Hard are those Questions?—Answer harder still.

Is This the Sole Exploit, the Single Birth,
The Solitary Son, of Pow'r Divine?
Or has th' Almighty F A T H E R, with a Breath,
Impregnated the Womb of distant Space?
Has He not bid, in various Provinces,
Brother-Creations the dark Bowels burst
Of Night primaval; barren, now, no more?
And He the central Sun, transpiercing all
Those Giant Generations, which disport,

And dance, as Motes, in his Meridian Ray;
That Ray withdrawn, Benighted, or Abforb'd,
In that Abyls of Horror, whence they sprung;
While Chaos triumphs, reposses of All
Rival Creation ravish'd from his Throne?
Chaos! of Nature both the Womb, and Grave!

Think'st thou, my Scheme, LORENZO, spreads too Is This extravagant ?-No; This is juft; [wide? Juft, in Conjecture, tho' 'twere falle in Fact. If 'tis an Error, 'tis an Error fprung From noble Root, High Thought of the MOST-HIGH. But wherefore Error ? Who can prove it fuch ?-He that can fet OMNIPOTENCE a Bound. Can Man conceive beyond what Gop can do? Nothing, but Quite Impossible, is Hard. He fummons into Being, with like Eafe, A Whole Creation, and a fingle Grain. Speaks He the Word? a Thousand Worlds are born !-A Thousand Worlds? 'There's Space for Millions more: And in what Space can his great Fiat fail ? Condemn me not, cold Critic! but indulge The warm Imagination: Why condemn? Why not indulge Such Thoughts, as fwell our Hearts With fuller Admiration of That Pow'r, Who gives our Hearts with fuch high Thoughts to swell? Why not indulge in His augmented Praise? Darts not His Glory a fill brighter Ray, The less is left to Chuos, and the Realms Of hideous Night, where Fancy strays aghast; And, tho' most talkutive, makes no Report?

Still feems my Thought enormous? Think again;—
Experience 'Self shall aid thy lame Belief.

Glasses (that Revelation to the Sight!)

Have they not led us deep in the Disclose

Of fine-spun Nature, exquisitely Small,

And,

And, tho' demonstrated, still ill-conceived?

If, then, on the Reverse, the Mind would mount In Magnitude, what Mind can mount too far,

To keep the Balance, and Creation poise?

Deficit alone can err on such a Theme;

What is too Great, if we the Cause survey?

Stupendous ARCHITECT! Thou, Thou art All!

My Soul slies up and down in Thoughts of Thee,

And finds herself but at the Centre still!

I AM, Thy Name! Existence, all Thine own!

Creation's Nothing; flatter'd much, if styl'd

"The thin, the secting Atmosphere of GOD."

O for the Voice-of What? of Whom?-What Voice Can answer to my Wants, in such Ascent. As dares to deem One Universe too small? Tell me, LORENZO! (for now Fancy glows, Fir'd in the Vortex of Almighty-Power) Is not this Home Creation, in the Map Of universal Nature, as a Speck, Like fair BRITANNIA in our little Ball; Exceeding fair, and glorious, for its Size, But, elsewhere, far out-measur'd, far out-shone? In Fancy (for the Fact beyond us lies) Canft thou not figure it, an Ifle, almost Too small for Notice, in the Valt of Being; Sever'd by mighty Seas of un-built Space, From other Realms; from ample Continents Of higher Life, where nobler Natives dwell; Less Northern, less remote from DEITY, Glowing beneath the Line of the SUPREME; Where Souls in Excellence make Hafte, put forth Luxuriant Growths: nor the late Autumn wait Of Human Worth, but ripen foon to Gods ?

Yet why drown Fancy in such Depths as these?
Return, presumptuous Rover! and confess

The

The CONSOLATION. Night q. 272 The Bounds of Man; nor blame them, as too fmall. Enjoy we not full Scope in what is feen? Full ample the Dominions of the Sun! Full glorious to behold! How far, how wide, The matchless Monarch, from his flaming Throne. Lavish of Lustre, throws his Beams about him. Farther, and faster, than a Thought can fly. And feeds his Planets with eternal Fires ! This Heliopolis, by Greater far, Than the proud Tyrant of the Nile, was built: And He alone, who built it, can deftroy. Beyond this City, why strays human Thought? One Wonderful, enough for Man to know! One Infinite, enough for Man to range! One Firmament, enough for Man to read ! O what voluminous Infruction Here! What Page of Wildom is deny'd him? None; If learning his chief Leffon makes him Wife. Nor is Instruction, Here, our only Gain : There dwells a noble Pather in the Skies. Which warms our Passions, profelytes our Hearts. How eloquently thines the glowing Pole! With what Authority it gives its Charge, Remonstrating great Truths in Style sublime, Tho' Silent, Loud! heard Earth around; above The Planets heard; and not unheard in Hell; Hell has her Wonder, though too proud to praife. Is Earth, then, more Infernal? Has the Those, Who neither praise (LORENZO!) nor admire? LORENZO's Admiration, pre engag'd, Ne'er aft'd the Moon One Question; never held Leaft Correspondence with a fingle Star; Ne'er rear'd an Altar to the Queen of Heaven Walking in Brightnes; or her Train ador'd. Their fublunary Rivals have long fince

Engross'd

Engross'd his whole Devotion; Stars malign, Which made their fond Astronomer run mad : Darken his Intellett, corrupt his Heart : Cause him to facrifice his Fame and Peace To momentary Madness, call'd Delight. Idolater, more groß than ever kis'd The lifted hand to LUNA, or pour'd out The Blood to Jove !- O THOU, to whom belongs All Sacrifice! O Thou Great Jove unfeign'd! DIVINE INSTRUCTOR! Thy first Volume, This. For Man's Perusal : All in CAPITALS! In Moon and Stars (Heav'n's golden Alphabet!) Emblaz'd to feize the Sight; who runs may read; Who reads, can understand. 'Tis unconfin'd To Christian Land, or Fewry; fairly writ, In Language universal, to MANKIND: A Language, Lofty to the Learn'd; yet Plain To Those that feed the Flock, or guide the Plough. Or, from its Hufk, firike out the bounding Grain. A Language, worthy the GREAT MIND, that fpeaks! Preface, and Comment, to the Sacred Page! Which oft refers its Reader to the Skies. As pre-supposing his First Lesson there, And Scripture-felf a Fragment, That unread. Stupendous Book of Wisdom, to the Wife! Stupendous Book! and open'd, NIGHT, by Thee.

By Thee much open'd, I confess, O Night!
Yet more I wish; but how shall I prevail?
Say, gentle Night! whose modest, maiden Beams,
Give us a new Creation, and present
The Wörld's great Picture soften'd to the Sight;
Nay, Kinder far, far more Indulgent still,
Say, Thou, whose mild Dominion's Silver Key,
Unlocks our Hemisphere, and sets to View
Worlds beyond Number; Worlds conceal'd by Day

Behind

274 The Consolation. Night 9.

Behind the proud, and envious Star of Noon! Canft thou not draw a deeper Scene ?- And shew The Mighty POTENTATE, to whom belong These rich Regalia pompously display'd To kindle that high Hope? Like Him of Uz, I gaze around; I fearch on ev'ry Side-O for a Glimple of HIM my Soul adores: As the chas'd Hart, amid the defart Waste, Pants for the living Stream; for HIM who made her, So pants the thirfty Soul, amid the Blank Of fublunary Joys. Say, Goddels! Where? [Throne? Where, blazes His bright Court? Where burns His Thou know's; for Thou art near Him; by Thee, round His grand Pavilion, facred Fame reports The fable Curtain drawn. If not, can none Of thy fair Daughter-Train, fo swift of Wing, Who travel far, discover where He dwells? A Star His Dwelling pointed out below. Ye Phiades! Arcturus! Mazaroth! And thou, Orion! of fill keener Eye! Say ye, who guide the Wilder'd in the Waves, And bring them out of Tempest into Port! On which Hand must I bend my Course to find Him? These Courtiers keep the Secret of their KING; I wake whole Nights, in vain, to steal it from them.

I wake; and, waking, climb Night's radiant Scale, From Sphere to Sphere; the Steps by Nature set For Man's Ascent; at once to tempt and aid; To tempt his Eye, and aid his tow'ring Thought? Till it arrives at the Great Goal of all.

In ardent Contemplation's rapid Car, From Earth, as from my Barrier, I set out. How swift I mount! Diminish'd Earth recedes; I pass the Moon; and, from her farther Side, Pierce Heav'n's blue Curtain; strike into Remote;

Where,

Where, with his lifted Tube, the fubtil Sage His artificial, airy Journey takes, And to Celefial lengthens Human Sight. I pause at ev'ry Planet on my Road, And alk for HIM who gives their Orbs to roll. Their Foreheads fair to thine. From SATURN's Ring. In which, of Earths an Army might be loft. With the bold Comet, take my bolder Flight, Amid those for reign Glories of the Skies. Of independent, native Lustre, proud! The Souls of Systems, and the Lords of Life, Thro' their wide Empires !- What behold I now? A Wilderness of Wonders burning round; Where larger Suns inhabit bigber Spheres; Perhaps the Villas of descending Gods! Nor halt I here; my Toil is but begun; "Tis but the Threshold of the DEITY; Or, far beneath it, I am groveling still, Nor is it strange; I built on a Mistake; The Grandeur of His Works, whence Folly lought For Aid, to Reason sets his Glory higher; Who built thus high for Worms (mere Worms to Him); O where, LORENZO! must the BUILDER dwell? Paufe, then; and, for a Moment, here respire-If human Thought can keep its Station Here. Where am I ?- Where is Earth?- Nay, where art Thou, O Sun?-Is the Sun turn'd Reclufe :- And are His boasted Expeditions short to Mine? To mine, how short ! On Nature's Alps I stand, And fee a Thousand Firmaments beneath! A Thousand Systems! as a Thousand Grains; So much a Stranger, and so late arrived, How can Man's curious Spirit not inquire, What are the Natives of this World fublime,

276 The CONSOLATION. Night 9. Of this fo foreign, un-terrestrial Sphere,

Where Mortal, untranslated, never stray'd?

" O Ye, as diftant from my Little Home,

" As fwiftest Sun-beams in an Age can fly!

" Far from my native Element I roam,

" In Quest of New, and Wonderful, to Man.

" What Province This, of His immense Domain,

"Whom All obeys? Or Mortals here, or Gods?

" Ye Bord'rers on the Coasts of Blifs! What are you?

" A Colony from Heav'n ? Or, only rais'd,

"Whate'er your Nature, This is past Dispute,

" You talk, far other Thought, perhaps, you think,

" But fay, What Thought? Is Reafon here inthron'd,

" Have you Two Lights? Or need you no reveal'd?

" Enjoy your happy Realms their golden Age?

" And had your EDEN an abstemious Eve?

" And if by Death; What Death?-Know you Difease?

" Or horrid War?-With War, This fatal Hour,

- " By their own Mud unmurder'd! How we wage
- " Self-War eternal !- Is your painful Day
- " Of hardy Conflict o'er ? Or, are you ftill
- " Raw Candidates at School? And have you Those
- " Who difaffect Reversions, as with Us?-
- "But what are We? You never heard of Man,
- " Or Earth; the Bedlam of the Universe!
- "Where Reason (undiseas'd with you) runs mad,
- " And nurses Folly's Children as ber own;
- " Fond of the Foulest. In the facred Mount
- " Of Holinefs, where Reason is pronounc'd
- " Infullible; and thunders, like a God;
- " Ev'n there, by Saints, the Damons are outdone;
- " What Thefe think Wrong, our Saints refine to Right :
- " And kindly teach dull Hell her own black Arts;
- " SATAN, instructed, o'er their Morals smiles .-
- " But This, how strange to You, who know not Man!
- " Has the least Rumour of our Race arriv'd?
- " Call'd bere Elijah, in his flaming Car?
- " Past by you the good Enoch, on his Road
- "To those fair Fields, whence Lucifer was hurl'd;
- "Who brush'd, perhaps, your Sphere, in his Descent,
- " Stain'd your pure cryftal Æther, or let fall
- " A short Eclipse from his portentous Shade ?
- "O! that that Fiend had lodg'd on some broad Orb

" Athwart his Way; nor reach'd his present Home,

" Then blacken'd Earth with Footsleps foul'd in Hell. "

" Nor wash'd in Ocean, as from Rome he past

"To BRITAIN'S Ifle; 100, 100, conspicuous There!"
But This is all Digression; Where is HE.

That o'er Heav'n's Battlements the Felon hurl'd To Groans, and Chains, and Darkness? Where is Hz. Who fees Creation's Summit in a Vale? HE, Whom, while Man is Man, he can't but feek : And if he finds, commences more than Man? O for a Telescope his Throne to reach! Tell me, ye Learn'd on Earth, or Bleft Above! Ye fearching, ye Newtonian Angels! tell, Where, your Great MASTER's Orb? His Planets, where? Those conscious Satellites, those Morning-Stars, First-born of DEITY! from Central Love, By Veneration most profound, thrown off; By fweet Attraction, no less strongly drawn; Aw'd, and yet raptur d; raptur'd, yet ferene; Past Thought, illustrious, but with borrow'd Beams; In fill approaching Circles, fill remote, Revolving round the Sun's eternal SIRE? Or fent, in Lines direct, on Embaffies To Nations-in what Latitude ? - Beyond Terrestrial Thought's Horizon !- And on what High Errands fent?-Here buman Effort ends; And leaves me fill a Stranger to His Throne.

Full well it might! I quite mislock my Road.

Born in an Age more Curious than Devout;

More fond to fix the Place of Heav'n, or Hell,

Than studious this to shun, or that secure.

Tis not the eurious, but the pious Path,

That leads me to my Point: Lorenzo! know,

Without or Star, or Angel, for their Guide,

Who worship GOD, shall find Him. Humble Love,

And

And not proud Reason, keeps the Door of Heav'n: Love finds Admiffion, where proud Science fails. Man's Science is the Culture of his Heart : And not to lofe his Plumbet in the Depths Of Nature, or the more Profound of GOD: Either to know, is an Attempt that fets The Wifest on a Level with the Fool. To fathom Nature, (ill-attempted Here!) Past Doubt is deep Philosophy Above; Higher Degrees in Blifs Archangels take, As deeper learn'd; the Deepeft, learning fill. For, what a Thunder of Omnipotence (So might I dare to speak) is fren in All! In Man! in Earth! In more amazing Skies! Teaching this Lesion, Pride is loth to learn-" Not deeply to Difeern, not much to Know, " Mankind was born to Wonder and Apore." And is there Caute for higher Wonder ftill, Than that which struck us from our past Surveys? Yes; and for deeper Adoration too. From my late airy Travel unconfin'd, Have I learn'd nothing ?-Yes, LORENZO! This; Each of these Stars is a Religious House; I faw their Altars smoke, their Incense rise, And heard Hojannas ring thro' ev'ry Sphere; A Seminary fraught with future Gods. Nature all o'er is confecrated Ground, Teeming with Growths, Immortal, and Divine. The Great PROPRIETOR's all-bounteous Hand Leaves nothing wafte; but fows thefe fiery Fields With Seeds of Reason, which to Virtues rife Beneath his genial Ray; and, if escap'd The pettilential Blafts of stubborn Will, When grown mature, are gather'd for the Skies. And is Devotion thought too much on Earth,

When Beings, so Superior, Homage boast, And triumph in Prostrations to The Throne?

But wherefore more of Planets, or of Stars?

Æthereal Journeys, and, discovered there,
Ten thousand Worlds, Ten thousand Ways devout,
All Nature sending Incense to The Throne,
Except the bold Lorenzo's of Our Sphere?
Op'ning the solemn Sources of my Soul,
Since I have pour'd, like seign'd Eridanus,
My slowing Numbers o'er the staming Skies,
Nor see, of Fancy, or of Fast, what more
Invites the Muse—Here turn we, and review
Our past Nocturnal Landschape wide:—Then say,
Say, then, Lorenzo! with what Burst of Heart,
The Whole, at once, revolving in his Thought,
Must Man exclaim, adoring, and aghast?

- " O what a Root, O what a Branch is Here!
- " O what a Father! What a Family!
- " Worlds! Systems! and Creations!-And Creations.
- " In one agglomerated Clufter, hung,
- " Great VINE! On THEE, on THEE the Clufter
- " The Filial Cluster! infinitely spread [" hangs;
- " In glowing Globes, with various Being fraught;
- " And drinks (Nectareous Draught!) Immortal Life.
- " Or, shall I fay (for Who can fay enough?)
- " A Constellation of Ten thousand Gems,
- " (And, O! of what Dimension! of what Weight!)
- " Set in One Signet, flames on the Right-Hand
- " Of MAJESTY DIVINE; The Blazing Seal,
- " That deeply stamps, on all-created Mind,
- " Indelible, His fov'reign Attributes,
- " OMNIPOTENCE, and Love! That, paffing Bound:
- " And This, surpassing That. Nor stop we Here,
- " For Want of Pow'r in GOD, but Thought in MAN.

" Ev'n This acknowledg'd, leaves us ftill in Debt;

" If Greater aught, That Greater all is THINE,

" DREAD SIRE! - Accept this Miniature of THEE;

" And pardon an Attempt from Mortal Thought,

"In which Archangels might have fail'd, unblam'd."
How such Ideas of th' A L M I G H T Y's Pow'r,
And such Ideas of th' A L M I G H T Y's Plan,

(Ideas not absurd) diftend the Thought
Of feeble Mortals! Nor of Them alone!
The Fullness of the DEITY breaks forth
In Inconceivables to Men, and Gods.

Think, then, O think; nor ever drop the Thought; How low must Man descend, when Gods adore!—
Have I not, then, accomplish'd my proud Boast?
Did I not tell thee, " * We would mount, LORENZO!

" And kindle our Devotion at the Stars ?"

And have I fail'd? And did I flatter thee? And art all Adamant? And doft confute All urg'd, with One irrefragable Smile? LORENZO! Mirth how miferable Here! Swear by the Stars, by HIM who made them, fwear, Thy Heart, henceforth, shall be as pure as They! Then Thou, like Them, shalt Sine; like Them, shalt rife From Low to Lofty, from Obscure to Bright; By due Gradation, Nature's facred Law. The Stars, from whence ?- Ask Chaos - He can tell. These bright Temptations to Idolatry, From Darkness, and Confusion, took their Birth; Sons of Deformity! From fluid Dregs Tartarean, first they rose to Masses rude; And then, to Spheres opaque; Then dimly shone; Then brighten'd; Then blaz'd out in perfett Day. Nature delights in Progress: in Advance From Worse to Better : But, when Minds ascend,

Progress, in Part, depends upon Themselves Heav'n aids Exertion; Greater makes the Great; The voluntary Little lessens more.

O be a Man! and thou fhalt be a God!

And Half Self-made !- Ambition how Divine !

O Thou, ambitious of Difgrace alone! Still Undevout! Unkindled !- Tho' high-taught. School'd by the Skies; and Pupil of the Stars; Rank Coward to the Fashicnalle World! Art thou afkam'd to bend thy Knee to Heaven? Curft Fume of Pride, exhal'd from deepelt Hell! Pride in Religion is Man's highest Praife. Bent on Dettruction! and in Love with Death! Not all these Luminaries, quench'd at once. Were half fo fad, as One benighted Mind, Which gropes for Happiness, and meets Despair. How, like a Widow in her Weeds, the Night, Amid her glimm'ring Tapers, filent fits! How forrowful, how defolate, the weeps Perpetual Dews, and faddens Nature's Scene! A Scene more fad Sin makes the darken'd Soul : All Comfort kills, nor leaves one Spark alive.

Tho' blind of Heart, fill open is thine Eye:
Why such Magnificence in all thou seest?
Of Matter's Grandeur, know, One End is This,
To tell the Rational, who gazes on it—

- . Tho' That immensely Great, fill Greater He,
- " Whose Breast, capacious, can embrace, and lodge,
- " Unburden'd, Nature's Universal Scheme;
- " Can grafp Creation with a fingle Thought;
- " Creation grasp; and not exclude its SIRE"——
 To tell him farther—" It behoves him much
- " To guard th' important, yet depending, Fate
- " Of Being, brighter than a thousand Suns:
- " One fingle Ray of Thought outshines them all."

And if Man hears obedient, foon he'll foar Superior Heights, and on his purple Wing, His purple Wing bedrop'd with Eyes of Gold, Rifing, where Thought is now deny'd to rife, Look down triumphant on these dazling Spheres.

Why then perfift ?- No Mortal ever liv'd But, dying, he pronounc'd (when Words are true!) The Whole that charms thee, absolutely Vain; Vain, and far worse !- Think Thou, with dying Men; O condificend to think as Angels think ! O tolerate a Chance for Happiness! Our Nature fuch, Ill Choice ensures Ill Fate; And Hell had been, tho' there had been no God. Doft thou not know, my new Aftronomer! Earth, turning from the San, brings Night to Man? Man, turning from his God, brings endless Night; Where Thou can't read no Morals, find no Friend, Amend no Manners, and expect no Peace. How deep the Darkness! and the Groan, how loud! And far, how far, from lambent are the Flames! Such is LORENZO's Purchase! such his Praise! The Proud, the Politic, LORENZO's Praise! Tho' in his Ear, and levell'd at his Heart, I've half read o'er the Volume of the Skies.

For think not Thou hast heard all This from me; My Song but echoes what Great Nature speaks. What has she spoken? Thus the Goddess spoke, That speaks for ever:—" Place, at Nature's Head,

- " A Sov'reign, which o'er all Things ro his Eye
- " Extends his Wing, promulgates his Commands,
- " But, above all, diffuses endles Good ;
- " To whom, for fure Redrefs, the Wrong'd may fly;
- " The Vile, for Mercy; and the Pain'd, for Peace;
- " By whom, the various Tenants of these Spheres,
- " Diverfify'd in Fortunes, Place, and Powers,

" Rais'd in Enjoyment, as in Worth they rife,

" Arrive at length (if worthy fuch Approach)

" At that bleft Fountain-Head, from which they ftream;

" Where Conflict past redoubles prefent Joy;

" And present Joy looks forward on Increase;

" And That, on more; no Period! every Step

"A double Boon! a Promise, and a Bliss."

How easy sits this Scheme on human Hearts!

It suits their Make; it sooths their vast Defires;

Passion is pleas'd; and Reason asks no more;

"Tis Rational! "Tis Great!—But what is Thine?

It darkens! shocks! excruciates! and consounds!

Leaves us quite naked, both of Help, and Hope,

Sinking from Bad to Worse; few Years, the Sport

Of Fortune : then, the Morfel of Defair.

Say, then, LORENZO! (for thou know'ft it well) What's Vice? - Mere Want of Compels in our Thought. Religion, what ?- The Proof of Common Sense; How art thou whooted, where the Least prevails! Is it my Fault, if thefe Truths call thee Fool? And thou shalt never be miscall'd by me. Can neither Shame, nor Terror, stand thy Friend? And art Thou fill an Infect in the Mire? How, like thy Guardian Angel, have I flown; Snatch'd thee from Earth; escorted thee thro' all Th' Ethereal Armies; walkt thee, like a God, Thro' Splendors of first Magnitude, arrang'd On either Hand; Clouds thrown beneath thy Feet; Clofe-cruis'd on the bright Paradife of GoD; And almost introduc'd thee to THE THRONE! And art Thou still carousing, for Delight, Rank Poison; first, fermenting to mere Froth, And then fubfiding into final Gall? Such Joy more shocking still, the more it charms? And dost thou chuse what ends, ere well-begun; And Infamous, as Short? And dost thou chuse (Thou, to whose Palate Glory is so sweet)

To wade into Perdition, thro' Contempt,

Not of poor Bigots only, but thy own?

For I have peep'd into thy cover'd Heart,

And seen it blush beneath a boastful Brow;

For, by strong Guilt's most violent Assault,

Conscience is but disabled, not destroy'd.

O Thou most Awful Being! and most Vain; Thy Will, how frail! how glorious is thy Power! Tho' dread ETERNITY has fown her Seeds Of Blifs, and Woe, in thy despotic Breaft: Tho' Heav'n, and Hell, depend upon thy Choice: A Butterfly comes cross, and Both are fled. As Parent of his Being, wouldt thou prove Th' unnatural Parent of his Mileries, And make him curfe the Being which thou gav'ft? Is this the Bletting of so fond a Father? If careless of LORENZO! spare, Oh! spare FLORELLO'S Father, and PHILANDER'S Friend : FLORELLO's Father ruin'd, ruins him; And from PHILANDER'S Friend the World expects A Conduct, no Dishonour to the Dead. Then, farewel NIGHT! Of Darkness, now, no more: foy breaks; fhines; triumphs; 'tis eternal Day. Shall that which rifes out of Nought complain Of a few Evils, paid with endless love? My Soul! henceforth, in fweetest Union join The Two Supports of Human Happiness. Which fome, erroneous, think can never meet: True Tafte of Life, and conftant Thought of Death; The Thought of Death, fole Victor of its Dread! Hope be thy Joy; and Probity thy Skill; Thy Patron HE, whose Diadem has dropp'd Yon Gems of Heav'n; Eternity thy Prize : And leave the Racers of the World their Own. Their Feather, and their Froth, for endlefs Toils: They part with All for That which is not Bread; They mortify, they starve, on Wealth, Fame, Power; And laugh to Scorn the Fools that aim at more. How must a Spirit, late escap'd from Earth. Suppose PHILANDER'S, LUCIA'S, OF NARCIESA'S. The Truth of Things new-blazing in its Eye. Look back, aftonish'd, on the Ways of Men, Whose Lives whole Drift is to forget their Graves! And when our prefent Privilege is paft, To scourge us with due Sense of its Abuse, The fame Aftonishment will seize us All. What then must pain us, would preferve us nego. LORENZO! 'tis not yet too late: LORENZO! Seize Wifdom, ere 'tis Torment to be Wife; That is, Seize Wildom, ere the feizes Thee. For, what, my small Philosopher, is Hell? 'Tis nothing, but full Knowledge of the Truth, When Truth, refisted long, is fworn our Foe; And calls ETERNITY to do her Right. Thus, Darkness aiding Intellectual Light,

And Sacred Silence whifp'ring Truths Divine,

And

And Truths Divine converting Pain to Peace, My Song the Midnight Raven has outwing'd, And shot, ambitious of unbounded Scenes, Beyond the flaming Limits of the World, Her gloomy Flight. But what avails the Flight Of Fancy, when our Hearts remain below? Virtue abounds in Flatterers, and Foes; 'Tis Pride, to praise her; Penance, to perform. To more than Words, to more than Worth of Tongue, LORENZO! rife, at this auspicious Hour: An Hour, when Heaven's most intimate with Man; When, like a falling Star, the Ray Divine Glides swift into the Bosom of the Juft : And Just are All, determin'd to reclaim; Which fets that Title high, within thy Reach. Awake, then: Thy PHILANDER calls: Awake! Thou, who shalt wake, when the Creation sleeps; When, like a Taper, all these Suns expire; When TIME, like him of Gaza in his Wrath. Plucking the Pillars that support the World, In NATURE's ample Ruins lies intomb'd; And MIDNIGHT, Universal Midnight! reigns.

PARAPHRASE

ON

Part of the Book of JOB.

HRICE Happy 70b long liv'd in Regal State, Nor faw the Sumptuous East a Prince fo Great; Whose Worldly Stores in such Abundance flow'd, Whose Heart with such exalted Virtue glow'd. At length Misfortunes take their Turn to reign. And Ills on Ills succeed; A dreadful Train! What now but Deaths, and Poverty, and Wrong, The Sword wide-walting, the reproachful Tongue, And spotted Plagues, that mark'd his Limbs all o'er So thick with Pains, they wanted Room for more? A Change fo fad what mortal Heart could bear? Exhaufted Woe had left Him nought to fear; But gave Him All to Grief. Low Earth he preft, Wept in the Duft, and forely smote his Breast. His Friends around the deep Affliction mourn'd, Felt all his Pangs, and Groan for Groan return'd; In Anguish of their Hearts their Mantles rent, And Sev'n long Days in folemn Silence spent; A Debt of Rev'rence to Distress so great! Then 70b contain'd no more : but curft his Fate.

His Day of Birth, its inauspicious Light,
He wishes sunk in Shades of endless Night.
And blotted from the Year; nor fears to crave
Death, instant Death; impatient for the Grave,
That Seat of Peace, that Mansion of Repose,
Where Rest and Mortals are no longer Foes;
Where Counsellors are hush'd, and Mighty Kings
(O happy Turn!) no more are Wretched Things.

His Words were daring, and displeas'd his Friends;
His Conduct They reprove, and he defends;
And now they kindled into warm Debate,
And Sentiments oppos'd with equal Heat;
Fix'd in Opinion, Both refuse to yield,
And summon all their Reason to the Field:
So high at length their Arguments were wrought,
They reach'd the last Extent of Human Thought,
A Pause ensu'd.—When, lo! Heav'n interpos'd,
And awfully the long Contention clos'd.
Full o'er their Heads, with terrible Surprize,
A sudden Whirlwind blacken'd all the Skies:
(They Saw and Trembled!) From the Darkness broke:
A dreadful Voice, and thus th' Almighty spoke:

Who gives his Tongue a Loofe fo bold and vain,
Censures my Conduct, and reproves my Reign?
Lists up his Thoughts against me from the Dust,
And tells the World's Creator what is Just?
Of late so brave, now list a dauntless Eye,
Face my Demand, and give it a Reply:
Where didst Thou dwell at Nature's early Birth?
Who laid Foundations for the spacious Earth?
Who on the Surface did extend the Line,
Its Form determine, and its Bulk confine?
Who six'd the Corner Stone? What Hand, declare,
Hung it on Nought, and fasten'd it in Air;

0 5

When

When the bright Morning Stars in Concert fung,
When Heav'n's high Arch with loud Hosanna's rung;
When shouting Sons of God the Triumph crown'd,
And the wide Concave thunder'd with the Sound?
Earth's num'rous Kingdoms, hast thou view'd them all?
And can thy Span of Knowledge grasp the Ball?
Who heav'd the Mountain, which sublimely stands,
And casts its Shadow into distant Lands?

Who, stretching forth his Sceptre o'er the Deep, Can that wide World in due Subjection keep? I broke the Globe, I scoop'd its hollow Side, And did a Bason for the Floods provide; I chain them with my Word; the boiling Sea, Work'd up in Tempests, hears my great Decree;

" Thus far, thy floating Tide shall be convey'd;

"And Here, O Main, be thy proud Billows flay'd."

Haft thou explor'd the Secrets of the Deep,

Where, flut from Use, unnumber'd Treasures fleep;

Where, down a Thousand Fathoms from the Day,

Springs the great Fountain, Mother of the Sea?

Those gloomy Paths did thy bold Foot e'er tread,

Whole World's of Waters rolling o'er thy Head?

Hath the cleft Centre open'd wide to thee?

Death's inmost Chambers didst thou ever see?

E'er knock at his tremendous Gate, and wade

To the black Portal thro' th' incumbent Shade?

Deep are those Shades; but Shades still deeper hide

My Counsels from the Ken of human Pride.

Where dwells the Light? In what refulgent Dome? And where has Darkness made her dismal Home? Thou know'st, no doubt, since thy large Heart is fraught With ripen'd Wisdom thro' long Ages brought, Since Nature was call'd forth when thou wast by, And into Being rose beneath thine Eye!

Are

Are Mists begotten? Who their Father knew?

From whom descend the pearly Drops of Dew?

To bind the Stream by Night, what Hand can boast,

Or whiten Morning, with the hoary Frost?

Whose pow'rful Breath, from Northern Regions blown,

Touches the Sea, and turns it into Stone?

A sudden Desart spreads o'er Realms desac'd,

And lays one Half of the Creation waste?

Thou know's me not; thy Blindness cannot see

How vast a Distance parts thy God from thee.

Canst thou in Whirlwinds mount alost? Canst thou
In Clouds and Darkness wrap thy awful Brow?

And, when Day triumphs in meridian Light,
Put forth thy Hand, and shade the World with Night?

Who launch'd the Clouds in Air, and bid them roll
Suspended Seas aloft, from Pole to Pole?
Who can refresh the burning sandy Plain,
And quench the Summer with a Waste of Rain?
Who in rough Desarts, far from Human Toil,
Made Rocks bring forth, and Desolation smile?
There blooms the Rose, where human Face ne'er shone,
And spreads its Beauties to the Sun alone.

To check the Show'r, who lifts his Hand on high, And shuts the Sluices of th' exhausted Sky, When Earth no longer mourns her gaping Veins, Her naked Mountains, and her russet Plains; But, new in Life, a chearful Prospect yields Of shining Rivers, and of verdant Fields; When Groves and Forests lavish all their Bloom, And Earth and Heaven are fill'd with rich Persume?

Hast thou ere scal'd my wintry Skies, and seen Of Hail and Sugars my Northern Magazine? These the dread Treasures of mine Anger are, My Fund of Vengeance for the Day of War,

06

When

When Clouds rain Death, and Storms, at my Command, Rage thro' the World, or wafte a guilty Land.

Who taught the rapid Winds to fly fo fast,
Or shakes the Centre with his Eastern Blast?
Who from the Skies can a whole Deluge pour?
Who strikes thro' Nature with the solemn Roar
Of dreadful Thunder, points it where to fall,
And in sierce Lightning wraps the slying Ball?
Not be who trembles at the darted Fires,
Falls at the Sound, and in the Flash expires.

Who drew the Comet out to such a Size, And pour'd his slaming Train o'er Half the Skies? Did thy Resentment hang him out? Does he Glare on the Nations, and denounce, from thee?

Who on low Earth can moderate the Rein,
That guides the Stars along th' ethereal Plain?
Appoint their Seasons, and direct their Course,
Their Lustre brighten, and supply their Force?
Canst thou the Skies Benevolence restrain,
And cause the Pleiader to thine in vain?
Or, when Orion sparkles from his Sphere,
Thaw the cold Season, and unbind the Year?
Bid Mazzaroth his destin'd Station know,
And teach the bright Arthurus where to glow?
Mine is the Night, with all her Stars; I pour
Myriads, and Myriads I reserve in Store.

Doft thou pronounce where Day-light shall be born, And draw the Purple Curtain of the Morn? Awake the Sun, and bid him come away, And glad thy World with his obsequious Ray? Hast thou, inthron'd in slaming Glory, driv'n Triumphant round the spacious Ring of Heav'n? That Pomp of Light, what Hand so far displays, That distant Earth lies basking in the Blaze?

8000 E

Who

Who did the Soul with her rich Pow'rs invest,
And light up Reason in the Human Breast?
To shipe, with fresh Increase of Lustre, Bright,
When Stars and Sun are set in endless Night?
To these my various Questions make Reply.

Th' Almighty spoke; and, speaking, shook the Sky.
What then, Chaldran Sire, was thy Surprize!
Thus Thou, with trembling Heart, and down-cast Eyes:

" Once and again, which I in Groans deplore,

" My Tongue has err'd; but shall presume no more.

" My Voice is in eternal Silence bound,

"And all my Soul falls proftrate to the Ground."

He ceas'd: When, lo! again th' Almighty fpoke;

The fame dread Voice from the black Whirlwind broke.

Can that Arm measure with an Arm Divine?
And canst thou thunder with a Voice like Mine?
Or in the Hollow of thy Hand contain
The Bulk of Waters, the wide-spreading Main,
When, mad with Tempests, all the Billows rise
In all their Rage, and dash the distant Skies?

Come forth, in Beauty's Excellence array'd;
And be the Grandeur of thy Pow'r display'd;
Put on Omnipotence, and frowning make
The spacious Round of the Creation shake;
Dispatch thy Vengeance, bid it overthrow
Triumphant Vice, lay losty Tyrants low,
And crumble them to Dust. When This is done,
I grant thy Safety lodg'd in Thee alone;
Of Thee Thou art, and may'st undaunted stand
Behind the Buckler of thine own Right Hand.

Fond Man! the Vision of a Moment made!

Dream of a Dream! and Shadow of a Shade!

What Worlds hast Thou produc'd, what Creatures fram'd,

What Insects cherish'd, that thy God is blam'd!

When, pain'd with Hunger, the wild Raven's Brood Calls upon God, importunate for Food,
Who hears their Cry, who grants their hoarse Request,
And stills the Clamour of the craving Nest?

Who in the cruel Oftrich has subdu'd
A Parent's Care, and fond Inquietude?
While far she slies, her scatter'd Eggs are found,
Without an Owner, on the sandy Ground;
Cast out on Fortune, they at Mercy sie,
And borrow Life from an indulgent Sky;
Adopted by the Sun, in Blaze of Day,
They ripen under his prolific Ray.
Unmindful she, that some unhappy Tread
May crush her Young in their neglected Bed.
What time she skims along the Field with Speed,
She scorns the Rider, and pursuing Steed.

How rich the Peacock! what bright Glories run
From Plume to Plume, and vary in the Sun!
He proudly spreads them to the golden Ray,
Gives all his Colours, and adorns the Day;
With conscious State the spacious Round displays,
And slowly moves amid the waving Blaze.

Who taught the Hawk to find, in Seasons wise,
Perpetual Summer, and a Change of Skies?
When Clouds deform the Year, she mounts the Wind,
Shoots to the South, nor fears the Storm behind;
The Sun returning, she returns agen,
Lives in his Beams, and leaves ill Days to Men.

Tho' firong the Harwk, tho' practis'd well to fly,
An Eagle drops her in a lower Sky;
An Eagle, when, deterting Human Sight,
She feeks the Sun in her unweary'd Flight.

Did thy Command her yellow Pinion lift
So high in Air, and feat her on the Clift,

Where

I

Where far above thy World she dwells Alone,
And proudly makes the Strength of Rocks her own;
Thence wide o'er Nature takes her dread Survey,
And with a Glance predestinates her Prey?
She feasts her Young with Blood, and hov'ring o'er
Th' unslaughter'd Host, enjoys the promis'd Gore.

Know'st thou how many Moons, by me assign'd,
Roll o'er the Mountain Goat, and Forest Hind,
While pregnant they a Mother's Load sustain?
They bend in Anguish, and cast forth their Pain.
Hale are their Young, from Human Frailties freed;
Walk unsustain'd, and unassisted feed;
They live at once; forsake the Dam's warm Side;
Take the wide World, with Nature for their Guide;
Bound o'er the Lawn, or seek the distant Glade;
And find a Home in each delightful Shade.

Will the tall Reem, which knows no Lord but Me, Low at the Crib, and ask an Alms of thee? Submit his unworn Shoulder to the Yoke, Break the stiff Clod, and o'er thy Furrow smoak? Since great his Strength, go trust him, void of Care; Lay on his Neck the Toil of all the Year; Bid him bring home the Seasons to thy Doors, And cast his Load among thy gather'd Stores.

Didst thou from Service the Wild-As discharge,
And break his Bonds, and bid him live at large,
Thro' the wide Waste, his ample Mansion, roam,
And lose himself in his Unbounded Home?
By Nature's Hand magnificently fed,
His Meal is on the Range of Mountains spread;
As in pure Air alost he bounds along,
He sees in distant Smoak the City Throng;
Conscious of Freedom, scorns the smother'd Train,
The threat'ning Driver, and the servile Rein.

Survey the warlike Horfe ! didft thou invest With Thunder, his robuft diffended Cheft? No Sense of Fear his dauntless Soul allays: "Tis dreadful to behold his Noftrils blaze: To paw the Vale he proudly takes Delight. And triumphs in the Fulness of his Might: High-rais'd he fauffs the Battle from afar, And burns to plunge amid the raging War; And mocks at Death, and throws his Foam around. And in a Storm of Fury shakes the Ground. How does his firm, his rifing Heart, advance Full on the brandish'd Sword, and shaken Lance; While his fix'd Eye-balls meet the dazling Shield. Gaze, and return the Lightning of the Field! He finks the Senfe of Pain in gen'rous Pride. Nor feels the Shaft that trembles in his Side : But neighs to the shrill Trumpet's dreadful Blast Till Death; and when he groans, he groans his last.

But, fiercer still, the Lordly Lion stalks, Grimly majestic in his lonely Walks; When round he glares, all living Creatures fly; He clears the Defart with his rolling Eye. Say, Mortal, does he rouse at thy Command, And roar to thee, and live upon thy Hand? Doft thou for him in Forests bend thy Bow. And to his gloomy Den the Morfel throw, Where best on Death lie hid his tawny Brood. And, couch'd in dreadful Ambush, pant for Blood; Or, stretch'd on broken Limbs, consume the Day, In Darkness wrapt, and slumber o'er their Prey? By the pale Moon they take their defin'd Round, And lash their Sides, and furious tear the Grounds Now Shrieks, and dying Groans, the Defart fill; They rage, they rend, their rav'nous Jaws diffil

With crimson Foam; and, when the Banquet's o'er, They stride away, and paint their Steps with Gore; In Flight alone the Shepherd puts his Trust, And shudders at the Talon in the Dust.

Mild is my Bebemath, tho' large his Frame; Smooth is his Temper, and repreft his Flame; While unprovok'd. This Native of the Flood Lifts his broad Foot, and puts affiore for Food; Earth finks beneath him, as he moves along To feek the Herbs, and mingle with the Throng. See, with what Strength his harden'd Loins are bound, All over Proof, and that against a Wound. How like a Mountain Cedar moves his Tail! Nor can his complicated Sinews fail. Built high and wide, his folid Bones furpals The Bars of Steel; his Ribs are Ribs of Brafs; His Port majestic, and his armed Jaw, Give the wide Forest, and the Mountain, Law. The Mountains feed him; there the Beafts admire The mighty Stranger, and in Dread retire: At length his Greatness nearer they furvey, Graze in his Shadow, and his Eye obey. The Fens and Marshes are his cool Retreat. His Noontide Shelter from the burning Heat; Their fedgy Bosoms his wide Couch are made, And Groves of Willows give him all their Shade. His Eye drinks Jordan up, when, fir'd with Drought, He trufts to turn its Current down his Throat; In lessen'd Waves it creeps along the Plain: He finks a River, and he thirst again.

Go to the Nile, and, from its fruitful Side, Cast forth thy Line into the swelling Tide: With slender Hair Leviathan command, And stretch his Vastness on the loaded Strand.

Will he become thy Servant? Will he own Thy Lordly Nod, and tremble at thy Frown? Or with his Sport amuse thy leisure Day, And, bound in Silk, with thy foft Maidens play?

Shall pompous Banquets fwell with fuch a Prize? And the Bowl journey round his ample Size? Or the debating Merchants share the Prey, And various Limbs to various Marts convey? Thro' his firm Skull what Steel its Way can win? What forceful Engine can subdue his Skin? Fly far, and live; tempt not his matchles Might; The Bravest shrink to Cowards in his Sight; The Rashest dare not rouse him up? Who then Shall turn on Me, amongst the Sons of Men?

Am I a Debtor? Hast thou ever heard Whence come the Gifts which are on me conferr'd? My lavish Fruit a thousand Valleys fills, And mine the Herds, that graze a thousand Hills: Earth, Sea, and Air, All Nature is my own; And Stars and Sun are Dust beneath my Throne. And dar'ft thou with the World's great Father vye, Thou, who dost tremble at my Creature's Eye?

At full my large Leviathan shall rife. Boaft all his Strength, and spread his wond'rous Size. Who, great in Arms, e'er ftripp'd his shining Mail, Or crown'd his Triumph with a fingle Scale? Whose Heart sustains him to draw near? Behold, Destruction yawns; his spacious Jaws unfold, And, marshal'd round the wide Expanse, disclose Teeth edg'd with Death, and crouding Rows on Rows: What hideous Fangs on either Side arife! And what a deep Abyss between them lies! Mete with thy Lance, and with thy Plumbet found, The One how long, the Other how profound.

His Bulk is charg'd with fuch a furious Soul,
That Clouds of Smoke from his spread Nostrils roll,
As from a Furnace; and, when rous'd his Ire,
Fate iffues from his Jaws in Streams of Fire.
The Rage of Tempests, and the Roar of Seas,
Thy Terror, this thy great Superior please;
Strength on his ample Shoulder sits in State;
His well join'd Limbs are dreadfully complete;
His Flakes of solid Flesh are slow to part;
As Steel his Nerves, as Adamant his Heart.

When, late-awak'd, He rears him from the Floods, And, stretching forth his Stature to the Clouds, Writhes in the Sun aloft his scaly Height, And strikes the distant Hills with transient Light, Far round are fatal Damps of Terror spread; The Mighty fear, nor blush to own their Dread.

Large is his Front; and, when his burnish'd Eyes, Lift their broad Lids, the Morning seems to rise.

In vain may Death in various Shapes invade,
The swift wing'd Arrow, the descending Blade;
His naked Breast their Impotence desies;
The Dart rebounds, the brittle Faulchion slies.
Shut in Himself, the War without he hears,
Safe in the Tempest of their rattling Spears;
The cumber'd Strand their wasted Vollies strow;
His Sport, the Rage and Labour of the Foe.

His Pastimes like a Caldron boil the Flood,
And blacken Ocean with the rising Mud;
The Billows feel him, as he works his Way;
His hoary Footsteps shine along the Sea;
The Foam high-wrought, with White, divides the Green,
And distant Sailors point where Death has been.

His Like Earth bears not on her spacious Face: Alone in Nature stand his dauntless Race, For utter Ignorance of Fear renown'd, In Wrath he rolls his baleful Eyes around; Makes ev'ry fueln, difdainful Heart, fubfide, And holds Dominion o'er the Sons of Pride.

Then the Chaldean eas'd his lab'ring Breaft, With full Conviction of his Crime opproft.

- " Thou canft accomplish All Things, Lord of Might!
- " And ev'ry Thought is naked to thy Sight.
- " But oh! Thy Ways are wonderful, and lie
- " Beyond the deepest Reach of mortal Eye.
- " Oft have I heard of thine Almighty Pow'r;
- " But never faw Thee till this dreadful Hour.
- " O'erwhelm'd with Shame, the Lord of Life I fee,
- " Abhor myfelf, and give my Soul to Thee.
- " Nor shall my Weakness tempt Thine Anger more:
- " Man was not made to Question, but Adore."

NOTES.

I T is disputed among the Critics who was the Author of the Book of Job. Some give it to Moses; some to Others. As I was engaged in this little Performance, some Arguments occur'd to me, which favour the sormer of these Opinions; which Arguments I have slung into the sollowing Notes, where little else is to be expected.

Page 296. Thrice happy Job, &c., The Almighty's Speech, Chapter xxxviii. &c. which is what I paraphrase in this little Work, is by much the finest Part of the noblest, and most antient Poem in the World. Bishop Patrick says, its Grandeur is as much above all other Poetry, as Thunder is louder than a Whitper. In order to set this distinguish'd Part of the Poem in a fuller Light, and give the Reader a clearer Conception of it, I have absided the preceding and subsequent Parts of the Poem, and join'd them to it; so that this Piece is a fort of an Epitome of the whole Book of Job.

I nse the Word Paraphrase, because I want another which might better answer to the uncommon Liberties I have taken. I have omitted, added, and transpos'd. The Mountain, the Comet, the Sun, and other Parts, are intirely added: The Peacock, the Lion, &cc. are much inlarg'd: And I have thrown the Whole into a Method more suitable to our Notions of Regularity. The Judicious, if they compare this Piece with the Original, will, I flatter myself, find the Reasons for the great Liberties I have indulg'd myself in through the Whole.

Longinus has a Chapter on Interrogations, which shews that they contribute much to the Sublime. This Speech of the Almighty is made up of them. Interrogation feems indeed the proper Style of Majesty incens'd. It differs from other manner of Reproof, as bidding a Person execute himself, does from a common Execution; for he that asks the Guilty a proper Question, makes him, in effect, pass Sentence on himself.

A dreadful Voice, and thus th' Almighty spoke.]

The Book of Job is well known to be Dramatic, and, like the Tragedies of old Greece, is Fiction built on Truth. Probably this most noble Part of it, the Almighty speaking out of the Whirlwind (so suitable to the After-practice of the Greek Stage, when there happened Dignus Vindice Nodus), is sictitious; but it is a Fiction more agreeable to the Time in which Job lived, than to any since. Frequent, before the Law, were the Appearances of the Almighty after this manner, Exodus ch. xix. Exchiel ch. i. &c. Hence He is said to dwell in thick Darkness: And bave bis Ways in the Whirlwind.

Page 298. Thus far thy floating Tide, &c.] There is a very great Air in all that precedes; but this is fignally Sublime. We are struck with Admiration to see the vast and ungovernable Ocean receiving Commands, and punctually obeying them; to find it like a manag'd Horse, raging, tossing, and foaming, but by the Rule and Direction of its Master. This Passage yields in Sublimity to that of Let there be Light, &c. so much only, as the absolute Government of Nature yields to the Creation of it.

The like Spirit in these two Passages is no bad concurrent Argument, that Moses is Author of the Book of Job.

Page 302. When, pain'd with Hunger, the wild Raven's Brood, &c.] Another Argument that Mojes was the Author.

thor, is, that most of the Creatures here mention'd are Egyptian. The Reason given why the Raven is particularly mentioned as an Object of the Care of Providence, is, because, by her clamorous and importunate Voice, she particularly seems always calling upon it; thence repeter a way calling upon i

Page 302. Who in the cruel Offrich has fubdu'd, &c.] There are many Inflances of this Bird's Supplicity; let two fuffice.

First, It covers its Head in the Reeds, and thinks itself all out of Sight.

Stat lumine clauso

Ridendum revoluta caput; creditque latere,

Que non ipfa videt - Claud.

Secondly, They that go in Pursuit of them, draw the Skin of an Offrich's Neck on one Hand, which proves a sufficient Lure to take them with the other.

They have so little Brain, that Heliogabalus had fix hundred Heads for his Supper.

Here we may observe, that our Judicious as well as Sublime Author, just touches the great Points of Distinction in each Creature, and then hastens to another. A Description is exact, when you cannot add, but what is common to another thing; nor withdraw, but something peculiarly belonging to the thing describ'd. A Likeness is lost in too much Description, as a Meaning often in too much Illustration.

Ibid. What time she skims along the Field, &c.] Here is mark'd another Poculiar Quality of this Creature, which neither slies, nor runs distinctly, but has a Motion compos'd of both, and, using its Wings as Sails, makes great Speed.

Page 302. She feores the Rider, and purfuing Steed.] Kenephoe fays, Grus had Morfes that could overtake the Goat, and the Wild-Afe; but none that could reach this Creature. A thousand golden Ducats, or a hundred Camels, was the flated Price of a Horfe that could equal their Speed.

Ihid. How rich the Peacock, &c.] Though this Bird is but just mention'd in my Author, I could not forbear going a little farther, and spreading those beautiful Plumes (which are There shut up) into half a dozen Lines. The Circumstance I have marked of his opening his Plumes to the Sun is true. Expandit colores adverso maxime sole, quia sic fulgentius radions. Plin. 1. x. c. 20.

Ibid. The strong the Hawk, the practis'd well to fly.] Theams (de Re Accip.) mentions a Hawk that flew from Pairs to Landar in a Night.

And the Egyptians, in segand to its Swiftness, made it their Symbol for the Wind; for which Reason we may suppose the Hawk, as well as the Crow above, to have been a Bird of Note in Egypt.

Page 303. There wide o'ar Nature takes her dread Surwy, &c.] The Eagle is faid to be of so acute a Sight, then when she is so high in Air, that Man cannot see her, she can discern the smallest Fish under Water. My Author accurately understood the Nature of the Creatures he describes, and seems to have been a Naturalist as well as a Poet, which the next Note will confirm.

lbid. Know'st thou how many Moons, by Me assign'd, &c.] The Meaning of this Question is, Know'st thou the Time and Circumstances of their bringing forth? for so know the Time only was easy, and had nothing extraordinary in it; but the Circumstances had something peruliarly liarly expressive of God's Providence, which makes the Question proper in this Place. Pliny observes, that the Hind with Young is by Instinct directed to a certain Herb called Seselis, which facilitates the Birth. Thunder also (which looks like the more immediate Hand of Providence) has the same Effect, Ps. xxix. In so early an Age to observe these things may sile our Author a Naturalist.

P. 304. Survey the Warlike Horse, &c.] The Description of the Horse is the most celebrated of any in the Poem. There is an excellent Critique on it in the Guardians. I shall therefore only observe, that, in this Description, as in other Parts of this Speech, our Vulgar Translation has much more Spirit than the Septuagint; it always takes the Original in the most poetical and exalted Sense, so that most Commentators, even on the Hebrewoitself, fall beneath it.

Page 304. By the pale Moon they take their destin'd Round, &c.] Pursuing their Prey by Night is true of most wild Beasts, particularly the Lion, Ps. civ. v. 20. The Arabians have One among their 500 Names for the Lion, which signifies the Hunter by Moon-shine.

Flumina, &c. Claud. Præf. in Ruf.

Let not then this Hyperbole seem too much for an Eastern Poet, tho' some Commentators of Name strain hard in this Place for a new Construction, through Fear of it.

Ibid. Go to the Nile, and from its fruitful Side, &c.] The taking the Crocodile is most difficult. Diodorus fays they are not to be taken but by Iron Nets. When Augustus conquer'd Egypt, he struck a Medal, the Impress of which was a Crocodile chain'd to a Palm-Tree, with this Infeription. Nemo antea religavit.

Page 306. The Rashest dare not rouse him up, &c.] This alludes to a Custom of this Creature, which is, when sated with Fish, to come ashore, and sleep among the Reeds.

Ibid. Behold,

Destruction yawns, his spacious Jaws unfold, &c.] The Crocodile's Mouth is exceeding wide. When he gapes, says Pliny, Fit totum Os. Martial says to his old Woman.

Cum comparata rictibus tuis ora Niliacus babet crocodilus angusta.

So that the Expression here is barely just.

P. 304. Fate issues from his Janus in Streams of Fire.] This too is nearer Truth than at first View may be imagined. The Crocodile, say the Naturalists, lying long under Water, and being there forced to hold its Breadth, when it emerges, the Breath long represt is hot, and bursts out so violently, that it resembles Fire and Smoke. The Horse suppresses not his Breath by any Means so long, neither is he so herce and animated; yet the most correct of Poets ventures to use the same Metaphor concerning him.

Collectumque premens volvit sub naribus ignem.

By this and the foregoing Note I would caution against a fasse Opinion of the Eastern Boldness, from Passages in them ill understood.

Ibid. Large is bis Front; and, suben bis burnish'd Eyes, Sec.]. His Eyes are like the Eyelids of the Morning. I think this gives us as great an Image of the Thing it would express, as can enter the Thought of Man. It is not improbable, that the Egyptians stole their Hieroglyphic for the Morning, which is the Crocodile's Eye, from this Passage, though no Commentator I have seen mentions it. It is easy to conceive how the Egyptians should be both Readers and Admirers of the Writings of Mofes, whom I suppose the Author of this Poem.

I have observed already, that three or four of the Creatures here described are Egyptian; the two last are notoriously fo; they are the River-horse and the Crocodile, those celebrated Inhabitants of the Nile; and on those two it is that our Author chiefly dwells. It would have been expected from an Author more remote from that River than Mojes, in a Catalogue of Creatures produc'd to magnify their Creator, to have dwelt on the Two largest Works of his Hand, with the Elephant and the Whale: This is fo natural an Expectation, that fome Commentators have rendered Bebemoth and Leviathan, the Elephant and Whale, tho' the Descriptions in our Author will not admit of it; but Mofes being (as we may well suppose) under an immediate Terror of the Hippotames. and Crocodile from their daily Mischiefs and Rayages around him, it is very accountable why he should permit them to take place.
